NEW DRY CHIEF TO SUPPLANT DILLON WHO STAYS AS AID

Jefferson Davis, Fort Miller, N. Y., to Be Deputy Administrator Here, Woodcock Announces.

"NO CRITICISM" OF MAN DEMOTED

National Director Paid Visit to St. Louis After Grand Jury Strictures on Enforcement Methods.

With the explanation that "an unusual type of man" was needed to cope with liquor conditions in St. Louis, Prohibition Director Woodcock announced at Washington yesterday that James Dillon would be supplanted as Deputy Prohibition Administrator here by Jefferson Davis, now a resident of Fort Miller, N. Y. Dillon will be retained as assistant to Davis.

"I felt something had to be done to improve conditions in St. Louis," Woodcock said. He asserted that no criticism of Dillon's efforts was implied in the change, but that it was desired to "put prohibition enforcement in St. Louis on a par with enforcement in the rest of the United States."

Davis recently has been a special agent for the department in Philadelphia. He has had wide experience in many parts of the world as an engineer and as a prosecuting officer, Woodcock stated.

Informed of the change by a reporter yesterday, Dillon showed surprise. He called attention to the fact that Woodcock had expressed confidence in him after a visit of inspection here last month.

Grand Jury Charges Heeded.

The Federal grand jury in February demanded a thorough investigation of prohibition officers here, declaring that enforcement was decidedly inefficient, and that the agents were lacking in insight and knowledge of their duties. The reports said the force was giving too much time to small violations and not getting proper results in striking at the source of illicit liquor supplies.

Agents Carol Byrd and Merritt D. Padfield were censured by the grand jury, which described their transfer from St. Louis to another district as unfair to the area to which they were removed. Shortly after this report was made, Assistant Prohibition Administrator Madden of this district recommended discharge from the service of Byrd and Padfield and the transfer of Dillon to another district. He made no charge against Dillon, except to hold that his work had not shown the desired degree of effectiveness and to suggest that he might do better elsewhere.

Woodcock Praised Dillon.

Director Woodcock inspected the local enforcement unit in the course of a nation-wide survey. He said that if it was true that the agents were spending too much time trapping petty lawbreakers, the grand jury's criticism was well taken, but he added that the bureau could no ignore small speakeasies or small commercial violations.

He announced while here that Dillon would continue in his office, saying, "My investigation of Mr. Dillon's record convinces me that his Government owes him something for his loyal and effective work in the past." Woodcock added that the waste of time on small cases was not Dillon's fault.

Woodcock said at the same time that additional agents, probably more than doubling the present force of 11 men would be assigned to Dillon, with instructions to concentrate on operation of stills, wholesale transportation of liquor and other major violations.

Returning to Washington last week, Woodcock announced that prohibition agents were working satisfactorily throughout the Ninth District, comprising Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, except in St. Louis, where, he said, the force was inadequate. Following Woodcock's visit here, charges of brutality were filed against Agent Byrd and charges of misconduct, under civil service regulations, were filed against four of Dillon's agents—E. L. Stacey, Roy Duggan, E. M. Cooper and Homer Johnson, a Negro.

Dillon was a gauger for the Internal Revenue Department in Peoria (Ill.) distilleries before prohibition and was shifted automatically to the prohibition service. He had been in charge of the St. Louis enforcement office for seven years, first as head of the general agents, then of the local squad under the district administrator. The district of which George H. Wark is administrator has headquarters at Kansas City.

AGED INDIANS LEARN TO WRITE ENGLISH IN TWO WEEKS' TIME

Blackfeet Tribe Also Taught to Read in U. S. "Illiteracy Clinic."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11. — Extraordinary results in a two weeks' "illiteracy clinic" recently conducted among Indians of the Blackfeet reservation at Browning, Mont., have been reported to the Indian Office. Of 236 adults, several in their 70s and 80s, all learned the rudiments of reading and writing within the brief period. Some acquired astonishing knowledge.

"Their achievements in writing," said the report submitted by Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, chairman of the executive committee of the National Advisory Committee on Illiteracy, "equaled and in many cases surpassed the attainments in the same length of time of native-born white adults, and their mastery of English words and sentences not only compared favorably with the progress made by foreign-born whites who are not familiar with the English language but even with that of the native-born whites."

PHILADELPHIA COMMUNIST SENTENCED FOR SEDITION

Israel Lazar, Naturalized American, Gets 2 to 4 Years for Calling Government "Murderous."

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—Israel Lazar, 23 years old, also known as William Lawrence, was sentenced today to two to four years and fined $250 on a charge of sedition. He told Judge Andrew B. Smith, who sentenced him, he was proud to be a member of the Communist Party.

Lazar was convicted in the State Court for violating the State sedition act passed during the World War.

While delivering an address on the street during the Presidential campaign of 1928, he was alleged to have referred to the United States Government as "murderous" and to have advocated revolutionary methods by Communists to gain control of the Government. He came from Rumania and is a naturalized American citizen.

SAYS THAT PHARAOH DIED OF ACUTE APPENDICITIS

Noted English Surgeon Thinks Hardening of Heart Recorded in Bible Literally True.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 11.—The hardening of Pharaoh's heart recorded in the Bible was literally true, Lord Moynihan, noted surgeon, told a meeting of the London Society during an address on ancient medicine and surgery.

The large blood vessel springing from the heart of Pharaoh, he said, was found in such a well-preserved state that it had been possible to make sections of it and compare them with those from a man recently dead. "Pharaoh the oppressor died of acute appendicitis," he said.

VATICAN ORDERS BY RADIO

Catholic Officials Throughout World Will Have Special Receiving Sets.

By the Associated Press.

VATICAN CITY, April 11.—Radio is soon to be used by Pope Pius XI to carry personal instructions to officials of the Catholic Church throughout the world.

Each papal diplomatic representative and every Cardinal abroad is to be assigned a stated period for receiving radio instructions from the Vatican City broadcasting station, under a plan now being worked out. The contract for special receiving sets which the Pope asked Senator Marconi to make when the Vatican City station was installed, has been signed and within a few months these sets will be sent to high officials of the church in other parts of the world.

SCHOOL FLAG BILL SIGNED

Colors Must Be Displayed After Next September.

JEFFERSON, CITY, April 11.—Public schools in Missouri after next September will be required to display the American flag during all school sessions under terms of a bill signed by Gov. Caulfield. The measure was introduced by Miss Emma Knell, (Rep.) Carthage, only woman Representative in the Missouri General Assembly, and passed both branches of the Legislature without opposition. The pen used by the Governor in signing the measure was presented to the Missouri War Mothers' Organization.

Earth Shocks On Gulf of Panama.

By the Associated Press.

PANAMA CITY, April 11.—Earth shocks which were felt last night for several minutes, at La Palma, a village 110 miles southeast of here on the Gulf of Panama, did no damage, the Naval Radio Station there reported to the Canal Zone division of surveys today. Seismograph records showed the shocks lasted for about four minutes.

RECEIVERS NAMED FOR PHILADELPHIA STREET CAR LINES

MITTEN, INC., RULE SEVERELY CONDEMNED

Court Refers to Direction as "Colossal Conspiracy Against Taxpayer" — Huge Waste Charged.

PHILADELPHIA, April 11. — After 18 months of court proceedings, Judge Harry S. McDevitt, in Common Pleas Court, today named three receivers for the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co.

Mismanagement and not insolvency was given by the Court as the reason for the receivership.

The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. owns or operates under lease all the street car lines in Philadelphia and many bus routes in and outside the city.

The action was taken on suits filed by the city, which is a partner in the company, and by Will B. Hadley, City Comptroller. They sought to have the transit company give a full financial accounting to the city, to oust Mitten Management, Inc., which manages the transit company, and to return to the city certain profits that went to the company for the management of the Broad Street subway.

Ordered to Cancel Agreements.

The receivers are instructed to cancel the present arrangements between the transit company and Mitten Management, and to undo numerous transactions carried out by Mitten Management in the operation of the transit company property.

Dr. A. A. Mitten is president of Mitten Management, Inc., and chairman of the board of the transit company. He succeeded his father, the late Thomas E. Mitten, to these positions in October, 1929.

Mitten Management also directs a number of other corporations, including the International Railways of Buffalo, N. Y., the bus lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. and other enterprises not connected with or part of the transit company system.

Mitten Regime Assailed.

The Court's opinion in appointing the receivers is a severe criticism of the management methods of the late Thomas E. Mitten, and others. It refers to the whole network of Mitten Management, Inc., and its subsidiary and taxicab companies as "financial vultures" and a "colossal conspiracy against the taxpayer."

Mitten-appointed officials in the various companies are referred to as "marionettes" and "rubber-stamp officials." The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. is accused of breaking its operating agreement with the city, which agreement, the Court declared, made possible a "gigantic swindle."

Contract Violations Cited.

In appointing receivers, McDevitt cited the following violations of the contract between the transit company and the city:

Waste of $1,000,000 in the purchase of the Quaker City Cab Co.; waste of $336,000 in an endeavor to obtain control of the Philadelphia Electric Co.

Juggling of $16,000,000 worth of stock of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit at a loss of nearly $2,000,000 to the transit company by Mitten Management.

Cancellation of an economical lease and substitution of an extravagant arrangement for the Mitten Building, which houses the Mitten Bank and other activities of the transit company's operator.

Purchase of an unnecessary and greatly enhanced-in-price casement at Market street and Penn square.

Purchase of a property on Locust street at an advance of more than 60 per cent in price from a favored real estate dealer for a proposed terminal for a bus service then in an experimental stage and since sold.

Purchase of taxicab and bus companies outside the city, with the transit company's money.

Increase in Operating Fee.

Increase of operating fee to Mitten Management from $158,000 a year during 13 years, to present $1,183,944.

Loss of $31,000 in interest on money advanced to J. A. Queeney,

CITY EQUALIZERS CUT ASSESSMENT $1,298,410 NET

Decrease St. Louis Realty Valuation $1,349,010 and Increase That on Personal Property $50,600.

THESE TWO ITEMS TOTAL $1,355,255,790

Public Utilities Will Add About $100,000,000 — Total Tax on $2.71 Rate Estimated at $36,727,432

A net decrease in assessment of real estate and personal property in St. Louis of $1,298,410 was ordered by the City Board of Equalization, which concluded its annual four-week session yesterday. It decreased real estate assessments by $1,349,010 and increased the personal property levy by $50,600.

As revised by the board, the total assesment in which 1931 taxes will be based is: Real estate, $1,110,677,510; personal property, $144,578,280; total, $1,255,255,790. This will be augmented by the assessment of public utilities here by the State Board of Equalization, whcih is expected to aggregate about $100,000,000. Hence the estimated final levy will be $1,355,255,790.

The tax rate will be $2.71 on the $100 of assessed valuation, the same as last year, unless unexpected increases are made in the State or school rates. This would yield on the estimated levy about $36,727,4432, to be shared by the city, the schools and the State.

Bank Controversy Apparently Ends.

No appeal was made by the banks and trust companies from the heavy increases on their returns which were ordered by Assessor Gehner. Thus the controversy of recent years over the practice of putting bank and trust company assets into subsidiary corporations to avert taxation appears to have been ended. Last year, after threatening litigation, the city and the depositories reached a compromise on returns corresponding roughly to the basis of this year's assessments.

There were only 27 instances in which the Assessor was dissatisfied with personal property returns this year. The makers were notified to appear before the board or accept increases made by the Assessor. Fourteen made amended returns which increased their assessments by a total of $5650. The other 13 did not respond and the board upheld the Assessor's increases in those cases, aggregating $44,950.

The only arbitrary increase exceeding $2000 was in the case of Albert Koberman of 4022 Loughborough avenue, a builder, with offices at 7242 Gravois avenue. He made a return of $750—$50 for furniture and $700 for an automobile. The board approved an increase to $33,100—$300 for furniture, $11,500 for automobiles and trucks, $1000 for money on hand, $20,000 for notes and deeds of trust and $300 for some shop fixtures.

No Realty Levies Increased.

No real estate assessments were increased. The board heard 473 appeals from the original assessment of realty, ranging from $53,000 to $100, and allowed decreases in 193 of these cases. On request of the State Finance Department, the levy on the building of the defunct Union-Easton Trust Co., 5317 Easton avenue, was reduced by $53,000 to $65,000. The Bucks Stove & Range Co. also received a $53,000 cut on vacant factory buildings.

Ground values for taxation purposes were reduced from $10 to $80 per front foot, for a total of $284,370, throughout 29 city blocks east of Broadway, between Tyler and Salisbury street, an industrial area, on appeal of the Bucks Stove & Range Co., the National Enameling & Stamping Co., the M. Holtzman Metal Co., Joseph L. Werner and Edward S. Lewis.

Land assessments for about 35 parcels in the old business section south and west of the old Broadway courthouse were decreased $326,130 as a result of an appeal by owners of the southeast corner of Broadway and Market street, who said sales and earning power of property in the vicinity showed the values were lower. The board accordingly equalized adjacent holdings in the four blocks bounded by Broadway and Market, Seventh and Pine streets and the neighboring two blocks bounded by Market, Walnut, Fourth and Sixth streets.

INSURGENTS KILL MARINE CAPTAIN IN NICARAGUA

Capt. Harlen Pefley of Idaho Dies Leading Guardsmen in Clash Near Puerta Cabezas.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The Navy Department was informed tonight that Capt. Harlen Pefley of the Marines had been killed in a clash between a Nicaraguan guardia detachment and insurgents today in Northeastern Nicaragua.

Capt. Pefley, a native of Idaho, was leading the guardia detachment, the dispatch says, when the insurgents were encountered. An enlisted man was wounded but the navy was not advised whether he was a marine or a guardsman.

The clash occurred near Logtown, which is 12 miles from Puerta Cabezas, base of the guardia patrol. There were about 50 in the insurgent band. The dispatch made no mention of its casualties.

Royal Pair From Japan Hailed in New York

Prince and Princess Takamatsu Welcomed to "City of Their Dreams" by Waving Throngs—Lunch With Mayor.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Prince and Princess Takamatsu of Japan enjoyed a big day in their "city of dreams" today, despite the fact they are technically incognito. There was a visit to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, military salutes and escorts, waving throngs, bands, a welcome at City Hall, a luncheon with Mayor Walker as host, a visit to the National Broadcasting Co. studio and a special broadcast in their honor, a tour through the Chrysler Building and a dinner from the city's Japanese residents. Tomorrow they will rest.

Mounted police and cavalry of the New York National Guard escorted the party down Fifth avenue from the Museum to City Hall for the Mayor's welcome. Traffic was stopped and crowds lined the sidewalks.

At City Hall plaza soldiers, sailors and marines flanked a crowd of more than 4000. Army and police bands played the American and Japanese national anthems.

Assisting the Mayor at a 40-minute reception was a special committee headed by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University.

The Prince called New York the city of his dreams. His speech, in Japanese, was broadcast over the radio.

"I am deeply moved by your cordial welcome tendered to the Princess and myself in the name of your country," he said. "For four years New York has been the city of my dreams; for four years we have dreamed of visiting this great city. And as we stand here and listen to your friendly words of greeting, we feel that this city is as generous as it is great. May we ask you, Mr. Mayor, to give to the people of this great and generous city our thanks for their sincere greetings."

Kensouke Hornouchi, Japanese Consul General in New York, translated the response.

Dr. Butler paid tribute to Japan for its contributions to the fine arts, medicine, commerce and industry, and world peace. Mayor Walker declared the visit of the Prince and Princess will promote a better feeling and finer understanding.

Japanese Royalty to Visit Grand Canyon and Yosemite.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The scenic wonders of the Grand Canyon and Yosemite occupy prominent places in the Western itinerary of Prince and Princess Takamatsu of Japan, which was made public today by the Japanese Embassy.

After a 12-day sojourn in Canada, their imperial highnesses will return to American soil at Detroit May 10. On May 11, after visiting the Ford Motor plant in the morning, they will entrain in the afternoon for Chicago, where they will remain until the evening of May 13.

From that point their schedule follows:

May 14, 15, traveling by Santa Fe Railroad to the Grand Canyon, Arizona; May 16, at the Grand Canyon; May 17, arrive Los Angelees, where they will remain until the morning of May 20; May 21, at Del Monte, Cal.; on May 22 and 23, at San Francisco; May 24, 25 and 26, at Yosemite; May 27, return to San Francisco; May 28, sail for Japan on the liner Chichibu Maru.

GRAF ZEPPELIN RETURNING FROM TRIP TO JERUSALEM

Lands at Cairo, Egypt, Going and Coming; Due in Friedrichshafen Tomorrow.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 11.—Having completed a tour of the Near East, the dirigible Graf Zeppelin passed over this city tonight homeward bound to Friedrichshafen where it is due to arrive on Monday.

As the dirigible passed over Jerusalem, thousands of Jews and Arabs crowded to watch it.

Returning here about 5 p. m., the Graf Zeppelin moored for a short time then departed. Government officials and British representatives bid farewell to Dr. Hugo Eckener, wishing him "Tail Winds."

When the Graf arrived here early this morning, on the way to Jerusalem, 25,000 persons broke police lines and thronged about the ship, refusing to disperse until firemen turned the hose on them.

Before the dirigible was moored, a member of the crew descended by parachute and instructed a force of 350 British soldiers in the methods of landing her. They were in charge of Flight Lieutenant Luck, who came here to perform a similar task for the ill-fated R-101.

MRS. LONGWORTH WILL NOT SEEK OFFICE, SAYS BROTHER

Archie Roosevelt Says She Will Make Cincinnati Her Future Home.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., April 11. — Archie Roosevelt, brother of Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, said today that his sister "has never and will not seek political office."

Roosevelt made this statement at the Longworth home and added that "my sister will, of course, go back to Washington where she has a residence but Cincinnati is her home, and she intends to make it such in the future."

Further than this, he said, Mrs. Longworth has no future plans.

Capital Cherry Trees in Bloom.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The trees that make cherry-blossom time a tradition of the capital are flowering at last. Thousands of tourists, disappointed because Easter was without them, remained to see the pale pink blooms along the circular rim of the tidal basin that George Washington designed. the trees were given to the United States during President Taft's administration by Japan.

LEADERS OF NATION AT FUNERAL OF LONGWORTH

Body of House Speaker Interred Beside Father Following Church Service Lasting Less Than Half an Hour.

PRESIDENT AMONG THOSE AT GRAVE

Thousands Line Route of Cortege From Cincinnati Home — Floral Tributes From Hundreds of Organizations and Individuals.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., April 11. — Leaders of the nation paid silent tribute to Nicholas Longworth, Speaker of the House, as he was buried today beside his father in Spring Grove cemetery.

Funeral services at Christ Episcopal Church were simple. The Rt. Rev. Henry Wise Hobson, Bishop Coadjutor of the diocese of Southern Ohio, read the service which lasted less than a half hour. No words of eulogy were spoken.

At the cemetery with a short ritual Bishop Hobson committed the body to the earth.

The President, Mrs. Hoover and the Vice President also attended the service at the grave. Shortly afterward the Chief Executive and his party boarded their special train for Washington.

Mr. Longworth, who had just completed his third term as Speaker of the National House of Representatives, died in his sixty-first year Thursday at Aiken, S. C., after a short illness of pneumonia. His body was brought here on a special train from South Carolina, arriving early this morning.

For hours persons stood outside on the lawn of the Longworth residence atop a hill on Grandin road, awaiting the arrival of the body. Many of these remained until the funeral cortege left shortly after 1:30 o'clock.

President Hoover, along with national and local friends, called during the morning. The home was opened to the townspeople.

Thousands Along the Route.

When the cortege left for the church, a distance of more than four miles, thousands who had waited for the opportunity to pay tribute stood along the route.

In the procession from the home were Mrs. Longworth, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Sr., her stepmother; Mrs. Ethel Roosevelt Derby, her sister; Archibald and Kermit Roosevelt, her brothers; their wives, Miss Mildred Reeves, Mr. Longworth's private secretary, the servants of the Longworth household, and the honorary pallbearers, who were some of the outstanding leaders in all walks of American life.

President and Mrs. Hoover and the Congressional delegation and local leaders had already taken their places in the church when the body arrived. This arrangement, at the request of the President's aids, was to keep the President from being forced to make his way through the huge crowd.

Procession to the Chancel.

The active pallbearers, Kermit and Archibald Roosevelt; B. A. Wallingford Sr., and his three sons, B. A. Wallingford Jr., Landon and Nicholas, took the body to the front door of the church where Bishop Hobson and the Rev. Bernard Hummell, assistant rector, lead the procession to the chancel.

Members of the immediate Longworth family followed the casket. Behind them came Miss Reeves and servants. The vested choir came next and took their places to the right and left of the Bishop.

The Psalms and the Epistles to the Corinthians and the Romans and the Gospel of St. John, provided the prayers for the funeral service.

Because of the Speaker's love for music, a string quartet from the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, played melodies from the masters and the parting dirge.

Christ Church chancel was a bower of roses, lilies, snapdragons,

GOVERNOR SAID TO WISH COMPROMISE ON REDISTRICTING

Legislators Expect Special Message From Him Asking for Changes in Bill Senate Passed.

G. O. P. LEADERS URGING VETO

Executive, However, Is Said to Seek to Avoid Dilemma in Which Such Action Would Place Him.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 11.—A special message from Gov. Caulfield to the Democratic House of Representatives on the subject of congressional redistricting early next week, probably Tuesday, is expected by legislators who have remained here over the week end and by several Congressmen who have interviewed the Governor during the last few days.

While none of these men will say that the Governor has definitely stated his intention to address the Legislature, it is known that he has been urged to do so, and several legislators who have talked with him say they are confident he will follow that course in an effort to obtain a bill which the Republicans will consider fairer to them than the Democratic measure which the Senate sent to the House yesterday.

In discussing the redistricting controversy, it has been pointed out that the Democratic Senate and House—if the House passes the Senate bill—will have the Governor "in a hole," from which he will not be able to extricate himself without criticism.

G. O. P. Leaders Urge Veto.

Virtually all the Republican organization of the State is opposed to the measure and pressure has been brought to bear on the Governor by Dr. E. B. Clements, Republican National Committeeman, State Chairman Arthur Curtiss and former State Chairman B. G. Voorhes to veto it. If he should sign it the criticism from Republican organization sources would be tremendous.

On the other hand, if he should veto it the Democratic organization would attempt to make political capital of the veto. Undoubtedly they would charge that the Governor had acted from partisan motives and that the responsibility for all the confusion which would result from the election of the 13 Congressmen at large, which will be necessary if there is no new districting law, would rest on him.

While the Governor probably would be defended from such a charge by Republicans on the ground that the bill was unfair and that he was justified in refusing to fasten on the State a Democratic gerrymander, there always would remain the question as to whether the bill was in fact fair or unfair.

Dispute Over Districts.

According to Democratic calculations, the bill provides for five strong Democratic districts, five strong Republican, two close Democratic and one close Republican district. From this the Democrats have figured it is an 8-5 redistricting. The Republicans, on the other hand, insist that at best it is a 9-4 proposal, contending that one of the St. Louis districts, that now represented by Congressman Cochran, while Republican, can be carried by Cochran.

There has been a disposition on the part of some of the Democrats to engage in much snickering at the thought of the political embarrassment which they believe they will cause the Governor, and there is no doubt that the desire to embarrass him has had something to do with the framing and passing of the bill.

Republicans, who have been urging a special message, take the position that by that means the Governor can turn the situation to his own and his party's advantage and to the disadvantage of the Democrats. It has been suggested that if the Governor told the House that he considered the bill unfair and that its unfairness overbalanced any confusion which might result from a veto, that he would gain the upper hand in public opinion.

At least, they say, such a message would be information to the legislature of the Governor's views in time to amend the bill and thus prevent a failure of redistricting.

While it is known that the Governor believes Missouri is a Republican state and believes that a fair districting would mean seven Republican and six Democratic districts, it is not thought that he would insist on Republican advantage. The opinion held by most Republicans in touch with the situation is that there would be doubt that he would sign a bill creating seven Democratic and six Republican districts.

Out of the speculation as to whether the House, which has killed a districting bill similar to this Senate bill, would reverse its position there has developed a belief that it will go through the House. It has been expected that the House members would have tired of serving at $1 a day for nearly a month and that many of them would have gone to their homes to stay. But that does not seem to be a fact, nearly all the Democratic members being on hand.

This is attributable possibly to two factors. One is that every Democratic member of the Legislature is entitled to have three clerks at $3.50 a day each. Some have them actually in Jefferson City, but the number of clerks on duty is far less than the total of 258 to which they are entitled.

The other factor is the accessibility of Jefferson City by highway. Many members can drive to their homes at night and return the next morning in time for the legislative session, while before the highway development many hours of train travel was necessary for them to get from their homes to Jefferson City.

NORMAN THOMAS ADVOCATES $3,000,000,000 HUNGER LOAN

Also Urges $500,000,000 Appropriation For Relief Work Among the Unemployed.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 11.—Appropriation of $500,000,000 by a special session of Congress for immediate relief work among unemployed, and the flotation of a $3,000,000,000 "hunger loan" were advanced tonight by Norman Thomas as means for alleviation of present economic distress.

The 1928 presidential candidate of the Socialists made his plea in an address before the third annual intercollegiate liberal conference at Johns Hopkins University.

Progressive Senators were criticised by Thomas for their zeal in attacking President Hoover "rather than accepting a humanitarian point of view in the face of the unemployment crisis." The President, though, he attacked for what he termed the "shame and tragedy" of his "lack of initiative in furnishing humane relief."

daisies and a dozen other flowers.

Among theme was a hugh wreath of ivy, holly and fern, from the President. Vice President Curtis sent a large spray of roses and lilies of the valley. That of the House of Representatives was a pillow of roses, snapdragons and lilies.

Other floral tributes came from foreign embassies at Washington, the National Press Club, the Gridiron Club, the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers; Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Hulbert Taft, Postmaster-General and Mrs. Walter Brown, and Vincent Astor and hundreds of other organizations and individuals.

Paulina, the 6-year-old daughter of the Longworths, learned for the firs ttime today that her father was dead when her mother reached home with his casket. She was in school here and the news had been kept from her.

President Hoover's special train reached here at 11:14 this morning. With him and Mrs. Hoover were Capt. Russell Train, his naval aid, Capt. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician; Postmaster-General Brown and others.

Crowd at Station for President.

The station was crowded as the special arrived. The official committee to greet the Chief Executive included Mayor Russell Wilson of Cincinnati, Col. Campbell Hodges, the President's military aid who accompanied the Longworth funeral party from South Carolina, and Kermit and Archie Roosevelt.

The presidential party made its way through a battery of cameramen and left in automobiles for Rockwood, the Longworth home.

While the President and his party were at the home, the grounds were closed to outsiders. They remained for about 15 minutes and returned to the train to await the time for the funeral.

old residences could not be sold for good prices, the following West End building reductions were made: Anna M. Kennard, 4 Portland place, $50,000 to $40,000; Edwin Nugent, Westmoreland place, $80,000 to $65,000; Frank O. Watts, chariman of the board of First National Bank, 33 Portland place, $100,000 to $70,000.

Reductions were made for four residences on Forsythe avenue, between Skinker boulevard and the city limits, opposite Washington University and west of Forest Park, as follows: Circuit Judge Wilson A. Taylor, No. 6214, $26,000 to $20,000; Herbert W. Waltke, No. 6224, $33,000 to $30,500; Edwin R. Meyer, No. 6226, $45,500 to $40,000, and Edwin B. Meissner, president of the St. Louis Car Co., No. 6244, a cut of $5500. For Judge Taylor and Meissner the decreases were on land alone while for Waltke and Meyer they were on ground and buildings.

Other large decreases of real estate, all on buildings, were: Davis estate, northwest corner of Broadway and Washington avenue, from $175,000 to $125,000; Commercial Building, Sixth and Olive streets, owned by the Abels estate, from $275,000 to $255,000; Humboldt Building, Grand and Washington boulevards, owned by Grand Theater Realty Co., from $125,000 to $100,000; southwest corner of Tenth and Olive streets, owned by A. M. Price and others and the Montrose Realty Co., from $60,000 to $50,000; St. Louis Refrigerator & Cold Storage Co., from $518,000 to $443,000, on four buildings.

"BIG BILL" THOMPSON ON MISSISSIPPI CRUISE

Jokes About His Defeat and Shouts for a Nine-Foot Channel.

To the tunes of "Big Bill the Builder" and "Happy Days Are Here Again," William Hale Thompson, in a Mississippi River packet, landed last night in St. Louis, talking earnestly about waterways and jovially about his defeat by Anton Cermak in the recent bitter race for the Chicago mayoralty.

"This is wholesale," he said, recalling the statement he made when defeat became certain—that he would continue to "build Chicago" as a private citizen and would start off with this cruise of the Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee.

"All the rest of that damn stuff is retail. Putting through the 9-foot waterway from Chicago to the gulf is like putting the chassis under the machine. Anybody can stick the gilt tassels on the upholstery, but this is what makes the wheels go 'round."

With Thompson on the steamer Cape Girardeau are about 75 labor leaders and friends, and, as one of them said, "These men are loyal. All the rest of them are back in Chicago, looking for jobs from Tony Cermak." The boat, scheduled to depart down-river at dawn today, is not so crowded as it was on earlier Thompson cruises past St. Louis, on the last of which he earned the lasting respect of army engineers for his aid to the rescue fleet in the 1927 flood.

For a Nine-Foot Channel.

"There's no way to do more for Chicago than by the completion of the nine-foot channel," said Thompson. "My grandfather was one of the 28 voters in Chicago when Ogden was elected the first Mayor. Three villages at the south end of the lake then contended for the honor of being the site of the great metropolis which all expected to grow there. Michigan City and New Buffalo believed they had the advantage in being situated nearer to Buffalo, N. Y., then the market and transportation center.

"While they were arguing about their geographic advantages, my grandfather and others in Chicago were busy at Springfield and Washington obtaining the necessary legislation for the Illinois and Michigan canal. By that canal, in boats drawn by mules, the first wheat reached Chicago, now the wheat market of the world.

"The canal was completed in 1848. Two years after the population of Chicago had increased 500 per cent and the business 400 per cent. If a little canal could do that for the village of Chicago, what would the 9-foot channel do for the industries of Chicago lying our products on the docks in Germany at $7 a ton? It would give us 7,000,000 people, twice as much money and twice as many jobs. It would bring 50,000,000 new people into the Mississippi Valley."

"An Orphan" in Last Election.

"How long will the Democrats stay in power in Chicago?" interrupted a reporter. "As long," replied Thompson, "as they retain control of Republican bosses. You know I was an orphan in the last election. All the Republican bosses were against me. I'd like to have what was spent against me on election day."

"Well, Boss, 500,000 people can't be wrong," called one of the loyal henchmen lounging on the foredeck, referring to the Thompson vote.

"If every one of them educates one other before the next election, we're all right," suggested another.

"Let him educate one and a half," grinned Thompson. "And then we'd have all the votes. Or," he concluded drily, arising and moving toward his stateroom, "is that selfish?"

EAKER GIVES UP WEST-EAST FLIGHT RECORD ATTEMPT

Army Aviator Forced Down by Motor Trouble Trying to Beat Hawks' Mark.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., April 11.—Forced down here by motor trouble at 5 p. m. today, Capt. Ira Eaker, army test pilot, who was attempting to set a new west-east transcontinental air speed record, tonight announced he would abandon the attempt to better Capt. Frank Hawks' mark at this time. Eaker was forced back after he had passed over Columbus.

Eaker said that all the way from the coast flying conditions were almost ideal. His low-winged red and blue monoplane functioned smoothly and averaged more than 200 miles an hour until the trouble developed near Newark, O. He felt he could have made New York in one hour and 45 minutes, giving him a total of 10 hours 50 minutes for the coast-to-coast flight, and bettering the Hawks' mark by more than an hour.

Capt. Eaker made the flight from California to Wichita, Kan., in six hours 2 minutes, 36 seconds, he said. He required three hours, 27 minutes and 24 seconds to make Port Columbus, including the time he lost between here and Newark and return.

Eaker decided to abandon the attempt because the clutch of the supercharger in his motor was slipping. It will be necessary to take out the motor to make repairs. He was undecided whether he would try for an east-west record.

MASSACHUSETTS G. O. P. CLUB ROW OVER SPEECH BY WET

Opposition to Address by Henry W. Anderson of Wickersham Commission.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, April 11.—Dissension had arisen in the Massachusetts Republican Club today as the result of an invitation to Henry W. Anderson of the Wickersham Commission and others opposed to prohibition, to address the club April 18. Courtenay Guild, one of the club's founders, has protested against the extending of the invitations. In a public statement he said:

"If the object of the club is to destroy the Republican party it could not accomplish it in any better way." He also said "the Republican Club of Massachusetts today is promoting discord and doing for the Republican party what Raskob is doing for the Democratic party."

President Judson Hannigan of the club replied to Guild today, denying the club wanted to promote discord or disrupt the party. He said the Republican Club today finds the party in this State in a situation somewhat analogous to that which existed 40 years ago when it was founded. "We haven't the slightest desire to promote discord," he said. "But we are more concerned with the maintenance of the finest principles of government and with honestly facing great issues, in order that we may obtain and spread the truth of those issues than we are in maintaining harmony when it is innocuous, dull and destructive."

Invitations to the dinner at which Anderson will speak have been declined by former Gov. Frank G. Allen, Lieutenant-Governor William S. Youngman and Congressman Robert Luce.

City to Oppose Proposed Cut By Union Electric in Rate Charged 191 of Its Large Customers

Declares It Is Meant to Embarass State Board—Seeks Reduction for Homes Where Price Has Been Unchanged Since 1923.

A hearing scheduled before the State Public Service Commission at Jefferson City tomorrow will find the city of St. Louis opposing a rate reduction proposed by Union Electric Light and Power Co.

This unusual situation is due to the view of City Counselor Muench, representing the city, that the wrong group of consumers would be benefited by the reduction. Union Electric has filed a revision of a rate schedule by which 191 of its large customers in St. Louis and St. Louis County would save $383,000 annually on the basis of their present consumption of electricity. This would be accomplished by making the company's present low power rates apply to all consumers having a demand of 150 or more kilowatts.

The chief beneficiaries would be office buildings, theaters, department stores, hospitals and hotels, some of whose savings would be as much as $8000 a year. Most of these customers now pay the commercial business lighting rate. Their total consumption of electricity in 1930 was almost equal to that of the 182,000 residence users—95,873,000 kilowatt hours compared with 110,352,683 kilowatt hours.

The average rate they paid was 2.04 cents a kilowatt hour compared with an average of 4.32 cents paid by residence consumers and 1.77 cents by power consumers.

Seeks to Block Reduction.

City Counselor Muench has filed a motion to suspend the proposed schedule and tomorrow's hearing is on that motion. His contention is that a rate reduction and the class or classes of consumers to whom it should apply should be determined only by the Public Service Commission after weighing the evidence taken in extended hearings recently concluded. These hearings were on the application of the city for a reduction of about $1,000,000 a year in domestic rates.

In a statement supporting his motion, Muench asserted any reduction should apply to residence customers and charged that the move of Union Electric was not made in good faith, but was intended to embarrass the Public Service Commission in its consideration of the city's rate case. He asserted the present proposal of Union Electric was inconsistent with the testimony of its executives at the recent hearings that the present financial condition of the company would not justify any reduction.

Muench began his move for a reduction in residence rates early in 1928, after the company had reduced rates to industries about $600,000 a year. Upon his petition, the Public Service Commission ordered an audit of the company's property and operating accounts. The audit was completed last fall and subsequent hearings were to enable the commission to determine what weight to give it. On its face it indicated that the company was earning from 10 to 11 per cent on the fair value of its property.

Home Rate Unchanged Since 1923.

The residence rate schedule has been in effect without change since 1923. Frank J. Boehm, vice president of Union Electric, has said, nevertheless, that the average rate paid by domestic consumers has decreased 24½ per cent in that time. The initial rate is 7 cents a kilowatt hour, but according to Boehm, the average residence consumer enjoys the lower rate of 2½ cents a kilowatt hour on all current consumed each month in excess of 24 kilowatt hours. This changing point varies, however, according to the number of counted rooms in a house or apartment. The increase in use brings the average rate down.

Domestic consumers use only 18 per cent of the electricity sold by Union Electric in St. Louis. The total sold in 1930 was 598,412,485 kilowatt hours and the average price received for it was 2.539 cents a kilowatt hour. Domestic consumers used 110,352,683 kilowatt hours at the average rate of 4.32 cents. Power customers took 259,602,148 kilowatt hours at 1.77 cents, less than half the rate paid by domestic consumers.

Company Puts Profit at 9 Mills.

Union Electric's cost of producing and distributing electricity averaged 1.6 cents a kilowatt hour, as compared with the average price received of 2.5 cents, leaving 9 mills for profit, according to its records.

The lowest cost electricity was that purchased from the Keokuk hydro-electric plant, the cost of which delivered to the company's Page avenue substation was 5.2 mills a kilowatt hour. This source supplied about 31 per cent of the total. About 60 per cent was purchased from the Cahokia steam plant, owned by the company, at a cost of 7 mills a kilowatt hour. Approximately 9 per cent was generated at the company's Ashley street steam plant at a still higher cost.

In a pamphlet, "What Price Electricity for Our Homes," published in 1928, Morris Llewellyn Cooke, an authority on public utility regulation, stated the conclusion that 5 cents a kilowatt hour was the maximum justifiable rate for electricity for homes, and that in many cases such a rate provided too great a margin of profit. In a later study of the cost of distribution to domestic consumers Cooke said:

"A nation-wide campaign for fair rates for domestic consumers of electricity—rates based on cost plus a reasonable profit—is under way. Steps have already been taken in a number of states to question the theory on which domestic rates have always been based. In the early days of the electrical industry it was the high rates paid by the light user which in large measure financed the development of the use of electricity in the industries. And it has been the excessive rates paid by the householder, and other relatively small consumers, which have made possible the post-war era of interconnection and consolidation of companies with its accompaniment in many cases of flagrantly inflated capital values.

Sees Hope of Forcing Fair Rate.

"Through marvelous advances in technique, with resulting lowering of costs, through the adoption of capital values based on the cost of reproduction at post-war prices as substitutes for values based on the prudent investment, through a rapid expansion in the use of electricity, and through the ease with which electric securities have been marketed, the electrical industry has enjoyed the maximum of prosperity. But it seems hardly likely that relief through these sources can continue to keep pace with the mounting exactions of holding companies—the outgrowth of purchase and repurchase of properties at fancy prices.

"Rates will eventually be based on the legitimate costs as incurred by the operating company. Possibly because it is becoming easier to differentiate in this matter of costs as between power and commercial and domestic users, there is noticeable in regulation a tendency to allocate costs as between the different classes of service. If the implications of this study are sound, the time is not far distant when the industry will be forced for the first time in its history to set fair rates for domestic service—rates far below those which now obtain."

In his study Cooke concluded the average distribution cost to the domestic consumer using 500 kilowatt hours a year was 1.5 cents a kilowatt hour.

8 ARRESTS MADE SAID TO UNCOVER BIG LIQUOR RING

EVIDENCE GOT BY TAPPING WIRES

Ramifications of Organization Said to Extend From Canada to British Honduras.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—With the arrest of eight men and the seizure of a radio station near here, Federal prohibition authorities say they have struck a blow at a liquor smuggling ring that operated from the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Canada and British Honduras.

The radio station was seized in a dwelling in Gentilly, a suburb. District Attorney Edmund E. Talbot said the arrests might reach 100 before the campaign against the ring is complete.

After those arrested had been registered on the prison blotter, the Commissioner warned them that if any of them gave fictitious names they would not be entitled to bail. At once several of them announced new names. The records were corrected to list them as Albert Morrison, Albert Haim, Al Hart, Joe Miller, Cecil Squires, M. D. O'Neal and Charles Andres and Harry Golden. Golden was arrested after being caught tapping the syndicate's telephone wires to get information, officers said, which he admitted would be used by a gang of New Orleans bootleggers in a scheme to steal the syndicate's liquor.

To Be Arraigned Tomorrow.

All of them were charged with conspiracy to violate the Federal prohibition law and were held in $25,000 bail except Andres, the radio man, whose bond was fixed at $5000. The prisoners will be arraigned Monday afternoon.

Morrison and O'Neal were described by officers as representatives of Vancouver, Canada, distilleries, that handled the ring's orders. Haim, Hart and Miller, the authorities said, were from Chicago and took charge of the land distribution of the liquor. Squires was arrested as he walked into Morrison's quarters in a Canal street apartment as the officers were arresting Morrison.

Base on Pearl River.

District Attorney Talbot said the ring carried liquor from Vancouver distillers by boat to Belize, British Honduras, where it was reshipped on steamers to the Gulf Coast and met outside the 12-mile limit by luggers, which slipped around the Gulf coast and up the Pearl River.

On Pearl River, he said, the ring had leased a pecan orchard and several lumber plants that were used as a base for the liquor supplies, liquor was moved thence by motor truck to freight cars where it was shipped out labeled "Lumber" or "Cross Ties."

The agents said they had learned the radio station at Gentilly was used to direct the movements of liquor ship so that they could slip between coast guard craft as they approached the Gulf Coast of Mississippi.

Talbot said a man with "a big front," posing as a wealthy business man on vacation on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, was employed by the syndicate as a go-between and bribed "certain Mississippi officials" to avert interference after the liquor was landed.

Tapped Wires to Get Evidence.

Federal agents obeained evidence, the District Attorney said, by tapping telephone wires used by th syndicate's managers, and b listening to conversations involvin liquor running, bribery and operation of illegal radios.

An agent, he said, heard Morrison talking by long distance telephone to a representative of Vancouver distillery: "I have ju forwarded 50 grand ($50,000) headquarters. This is the n profits for the last few months Morrison was quoted as saying.

Authorities said they had obtained confessions from some the smaller fry who had involve the higher-ups.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Acting directly under orders from Washington, Federal agents today seized five large motor boats which they said were being fitted out with high-speed engines at various New York shipyards.

The seizures were not explained other than that they were taken on technical charges of violating commerce rules.

The boats were of the type used for liquor running, but no charge of that kind was made.

The prohibition division of the Customs Bureau declined to discuss the seizures. It was reported agents were investigating to determine if the owners of the boats had visible income with which to buy them and if the income were reported for tax purposes.

The Federal Government recently started a campaign in New York to prosecute extortionists and others with illegal incomes who failed to pay proper income taxes.

J. N. Burnes, Harvard Sophomore, Lost Life Near Hingham, Mass.

The body of James Nelson Burnes, 20-year-old Harvard sophomore and former St. Louis resident, who was killed Friday in an airplane crash at Hingham, Mass., will be brought to St. Louis for burial. The body is escorted by Thomas Eastland, president of the Harvard Flying Club, of which Burnes was a member, Henry Nickerson and Sterling Adams.

Burnes, a former pupil at Country Day School, was the son of the late Kennett Farrar Burnes, St. Louis mining engineer, who died 10 years ago. The family lived at 5151 Washington boulevard. Several years after the death of her first husband, Mrs. Burnes, who was formerly Miss Adele Mellier, married Robert M. Roloson of Chicago. They live at Evanston, Ill.

Burnes was flying a new monoplane owned by the Flying Club. According to the report of the State aviation inspector, the engine apparently failed while the ship was at a high altitude. The pilot is thought to have attempted to reach an emergency landing field two miles distant, but the plane went into a spin and crashed. Burnes had a private pilot's license.

$89,000 VERDICT GIVEN IN 'PANA ROSES GAS' SUIT

Illinois Court Grants Firm of Growers Judgment Against Central Public Service Co.

PANA, Ill., April 11.—After having the case under advisement for three months, Judge Franklin R. Dove of the Shelby County Circuit Court today handed down a decision in the $200,000 damage suit of Maton Brothers, Inc., Pana, wholesale rose growers, against the Central Illinois Public Service Co., awarding the plaintiffs judgment for $89,320.16. It was the largest judgment in a civil case ever rendered in any court in the Fourth Judicial district.

The case was nationally known as the "Pana roses-gas death suit" and attracted attention of flower growers throughout the country. Expert engineers and botanists gave testimony. It was alleged by the Matons that more than 150,000 valuable rose plants were killed by gas from a leaky main of the defendants constructed near their rose ranges and without their consent or knowledge, also that their business was wrecked because they could not fill their orders and their customers had to purchase of other rose growers. The service company contended that the rose plants died from other causes. It filed notice of an appeal.

MISSING MAN FOUND SLAIN

By the Associated Press.

SCOTLAND, Ga., April 11.—The body of J. L. Clegg, merchant and farmer, who had been missing since Wednesday, was found today in the woods near his abandoned automobile a short distance from here. Authorities said he had been shot in the back of the head and severely beaten, apparently by robbers.

No money was found with the body, through Clegg's wife had told officers he had a considerable sum with him Wednesday.

Man, 70, Found Dead From Gas.

David Wiliams, 70 years old, a blacksmith, was found dead in his room at 3201 South Ninth street last night. He had been last seen in his lodgings Friday afternoon. A gas heater in the room was turned on but not lighted and the room was filled with gas.

JURY DISAGREES IN TRIAL OF FOUR ON DRUG CHARGE

Crowd, That Sneered Audibly at Prosecuting Witness, Held in Seats Till Jurors Depart.

DEFENDANTS SAID THEY WERE "FRAMED"

One of Them, Joseph Dattalo, Says Money He Got From Bova Was to Pay Bet Not to Buy Narcotics

More than 60 relatives and friends of four defendants in the Dattalo narcotics trial were required by Federal Judge Davis to remain in their seats for several minutes after he discharged the jury, because of its inability to reach a verdict, at 3:20 p. m. yesterday.

The men and women in the court room were the same who attended the trial on the three previous days, and whose sneers at the Government's chief witness, Joseph Bova, had caused the bailiffs repeatedly to pound and shout for order.

When the jury reported its inability to agree, and was dismissed by the Judge, the court room group started to leave, but was halted by the Court's unusual order, "Everyone except the jurors remain in your seats." Judge Davis permitted the spectators to go only after the jurors had had several minutes in which to leave the building.

The jury, which took the case at 2:45 p. m. Friday, had spent seven and a half hours in considering it. It was not learned how the voting stood. After the dismissal of the jury, the case was passed without order, and may be retried in June or later.

The defendants were Joseph Dattalo, handbook proprietor; William Blue, his clerk; Sam Randazzo and Joe Costella. Bova testified that he placed orders for narcotics with Dattalo by telephone, and that Blue would call at his home and collect the price of the goods in advance, after which Randazzo would deliver them. Costella figured only as having accompanied Randazzo in an automobile. Government agents who said they were hiding on the premises at the time testified that they saw Randazzo deliver a consignment to Bova.

Bova's testimony was attacked bitterly by the defense. His sister and aunt were introduced, to swear that he had told them he meant to "frame" men whom he did not name, and who, it was contended, were the defendants. Dattalo said that the money which passed between him and Bova was connected with Bova's bets on the races, placed through his handbook establishment at Eighteenth street and Washington avenue.

Government agents told of negotiating with Randazzo for the purchase of a quantity of morphine. He took money with which to make the purchase, it was testified, but returned it later, saying he had not been able to get the morphine.

MRS. VIRGINIA LUPTON KILLED BY ACCIDENT, INQUEST FINDS

Widow, 77, Run Down by Automobile Friday at Skinker Road and Northwood Avenue.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned yesterday in the case of Mrs. Virginia Edward Lupton, widow of Albert Lupton and member of a well-known St. Louis family, who was killed Friday night when struck by an automobile on Skinker road near Northwood avenue.

Mrs. Lupton, who was 77 years old and lived at 5284 Waterman avenue, had visited her sister, Mrs. Eliza Farrar, 625 Skinker, and had started home, accompanied by her cousin, Miss E. Della Howard, 5286 Waterman. They had crossed the south drive of Skinker and had stepped into the north drive about 50 feet south of Northwood avenue when Mrs. Lupton was struck by a machine, driven by Max Seslen, a commission merchant, 6445 San Bonita avenue. Seslen said Mrs. Lupton stepped from the parkway in the center of Skinker road directly into the path of his car.

BODY OF MAN IS FOUND IN MERAMEC AT JEDBURG

The body of a man, apparently dead about two weeks, was found floating in the Meramec River at Jedburg, late yesterday afternoon. A painter on a bridge under erection there, who saw the body, called Louis Bopp, undertaker and former Coroner of St. Louis County, and Bopp removed the body to his establishment in Kirkwood.

The man was dressed in three pairs of trousers, two, shirts, a jumper, a leather coat and an army overcoat. From papers in the pockets, he was identified as Anton George Hettinger, of Jefferson City.

Hettinger, who resided with his father on a farm five miles west of Jefferson City, left home three weeks ago in search of work. He had formerly been employed in Government work on the Missouri River at Jefferson City. He was 32 years old.

WOMAN HELD WITHOUT BAIL IN "LOVE SCHOOL" MURDER

Attorney Hired by Wellesley Alumnae Indicates Mrs. Frances Thomsen Will Plead Insanity.

By the Associated Press.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 11.—Held without bail after a preliminary hearing, Mrs. Frances Thomsen, 29 years old, former school teacher, was a prisoner in the Luzerne County jail tonight as friends prepared to assist in her defense.

She was ordered committed to jail to await action of the grand jury after Judge W. S. McLean's court today listened to details of the killing of Miss Minnie E. Dilley, 76-year-old wealthy recluse. Miss Dilley's body, bruised and with her throat cut, was found in her home a week ago tonight.

Attorney John H. Dando has been retained by Wellesley College alumnae to defend Mrs. Thomsen. Dando intimated the court would be asked to appoint a lunacy commission to inquire into Mrs. Thomsen's mental condition.

Letters written by Mrs. Thomsen and found in Miss Dilley's home were read during the three-hour arraignment. They were written by the Pittsburg woman while she was haunted by the fear she said that Miss Dilley was planning to start a "love cult" in the Pocono Mountains. Mrs. Thomsen's husband was to be appointed general manager of the "Love School," according to the letters.

These letters dated back to four years ago when the Thomsen family lived across the street from Miss Dilley. It was the fear of losing her husband to the older woman tnat unbalanced Mrs. Thomsen, her attorney said.

JACK DEMPSEY SAYS THERE MAY OR MAY NOT BE DIVORCE

At Reno Admits Quarrel With Estelle Taylor "But It May Be Patched Up."

By the Associated Press.

RENO, Nev., April 11.—Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor have quarreled; and there may, or may not, be a divorce suit.

The former heavyweight boxing champion, arriving today for a visit of possibly six weeks—the minimum time required before instituting action under the new Nevada divorce law—admitted there was a rift between him and his film actress wife.

"Our little difficulties may be patched up, and again they may not," he said.

Dempsey declared, however, he came here for a rest and to look after his mining and other interests, and not to start divorce proceedings. He said he did not know what plans his wife might have.

"We have had a scrap," Dempsey said, "but it was not so seriuos that it cannot be forgotten. If the time comes that there must be a divorce, I'll not hold back the news. It might make the situation worse to talk now."

ZIEGFELD'S DAUGHTER ACTS

Appears in Comedy With Mother, Billie Burke.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—A young, red-headed girl took her place this week in the cast of "The Truth Game," a comedy playing here with Billie Burke as its star. Hundreds of theatergoers who listened to the girlish voice probably little suspected that the youngest member of one of America's famous theatrical families was making her debut.

They little suspected because it was not to be known that the "new face" was none other than the star's own daughter—Patricia Ziegfeld, 14-year-old daughter of Florenz Ziegfeld and Billie Burke. Miss Ziegfeld came to the city Monday to be with her mother during the Easter vacation from Halstead School at Yonkers, N. Y. Today saw the end of her brief "career," for her father arrived in this city this afternoon—first to see his daughter on the stage, and second to take her back to school.

WILL VIEW SUSPECTS IN E. ST. LOUIS ATTACKS

Witnesses on Way to Louisville, Ky.; Prisoners Held for Other Crimes.

Louisville, Ky., police are awaiting the arrival from East St. Louis of witnesses who have identified pictures of two Negroes held there as the men who bound and gagged three groups of East St. Louisans on March 13, attacking two women and a girl and stealing automobiles, jewelry and money.

The prisoners, who with another Negro have confessed a murder in Elizabethtown, Ky., according to the Louisville police, have denied they were in East St. Louis at the time of the offense.

Their photographs also have been identified in Fulton, Ky., as those of the men who forced their way into two farmhouses near there, bound several persons and, after robbing the farmers, attacked two women. The assaults near Fulton occurred March 14 and the assailants were traced part way to East St. Louis in the ensuing investigation.

One Had Scar on Cheek.

The prisoners are booked as Charles Rogers, 22 years old, and Walter Holmes, 30. Rogers is tall and brown and has a long scar on his right cheek. Holmes is small and very black. The descriptions correspond with those given of the assailants in the East St. Louis cases.

They are held with Walter Dewberry. Police say all have signed Thomas Tillery, a farmer near Thomas Tillery, a, farmer near Elizabethtown, when he attempted to keep him from breaking into his house. All three of the Negroes, according to the police, admitted firing at Tillery.

In the confession, police said, the Negroes asserted they stole an automobile in Chicago and drove to Kentucky, committing several robberies on the way. In each case they bound and gagged their victims.

Deputy Sheriffs chased them down a blind street in Elizabethtown after a robbery and the men abandoned their car and fled across the fields in the darkness. After walking about five miles they came to Tillery's home and asked to borrow a tire pump, intending to rob Tillery of his money and automobile car keys. The farmer, however, declined to open the door.

Caught Soon After Killing.

One of the Negroes smashed a window and when Tillery attempted to repel him, they shot him. They were captured a short time later and were taken to Louisville for safe-keeping.

Because of the similarity of the robberies in Kentucky and those of East St. Louis, the Negroes were questioned about the East Side assaults. Police said they would not be questioned further until witnesses arrive "to identify them face to face."

ARTHUR DONNELLY'S ESTATE INVENTORIED AT $181,407

Property of Undertaker Includes Real Estate Worth $93,610, Stocks, Cash.

An estate valued at $181,407 was left by Arthur J. Donnelly, undertaker, who died Dec. 28, according to an inventory filed yesterday. The property includes $93,610 worth of real estate, $46,534 in cash and $21,080.65 worth of corporation stocks.

Stock in the Donnelly funeral establishment at 3846 Lindell boulevard was listed at par value, $3800, and 28 acres of Florida land were inventoried at $100. Mr. Donnelly was survived by his widow, Mrs. Katherine Regan Donnelly, a daughter and a son.

100,000 EXPECTED TO START WORK ON HIGHWAYS SOON

Federal Aid Projects Totaling $63,719,612 Approved in First 3 Months of 1931.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—More than 100,000 men soon are expected to be handling picks and shovels on new networks of roads linking cities, towns and villages in every state.

Projects are being approved daily by the Bureau of Public Roads and preliminary surveys speeded to get as many men as possible at work this month. The bureau sanctioned Federal aid projects totaling $63,719,612 during the first three months of this year, as compared with $24,391,562 last year.

The states in this period obligated $57,884,789 of the $80,000,000 emergency money voted by Congress to permit them to take up a larger percentage of the Federal aid highway fund which was increased from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000.

The total mileage states will build this year is expected to exceed by far the 1930 building and the 1929 total of 25,071 miles of surfacing and 7451 miles of grading.

During the first quarter of the year, the total of regular Federal aid and emergency funds was $121,604,401.

MOTHER AND THREE DAUGHTERS KILLED AT RAILROAD CROSSING

Mount Carroll (Ill.) Residents Occupants of Auto Hit by Milwaukee Road Train.

MOUNT CARROLL, Ill., April 11.—A mother and her three daughters were killed today by a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad train which struck their automobile at a crossing four miles from here.

The victims were Mrs. Stephen Mitchell, 55 years old, and her daughters, Doris, 24; Ruby, 18, and Alta, 8. Mrs. Mitchell was driving to Chadwick.

The two eldest daughters were teachers in Carroll County rural schools. Mrs. Mitchell's husband is the only survivor of the family.

The motorists apparently waited for a passenger train to pass and were struck by an unobserved freight on another track immediately afterward.

Soviet Theft of Dye Secrets Alleged

BERLIN, April 11.—The newspaper Vossische Zeitung said today that the arrest of a Communist worker in one of the large chemical plants of a dye manufactory had disclosed the sale of some of the company's secret formulas to the soviet trade delegation in Berlin. Police said they had confiscated correspondence indicating the Communist employes had received large sums for their services. Eleven other suspected Communists have been detained.

ACTOR FOUND DEAD

WILLARD S. ROBERTSON.

MRS. MARY IRWIN M'DEARMON, TEACHER, DIES IN HOLLYWOOD

Daughter of Lindenwood's Former President Taught There Last in 1899.

Word was received here last night of the death last Thursday at her home in Hollywood, Cal., of Mrs. Mary Irwin McDearmon, a former St. Louisan, and daughter of the Rev. Dr. Robert Irwin, president of Lindenwood College, St. Charles, from 1880 to 1893. Mrs. McDearmon, who was 70 years old, and the widow of James R. McDearmon, died of heart disease. The funeral will be held tomorrow at the Little Church of the Flowers, Glendale, Cal., and burial will will be there.

She attended Central High School and Lindenwood, and intermittently for 12 years she taught at Lindenwood, between 1878 and 1899. She was a teacher at Hosmer Hall from 1899 to 1911 and at Lenox Hall from 1919 to 1921. Since 1923 she had been a member of the faculty and house mother at Westlake School for Girls, Beverly Hills, Cal.

A daughter, Mrs. Mary Irwin McDearmon Warren, wife of Capt. George S. Warren of the Army Air Corps, who was a newspaper woman and civic worker here, died here about two years ago. A son and daughter, Orrick McDearmon of San Anselmo, Cal., and Mrs. Arthur Barrett of Hollywood, and three brothers and a sister, survive.

WILLARD S. ROBERTSON, ACTOR, IS FOUND DEAD

Mary Hart Company Member Succumbs at Mark Twain Hotel.

Willard S. Robertson, a character actor for many years, and for the last six, a member of the Mary Hart Company, now playing at the Orpheum Theater, was found dead of natural causes, in his room at the Mark Twain Hotel, shortly after noon yesterday. He was about 55 years old.

Other members of the troupe, who said Robertson never discussed his personal affairs with them, were unable to locate any relatives last night. However, they telegraphed to a woman in Akron, O., whose name they found in letters among Robertson's effects and she replied that she would leave for St. Louis at once. Whether she is a relative or not is not known.

The body was found by Kenneth Burton, stage manager at the Orpheum, who went to the hotel when Robertson failed to report for a rehearsal, and was admitted to the room by an hotel attache with a pass key. Robertson, fully clothed, was lying across the bed.

Members of the Orpheum Company were not familiar with Robertson's early career. Of late years he had played in stock in Columbus, O., and was in two New York productions.

$25,000 SUIT AGAINST HUSBAND'S PARENTS

Mrs. Laura Shulman, 19, Blames Them for Separation on March 20.

An alienation of affections suit, seeking $25,000 damages, was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Mrs. Laura Shulman, 19 years old, who blames the parents of her husband, Jack M. Shulman, for a separation on March 20, last.

The suit is against Mr. and Mrs. Julius Shulman, 5103 Vernon avenue, who, it is charged, caused young Shulman to leave his wife, telling him that she was "a common girl, and not highly educated."

Mrs. Shulman alleges that her husband's parents once offered her $5000 to relinquish her marital rights and permit him to divorce her.

When the Shulmans married June 22, last, according to the suit, Jack Shulman was a partner of his father in a contracting business. The young wife charges that her husband's father persuaded him to withdraw from the partnership and attempt to support his wife on a salary of $25 a week as an insurance agent.

NEW YALE LIBRARY DEDICATED

Late John W. Sterling Gave Fund for $6,000,000 Edifice.

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 11.—Another memorial to the late John W. Sterling, New York lawyer and Yale graduate who died in 1918, formally became a part of Yale University today with the dedication of the Sterling Memorial Library. This mammoth cathedral-like structure, standing in the heart of the university on a square measuring about 350 feet on each side, took its place with three other Sterling buildings now in use. These, with other Sterling buildings now under construction, were made possible by the will of Mr. Sterling, who left his residuary estate to Yale University for the erection of "at least one enduring, useful and architecturally beautiful edifice, which will constitute a fitting memorial of my gratitude to and affection for my alma mater."

John Anson Garver, counsel for the trustees of Mr. Sterling's estate, said Yale had received from the estate a total of $29,133,091.21. The library was erected at a cost of more than $6,000,000.

"I took a TRIMMING in the MARKET"

"But I'm glad I did. It forced me to look for value in small, everyday purchases"

"I was quite a boy with the pennies, B M and B C. Before marriage. And before the crash. Just sort of threw my money away. Bought $4 ties, $3 socks, $5 shirts, etc. Never stopped to look for real value—kind of afraid of what some snooty clerk might think of me, I guess.

"But when I married Julia, and little Juliet came along, I kind of waked up. Right away I learned that the old saying of Confucius about two living cheaper than one was approximately 108% boloney.

"Right on top of that I took a little trimming in the stock market. International Hay went down to 9. And then just to make things sweeter, I took a little trim in salary. We were faced with the problem of cutting financial corners, and cutting them quick. I was in a hole—but I think it did me good.

"I began to ask the value of things, not the price. And so did Julia. We began to figure where and how we could save money.

"Julia, for example, found that she'd been paying about 31% too much for her clothes. A little shop taught her that. They had the same models in the same materials, thread for thread, that the old place had—at about a third less.

"As for me, before I'd make a purchase I'd ask first 'Is it really worth that much?' I became, in short, a 'value hound.'

"Even Tooth Paste came under my scrutiny. I had never given it much thought before. Just vaguely assumed that in order to get results you had to pay high prices. Any dentist could have told me that I was wrong; that as far as results went all tooth pastes were pretty much alike.

"To make a long story short, Julia and I quit buying fancy-priced dentifrices and started in on Listerine Tooth Paste. I'd seen it advertised at 25¢ and knew that if made by the Lamberts it must be good.

"Well, my eyes were certainly opened. So were Julia's. So were the cook's. We had never had a tooth paste that tasted so pleasant. That left the mouth with such a wonderful feeling of cleanliness and invigoration. Or that brightened our teeth so beautifully. They fairly seemed to sparkle.

"And we accomplished a saving of around $15—cut our tooth paste bill practically in half. That was a year ago. And we are still using it. And still saving money. And, believe me, Julia and I are pretty fussy about what we use on our teeth."

There isn't much more to add except that Listerine Tooth Paste is used constantly by more than three million critical men and women. They have compared it with other dentifrices at high prices and are won to it because of the brilliant results it accomplishes.

Get a tube yourself. Try it thoroughly. And you, too, will be convinced of its superiority. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

SAYS WIFE BURNED FOOD SO SHE COULD GO OUT TO EAT

Joseph M. Goldman Testifies in Her Divorce Suit That Mate Wasn't Much of a Cook.

The divorce suit of Mrs. Nancy M. Goldman of Chicago against Joseph M. Goldman, vice president of the Edwards Realty Co., was taken under advisement by Circuit Judge Beck yesterday after Goldman had told the Court his wife admitted her domestic deficiencies.

"She said that she wasn't much of a cook," he related. "Sometimes when we were living at the Congress and Embassy Hotels she would burn the lamb chops that we had for dinner, in order, I believe, that we could go out to eat."

He said that during the two years they were married he had not eaten more than two or three meals a week at home, contradicting his wife's previous statement that they went out only once a week, on Sunday evening. Mrs. Goldman had testified that he gave her $25 a week to run the household, and after they had been married a year began to deduct any money he spent for the Sunday evening meal.

Allowance Finally Eliminated.

The $25 allowance was a point of disagreement throughout the three days of the trail. Mrs. Goldman said that she received only the allowance, and finally had to work as a bookkeeper at the Goldman Realty Co. to earn it. With deductions for Sunday evening meals and motion picture theaters to which her husband took her, the allowance was decreased to $20 a week, she said, and finally eliminated altogether.

Her husband's attorney obtained her admission that she had bought bonds with money from some source during her married life, and that she had been allowed charge accounts at downtown stores. She also testified that her household linens, obtained at the time of the marriage in 1928, had remained unpacked in her trunk until the separation last fall.

Goldman testified yesterday that the wedding presents which his friends gave them were never displayed in the apartment in which they lived, but were packed up and taken to Chicago by his wife.

Denies $250,000 in Property.

He denied that he has properties worth $250,000, as his wife testified in support of her plea for alimony, and presented three other real estate dealers who testified that the parcels of real estate on which Mrs. Goldman made her estimate are heavily incumbered.

Interference of Goldman's relatives in their family affairs and her husband's refusal to prevent them; his failure to support her properly financially, and his refusal to take her into his confidence in business affairs were given by Mrs. Goldman as the indignities on which she is asking a decree. Her counsel sought to show that alimony was asked because of a debt of $2500 owed her by Goldman, part of which was money he borrowed to help pay back a $7000 loan he obtained from her mother.

MARTIAL LAW ENFORCED IN PORTUGUESE CAPITAL

Strict Censorship Makes It Impossible to Get Facts of Revolts in Madeira and the Azores.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 11.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Gibraltar tonight said the British warship Curlew had been ordered to proceed to Lisbon immediately.

By the Associated Press.

LISBON, Portugal, April 11.—Martial law enforced quiet in the Portuguese capital tonight. Also strict censorshop on communications from Madeira and the Azores made it extremely difficult for citizens here to follow developments in those islands where a military revolt has been in progress for several days.

Amusement houses in Lisbon are closed. Private citizens find themselves accosted in the streets by soldiers with fixed bayonets, intercepting passers-by afoot and in automobiles to examine their papers.

From the Third Artillery Barracks, where President Carmona and his Cabinet have taken shelter, there came a statement today that the Portuguese interior was quiet and that loyalty of the home army had never been questioned. There were unconfirmed reports also that numerous arrests had been made in an effort to block the island rebellion from spreading to the mainland.

Declines to Parole Bootlegger.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The Federal Parole Board today denied the application of Roy Olmstead, Seattle, Wash., for parole on the ground that his release would be "incompatible to the welfare of society." Olmstead, convicted of violating the national prohibition laws, was sentenced to serve four years in McNeil Island Penitentiary in March, 1926, and still has a few months to serve. The board, in declining to shorten his sentence, expressed the opinion that if freed he would return to bootlegging. Olmstead, the Department of Justice said, was a notorious bootlegger.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF TAX ON AUSTRALIAN WORKMEN

Levy in New South Wales 5 Cents on $1 for Every One Earning $8 a Week or more.

By the Associated Press.

CANBERRA, Australia, April 11.—Fulfilling the forebodings of most economists, the first months of 1931 have been extremely trying for Australia.

Not even during the bank crisis of 1893, when a period of overlending on farms brought banking operations almost to a standstill, has there been such widespread unemployment.

One of every five workers is idle, although some authorities say the percentage is greater. Special unemployment relief taxes have been imposed in several states, that in New South Wales being equal to 5 cents in every dollar earned by every person whose wage is $8 or more a week.

That a Labor Government should have imposed such a burden upon such a low minimum of wage has given offense to many of its supporters, but the shibboleth of "let the wealthy pay" has to a large extent been silenced by the depression.

Rates of the ordinary state and Federal income taxes have risen abnormally, yet because of reduced earnings, the yield has shrunk alarmingly.

The reaction has been sharp. At a recent by-election in Sydney, a majority for Labor of 7000 in last year's voting was converted into one of 6000 for the Nationalists, who constitute the conservative element.

CAULFIELD TELLS OF INSTITUTIONS' NEEDS

Prison Crowded Like Barnyard, Governor Says in Springfield Speech.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 11.—Establishment of the new Federal Hospital for Insane at Springfield is an object lesson to Missouri to provide better care for its insane and convicts, Gov. Caulfield said in a speech here tonight at a banquet in celebration of the success of the city's raising necessary funds to get a site for the Government institution.

Congratulating the civic leaders, Gov. Caulfield said all Missouri was proud of the "energy and foresight" of the Ozark metropolis. The building of the hospital will mean, he said, purchase of supplies in the city, employment for hundreds and prosperity to Springfield.

"The location of this institution in Springfield is bound to be of benefit to the State Government. Missouri, too, is vitally interested in this matter of care of the insane," Caulfield asserted. "Our institutions for the mentally afflicted are old, in many cases are fire hazards and overcrowded. With an ever increasing population the situation is becoming more and more acute.

"And so it is with our penitentiary and other correctional institutions of the State. Our penitentiary, built to house 2600 inmates actually contains 4300. They sleep six and even in a cell, 1000 men in one building with 747 cells. They crowd the corridors, like cattle huddled in a barnyard. Missouri's penal and eleemosynary institutions, which represent her primary obligations, are, because of their overcrowded condition, 'an object of shame to loyal Missourians. The State has failed to meet her obligations with respect to these institutions.'"

In his judgment, the Governor said, this condition has been brought about, "not by failure on the part of the people to supply sufficient tax money to maintain a decent building program, but because the money sufficient for that purpose has been diverted to more popular channels."

"There have been no great organizations to speak for the voiceless convict and lunatic," he said.

Caulfield said a new era was approaching, with the passage of a bill increasing income taxes in this state, which will add more than $1,000,000 next year and over $5,000,000 a year after that.

"It is to be hoped that all this will not be diverted into other less urgent channels, and that the present general assembly will see to it that the needs of our penal and eleemosynary institutions will be first met out of this additional tax burden imposed on the people," said the Governor.

This statement was taken by legislative leaders to indicate that the Governor would sign the tax increase bill.

The Governor prefaced his remarks on state affairs with a short recital of the benefits accruing on state affairs by the establishment of the hospital. He said it would afford the Government the best, and up to this time, the only real opportunity it has had for research work in neurology, criminology and other infirmities.

"The new institution will not only be a hospital, but it will be a training ground for high grade specialists and scientific workers in the field of mental afflictions," he said. "It is bound to become a center for the teaching of alienists and criminologists, and for the dissemination of information relating to these matters, all on a scale and to a degree which has never before been attempted."

ESTRANGED WIFE OBTAINS CUSTODY OF YEAR-OLD CHILD

Obtains Writ of Habeas Corpus Alleging Husband and His Relatives Wrongfully Hold It.

Mrs. Maxine Rhodes, 2635 Flad avenue, yesterday obtained custody of her year-old daughter, Irene Maxine, on a habeas corpus action in the St. Louis Court of Appeals. The child was taken into court by Mrs. Maude Lindley, 4475 Forest Park avenue, a sister of the child's father, Ira Cecil Rhodes, who has had custody of it since Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes separated last week.

In her petition, which will be heard on its merits next Tuesday, Mrs. Rhodes charged her husband, his sister and two other women relatives with wrongful possession of the child. Her husband was taken to the hearing from the city jail where he is held on a bad check charge.

COUNTY COURT CUTS CHARITY

Audrain Body Also Reduces Salaries of Two Employes.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO, Mo., April 11.—The Audrain County Court today withdrew all charitable and indigent aid and reduced the salaries of two county employes, effecting a $2580 expense cut annually. The Court explained its action was due to the "business depression" and promised a increase in salaries to the two employes if "there is a good crop next year."

The salary of County Treasurer Mable Grafford was cut $600 and the courthouse custodian, V. V. Smith, $120. The Court also discontinued allowances to 3780 indigents and wiped out the $1030 given annually to the County Welfare Association.

The cuts made by Audrain County Court in the salaries of County Prosecutor J. W. Buffington and Circuit Clerk C. W. Baker in January have been appealed to the State Supreme Court.

ELIEF CAMPAIGN LIKELY TO FALL SHORT $50,000

otal of $226,000 Reported With Solicitation Scheduled to End Tomorrow Night.

Contributions of $226,057 reved up to last night toward the 00,000 emergency fund of Citins' Committee on Relief and Emyment, indicate, in the opinion Alfred Fairbank, a member of e committee's financial advisory uncil, that the quota will have en missed by $50,000 tomorrow ght.

Tomorrow will mark the end of month's campaign to raise funds eded to enable the committee to ntinue its aid to 6000 families. uring the last week contributions ve been solicited by personal apal in an effort to end the drive ickly.

"The remaining $50,000," Fairnks said, "is absolutely necesry and can be raised only by ch citizen realizing that success pends upon his own generous ntribution."

Mark C. Steinberg, another memr of the council, said he was zzled by the apparent inability business men to appreciate the ed. "While a Negro porter earng $100 a month comes to headarters and lays down a $5 bill his contribution," Steinberg said.

RELIEF CAMPAIGN LIKELY TO FALL SHORT $50,000

Total of $226,000 Reported With Solicitation Scheduled to End Tomorrow Night.

Contributions of $226,097 received up to last night toward the $500,000 emergency fund of Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment, indicate, in the opinion of Alfred Fairbank, a member of the committee's financial advisory council, that the quota will have been missed by $50,000 tomorrow night.

Tomorrow will mark the end of a month's campaign to raise funds needed to enable the committee to continue its aid to 6000 families. During the last week contributions have been solicited by personal appeal in an effort to end the drive quickly.

"The remaining $50,000," Fairbanks said, "is absolutely necessary and can be raised only by each citizen realizing that success depends upon his own generous contribution."

Mark C. Steinberg, another member of the council, said he was puzzled by the apparent inability of business men to appreciate the need. "While a Negro porter earning $100 a month comes to headquarters and lays down a $5 bill as his contribution," Steinberg said, "and a man raising a family of five on a salary of $3000 a year signs a card for $50, our workers have received $5 and $10 from men with incomes of $10,000 a year and in some cases have been turned down by those whose incomes are many times that."

The quota would soon be reached, Steinberg said, "if business men would only think in terms of how much they can give rather than how little they can get away with, and if those who consider themselves lucky because they have not been solicited would get hold of their consciences, their pens and their check books."

The committee has received contributions from only 4500 persons Steinberg said.

R. S. Hawes, chairman of the financial division, said contributions of any amount are welcome. The committee's policy has been to publish only gifts of more than $100 because the list would otherwise be too long, he said. Written acknowledgment of smaller donations has been avoided, he added, in order to keep down overhead expense.

TOLD TO DELIVER RANSOM FOR BREWER IN CHICAGO LOOP

Officer of Fred Blumer's Firm Tells of Receiving Letter; Amount Cut to $100,000.

By the Associated Press.

MONROE, Wis., April 11.—Without tangible clews to the identity of the kidnapers of Fred Blumer, 50 years old, Wisconsin brewer, authorities of two states continued their investigation tonight while ransom demands for the brewer were reduced to $100,000.

R. C. Wells, secretary of the brewing company which Blumer heads, said he received a letter today, mailed from Chicago, instructing him to take $100,000 to a corner in downtown Chicago Tuesday. Previous demands for ransom, made in a telephone call to Wells, asked for $150,000.

Sheriff West said he thought the letter, penciled on the back of a bank deposit slip and signed "Unemployed Guys," was a hoax. Wells, however, is certain the missive came from the kidnapers, who, he said, told him in the telephone call Thursday that he would receive a message from them within 48 hours.

Blumer was last seen Thursday night when he left home in response to a telephone call. He apparently was seized soon after he had left the house.

Sheriff West said he expected developments. He refused to elaborate on this statement, but added that if the kidnapers "think any of the Blumer family is going to walk down a Chicago street, even in daylight, with $100,000, they're crazy."

3 PIONEERS' SIGHT RESTORED

Operations in Arizona Succesful After Years of Blindness.

By the Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 11.—Three Arizona pioneers after years of darkness looked out on a bright world today and groped for words to express appreciation for a miracle of modern surgery.

Last week the aged men were brought from the Arizona Pioneers' Home at Prescott to submit to operations to relieve total blindnss. Today, when bandages were removed from their eyes they saw. Abraham Hamilton Porter, 80 years old, had not looked upon things of life for 25 years; George D. Harper, almost as old, had been blind 20 years, and Steve A. Tyler, 79, had been blind five years. Cataracts were removed from the eyes of all three at State expense.

R. R. CHURCH SUED BY WIFE

Son of Carnegie Head Charged With Mental Cruelty.

By the Associated Press.

RENO, Nev., April 11.—Reginald R. Church, son of Samuel Harden Church of Pittsburg, president of the Carnegie Institute, railroad officer and writer of note, was made defendant in a divorce suit filed here today by Elizabeth Church.

The complaint alleges mental cruelty.

Heads Ozark Press Association.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 11.—Ballard Watters of Marshfield was elected president of the Ozark Press Association at the spring meeting here today. Other officers named are J. W. Brown, Marionville, vice president; J. C. Hoff, Stockton, treasurer, and Miss Margaret Finn, Sarcoxie, secretary. Rolla was selected for the next meeting on the invitation of Charles H. Wood, Rolla, publisher.

Fall Kills Mine Boss.

By the Associated Press.

SPARTA, Ill., April 11.—John Brown, face boss at the Moffat Coal Co. mine here, was instantly killed this morning when he was caught under falling whitetop. Sam Coleman sustained a broken leg and other injuries. Brown is survived by his widow and two children.

Dishwasher Caught in Holdup.

MOUNDRIDGE, Kan., April 11.—A man who said he was Homer Binkley, a Kansas City (Mo.) dishwasher, was captured six miles northwest of here today, an hour after he had robbed the Citizens' State Bank of $770. The money was recovered.

FARM BUREAU DROPS EQUALIZATION FEE

Change in Attitude Linked With S. A. Thompson's Appointment to Board.

Washington Bureau,
201-5 Kellogg Bldg.

WASHINGTON, April 11. — President Hoover's action in appointing Sam H. Thompson to the Federal Farm Board assumed new significance today, when the American Farm Bureau Federation announced that it would not advocate any new farm legislation at the next Congress. Prior to his appointment, Thompson was president of the Federation, which consistently and persistently advocated adoption of the equalization fee.

In its weekly letter, made public today, the Federation pointed out that it never had indorsed the export debenture plan of farm relief, and that during the last year it had made no additional effort to secure passage of the equalization fee. Although, it said, the Federation reserves the right to "make constructive suggestions from time to time," it does not feel that "this is the time" for advocating changes in the present farm marketing act.

"During the two years since the passage of the act and the creation of the Federal Farm Board, the Federation has co-operated generously in the board's program," the letter stated. "When this has reached its fullest development, it will be time to consider the necessity of amendments."

Similarly, Thompson, who will take office May 1, declared that although the Federation "still is officially committed to the equalization fee," he feels that as long as the Farm Board is making every effort to put over its present program, with excellent chances of success, it would be unwise to keep the equalization fee in the foreground.

As is known, the retirement of Alexander Legge as chairman of the Board marked the abandonment of the board's policy of trying to stabilize grain prices by government purchases in the open market. Since then, the policies to be adapted have been the subject of uncertainty. Nevertheless, it appears that by appointing Thompson to the board, the President has insured against further agitation for additional legislation on the part of the Federation, at least, until the next presidential election.

ATTORNEY SEEKS RECEIVER FOR MARSHMALLOW FIRM

Hipolite Co. Officers Reply That Their Organization Is on Money-Making Basis.

The suit of Montague Punch, an attorney, for a receiver for theHipolite Co., 204 Market street, manufacturer of marshmallow cream product, was taken under advisement yesterday by Circuit Judge Rosskopf. Punch is owner of 65 shares of stock in the concern which he acquired in November, 1927, from a client as a fee. He values the stock at $6000 but says no dividends have been paid.

Punch charges that various items are improperly carried as assets, which, if removed from the inventory, would show a deficit. Some of the items listed at an excessive figure, he avers, are good will and advertising valuation.

George A. Buse, Milton J. Flarsheim, August E. Gilster, M. E. Paskal, Edwin J. Ernst and G. A. Metz, composing the board of directors are named as co-defendants. Buse is president. The defense contends no receivership is necessary as the company is on a money-making basis, and is thereby able to reduce certain indebtedness.

W. H. Hipolite was founder of the concern. The present management obtained control through the purchase of 1089 shares of stock. The company has an authorized capitalization of $250,000.

GOV. HUEY LONG'S CALLIOPE WRECKED IN CAMPAIGN TOUR

Louisiana Executives' Candidate For Congress Opposed by College Head; Fight at Rally.

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 11. — An old fashioned political campaign by two candidates for the Eighth District seat left vacant by the death of Representative James B. Aswell neared a finish tonight, with criminal charges lending unexpected color to a scheduled "off-year" in Louisiana politics.

Adding to the excitement, Gov. Huey P. Long's calliope, used in previous campaigns to call voters to the polls, ran off a rural highway and was wrecked.

Meanwhile, political observers were watching the Eighth District to see whether the Governor had los tany of his influence. With his $5000 sound truck, the executive has toured the district, urging the election to Congress of John Overton, Alexandria, attorney, his chief counsel in the Legislature's 1929 impeachment investigation.

Dr. Claybrook Cottingham, president of Louisiana College, Overton's opponent, also has made an extensive speaking tour. He is a newcomer in politics. The Democratic primary is Tuesday.

One of the Long-Overton meetings at Montgomery, La., last night ended in a fight and the arrest of two men who were alleged to have been circulating dodgers in the crowd containing derogatory statements about the Long administration. The two, Preston Leblanc and Edward Boudreaux, were fined. Later they followed the Governor's party to another meeting at Colfax, where they were arrested on a charge of "lying in wait with concealed weapons with intent to kill."

TWO FIREMEN ARE INJURED IN ATLANTIC CITY BLAZE

Hundreds of Guests Flee Boardwalk Hotels; Flames Break Out Again After Two-Hour Fight.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 11.—Hundreds of guests were driven from boardwalk hotels, seven firemen were overcome by smoke and two were injured tonight in a $150,000 fire which broke out on a runway leading to a bathhouse.

A general alarm was turned in and all apparatus in the central section of the city responded. After a two-hour fight, the flames seemed to have been placed under control, but they broke out again. Firemen finally checked them.

NATIONAL PLANE SHOW OPENS

DETROIT, Mich., April 11.—The National Aircraft show, the only important aircraft show of the year, sponsored by the Detroit Board of Commerce and the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, opened here today to continue till April 19.

Nearly 50 of the 80 or more new models shown are light and featherweight planes. More than half of this number are machines of the midget type with motors ranging from 26 to 100 horse-power. Many of them are in the price range of medium cost automobiles, with the cheapest under $1000. The monoplane predominates. Set apart among the heavier planes, held on the shoulders of a giant statue, is the new freighter cabin monoplane put out by the Ford Motor Co., It has the same dimensions as the trimotored club and transport types of the company, but is equipped with a single water-cooled engine and a four-bladed propeller. Among the accessory exhibits is a $4000 model of the Armstrong seadrome being developed for ocean bases.

Pastor Killed In Auto Accident.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 11.—The Rev. C. B. Wait, 49 years old, editor and pastor of Pleasant Hill, Mo., was killed today in an automobile accident on Blue Ridge boulevard. His machine left highway No. 50 and crashed into the concrete supports of an overpass. Mrs. Wait, 42, was injured seriously and C. B. Wait Jr., 8, was hurt slightly. Mr. Wait recently purchased the Cass County News at Pleasant Hill where he was pastor of a Christian Church.

EIGHT FOUND GUILTY BY JURIES IN WEEK

Two Acquitted—White Woman and Negro Get 30 Years Each in Penitentiary.

Eight persons were tried before juries in the criminal divisions of Circuit Court last week. Six were convicted and two were acquitted.

Mrs. Annie Berezuk, 30, was sentenced to 30 years and Virdell Robison, a Negro, 21, who conspired with her in an offense against Mrs. Berezuk's niece, got a similar term. DeWitt Gathing, also a Negro, was sentenced to serve 15 years in the same case.

Juries convicted two robbers and acquitted one. Thelton Riddle, 17, a Negro, got 10 years in the penitentiary under the Henry law for robbing a filling station attendant of $47, and Ray Maisser, 21, was sentenced to five years for the holdup of McClellan Zent, 4336 Forest Park boulevard, who was robbed of $21 and his automobile. Charles Bickell, 26, was acquitted of a charge of holding up Clark Hill, 5235 Minerva avenue, in Tower Grove aPrk.

A jury convicted R. N. Long of embezzlement by bailee and fixed his punishment at a two-year penitentiary term. He was found guilty of retaining $1000 given him by a cousin to deposit in the bank. Long declared he lost the money to a pickpocket. He will appeal the case.

Acquitted on Court's Order.

Alfred Guglielmucci, 26, a landscape gardener, was acquitted of a manslaughter charge by instruction of the Court. Guglielmucci was indicted following an automobile accident, in which Miss Dorothy Strauser, 22, 4330 West Pine, lost her life. Guglielmucci, it was alleged, knocked down Miss Strauser with his car. The proof showed she was riding with him and that she was killed when Guglielmucci's car turned over upon her.

Five men were convicted of robbery on their pleas of guilty and were sentenced to penitentiary or reform school terms. Among these were Orval Coates, 19, and Andrew Avaleno, 18, who were caught in the act of holding up a filling station at 4189 Washington avenue New Year's eve. Coates was shot by detectives as he fled from the scene. He was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary, Avaleno to 10 years in the Boonville Reformatory.

Frank Hansen, 19, who pleaded guilty to having robbed the Imperial Coffee Pot, 1129 South Broadway, of $8.50, was sentenced to 10 years in Boonville. Frank Downey, an ex-convict, got five years in the penitentiary on his plea of guilty of robbing Mrs. James P. Jackson of 3401 Hartford street, and Willie Williams, a Negro, got five years at Boonville for assisting in the robbery of a filling station.

Others charged with felonies, who entered pleas of guilty and their punishments: Hilliard McNeal, grand larceny, two years; William Booker, larceny from person, two years; Walter Hampton, burglary and larceny, four years; Philip Hummell, grand larceny, two years; Frank Davis, burglary, two years; Berry Williams, burglary, two years, and Roy Fair, larceny of motor vehicle, three years.

Less Than Penitentiary Terms.

Others who pleaded guilty and whose sentences were less than penitentiary punishment were: Jessie Williams, petty larceny, four months in workhouse; Albert Wright, carrying a concealed weapon, $100 and costs; John Reed, larceny from person, 90 days; Harry Davis, petty larceny, one year; Raymond Johnson, carrying a concealed weapon, 77 days; Alma McGuire, petty larceny, six months; James Bell, carrying a concealed weapon, 90 days in jail; Fred Scott, petty larceny, six months; Harry Wilson, larceny of motor vehicle, six months; Simon Lewis, malicious destruction of property, six months; Floyd Dunlap, larceny of a motor vehicle, six months; Harry Grimes, malicious destruction of property, one year; Victor Nelson, feloniously leaving scene of accident, $100 and costs; Burl La Rose, carrying a concealed weapon, 50 days, and Louis Sanders, carrying a concealed weapon, one year and with parole to report in court for a year.

BUSINESS MEN REPORT ON STABILIZING OF EMPLOYMENT

American Section Presents Proposals to be Discussed by International Chamber of Commerce.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Experiments in employment stabilization were said today by the American section of the International Chamber of Commerce to prove that a measure of control can be exerted over economic forces which produce seasonal unemployment.

More than 200 American concerns were described as using permanent employment regularization plans with a large degree of success. Several thousands were said to be using temporary measures to meet the present emergency.

The American section's report was prepared by a committee of six business men to be submitted to the forthcoming Congress of the International Chamber here as a basis for a general discussion of employment stabilization.

Absolute stability, the committee found, was neither practically obtainable nor economically desirable.

"The basis for any comprehensive program of regularization," the report said, "consists of a predetermined budget of operations designed to maintain as nearly constant a level in production and sales from month to month as possible."

PASSAGE OF HIGHWAY PATROL BILL LIKELY

House Expected to Enact Senate Measure When It Is Considered on Tuesday.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 11.—Favorable action is expected in the House Tuesday on the bill creating a State highway patrol in Missouri, with a personnel of 126 men, with power limited to enforce tarffic laws and to preserve the law on State highways.

With a House calendar virtually clear of important bills, supporters of the highway patrol anaticipate little difficulty in passing the mesaure.

The Senate bill is in the House, having passed the Senate in a form reasonably satisfactory to those who have undertaken to guide it through the two houses. Representatives Roney of Webb City and Langdon Jones of Kennett will have the leadership in urging its passage.

As now shaped, the bill contains no provisions to arouse the opposition of Representatives from the larger cities and the so-called "wet" counties, who feared the patrol force would be used in liquor raids and in searching automobiles and trucks using the highways.

There is a strict prohibition agaisnt searches by members of the patrol force and the right of seizure is limited to the right to take deadly weapons. Under this provision no patrolman could legally search an automobile or truck.

The patrol force will consist of a superintendent at a salary of $4800 a year, to be appointed by the Governor. The superintendent will select 10 captains at a salary of $2400 a year each, and 115 patrolmen at salaries of $1800 a year each.

It is the expectation that the State will be divided into 10 patrol districts, each commanded by a captain, under whom will serve an average of about 10 patrolmen. Districts in which traffic is heavy and those near large cities probably will have a larger force than those in which there are few paved highways and in which traffic is light. It is assmued the patrol districts will correspond to the present 10 State Highway Department divisions.

TWO CAUGHT ON LIQUOR BOAT AFTER LONG CHASE, ARRAIGNED

One Wounded by Coast Guard Fire; Two Barges Cut Adrift; Third Blown Up.

By the Associated Press.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 11.—Two men who stayed aboard the liquor runner 868-G, one of them wounded by a machine gun bullet in a chase by a Coast Guard boat in Mount Hope Bay early today, were arraigned before a Federal Commissioner here this afternoon. They were held in $1000 bail each on charges of transporting and possessing liquor.

The two were captured after one had cut loose two small tow boats laden with liquor and the larger liquor craft, the 868-G, blew up just as a member of the Coast Guard crew was clambering aboard. Two other members of the crew of the 868-G escaped by swimming ashore before their boat was overhauled.

Leopold Mousseau of Fall River was shot in the right leg by machine gun fire from the Coast Guard boat. His companion, Warrent Mosher of Tiverton, stayed aboard to cut the tow boats loose and send their cargo of 600 cases of liquor to the bottom.

Chief Petty Officer Ellsworth Lathan boarded the liquor runner and removed Mosseau. Charles F. Beaumont, a member of Price's Neck Coast Guard Station then boarded the 868-G, but before he reached its deck the two tow boats had been cast adrift. Within a minute there was a deafening roar and flames from gasoline tanks ignited by the departing liquor runners enveloped the craft. Beaumont was burned on the face and was forced to jump overboard with Mosher.

Both were rescued and treated at the Newport hospital.

SWEEPSTAKES TICKETS SEIZED

Million for Next Irish Hospital Lottery Taken by Customs Men.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The Customs Department today revealed it had seized a million lottery tickets for the next Irish Free State Hospital's Sweepstakes on the Derby at Epsom Downs, June 3. Agents said the tickets were taken from the baggage of D. Fish, who described himself as a theatrical producer when he arrived yesterday on the Aquitania. He was asked to appear for a hearing Monday. The tickets sell for 10 shillings, or about $2.50 each.

The seizure was made under the tariff act of 1930, which bars "immoral" articles. Solicitor of Customs Walter R. Eaton said it was not customary to prosecute in such cases.

MANNE BROS. "Factory to You"

Why You Buy for Less

If you personally supervised the construction of your living-room furniture . . . If you actually purchased the material, watched the making of the frames, if you personally observed every stitch . . . it could not be finer than the living-room furniture you buy at Manne Bros.

Here in this great factory scores of skilled men and women give their best efforts to produce living-room furniture of super quality. Their excellent work, plus high-grade material, are responsible for the fame of the furniture that bears the "MANNE-MADE" label. It is furniture that you will be proud of—that will give lasting satisfaction through the years—that is GUARANTEED by Manne Bros., the manufacturer.

So, because of efficient manufacturing methods, enormous buying power and the co-operation of an entire factory under one roof, MANNE BROS. IS ABLE TO OFFER YOU QUALITY AT LOW PRICES UNMATCHED ELSEWHERE IN ST. LOUIS. Prove that statement yourself. You are invited to visit us—go through our factory—see the hundreds of beautiful living-room suites and other furniture displayed on the floors of this building—a square city block in area. You'll readily understand why Manne Bros. is the fastest growing furniture concern in St. Louis.

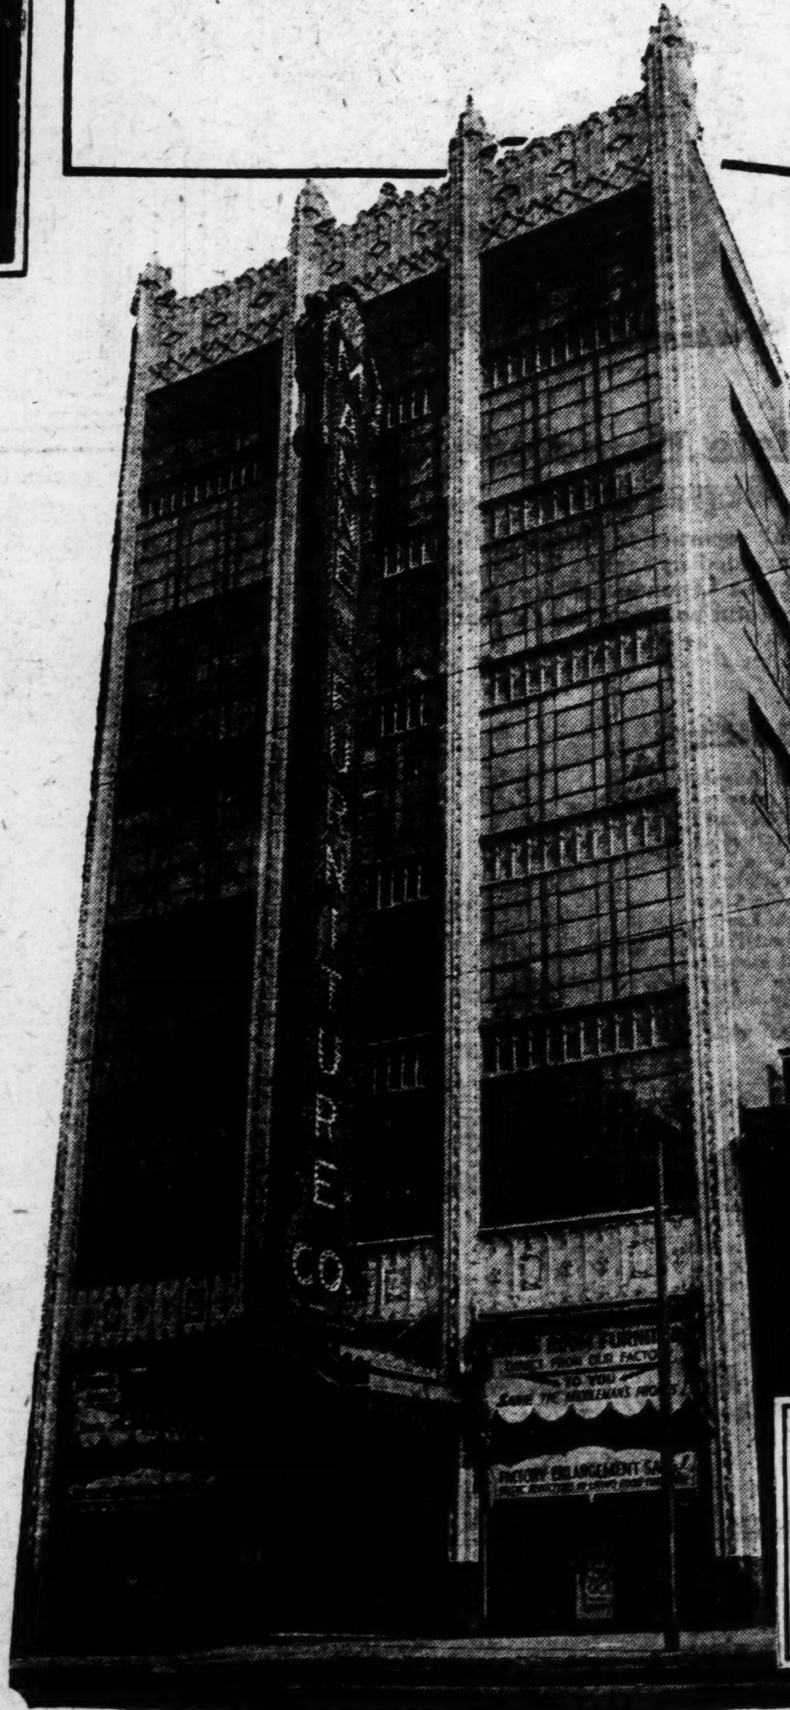
1. FRAME CUTTING DEPT. where expert craftsmen take the first step in the production of the famous MANNE-MADE living-room furniture.

2. FRAME ASSEMBLING DEPT. where wooden pegs—not nails—are used to hold the MANNE-MADE frames together—a method usually employed only on high-priced furniture.

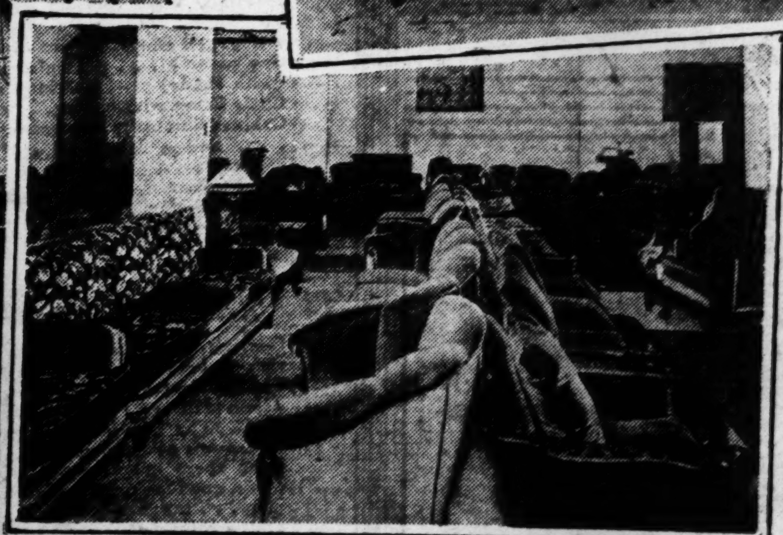
3. FRAME FINISHING DEPT. (Above.) Here exposed parts are stained and varnished with improved spray gun shown.
4. UPHOLSTERY CUTTING DEPT. (Below.) Where thousands of yards of tapestries, mohairs, etc., are prepared for coverings.

5. CUSHION MAKING DEPT. Modern machine shown in foreground fills casings with soft, clean padding. All cushions have corded finish to insure long life.

6. UPHOLSTERING DEPT. First stout webbing is double tacked, then curled hair or moss applied, and finally a sheath of strong burlap to provide firmness and resiliency. We show just a small section.



One of the sights of St. Louis—this Manne Building. You are invited to look over this building without any obligation to buy. We ship on truck FREE OF CHARGE anywhere in the U. S.



7. FINAL INSPECTION DEPT. (Above.) Upholstery is steamed with pressure gun and brushed by hand; wood parts polished and each piece individually packed.

WIDOW AND SON OF MURDERED VIRGINIA DAIRYMAN INDICTED

Negro Convicted of Crime Told Jury They Offered Him $25 to Commit Crime.

By the Associated Press.

AMELIA, Va., April 11.—A grand jury today returned murder indictments against Mrs. Jeston A. Jones and Oscar Jones, widow and son of J. Will Jones, prominent Amelia County dairyman, for whose death last January Richard Lee, Negro farmhand, was convicted of murder yesterday.

Trial for Mrs. Jones was set by Judge Edwin P. Cox for June 23. Bond for each was fixed at $6000.

Lee, convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary, testified at his trial that both Mrs. Jones and Oscar Jones had offered him $25 to commit the crime. Lee was one of the witnesses called before the grand jury today.

Jones was found dead in bed on the morning of Jan. 9 with a shotgun wound in the head. The defense in the trial of Lee sought to establish it was a case of suicide.

S. C. Jones, brother of the slain man, said today that Mrs. Jones had been married twice, her first husband being Hampton McCraw of Carroll County. McCraw was killed in 1900 by James Quinn, a Negro, after an altercation in a store at Sylvatus, where McCraw clerked for Mrs. Jones' father. Mrs. Jones, before her marriage, the brother said, was Miss Jeston Allen of Carroll County, daughter of Jack Allen, and a niece of Floyd Allen, the latter one of the central figures in the Hillsville tragedy in 1912, when three court officials, including the Judge, were shot to death, a juror fatally wounded and several other persons injured.

The shooting in the Hillsville case started after Floyd Allen had been sentenced to jail for interfering with an officer. Floyd and Claude Allen were later electrocuted.

AMERICAN WOMAN WHO KEPT BULLFIGHT OUT OF CUBA, DIES

Mrs. Jeannette Ryder Used Wealth for Charity and for Sanctuary for Mistreated Animals.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, April 11.—Mrs. Jeannette Ryder, the American woman who kept the bullfight out of Cuba, died at her home here today of spinal meningitis, and Cubans, from President Machado to the most humble citizen, mourned her passing.

For 30 years she had used her considerable fortune to improve the lot of homeless children, the aged and infirm, and the abused animal. At a little sanctuary in Paula street she had collected dozens of mistreated animals for which she provided a home.

Three decades ago when her crusade began she was ridiculed by those to whom the bullfight was a national sport, but in the years since then she had become a person beloved throughout Cuba.

FINANCIER SUED IN BANKRUPTCY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today against Joseph G. Brownstone, head of J. C. Brownstone & Co., and its 11 subsidiaries, and a director of the closed Bank of the United States.

A petition, filed on behalf of creditors said Brownstone is "hopelessly insolvent." It set his debts at "more than $1,000,000." During the investigation of the bank closing Brownstone said he lost $500,000 in the stock market.

Chairman Raskob Discusses Public Utility Problem--Has Not Studied Question of Valuation

Interviewed by the Post-Dispatch, He Elaborates the Views He Expressed in His Recent Letter to the National Democratic Committee.

By CHARLES G. ROSS.
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 8.

POWER, in the opinion of John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, should not be an issue in the next presidential campaign. The dominant issue before the people, he says, is prohibition, and nothing should be allowed to divert attention from it. He believes that the Republican nominee, perforce, will run dry, and that the Democrats should stand for his plan for the return of liquor control to the States. He is very earnest about it. There is no questioning his sincerity.

The writer interviewed Mr. Raskob here yesterday on that portion of his recent letter to Democratic National Committee members which deals with public utilities. It had seemed to some students of the power question a rather naive statement. Calling for state rather than Federal regulation of public utility combinations, the national chairman wrote:

Rate Must Be Fair.

To take one example of the misinterpretation of my address most carefully circulated by our political opponents, I might cite the matter of public utility combinations. Complaint is made that by means of over-capitalized holding companies, small utility units are merged into huge organizations and then excessively high rates are charged the public in order to pay dividends on these watered securities issued by the super organization.

Some ask for Federal curbs on these giants, which is another of the regrettable tendencies to extend the powers of the central government. My idea is that the states should themselves exercise this police control; that the states should say to the local light and power plant, "we are not concerned with what securities your controlling corporations may issue. You are permitted to make your rates proportionate to your investment and production costs, and to that principle we will hold you. It is no part of the burden of the people of this state to pay dividends on securities issued by any super companies even if you have surrendered control of your business to them, except insofar as fair rates to our people provide earnings on your real investment."

It was pointed out to Mr. Raskob that State regulation of public utilities, as testified by Samuel Untermyer and other authorities, had been a dismal failure. In a somewhat discursive reply, he said there was no reason why it should be. He was inclined to blame politics for whatever failure there may have been. The gist of his idea was that if a State would appoint five or seven high-class men as a public service commission, paying them good salaries, say $18,000 to $25,000 a year each, these men ought to be able ot sit down at a table with the public utilities and agree upon a form of regulation fair to both the utilities and the public.

Enough of Bureaucracy.

Mr. Raskob expressed a horror of adding another Federal bureaucracy to the already towering bureaucratic structure. He was convinced that local problems should be settled in the "local atmosphere." The approach of Mr. Raskob to the problem was that of a business man used to dealing with large affairs. He believed that much of the business of the Government could be run more successfully if the methods of private business were more generally employed.

The writer suggested to the chairman that a growing percentage of electric power, sometimes estimated at as high as 20 per cent, was moving across state lines and hence, in the view of some authorities, could not be controlled by any state. He cited the argument also that the financial practices of the utilities, with their holding companies and their super-holding companies, had widespread national ramifications that could only be reached through Federal action.

In this connection, the interviewer read to Mr. Raskob an extract from an address before the Academy of Political Science by Dr. John H. Gray, a distinguished economist, now head of the department of economics of the gradaute school of the American University of this city. The address was entitled: "The State Abdicates: Utilities Govern Themselves." It was placed in the Congressional Record by Senator Dill. The extract follows:

Each state jurisdiction is limited to property in its territory. only the local operating companies in a state are nominally subject to regulation by that state. But a holding company spread all over the country has complete control over the affairs of all companies owned. Through promotion contracts, financing contracts, construction contracts, service contracts, interbuying and selling contracts, management contracts and the like, they can run up the expenses of any local company to any limit they wish. For they are always contracting with themselves for their own benefit.

Fixing Income Basis.

Mr. Raskob did not agree that the condition outlined by Dr. Gray could not be cured by state regulation. He had stated in his letter to the committee members, he said, that the people of a state need not be concerned with the security issues of utilities. Their concern was with rates, and he believed they could get fair rates under state regulation. He said that the major portion of any rate for a public utility service was bound to be based on the investment of the utility within the state. To illustrate his point he drew a diagram, suggested to him by the writer's remark that a large part of power for St. Louis came from the Keokuk dam in Iowa.

The diagram showed, for purposes of illustration, a $90,000,000 investment by a power company in a square representing Missouri. There was another square for the generating plant in another state. If the investment there was $50,000,000 and the plant served, say, five states, then we could say roughly that $10,000,000 was the amount involved in rate making in Missouri. Thus, said Mr. Raskob, out of a $100,000,000 investment, $90,000,000 would be in the state, subject to the control of a state commission. Say the rate for electric power was 10 cents a kilowatt hour.

"That's too high," said Mr. Raskob, "but take it for illustration. The point is that 9 cents of the rate is fixed by the investment in the State and only 1 cent by the investment outside it. The portion of the rate determined outside the state is negligible compared with the rest of it. The people of Missouri, in my opinion, would have a much better chance to get the 9 cents whittled down by a commission of their own people, on the ground and familiar with all the circumstances, than by a commission operating 1000 miles away in Washington."

Curbing Inflated Valuations.

Leaving for the moment the question of how the state commission, bound by the "law of the land," could whittle rates which that law permitted, the interviewer turned to the financing practices of the utilities.

What of the regulation of security issues for the protection of investors in public utilities? What did Mr. Raskob think of the view that some Federal agency was needed for that purpose?

He said none was needed. He thought that State blue sky laws were adequate for protection of investors.

The chairman believed that there has been a good deal of demagoguery in the treatment of the utilities question. He thought that in some cases the people, misled by demagogues, had not given the utilities a fair deal. That had happened, for instance, in Cleveland under Tom Johnson and in New York under Hylan.

Had the chairman read the hearings of the Federal Trade Commission showing how some utilities had inflated their investment accounts? He replied that he had not read the Trade Commission's reports on its investigation. He was aware, of course, that improper practices had been indulged in, but he did not think that the industry as a whole should be condemned for the sins of some of its members. Business should be given

GROWING IRRITATIONS AND DANGERS IN EUROPE

Pointed Out by Statesmen of France and Germany

"World Peace in Jeopardy" Is the Word From Paris, Voiced by Edouard Herriot

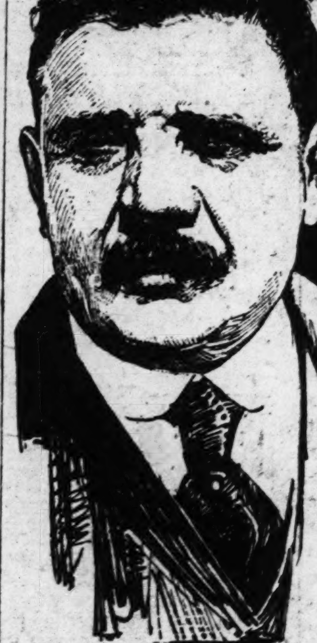
International Economic Conference Has Failed, He Says, and the Customs Treaty Between Austria and Germany Is Proof That France Has Been Duped in a Revival of Secret Diplomacy.



EDOUARD HERRIOT.

EDOUARD HERRIOT

PARIS, April 11.

NEVER since the World War has the international situation appeared as grave as today. We arrived at a critical stage in the crusade against war, and the most resolute pacifists—among whom I count myself—are beginning to wonder if the foundation of a new order is humanly possible.

The position in which Briand now finds himself is, indeed, a dramatic one. He desired peace with all his soul, and the world should take heed. He is its greatest symbol. Any failure he encounters will automatically entail retrogression in the great cause of peace.

Two formulas between which the world must choose have come again into conflict, like a struggle between two hostile craft at sea. On the one hand, the work of European peace organization continues. That is a tedious task has begun under the most adverse conditions.

The international economic conference, engaged for many months in its work, has failed. Moreover, its president, Colijn, doesn't dare affirm even that the Commercial Convention of March, 1930, is still in force. Colijn now heartily recommends in all honesty that a veritable SOS signal be addressed to other European states, explaining the grave danger to all concerned in the present condition of affairs.

Acute Economic Problems.

In the meantime, the Executive Commission for European Union charged with proposing a plan of reform met at Paris on March 26, under the presidency of Briand, and cast anxiously about for help from all lovers of peace. The outlook is not encouraging and the general session in May will probably witness an even graver condition. The Executive Commission studied only secondary questions in its meeting, such as those of transport and the treatment of foreign regulations regarding the transmission of electrical energy. They rightly chose these modest subjects in the effort to achieve the beginning of a Pan-European agreement. But there is still the terrific question of unemployment, particularly as it applies to Eastern Europe.

As a matter of fact, the executive commission's meeting was quite profitable. Its invitation to Sir Eric Drummond expressed its feeling for affiliation with the League of Nations. Briand explained forcefully the information he had received that suggested a condition approaching economic anarchy in Europe. He pointed out that the wheat question was all important, even to the temporary exclusion of a general working plan. The reckoning may not be long delayed.

Behind Briand's prudently diplomatic formulas may well be perceived anguish that torments the minds of those who have undertaken to outlaw war. The commission has done well to defer until the general session the questions proposed: Organization, agricultural solidarity, treatment of foreigners. Thanks to Albert Thomas, that robust artisan in international problems, it may reasonably be expected that the question of European unemployment will be approached comprehensively within the next few weeks. Von Simson, the former German Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, also seems to have interested himself in the common cause, having presented various interesting propositions regarding the carburizing agents.

Lack of Frankness.

We may then believe that the efforts of the commission represent at least an important beginning. Little else can be expected, as a matter of fact, for the proposals of this commission must be submitted to a formal vote of the Geneva Assembly before any organization can be created. I observed, moreover, with great and sincere pleasure, the activity with which the North European representatives collaborated in their work before the executive commission of the League of Nations. Too much praise cannot be accorded them.

On the other hand, it must be admitted frankly that the continued academic and tentative aspects of so many discussions are most discouraging. There is too much beating around the bush. Many discussions are not undertaken frankly. There is a useless division and subdivision of problems. Regrettable absences, such as that of Grandi, are frequently noticeable. Everyone seems marking time.

What is a sincere toiler to do under such conditions? Even the agenda of the forthcoming general session of the League couldn't be adopted without important Italian-German conditions. Motta proposed more generalities, even while the world economic crisis was becoming accentuated. It has been announced that no complete report on the unemployment problem will be available at the May meeting. No solution is expected for disposing of the surplus cereals of Europe. All that can be expected is that the May session will solve the problem of agricultural credits. As to the question of the transmission of electrical energy, the Belgian and Norwegian governments presented several interesting ideas. That is all, and it is discouragingly little.

Aloofness of America.

Hence, for the present, no substantial reality is likely to come out at the May session. Everywhere is confusion. Everywhere is destructive objection even among the delegates to the European highways meeting. In Rome's international wheat conference we learn there was the same troubled atmosphere. Russia has not shown a very European frame of mind. The United States of America and Brazil absented themselves despite the presence of observers—"spectators who hadn't paid for their seats," according to one of the delegates.

The system of preferential tariffs, which it was hoped would bring profit to the suffering Danubian States, encountered formidable opposition from the Indian and Australian delegates. Once more the way seems closed to world co-operation.

This picture is severe but exact. It is indispensable for pointing out the divergences and the inability of peace forces. A man less courageous or less tenacious or less Breton than Briand would long ago have abandoned weaving the peace fabric which inevitably would have been tangled or broken. The legend of Penelope may well serve to illustrate the case. She promised to make a choice among her many suitors when she finished the shroud she was weaving for her father-in-law Laertes. Each night she undid the day's work.

Europe Duped.

Today it is the egotism of the nation that unceasingly destroys the work of peace-lovers. Briand, the greatest of peace-lovers, sees himself passionately attacked even in his own country for having undertaken the abolition of war.

While the forces of idealism are being beset by insurmountable ob-

"Never Before Has Germany Been So Deceived," Asserts Former Chancellor Marx

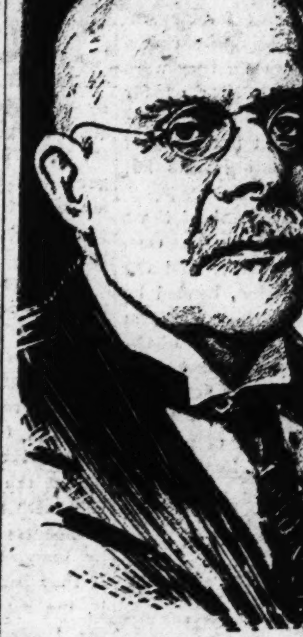
Youth of Nation Being Influenced by Lies of National Socialists, Who, With the Communists, Desire to Destroy Present Constitution — Fear Expressed That Germany May Be Driven Into Ranks of Reds.



WILHELM MARX.

By WILHELM MARX.
(Copyright, 1931.)

BERLIN, April 11.

DECADES ago, newspapers published a picture drawn by Kaiser Wilhelm the Second, bearing this inscription: "Peoples of Europe protect your most sacred possessions." In the background one saw a monster representing the Mongolian race. Flames shot upward. One saw cities and villages on fire. People in those days saw a menacing danger for Europe's safety and especially for Christian civilization, in the disturbances attending the Boxer war and in the growing excitement of people in China and Mongolia.

This picture with its warning note plainly applies also to our own time. But there is a difference: the danger has come nearer to the States of Europe; it threatens not only Europe but also as a result the closer financial and economic relations of the peoples of America. Russian Bolshevism raises its head ever more manacingly, after having devoured a great part of Eastern Asia.

One would naturally suppose that in the face of this tremendous danger, European States first of all but also the rest of the world, would join to ward off this menacing fate through joint action.

Most regrettably that is not the case. On the contrary, even the European States raise barriers against each other and oppose one another in every conceivable way. The French Minister of War, Maginot, even has the offrontery at this time to call Germany a criminal and reproach her with the sole guilt of the World War, an assertion whose correctness ought not to be believed today by any sensible person in the world.

Socialists Outdo Communists.

It is quite understandable that the increasingly catastrophic economic and financial situation in Germany and the existence of 5,000,000 unemployed furnish a fertile soil for Bolshevist ideas.

In Germany's political life a new apparition has assumed unexpected dimensions. Shooting up like a hothouse plant, the National Socialist Party at the Reichstag election of Sept. 14, 1930, secured 107 mandates—to its own vast terror! Its Deputies sit or, more correctly, sat—on the right side of the Parliament. One of its leaders, however, once said with complete justification that they would quite as well sit on the left side as on the right.

Indeed, the National Socialists have one thing in common with the Communists: both parties desire to destroy the present Constitution and parliamentarism if it can possibly be done. Both are revolutionary parties. This is the real reason why the National Socialists and Communists so often vote together in a brotherly manner, especially in all attempts at obstruction in the Reichstag.

Indeed, one can even say that in the first weeks after the appearance of the 107 National Socialists, the Communists were often amazed to see that there were finally on the right side of the house persons who far outbid them in noisy demonstrations and in disturbing the deliberations of Parliament and creating disorder there. The Communists had found their masters in kicking up a row!

Ignoring Election Promise.

It will be recalled that the National Socialists left the Reichstag theatrically on Feb. 10, unfortunately in company with the German Nationals, who are of no importance any more. They believed they had performed a wonderfully heroic deed. Up to that time they had accomplished nothing in Parliament. They had often seen themselves compelled to vote against measures which they had advocated with the greatest fervor during their election campaign. One of these things against which they had voted was the proposal to cease making reparation payments under the Young plan, although they had declared that such an action was the chief task to be done if Germany's freedom and economic recovery were to be achieved.

Since this reprehensible defection, the work of the Reichstag has been conducted in unusual quietness and objectivity so that the budget has been passed in a parlimentary manner by March 26, which was the goal set by Chancellor Bruening. This is a success such as has not been recorded for years. The National Socialist members have outdone one another in asserting that they are overcoming Marxism. They will gradually come to see that nobody has done more to strengthen the power of Marxism than have they.

"It is undeniable that since the parties of the right left the Reichstag, the Socialists and Communists have possessed a majority in that body. Fortunately the Socialists are such sensible politicians and have been so attacked and abused by the Communists that they have in every case cleverly influenced the decision of questions whose rejection could have brought the Bruening Cabinet into danger. This is especially so in the matter of armored cruisers, upon which, despite all the hostile demonstrations of the Radicals of the Left, they refrained from voting, and thus made it possible to appropriate funds required for construction. It cannot be denied that as a result of the defection of the parties of the right—which can be explained only as due to foolishness, to cowardice or to lack of a sense of responsibility—the Socialists and Communists have it in their power to bring about final decisive action in the Reichstag. Instead of combating Marxism, therefore, the National Socialists have stupidly strengthened its power very greatly.

Corrupting the Youth.

Far worse than this, however, is the disastrous effect which the conscienceless agitation of the National Socialists has had on the mental attitude of wide circles of people, especially the youth of the nation. The highly educated classes and the young have in a high degree been attracted and influenced by the lies and hypocritical promises of the National Socialists.

Never before have the German people been so deceived by phrases and misrepresentations as during the last Reichstag election campaign. What will be the result of this conscienceless demagogy, when in four or five months from now a time for settlement arrives?

An effort can already be noted to a considerable extent in many districts. Many people who see themselves deceived again after having hoped to be rescued from their desperate economic situation by the vociferous National Socialists, will then become really radical; and will be irremediably delivered over into the hands of the Communists. That this assumption is not exaggerated is shown by the fact that whole local organizations of National Socialists have already gone over to the Communists and that former Reichswehr Lieutenant Scheringer, who was sent to jail

Graft Extracted in New York By "Painless" Method, in Chicago By Machine Guns and "Pineapples"

No Group Strong Enough to "Muscle In" on Tammany's Tribute Collecting System —Only Hope for Change in Fusion Movement.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 11.

A HISTORY of New York's recent municipal scandals, which have led up to formal demands for the removal of Mayor James J. Walker and District Attorney Thomas Crain, was presented in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch. The picture is hardly complete without a comparison between New York and Chicago, for although the rest of the United States may receive a similar impression of conditions existing in the two cities, first-hand examination discloses many striking differences.

In the Sunday Post-Dispatch of last Aug. 3 appeared an extended article in which an earnest endeavor was made to furnish an accurate and comprehensive portrayal of the Chicago scene, on which world-wide attention had been focussed by the gang wars which culminated in the murder of the Tribune's racketeering reporter, Alfred Lingle. Readers of that article are familiar with the extraordinary extent to which municipal affairs there have been dominated on the one hand by great corporate interests, and on the other by professional criminals, and will be interested in the contrast which New York affords.

There are gangs in New York, to be sure—Al Capone served his apprenticeship in one of them—and there have been and continue to be gang killings, but on nothing like the scale which has prevailed in Chicago. A veteran New York police reporter tells me that there has never been a machine gun killing in this city. That grisly professional, "The Chopper," is known here only by hearsay. New York's homicide rate is far lower than Chicago's.

Racketeering and Liquor.

There is evidence of considerable racketeering, especially in connection with the building trades and the supply and marketing of fresh foods, and occasionally some one "goes for a ride." But the self-opening "pineapple" is unfamiliar. New York is estimated to contain 30,000 speakeasies as compared with Chicago's reported 10,000 and the supply of liquor undoubtedly is in proportion, although New Yorkers are notoriously poorer beer drinkers. Gin, whisky and wine are the favorite alcoholic beverages of Gotham. Nevertheless, New York experiences no wars between rival sources of supply.

Why do these pronounced differences exist? The answer has been indicated. It rests almost entirely in the difference between the political systems. The vast, intricate, resourceful political machine of which Tammany is the central mechanism, takes no orders from either above or below. It has its own system of grafts, and the proceeds are distributed on a remarkably generous scale throughout the organization. As new rackets are produced by new conditions it calmly adopts and absorbs them. If the most powerful gang that could be assembled were to try to "muscle in" here, it would be taken for a ride with a promptness and finality unequaled since Custer's last stand. The political organization has a monopoly of all the grafts, and when there is no competition there is no occasion for violence.

What Policeman Gets.

Everyone understands that the policeman with a speakeasy on his beat receives a few dollars a week. This is not for protection against the law, but to insure order. Occasionally it is necessary to have an unruly customer ejected. In addition, when a supply is being received, it is customary to have a policeman stand near the door. The customary tip for this is $5 for a patrolman or $10 for a mounted cop, the additional $5 presumably being for the horse. New York police horses are conspicuous statuesque and beautiful, and the presence of one gives tone to the establishment. Everyone understands that the "serious money," paid for protection, goes elsewhere, the commonly accepted version being that half goes to the Federal agents and the other to local recipient.

A list of the grafts, "honest" and otherwise, which have been evolved in the long histosy of New York officialdom, would fill a column of this newspaper. Mention was made last week of the horse doctor who practiced before the board of Standards and Appeals in having zoning restrictions waived. Suppose there is a vacant lot in a zone restricted to residences. If permission can be obtained to build a garage on that lot its value is automatically doubled. Do not overlook the fabulous value of land in New York City. Tuttle's inquiry showed that "Doc" Doyle made $5,000,000 worth of property worth $10,000,000 by obtaining waivers from the board.

Property and Politicians.

The condemnation of property for public use is another prolific source of graft for which nobody can be punished unless collusion is shown—and naturally it seldom can be. The City Affairs Committee, after making a survey of all condemnations for school sites in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Queens during 1925 to 1928, inclusive, calculated on the basis of careful appraisals that the city pays $33,000,000 a year in excess of the market value of the acquired land. Some of the land was found to have been owned by politicians and their relatives. In other cases the connection between the owners and the politicians was only suspected.

Everyone knows how often and how much the value of property may be increased by the construction of public improvements. The yearly budget of New York City is $620,000,000. The city awards huge contracts. As has been told, evidence indicated that $253,000 was paid by a steamship company seeking leases on three city piers. There are dozens of such piers.

There are innumerable forms of little public services, such as the granting of permits and licenses, the serving of legal papers, etc., for which there is no legal charge, but for which it is the immemorial custom to bestow a small "tip." The applicant who neglects to give the "tip" is likely to suffer annoying delays. The city grants numerous business concessions which are extremely profitable to those who obtain them. There is an expensive and fashionable restaurant in the principal city park.

"Painless" Grafting.

The building code is almost interminable. Norman Thomas has said it would be "utterly impossible to erect a building in New York if all the restrictions were enforced." Hence the severity of inspections becomes a vital matter to the builder and owner.

But why continue? It is obvious that the grafts here are more numerous, more systematic, and in many instances more painless than in any other American city. In short, what we find is a system—the oldest, the largest, the most intricate and ingenious, and the most expertly managed system of its kind in the United States, if indeed, it can be said to have a counterpart. To smash it would be a formidable task, especially since the opposing political party is in no better repute here.

Charles C. Burlingham, president of the New York Bar Association, has described the Republican organization in New York City as "a feeble imitation of Tammany," and Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for Mayor in the last election, describes it more graphically as "an outfit which is content to play the jackal to the Tammany Tiger." It is notorious that when Congressman La Guardia seized the Republican nomination for Mayor in the last election he was ruthlessly knifed by the party organization.

Seabury in Spotlight.

Hence it is obvious that the powerful Democratic combination consisting of Tammany and the Brooklyn and Bronx machines can only be defeated by a fusion movement that would attract the support of Republicans and independent Democrats. In any discussion of such a movement, the name of former Supreme Court Justice Samuel Seabury, who investigated conditions in the City Magistrate's courts, and who is slated to conduct the sweeping city-wide injuiry recently authorized by the State Legislature, figures prominently.

The New York City machine can be licked; it has been licked repeatedly, and if Seabury's conduct of the legislative investigation fulfills the promise afforded by his recent work, it may be licked in the next municipal election. But whether it would stay licked is a question that only time can answer.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Dangers of Economic Illiteracy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IT is regrettable that the stirring editorials of the Post-Dispatch, such as "Who Caused Capitalism's Evils?" cannot be held before the eyes and dinned into the ears of every resident of the United States, from the noisome flophouse to the 16-bath mansion, until they arouse the thought of all classes.

Certainly, "the capitalists themselves caused capitalism's evils"—aided and abetted by lack of thought on the part of the under-privileged and the non-privileged. Men and women feel that systematic study of economic and political matters is not a part of their duty. Most are terribly punished for this neglect and those who, through luck, escape direct consequences, bring terrible punishment on others. For, those who do not think are easy victims of those who benefit by indifference and ignorance. Those responsible for dirty politics profit by the resulting rotten economic conditions, and rejoice if people will have nothing to do with dirty politics.

How can we who are fairly comfortable sit complacently and see such needless misery in a world of plenty? Do we flatter ourselves that our personal good fortune is due to our superior intellect and industry? Millions of men and women who could handle our job as well as we, if not better, are without the bare necessities of life. If we are honest with ourselves we must admit that whatever security we possess is due to luck. A variation of a fraction of an inch in the wheel of competitive industry and we, too, would have drawn blanks.

We are told that people must go hungry because there is too much wheat! Go ragged because there is too much cotton! Shiver because there is too much coal! Go homeless because there are too many houses! Walk because there are too many automobiles! Are any so simple-minded that they cannot see the idiocy of submitting to such unjust, inequitable, inconsistent conditions? Any who defend a system which breeds such conditions are either appallingly selfish in their own fancied security or they do not think. Let us think.

ERNEST B. LEVER.

Illinois' Dwindling Game.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WHY cannot we have game in Illinois? That is a question asked by many hunters. The answer is conservation. Look at Pennsylvania, one of the most populous states. It is a hunter's paradise. Even Missouri is ahead of us. We have lakes; why not fish? We have forests; why not game? The State should change the game laws. It should close the quail and pheasant season for at least two years. When it is reopened it should be for five days for pheasant with a daily limit of two cocks; a month for quail with a daily limit of five. The season for rabbit is too long. It should be restricted to one month with a daily limit of five.

When we practice conservation we will have game; until then we will have nothing. The time is coming when the children of Illinois won't know what a quail or a pheasant looks like.

White Ash, Ill. E. BOLES.

An Outsider Views With Amazement.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

REGARDING your editorial of April 4, "An Intolerable Situation." Without a long-time franchise the Laclede Gas Co. would not be ignoring St. Louis' plea for natural gas. St. Louis would demand and get it.

For several years I have read with amazement of St. Louis' fight for fair rates and valuations before the Public Service Commission at Jefferson City against your street railway company, the Laclede Gas Co. and the Union Electric Co. I notice St. Louis loses every decision, as well as the heavy expense involved.

With such examples of greedy monopoly created by granting francises, it seems to me, an outsider, that if any city in the country should be "gun shy" and refuse to grant franchises of any kind to exploiting private interests to perform public service, that city would be St. Louis, regardless of your Chamber of Commerce, which seems ready and willing to put over any proposition for private business, whether it is for the best interest of the people or not.

The recent progressive convention held in Washington made it clear that the Power Trust will probably be the leading issue in the next presidential election. In the meantime, the people can largely curb the activities of the Power Trust by refusing to grant them franchises. Then the people will rule and will have the private exploiters eating out of their hands instead of being at their mercy.

Mexico, Mo. OUTSIDER.

A Forecast.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE one sure way to overcome unemployment is for every factory in the United States to open its doors and put their men and women employes back at work. Unless this is done, the owners of all these factories (practically every one of whom is a Republican and a beneficiary of the Republican party's system of government) will find the voters in 1932 polling up the greatest national Democratic victory this country has ever known.

WM. D. STEVENS.

COSTLY AND FUTILE COMMISSIONS.

Government by commission has been developed more in the administration of President Hoover than in that of any other President. Since Mr. Hoover became President, 26 commissions have been created, with 238 "best minds," to help Mr. Hoover and Congress think out their problems.

Twenty-one of these commissions are supported by Government appropriations. The remainder are provided with funds personally raised by Mr. Hoover himself, and with aid from the Rockefeller, Russell Sage and Carnegie foundations.

Of course, some of the "best minds," the head men of the commissions, serve without compensation, but the expenses are defrayed from public or private funds. There are, however, thousands of employes, whose aggregate pay amounts to about $3,000,000 a year.

These commissions have been charged with investigation and report on vital questions, many of them involving politics, such as farm relief, prohibition and law enforcement, child health, unemployment, the tariff, power development, illiteracy, home ownership and so on. Senator Borah in a recent article referred to these Federal commissions as irresponsible bodies, neither elected by nor representative of the people, but charged with the solution of important Government problems upon which only Congress and the President can legitimately act. They are not bound by any pledge or responsibility to constituents. They are not constitutional branches of the Government nor answerable to anyone but the President, who appoints them, and Congress, which provides money for their work.

Commissions in the main are handy devices for evading the work of finding solutions for governmental problems, for doing what in common parlance is called "passing the buck." Of course, if they were used only as fact-finding instrumentalities or for really expert work which requires specialized talent and skill, they may play a useful part; but many of them are charged with not only finding facts but finding solutions.

Two of the costliest and most important of these commissions have been conspicuous failures. One, the Farm Board, has been a tragic farce; and the other, the Law Enforcement Commission, headed by Mr. Wickersham, has turned out a joke. The Farm Board, so far, instead of relieving the distress of the farmers, has plunged them into deeper distress. The Wickersham commission, although finding some valuable facts, by its alleged conclusions has made confusion worse confounded on the question of prohibition. Appointed as an impartial body, its confused and indeterminate conclusions, pointing every way, have merely played politics and added fuel to the flame of controversy. Whether the others will make any substantial contribution to the solution of the problems they have in hand is a matter of conjecture. Wherever they touch politics the guess is against them. Remedies for evils and the solution of Government problems can be reached only through the election of men of ability and integrity who will do their own thinking and vote their convictions.

Commissions are costly. The total amount appropriated by Congress for existing commissions is $502,322,000. Of this huge sum the Farm Board takes $500,000,000, the Tariff Commission $785,000 and the Wickersham commission $500,000. The cost of the commissions, applied to the deficit, would almost wipe it out. Their appropriations and other rather useless extravagances have caused the deficit. Most of the commissions are useless luxuries that we can better do without. We cannot afford them in times of depression.

THE FISH AND GAME CRISIS.

After the best prospect in years for a better method of handling fishing and hunting in Missouri, the Legislature is about to let this promise go by default.

It would be a pity to do so, and we trust that in the few remaining days of the session the legislators make the promise good. The attitude of Senator Bales, chairman of the Fish and Game Committee in the Senate, is excellent. Mr. Bales wants a bipartisan commission of four to bring back fishing and hunting in the State, and in our judgment the Legislature should back him up. Only partisanship can ask that the party in power exercise control over the department, and politics already has rendered the State almost fishless and gameless. If we are to supplement the present tragedy with a political commission, there will be no fishing and hunting in Missouri.

The Post-Dispatch recently showed what intelligent management has done for hunting and fishing in Pennsylvania. The same thing can be done in Missouri. It needs only the Legislature's consent. Not to have fish in the beautiful Ozark rivers, and not to have game in the hills, is costing Missouri tens of thousands of dollars a year. The dynamiter and the gigger have already done enough damage without having the blight of politics seal the doom of one of the loveliest out-door regions in the valley.

75 YEARS OF ST. LOUIS SCIENCE.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the St. Louis Academy of Science, which will be celebrated this Tuesday and Wednesday, marks a notable occasion in the history of a notable organization. When botanist Dr. George Englemann founded it in March, 1856, for the purpose of investigating scientific subjects and maintaining a scientific library and museum, such enterprises were few and far between. That St. Louis was then ready for an academy was proved by the men he gathered together. Hiram A. Prout, the first vice president, was a geologist and paleontologist of distinction, and the treasurer was James B. Eads, who later was to build the bridge which no less an engineering authority than a former president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology considers the most handsome in the country. One of the names on the first board was that of Charles P. Chouteau, diligent collector of natural history specimens for the academy's museum, which was destroyed by fire in 1869.

The period of the academy's founding can best be placed by noting the scientific activities of the times. The first bridge across the Mississippi, at Minneapolis, had just been completed, as had the railway suspension bridge at Niagara Falls. Lieut. M. F. Maury's pioneering work, "Physical Geography of the Sea," had just appeared. The first experiments in the Bessemer process of steel manufacture were being made. Condensed milk was first produced and watches first successfully made by machinery.

That pre-Civil War St. Louis should have had an active scientific academy in those times is a compliment to the initiative of its early intellectual class. How fitting it would be if the diamond jubilee year should keep the founding's memory by carrying forward the movement now begun for the establishment of a natural history and scientific museum as part of the Memorial Plaza.

AFTER THE VETO THE DELUGE.

The Democratic majority of the Senate has finally got through a congressional redistricting bill. Whether enough Democratic Representatives can be brought back to Jefferson City to pass the bill, which previously failed in the House, is said to be doubtful. Again, if the House should pass the measure, party pressure will be brought on the Governor by Republican leaders to veto it. But Republican leaders who advise such will not be held accountable for the consequences. The responsibility will, in this instance, be the Governor's. It is a responsibility which any man would shrink from assuming and which sincere friends of the Governor would hesitate about counseling him to assume.

Republicans say the bill is unfair since it will give the Democrats eight Congressmen and the Republicans five, as nearly as such results can be calculated in advance. But if the Republicans had a legislative majority they would do just as the Democrats have done—get all the political advantage out of the situation they could. And if, with a Republican Legislature, the Governor happened to be a Democrat, he would be in the same situation Mr. Caulfield is. Democratic leaders would be urging him to veto it, but they, like the present Republican leaders, would not have to carry the burden of demoralizing the State politically by making the people elect the entire congressional delegation at large.

The Post-Dispatch is not defending the action of the Democrats. We should rejoice to see the majority party in the Legislature rise to the occasion by redistricting the State as equitably as possible. Well, it isn't done. The pending bill, however, with its 8-to-5 proportion is not so bad. It would be a good deal worse if the Governor and the legislative majority were of the same party, whether Republican or Democratic. Then we would have a gerrymander.

They are saying at Jefferson City that the Governor may intervene with a message giving his ideas as to a fair redistricting bill. Such counsel of perfection will be entirely proper, of course, but it won't mean anything. Certainly it won't recast the political realities into a sweet, Utopian mold. As it happens, the Democrats have the say. Had they framed the sort of bill which shocked public sentiment the Governor could then have exercised the veto with good conscience and public approval. The Democrats have not done that. They have done well by themselves, but they have not gone hog wild. If they pass the pending bill and the Governor kills it, the sequence will be something of a deluge, in the flotsam and jetsam of which Mr. Caulfield's political future will have disappeared. And that is a calamity which, as the Governor is well aware, some of his party leaders could endure with stoical calm.

THE MAN WHO PLAYED THE SHERIFF.

Not a pair of theater goers in a thousand saw Maclyn Arbuckle in his two most popular roles, but their mothers and fathers did. Roosevelt was serving out McKinley's term when George Ade gave the stage "The County Chairman," with its Hon. Jim Hackler, a part fashioned, so it seemed, for Arbuckle's playing and no one else's. Successful as he was as Hon. Jim, greater popularity came with "The Roundup," which he, as the dejected Sheriff, "Slim" Hoover, made famous with the line, "Hell, nobody loves a fat man." In a lesser way, Arbuckle was the portly officer of the law as William Gillette was Sherlock Holmes, and similarly his line did for "The Roundup" what "Vas you efer in Zinzinnati?" did for "The Prince of Pilsen." In the stiff, upholstered years of the first decade, Sheriff Arbuckle's fat man met the test of humor. At any rate, he made the era of the feminine pompadour shake with laughter.

MARIE AVERIL BLAND.

The case of Marie Averil Bland, Canadian World War nurse who has been denied United States citizenship, is now in the Supreme Court. We do not presume to invade the province of the court, or to try to anticipate its construction of the law. Merely, we should like to say a word as to Miss Bland's qualifications as a human being. She nursed shell-shocked American soldiers in Brest for nine months immediately following the war, in addition to her previous war work. In the event she is granted citizenship and this country is involved in another war, she expresses willingness to nurse the wounded, going to the front line if necessary to perform this merciful work. Miss Bland, however, is forbidden by her convictions to bear arms or kill any human being, even in war. There are many women, United States citizens, who share Miss Bland's code. They have character, bravery and sweetness, and their views represent the highest ideals and aspirations of the human race. Regardless of the outcome of Miss Bland's application, we cannot conceive of her as being other than a most desirable person.

FEEDING THE LOBBY.

In the latter days of the legislative session at Jefferson City the lobbyist is sometimes hard put to it to keep himself on the payroll.

An amusing case in point is the bill which proposes to tax cigarettes. The Legislature has no intention of assenting to this or any other nuisance tax, and not even Pompey himself is deader than the cigarette bill. Nevertheless, the lobby must eat. It has therefore roused the cigarette bill from the dead and sent it to engrossment in the House. That is as far as it will ever get; but its mock show of life will enable the lobby to hold body and soul together until we can all subsist, as Nebuchadnezzar did, on spring dandelions and curly dock.

We are told by Bret Harte that for ways that are dark and tricks that are vain the heathen Chinee is peculiar. At that, he has nothing on the lobby.

Revenue Tariff as a Way Out for Britain

England meets world crisis with conflicting counsels, for expansion and for contraction; higher taxes and wages would hamper business; lower costs would aid foreign trade, but curb that at home; economist suggests tariff for revenue during emergency, to bolster budget, increase use of domestic goods and aid workers.

John Maynard Keynes, British Writer and Economist, in the New Republic.

OUR trouble in Great Britain is not that we lack the physical means to support a high standard of life, but that we—like most other countries—are suffering a breakdown in organization and in the machinery by which we buy and sell.

There are two reactions to this breakdown. We experience the one or the other according to our temperaments. The one is inspired by a determination to maintain our standards of life by bringing into use our wasted capacity; that is to say, to expand, casting fear aside. The other, the instinct to contract, is based on the psychology of fear. How reasonable is it to be afraid?

The fall of prices relatively to costs, together with the psychological effect of high taxation, has impaired the necessary incentive to production. This is at the root of our disorganization. Great Britain is not the only country of which this is true. It is unwise, therefore, to frighten the business man or torment him further. A forward policy is liable to do this. For, reasoning by a false analogy from what is prudent for an individual who finds himself in danger of living beyond his means, he is usually, when his nerves are frayed, a supporter, though to his own ultimate disadvantage, of national contraction.

And there is a further reason for nervousness. Great Britain is suffering from international instability. Notoriously the competitive power of our export trade is diminished by our high standard of life. At the same time the lack of profits in home business inclines the investor to place his money abroad, while high taxation exercises a sinister influence in the same direction. Above all, the reluctance of other creditor countries to lend (which is the root cause of this slump) places too heavy a financial burden on London. These again are apparent arguments against a forward policy; for greater activity at home due to increased employment will increase our excess of imports, and the Government borrowing may frighten investors.

In every way, therefore—the opponents of an expansionist policy point out—it will aggravate the want of confidence, the burden of taxation and the international instability, which (they believe) are at the bottom of Great Britain's present troubles.

Yet the policy of doing nothing is even more dangerous. For as time goes by, it becomes increasingly doubtful whether we can support our standard of life. With 1,000,000 unemployed we certainly can; with 2,000,000 unemployed we probably can; with 3,000,000 unemployed we probably can't. Thus, the negative policy, by allowing unemployment steadily to increase, must lead in the end to an unanswerable demand for a reduction in our standard of life.

Unemployment exists because employers have been deprived of profit. The loss of profit may be due to all sorts of causes. But, short of going over to communism, there is no possible means of curing unemployment except by restoring to employers a proper margin of profit. There are two ways of doing this—by increasing the demand for output, which is the expansionist cure, or by decreasing the cost of output, which is the contractionist cure. Both of these try to touch the spot. Which of them is to be preferred?

I have given some of the arguments for contraction. But there are some fundamental arguments on the other side. To decrease the cost of output by reducing wages and curtailing budget services may increase foreign demand for British goods (unless, which is quite likely, it encourages a similar policy of contraction in other countries), but it will probably diminish the domestic demand; and it is by no means certain to increase total demand. The advantages to employers of a general reduction of wages are not so great, therefore, as they look. In the second place, it leads to social injustice and violent resistance, since it benefits some classes of income at the expense of others. Moreover, the contractionist policy will aggravate, rather than solve, the international problem; since it is an endeavor to adjust ourselves to present prices rather than to raise them. These arguments apply equally in every country.

An international remedy is essential; and I find the best hope of remedying the international slump—I trust not vaingloriously—in the leadership of Great Britain.

What measures are available to restore confidence? A decision to reform the grave abuses of the dole, and to postpone for the present all new charges on the budget for social services in order to conserve its resources to meet schemes for the expansion of employment, are advisable and should be taken. But the main decision which today is absolutely forced on any wise Chancellor of the Exchequer, whatever his beliefs about protection, is the introduction of a substantial revenue tariff. It is certain that there is no other measure all the immediate consequences of which will be favorable and appropriate.

The tariff which I have in mind would include no discriminating protective taxes, but would cover as wide a field as possible at a flat rate, or perhaps two flat rates, each applicable to wide categories of goods. Rebates would be allowed in respect of imported material entering into exports, but raw materials should be exempt. The amount of revenue to be aimed at should be substantial, not less than $250,000,000, and, if possible, $375,000,000. It should be the declared intention of the free trade parties to remove the duties in the event of world prices recovering to the level of 1929.

Compared with any alternative which is open, this measure is unique in that it would at the same time relieve the pressing problems of the budget and restore business confidence. But this is not its only advantage. In so far as it leads to the substitution of home produced goods for goods previously imported, it will increase employment at home. At the same time, by relieving the pressure on the balance of trade, it will provide a much needed margin to pay for the additional imports which a policy of expansion will require and to finance loans by London to necessitous debtor countries. A revenue tariff is a high card which we still have in our hand. Where would the budget of any other country be, if it had no receipts from its tariff?

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, April 12.

JEANETTE RANKIN says that she did not actually weep when, as the first woman to sit in Congress, she cast her vote against our entry into the World War—"but the newspaper descriptions made the tears sound so lovely that I never had the heart to deny them."

"The truth is," she added more seriously, "I had no tears left by that time. And what if I had cried? Everyone wept in those trying days, the men legislators as well as I."

That famous vote of Miss Rankin's marked the mere beginning of a militant crusade for peace which she still carries on. She is, as she frankly expresses it, a lobbyist, working with the National Council for the Prevention of War. But her lobbying is of a most scrupulous sort, being confined to the imparting of information. She refuses even to take advantage of the congressional privileges accorded former members. During the past session, Miss Rankin worked constantly, interviewing no less than 150 Congressmen on peace and preparedness measures.

THERE is a youthful vigor and sincerity about this pioneer in woman suffrage which is peculiarly charming. Her observations on current affairs are swift and sure. "A third party?" she said. "Why, we haven't even two now. The names 'Republican' and 'Democrat' are just camouflages." And then: "But how can women make themselves a force in politics without any real issues to arouse them? You can't get excited over whether a short or a tall man will be elected to office." One of her main objections to war is that it is "so utterly silly."

Miss Rankin was elected to Congress as a Republican, although her sympathies were, as they are now, with the progressive group. It is obvious that she enjoys her present work more than she did her active service in the House. "It was a wartime Congress," she explained, "and we talked of little besides the number of shoes needed per soldier and similar matters. However, the men were very cordial to their first lady member. I was fairly familiar with Congress for some time before I was elected because of my lobbying for suffrage. I had often planned how I would rearrange the furniture in my office if I were a Congresswoman. But after I did get the chance, I never found the time."

BESIDES being the first Congresswoman, Miss Rankin is the only woman who has voted for woman suffrage, the only woman who has ever voted against war, the only Congresswoman who was elected by women, the only Republican candidate who was elected in the 1916 Democratic landslide in Montana and the first woman to run for the United States Senate.

Such is the observation of loyalty and good sense. There is still another argument against accord. If indeed it had been a question of regional agreement in accordance with the new spirit, why should there have been hesitation about submitting it to the League of Nations? Why not have brought it to the attention of the States through diplomatic channels, as seems to have been Austria's desire from the start?

Fair Play Lacking.

Speaking before the House of Commons, Arthur Henderson commented opportunely upon this lack, of international fair play. He maintained the point of view of true peace-lovers in his announcement that an appeal would probably be made to a permanent international court of justice. To all those who love peace, we should like to give warning of the gravity of this conflict between those ideas on which we are trying to build a new order and the political policies of pre-war days. If this conflict is not checked all pacifist propaganda in France at least will become impossible.

This is the difficult situation in which Briand found himself recently before the Senate. It may even be true that the Austro-German accord robbed him of the presidency of the French Republic. Nationalists are exulting everywhere. The groups of the Left of the French Chamber are finding themselves agree as to the common danger. The open policy of peace was never more seriously threatened by he attacks of secret diplomacy. Unless great care is taken, one will destroy the other. Let all pacifists beware!

An Unbelieving France.

These are happenings that furnish food for thought. They are happenings that should warn not only Germany but also other nations. Nations which like France first of all refuse in deplorable blindness to recognize the fate to which they are condemning the German people through their senseless ruthlessness in collecting reparations and in their refusal of any financial assistance, are thus driving the Germans into the arms of Bolshevism. The absolutely hysterical cry of warning from France against the German-Austrian customs treaty, shows that France still has no comprehension of the tremendous danger which the world crisis has brought. Must still greater distress break the morale of the German people?

Persecutions which drive such an intelligent and peaceful people as the Germans to a point where they accept gladly and hopefully the mad ideas of Communism and National Socialism must be extreme indeed. If the summons to the nations: "Protect your most sacred possessions!" was ever justified, it is justified today. The Pan-European conference began on March 24. May it, as well as the League of Nations, be fully conscious of its great responsibility for the future of the world.

ISAAC GIMBEL, HEAD OF STORE CHAIN, DIES

Chairman of Board, Who Had Quit Active Service, Succumbs in Port Chester (N. Y.)

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11. — Isaac Gimbel, chairman of the board of Gimbel Brothers, department store, died today at his Port Chester home of pneumonia. He was 74 years old.

He retired from business several years ago, but played an important part in building the house of Gimbel to an important place among the department stores of the world.

The Gimbel business started in Vincennes, Ind., in 1842, where Isaac Gimbel's father, Adam, met with a success that led to expansion to Philadelphia, Milwaukee and New York.

In 1927 at Philadelphia, Isaac Gimbel was honored at ceremonies commemorating the completion of 85 years of department store building carried on by 15 direct descendants of Adam Gimbel, Bavarian immigrant.

Mr. Gimbel was born in Vincennes, Ind., April 24, 1856. Storekeeping always fascinated him, even when a lad, and at the age of 18, with his elder brother, Jacob, he went from Philadelphia — to which city the family had moved—and returned to Vincennes to operate a dry goods store his father had founded in 1842.

Success there led to the opening of a store at Danville, Ill. In 1882, he acquired a Milwaukee store site, opening a store that became one of the largest in the Middle West.

In 1894 he returned to Philadelphia, where another large store was opened on the site of the present Gimbel store.

It was not until 1910, however, that Isaac Gimbel saw his greatest dreams realized—the opening of a New York City store. He moved here and assumed actve direction of the enterprise. It was during his presidency that the Saks Fifth Avenue and Saks Herald Square Properties, as well as the Gimbel Brothers Pittsburg store were acquired.

The Gimbel Stores, as at present constituted, comprise seven stores in five large cities, employing 15,000 persons.

Ill health forced his retirement from the presidency of Gimbel Brothers, Inc., in 1927. His son, Bernard, succeeded him.

Surviving him are his widow and two sons, Bernard F. and Frederic A. Gimbel. There are three surviving brothers—Charles, Ellis A. and Daniel.

The funeral will be Tuesday from Temple Emanu-El, New York. His body will be placed in the family vault in Mount Sinai Cemetery, Philadelphia.

Raskob Discusses Public Utility Problem.

a square deal. It was entitled to proper return on its investment. When a utility company set up a plant it ran the risk that some new invention would come along and practically wipe out its investment. It was entitled to some consideration on account of this risk.

Returning to the subject of State regulation: Had the chairman gone into the conflicting theories of public utility valuation. He had not. He had not read the famous case of Smyth against Ames, to which all the valuation decisions of the United States Supreme Court hark back and by which State rate - making commissions are bound. He returned always to his general thesis that a utility was entitled to a fair return on its investment. Did this include promotion costs? Yes, the chairman thought that a proper allowance should be made for promotion costs and the same applied to going value.

The discussion ranged over a wide field. The writer observed that in relying upon state regulation and opposing any Federal intervention Mr. Raskob's thought was in line with that of the utilities. Was it not true that the utilities were putting out propaganda in support of state regulation in order to stave off any Federal regulation? He did not think this was a fair statement of their motives. He believed that the utilities were convinced that state regulation was better for all concerned. They would rather deal with authorities at home than with a distant Federal bureaucracy.

Going back to the hypothetical case of St. Louis and the Keokuk dam, the chairman said it would be possible to fix a fair rate for service in St. Louis and tell the company to take it or leave it. The city could say: "We won't pay you more than that."

What would happen if the company refused to accept the rate? Then, he replied, the city could bring in some other outfit that would accept.

Government Ownership? No.

Mr. Raskob spoke strongly against all forms of Government ownership of utilities. He held up the wartime administration of the railroads as a horrible example.

The chairman said that in all cases where a municipal plant appeared to be successful, he would be willing to bet that this was because it didn't have to pay taxes. He spoke earnestly against the Government in business. Asked whether he didn't think the Postoffice Department was doing a fair job, he replied that it could be done more efficiently, and with lower postage rates, by private enterprise.

He said that Muscle Shoals and the St. Lawrence development were special cases. As for Muscle Shoals it was all right for the Government to operate a plant that it already owned. As for the St. Lawrence, he thought it would be possible for a state agency to develop power there without creating a new job-holding machine, but if the state should go into the business of distributing power—which he heartily opposed—then there would be a new army of job holders.

It was suggested to him that Muscle Shoals under Government operation would be a fine yardstick with which to test the fairness of the rates charged by private plants. He did not agree. The Government, he remarked again, would be free from the heavy item of taxes. The writer replied that in making comparisons, it would be simple enough to add hypothetical taxes to the Muscle Shoals operating expense, but he relied that the politicians could not be trusted to keep the books properly.

He made the point, very pertinently, that if regulation of rates of the utilities was transferred from the states to the Federal Government the regulators would still have to be guided by the valuation decisions of the United States Supreme Court. The interviewer remarked that some upholders of the prudent investment theory of valuation believed that basis for rate making might be established by congressional enactment of a valuation formula. Mr. Raskob was opposed to any such action by Congress.

Approves Permit Idea.

There was no disagreement as to the desirability of some effective and fair form of regulation. Mr Raskob had an appropriate epigram. "Where you have competition, you have an audit of business, but where you have monopoly, society has got to do the auditing." The progress in the automobile business, he said, had been brought about by competition.

Mr. Raskob's attention was called to the editorial in the Post-Dispatch on March 29 on "The failure of public utility regulation and the remedies." This editorial pointed out as the two alternatives to the present futile State regulation under the "law of the land" as laid down by the Supreme Court public ownership and revocable permits as substitutes for franchises. Thus the making of rates would not be subject, as it now is, to Federal decision. In the case of revocable permits the city or state granting them would make the rates.

Mr. Raskob heartily approved the permit idea. "Don't grant franchises," he exclaimed. He was told that in St. Louis at any rate, the utilities argued that they couldn't finance themselves unless they had franchises despite the successes of Detroit utilities operating under the permit system. He agreed cordially with the Post-Dispatch that this argument was unsound.

"Capital will come in," he said, "under a permit system if it can be assured that it will have a responsible and fair minded entity to deal with. It would be repelled if a demagogue like Hylan were in control of a city."

He suggested that in any permit arrangement between a municipality and a public utility, disputes should be arbitrated by a board. Two members would be picked by the city, two by the utility, and they would choose a fifth as chairman. It ought not to be difficult, he said, for fair-mended men on both sides to fix a utility rate that would give private capital a fair return on its investment and give the public good service.

In conclusion the chairman said he didn't think there was a "power trust" and he hoped earnestly that the Democrats wouldn't allow the Republicans to use power as a "smokescreen" to hide the real issue—prohibition.

ALAN HOOVER TO BE IN LAMONT WEDDING PARTY

Commerce Secretary's Daughter to Wed C. E. Saltzman, Former White House Aid.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Miss Gertrude Lamont, daughter of the Commerce Secretary, and Charles Eskridge Saltzman, whose soldier father heads the Radio Commission, will have young Alan Hoover in their May wedding party. The name of the President's son was included among the wedding personnel announced today.

Miss Lamont is 20 and Saltzman 27. They met at the girl's debut, a year ago, and last summer the courtship began. Their engagement was announced in December. The wedding will take place in the Secretary's Washington home. Scores of officials will attend a reception following the ceremony.

Saltzman was manager of the West Point football and baseball teams as well as president of the class of '25 and regimental commander of the corps of cadets.

The first academy graduate to be chosen as a Rhodes scholar, he received a degree at Oxford in 1927. Returning to his station at Fort Humphreys, Va., he was selected as a White House aid, serving until he left the army last May to go into business in New York.

The bride-to-be is a lover of sports, a swimmer and an equestrienne. She was formally introduced soon after she graduated from Westover, in Middleburg, Conn.

LEPER'S BENEFACTOR BURIED

Colony of Outcasts Meets Ship Carrying Ira Dutton's Body.

By the Associated Press.

KALAUPAPA, Hawaii, April 11.—The body of Ira (Brother Joseph) Dutton, who died in Honolulu March 26, was laid to rest today at Kalawao, the Molokai Island settlement of lepers he served nearly 45 years.

The entire colony of suffering outcasts was present when the U. S. S. Pelican arrived with the body. As the casket was carried ashore by six sailors, the Pelican's band played "Aloha Oe." A brief service was read in the Catholic chapel by Father Peter. Then with Gov. Lawrence M. Judd of Hawaii among the mourners, the final rites took place.

CALLS RASKOB "HIGH PRIEST OF PRIVILEGE"

C. M. Hay Says Democratic Party Will Lose if It Wins on New Yorker's Platform.

By the Associated Press.

MOUNTAIN GROVE, Mo., April 11.—Addressing a Jefferson day dinner here tonight, Charles M. Hay of St. Louis, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate in 1928, called Chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic National Committee "a high priest of privilege and concentrated wealth."

"The people have turned to us (the Democratic party) before, when they sought deliverance from the injustices of the rule of property," Hay said. "They did it not only in Jefferson's day, but in Jackson's, in Cleveland's and in Wilson's. They turn to us now

"But instead of a Jefferson a Jackson, a Cleveland or a Wilson to answer their cry, they find at the head of the party a former member of the Union League Club; a scion and secretary of the house of du Pont; a mouthpiece of Mammon; a high priest of privilege and concentrated wealth.

"Farmers, laborers, small business men, victims of the tariffs, of combines and extortions, call to him for relief from intolerable economic ills; he suggests, in answer, that they first determine the percentage of alcohol to go in their drink. They cry for bread; he demands that they blubber for beer; they call for a full dinner pail; he insists that they ask for a can with foam on it; they demand jobs; he suggests jags.

"Why this mockery of a distressed people? I'll tell you why: It's because he doesn't want the people to attack these economic problems. He belongs to the house of du Pont; he is still, at heart, a member of the union league, standpat, reactionary Republican club; he is the soul of one of the greatest combines in America; his political philosophy is the philosophy of Alexander Hamilton; his creed is the creed of Mellon and his purpose is to perpetuate government by big business; he and his kind want the people to fight over the percentage of alcohol in their drinks, because they do not want the percentage of their profits affected. They want them to clamor for beer for fear their cries for bread may affect the bread trust and ultimately all other trusts.

"If you doubt my conclusions, read the set of principles and policies he proposes for the party. He wants the tariff fight abandoned; the Sherman anti-trust law repealed; the power trust let alone; and business set free from all governmental intereference. There is not a stand-pat Republican in America who could ask for more. If Thomas Jefferson had had that spirit and attitude, the Democratic party never would have been founded.

"If you say a fight within the party means defeat in 1932, I answer that to adopt Raskob's program means defeat for democracy whether our ticket be defeated or elected."

Hay called his address, "Raskobism vs. Jeffersonian Democracy," but mentioned Raskob's name only once.

Hay called conditions under the present Republican administration "appalling—in some respects without a parallel in American history." He charged that never before "have the supply and control of the necessaries of life fallen so completely under the domination of small but powerful groups and combines of men."

ADMITS SHOOTING BARONESS, SAYS IT WAS ACCIDENTAL

Hungarian Baron, in Hospital, Tells How Maria Forster Met Death at Target Practice.

By the Associated Press.

BUDAPEST, April 11.—Funeral services were held today for the pretty young Baroness Maria Forster, who was accidentally shot and killed Thursday while at target practice with friends near here Though everything has not been explained, it is said the Baroness was killed by a shot from the weapon of Baron Stefan Bornemisza, who is in a hospital, prostrated by the tragedy.

The Provost Marshal called at the hospital this morning to question Bornemisza. He found the Baron in a very weakened condition, but succeeded in obtaining a deposition in which the Baron said that Baroness Forster had discharged six shots at a handkerchief floating in a pond.

The girl tried to extract a remaining cartridge from the jammed revolver, he said, with a screwdriver and when she failed he took the weapon and it was discharged while he was working with it and the bullet struck the girl in the stomach.

The Provost Marshal indicated the matter would be regarded as an accident and the Baron would probably be exonerated.

Child Third Victim of Auto Crash.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., April 11.—Vernon Stoecker, 2 years old, a son of Benjamin Stoecker, a farmer, died today, the third victim of an accident that occurred yesterday when a Missouri Pacific train struck an automobile in which the child and three others were riding. Miss Nellie Womack, rural school teacher and Dorothy Stoecker, a daughter of Benjamin Stoecker, died soon after the accident. Mildred Porter, 16, fourth occupant of the automobile is in a serious condition. Miss Womack was driving Mildred to Neelyville when the accident occurred.

Morsel, in good form, broke fast, but was restrained back of the pace to the middle of the turn. It was here that Robertson called on him for the final effort. Morsel responded gamely and, coming around the leaders, took the lead and won nicely in hand. Paul Bunyan trailed far back for seven furlongs, moved up very fast on the outside and closed gamely. He was an easy second. Sister Zoe broke fast but dropped right out of contention, then worked her way up and taking the overland route in the stretch, finished fast and was third in last stride. Finalist was slow to get in his stride; hehad to circle the field for the first seven furlongs, slipped through on inside in thestretch and finished with a rush. Fortunate Youth displayed good speed but was used up racing Thistle Ann into submission and stopped badly. Raccoon was unable to handle the weight. Thistle Ann had early speed.

$2 mutuels paid: Morsel, win $5.00, place $3.70, show $2.90; Paul Bunyan, place $7.00, show $4.70; Sister Zoe, show $7.40.

By the Associated Press.

BOWIE, Md., April 11.—Close to 20,000 persons jammed Bowie today and saw Morsel, courageous black colt from the Le Mar Stock Farm, race to victory in the Prince Georges Handicap, feature of the getaway card. The closing day crowd was the largest of the 12-day meeting.

Morsel, a 4-year-old son of Vulcain and Sweet Bun, ran the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:47 1-5 to win from L. M. Severson's Paul Bunyan, with the Four Oaks Stock Farm's Sister Zoe third and Finalist fourth. Morsel was a strong favorite in the betting, paying 3 to 2 and earned $3430 for his owner.

S. W. Labrot's Fortunate Youth was the pace maker most of the way, with Thistle Ann in close pursuit. Both the latter tired under the fast pace and dropped out of the picture before the stretch was reached. Arthur Robertson had rated Morsel in third position and when the leaders faltered sent the Vulcain colt to the front. After that there was no question as to his superiority.

Paul Bunyan, a notoriously slow starter, came from far behind to take the place and Sister Zoe also closed a huge gap.

WASHINGTON CREWS DEFEAT CALIFORNIA

By the Associated Press.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 11.—Washington won the varsity crew race from California on the Estuary here today by three quarters of a length.

The official time was 14m 55s, a new record. The old record of 15:09 was set by Washington in 1925. The Huskies clipped 14s off the old mark.

Washington crews added two more record-breaking victories when both the junior varsity and freshmen races were won by the Northerners.

ELEANOR HOLM BREAKS HER OWN WORLD RECORD

By the Associated Press.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 11. — Champion Eleanor Holm broke her own 3000-meter back stroke mark here today and established a new world's record for the event. She covered the distance in 4m 33s. Her previous record, made at Brooklyn, March 27, 1928, was 4m 49 2-5s. Today's mark was made at a swimming meet of the Women's Swimming Association.

TULSA WINS AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE TITLE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 11.—Tulsa regained the American Hockey League championship it held in 1929 when it defeated the Kansas City Pla-Mors, 1930 titleholders in a 3 to 2 game here tonight at the Ice Palace before 6000 persons.

Tulsa scored a single goal in the first, second and third periods, and Kansas City got one in the second and one in the third.

AMERICAN-OWNED HORSE WINS IN NEWBURY RACE

By the Associated Press.

NEWBURY, England, April 11.—Totaig, owned by the American, Victor Emanuel, today won the 2-year-old plate at five furlongs from Aga Khan's Tartjaison. Totaig's margin was one and a half lengths. Mrs. Hartigan's Nemsoha was third.

Lott and Coen Win Doubles Title

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 11.—Geo. Lott of Philadelphia, and Wilbur F. Coen Jr. of Kansas City, won the doubles championship of the River Oaks Country Club invitation tennis tournament late today, defeating Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, Cal., and Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, 7—5, 6—1, 6—1.

Mrs. Hill Defeats Miss Wattles in Southern Tourney

By the Associated Press.

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 11.—Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City shot 16 holes of golf in two under women's par today to beat Peggy Wattles of Buffalo, N. Y., three and two, for the championship of the Sedgefield Women's Golf Tournament.

A veteran of tournament play, Mrs. Hill outlasted her less experienced rival to take the victory on the homeward nine of the 18-hole match. Miss Wattles grabbed a lead by taking the first hole, but Mrs. Hill evened matters by winning the second. For the rest of the nine they battled along with neither able to hold an advantage.

At the turn they were even. Each had a medal score of 42, exactly women's par, for the outward nine.

Mrs. Hill stepped into the lead coming home with a brace of fours on the tenth and eleventh holes, while Miss Wattles was carding fives.

They halved the next hole in fours and Miss Wattles trimmed Mrs. Hill's margin to one up with a four on the thirteenth. Mrs. Hill had a five.

The Buffalo girl went two down again on the fourteenth, losing it when her tee shot found the rough. The fifteenth was halved. Another bad tee shot cost Miss Wattles the short sixteenth, her ball catching a trap. Mrs. Hill was on for an easy three which gave her the match when Miss Wattles failed to sink a long putt after pitching out of the trap.

WRAY'S COLUMN

The New Fight Center.

CLEVELAND, O., is ambitious to become the new fight center of the country. Not only has it increased its ordinary mine-run of fight promotions, but on April 15 next it will be officially announced that the world championship fight between Max Schmeling and Young Stribling will be held in the Forest City's splendid new Municipal Stadium, July 3 or 4.

At first consideration fight fans might think the choice of Cleveland as the battle-ground a weak one. But the promoters are satisfied. Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, advances some real clinches in favor of the selection:

"Cleveland is a great population center," Jacobs commented. "Within a radius of 500 miles, half the population of the United States and Canada is gathered. It is only four hour's ride from the splendid fight town of Detroit and is only a short night or day ride from several large cities of the Middle West, including Chicago.

Seats From $5 to $25.

"IT has without doubt the finest stadium ever built for fight purposes. The stands will seat 81,000 persons and there will be 30,000 seats on the field. The stands encircle the field so that a fine view will be had of the ring. No spy-glasses will be needed, as at Soldier Field. Nor will there be the usual trouble with ball park ringside seats, which are not elevated. The first 20 rows at Cleveland will be level. From that point back the seats will be on an incline which will reach to the top of the boxes, where the seats in the stands will begin.

"The promoters pay $25,000 rental and $12,500 for permanent seats—a total of $37,500. That is very reasonable, I think.

"I'm sold on this arrangement and on the locality. You know Tex Rickard was a great hand for shifting the scene of his big shows. He tried in succession Reno, Toledo, Jersey City, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Miami and was about to try one in Canada. He sought to refresh interest by developing new territory for his big fights. Cleveland is virgin soil.

"The ticket prices will be reasonable. Including tax the ringsides will be $25, which leaves a net for the promoter of $20. The cheapest seat will be $5, because they will be far better than most of the low price seats

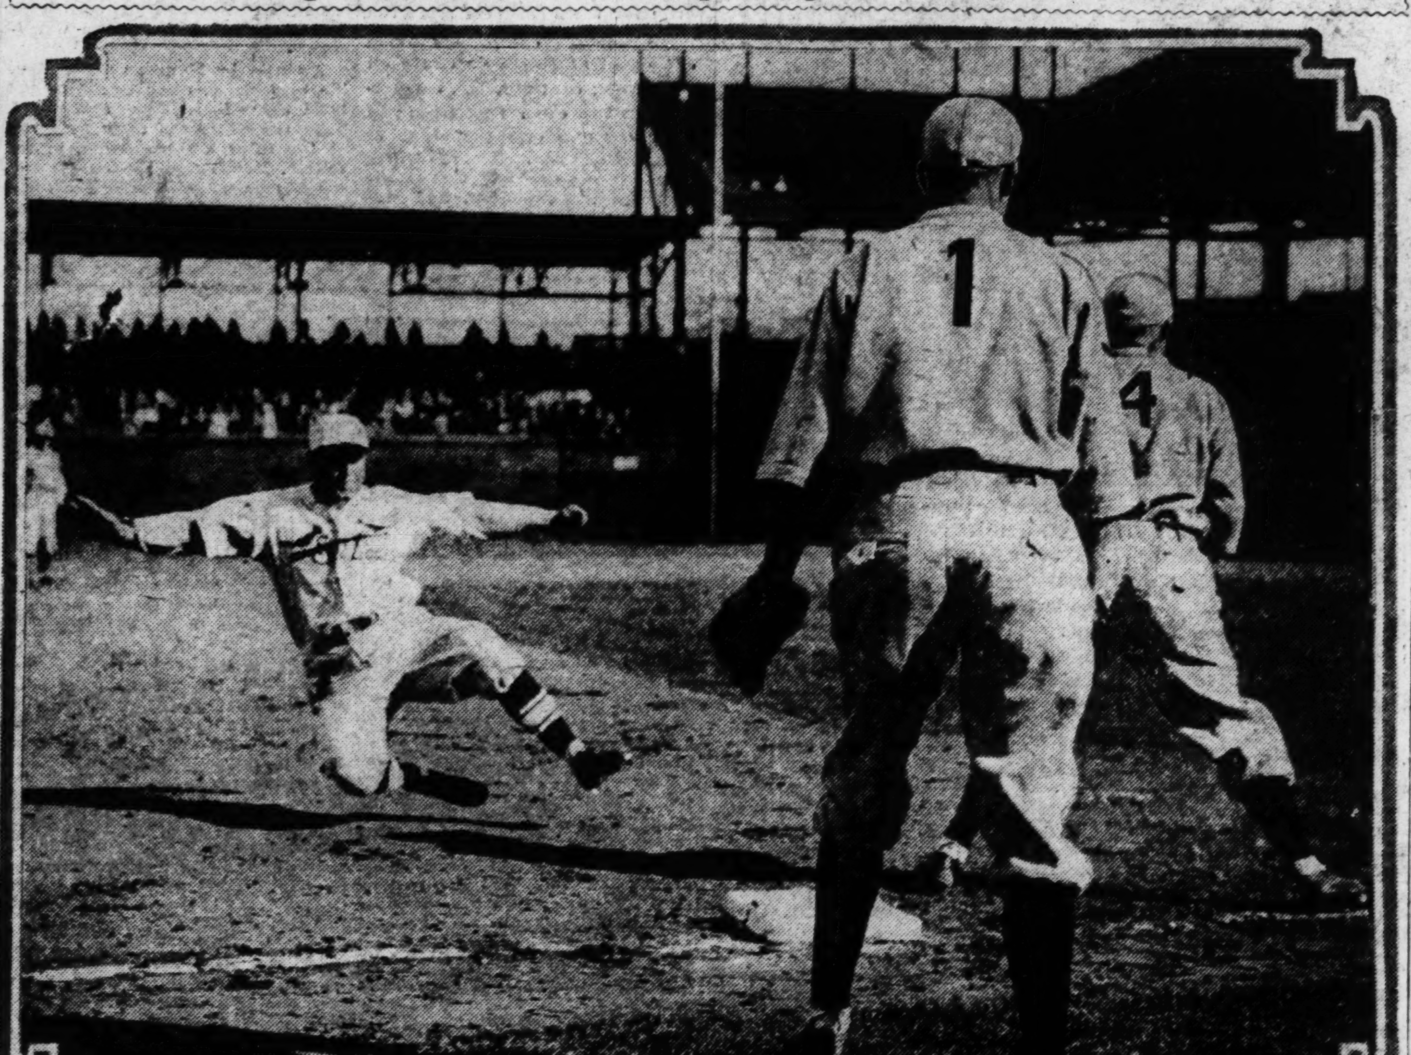
Burleigh Grimes Sees an Opening and Advances a Base



Cardinal pitcher making third by a slide in third inning of yesterday's game with the Browns. Grimes' double had scored Wilson with the first run. Douthit hit to Kress at third; Grimes saw Kress lob the ball to first and by a good sprint, made third before Burns' return throw got to Kress. Player No. 1 is Shortstop Levey backing up Kress, No. 4.

DUNLAP WINS NORTH AND SOUTH GOLF TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 11.—George T. Dunlap Jr., Princeton senior and intercollegiate golf champion, today won the thirty-first annual North and South amateur tournament by defeating Samuel M. Parks Jr., senior at the University of Pittsburg, 6 and 5, in the 36 hole final match.

It was the second victory within a year for the slender, Princeton linksman over his huskier rival, who is captain of his university's golf team. Dunlap defeated Parks 4 and 3 in the third round of the intercollegiate title series at Oakmont last June.

Their contest today was played in intermittent showers. Dunlap's superiority on the greens gave him the title. Parks drove right up with the New Yorker and his fairway shots were in no way inferior.

Baseball Will Continue to Pay and More Boys Will Play, Heydler Says

By John Heydler
President National Baseball League
(Written for the Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 11.—All we ask for is fair weather to insure a fine opening of the baseball season. Interest in the national game, it seems to me, is reborn every springtime, and, despite the business slump, this spring will prove no exception.

Interest in the games in Southern camps was unusually keen this year, and the attendance at exhibition games out on the coast broke all records. I don't recall a spring when so many inquiries have come to us about schedules, opening games, tickets and playing rules.

In our Southern camps there were less injuries and sickness among players than usual and I found an excellent spirit everywhere among the men in camp. Our clubs are in splendid physical condition, with only one or two players absent because of salary differences.

Has Hopes for Reds.

The Boston Braves have added real batting strength to their outfield, and the Phillies, while holding much of their batting power, have a stronger pitching staff than last year. Either one or both may well battle for the first division.

Cincinnati, under Dan Howley, comprises a new and young team. After Howley's performance with the Browns several years ago, no gloomy predictions are in order for the Reds. Strong on defense, the club needs to develop one hitter to make it a bidder for a good position.

The Pirates, the other second division team of last year, look to a dark horse in the coming race. Injuries and illness handicapped this strong team all of last season. It is a better Pittsburg team now than the one that took the field a year ago.

Sees Five-Team Race.

New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Brooklyn and Pittsburg are all formidable organizations. A sixth contender may spring from among the other three. In a race between such an evenly balanced array of playing strength it would be hard to select the winner. Probably it will be the club that has the least hard luck, and by luck, I mean streaks of bad weather when a club is going right, or players incapacitated by illness or accident.

I do not share the fear of some that baseball is going back in some parts of the country. By the time

Pre-Season Games

Giants 4, White Sox 2.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The New York Giants clinched their spring series with the Chicago White Sox by taking the eighth game of the 15 played, 4 to 2. Clarence Mitchell, veteran spitball left-hander, kept up his good work against the Sox. In the 24 innings he has faced them, he has allowed but four runs. Ted Lyons who opposed him did not do so well. The relief work of Schumacher and Caraway was fine.

Reds 3, Indians 0.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, O., April 11. — Playing at their own park for the first time this year, the Cincinnati Reds showed a fine brand of ball and defeated the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 0, before about 3500 fans today, with Silas Johnson doing all the pitching for the winners. He fanned the first man to face him, walked the next and then pitched a steady game. One inning of hard batting behind him salted down the game.

BROOKLYN, April 11.—Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig each hit a home run here this afternoon but the Brooklyn Robins slugged Gomez and McEvoy hard and beat their Bronx neighbors, 8 to 7.

Twenty thousand fans watched both clubs in their Metropolitan debut for 1931, crowding the available space at Ebbets Field, which is still in the throes of reconstruction.

By J. Roy Stockton.

Bill Killefer's young Brownies, who hope to pilot Phil Ball out of the baseball seas of red ink showed hustle and dash and a sparkling defense at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon, but they couldn't hit the curves thrown by Burleigh Grimes, Al Grabowski and Allyn Stout and the National League champions of Gabby Street captured the first game of the annual spring series, 3 to 2.

Killefer's men went down fighting. Their ninth inning threat was a rally largely because of Al Grabowski's wildness, but it was a rally and the bases were filled and only one more run was needed to tie the score when Manager Street signalled the wild Grabowski to take a good bath for himself and called Stout, the Webster Groves righthander, from the bull-pen.

Levey Strikes Out.

Jim Levey, the fleet-footed shortstop from Wichita Falls, was the next batter and Killefer probably considered a pinch-hitter for the young man. But Bill followed the wise course. It would not have been good for the morale of young Levey to take him out in a pinch in the first game of the year at the home ball-yard.

On the other hand it was a great chance for Jimmy to do a Frank Merriwell. The youngster swung valiantly at Stout's curves, but his bat met nothing but air and the strike-out ended the contest.

Levey failed, but he at least had the comforting satisfaction of knowing that his manager had enough confidence in him to stake victory or defeat on his war club.

Except for the difference in batting power, there was little to choose between the two teams. Frank Waddey fumbled a grounder that gave a Cardinal an extra base, but otherwise the Brownie defense was air-tight and at times brilliant. Levey played a faultless game at short, and in the very first inning made a stop behind second and started a double play on a grounder that might well have been a single.

Browns Open With Tigers Here Tuesday, Cards in Cincinnati

BILL KILLEFER'S Brownies and the Detroit Tigers will meet at Sportsman's Park Tuesday, and the Cardinals will play in Cincinnati, in their opening games of the 1931 major league championship schedules. The full list of Tuesday's games follows:

AMERICAN LEAGUE.
Detroit at St. Louis.
Chicago at Cleveland.
Philadelphia at Washington.
Boston at New York.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
Cardinals at Cincinnati.
Pittsburg at Chicago.
New York at Philadelphia.
Brooklyn at Boston.

After the series with Detroit and Chicago, the Browns play in Detroit April 22 and the Cardinals open the National League season in St. Louis on the same date, opposing Cincinnati.

Lu Blue's Successor Shows Power At Bat and Real Fielding Ability

Jack Burns, the first baseman from Wichita Falls, who has the tough assignment of trying to fill the shoes of the graceful Lu Blue, distinguished himself by driving a home run over the right field pavilion and except for failure to go after one grounder, which he chose to leave for Melillo, played satisfactorily at first. He hasn't the grace of a Blue or a Sisler, but he looks like a hitter and he'll improve his fielding. Men far more awkward than Burns have learned to make a business of playing first base.

Though the Cardinals made 11 safeties off the delivery of Sam Gray, Dick Coffman and Chad Kimsey, they didn't show much efficiency on their attack and were able to score in only two innings. However, in the field they played like the league champions that they are, and backed by effective work of their hurlers they looked the part of prospective pennant winners in defeating their city rivals.

Cards Pitching O. K.

There were expressions of alarm last week when minor league teams were pounding the Cardinal pitchers, but the work of Grimes and Grabowski indicated that there was no cause for worry. Burleigh started for the Redbirds and held the Browns to two hits and one run in five innings. One of the blows was Burns' four-bagger and the other was an infield hit to Frisch by Oscar Melillo. Grabowski was wild giving six bases on balls, but when he was able to get the ball in the strike zone the Browns couldn't do any damage to it. Stout's pitching

Experts Pick the Cardinals to Win; Kearney Says Cubs

ALTHOUGH a consensus of 60 baseball experts, as polled by the Associated Press, picks the Cardinals as most probable pennant winners in the National League race, the professional betting commissioners can't see Gabby Street's team repeating. In the Associated Press poll, the Cardinals got 35 votes while the nearest rival, the Cubs, received only 13. In the American League, the Athletics received 41 votes for first place and Washington 16.

Thomas M. Kearney picks the Cubs to win and makes them 5-2 favorites. The Cardinals, Brooklyns and Giants he has grouped at 3 to 1.

In the American, the Athletics are 4 to 5, the Yankees 3 to 1 and the Browns 100 to 1.

"But," says Kearney, "I'll have to revise those prices if that fellow Hafey signs. If one of the contenders gets him it will mean a slash in the price."

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 11.—With opening of spring racing here only a bit more than three weeks in the future, Kentucky Derby is the chief topic of conversation among those sportively inclined. At Churchill Downs and Douglas Park, several of the chief Western contenders are being prepared for the turf classic, to be decided here the afternoon of Saturday, May 16.

Col. Theodore Mueller's Pittsburgher, a strapping big bay colt by In Memoriam-Wistaria, has come along famously under the handling of the veteran trainer, J. H. Moody. Col. Mueller is a recent arrival from Pittsburg to see how his horse is doing, and said today that he probably will send the colt to Baltimore to run in the Preakness Stakes May 9, returning immediately here for the Derby the following Saturday.

Insco for the Preakness.

Griffin Watkins' Insco, a bay colt by Sir Galahad III, whose more famous son, Gallant Fox, won the event last year, is showing splendid form for trainers B. J. and C. E. (Boots) Durnell. He is also eligible to the Preakness. Present plans are to send him along East about May 1.

At Lexington, where racing begins Saturday, April 18, the Derby horse which so far has attracted most attention is Sweep All, a bay, by Sweep Nettie Hastings, owned by Charles T. Fisher, the automobile magnate. Fisher had Voltear in the Derby in 1929.

Clyde Van Dusen, who trained his namesake to win that year's Derby, is in charge of the preparation of Sweep All and makes no secret of the fact that he thinks he has a royal chance of success.

R. W. Collins' Don Leon is another outstanding contender at Lexington. He has grown considerably, and has all of his high flight of early speed, plus every indication of being a stayer. His owner is reported to have backed him for a considerable sum in the winter books

Sewell Combs and Allen Gallaher have the stake winners, Back Log and Oswego, in training for the Derby at the same track. Oswego is the more advanced of the pair right now.

William E. Smith, president of the Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky, has a Derby eligible being trained in Louisville named True Blue Pal, by Colonel Vennie-Patience, which J. T. Weaver is getting ready for the spring races.

East Has the Standouts.

The Western contingent this year, however, is hardly rated up to the chief Eastern representatives: Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's Equipoise, 4-to-1 favorite in the winter books, which is being got ready for his engagement at the old Bennings track in the District of Columbia; Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree Stable's Twenty Grand, winner of the Kentucky Jockey Club stakes at a mile here last year over Equipoise by a nose in 1:36 flat, a new tract record for Churchill Downs, and A. C. Bostwick's superb chestnut colt, Mate, by Prince Pal-Kallashandra, winner of the Blue Grass Futurity and one of the most promising eligibles to the 1931 Derby and Preakness stakes.

Reports as to the condition and training of Mate are particularly impressive at this time. He gives every indication of having developed well as a 3-year-old, and to have maintained all of the sturdy running ability he showed as a juvenile.

Both the Whitney families will be here for the Derby, having reserved six boxes for that day, which lends encouragement to the belief that Equipoise and twenty Grand will renew their famous battle where they left off last fall.

William Woodward, who won the 1930 race with Gallant Fox, is going to try again with Ormesby, a bay colt by Sir Galahad III-Chewink.

There are at least twoscore others, a trifle less notable, concerning which more or less optimistic tidings have drifted in.

Field of 20 Probable.

There seems a likelihood that some 20 colts, geldings and fillies may actually get to the post on May 16, which would make it one of the most exciting turf combats ever held here.

The vanguard of horsemen returning from the South, and others from the East and West, already are arriving here. Lobbies of the Seelbach Hotel resound to the greetings of old acquaintances, and much pleasant banter is indulged in by the various owners and trainers.

C. H. (Paddy) Knebelkamp, part owner of Spanish Play, winner of the Louisiana Derby, indignantly denies that he is considering an offer of $35,000 for that horse, said to have been made by a prominent Eastern horsewoman who is desirous of seeing her colors represented in the classic. Knebelkamp points to Spanish Play's feat of equaling the track record at a mile and a furlong in the Louisiana event, under 120 pounds, as proof that his colt can step along.

It is also doubtful if Trainer Kay Spence of the Audley Farm Stable, whose Gallant Knight, after being runner-up in the 1930 Derby, won the Fairmount Derby, will have an entry, as Knight's Call met with an accident at Agua Caliente which put him on the shelf for a time. However, he is reported doing well, and there is an outside chance he will get into the Derby.

No winter book of any consequence is being operated here, most of those speculatively inclined forwarding their commissions to the veteran, Tom Kearney, at St. Louis. Several wagers on Pittsburgher, Mate, Don Leon and Sweep All were recently made by local parties.

There is considerable interest here in the bill now pending in the Illinois Legislature to give a concession to the Fairmount track in the matter of daily license fees which would permit it to continue in operation. Several of the important stables will send divisions to Collinsville if this is done.

Lightning Bolt, Florida Derby Winner, Likes Long Route; Won 8 Out of 15

DERBY HOPES—NO. 7

By Dent McSkimming.

Although he has started in only two stake events, Lightning Bolt, from the stable of Mrs. John Hay Whitney, has shown sufficient class to be considered a possible Kentucky Derby winner. He carried off the Florida Derby on March 7 last, and was beaten only one and one-half lengths by Spanish Play in the Louisiana Derby, a week later.

Both these races were at a mile and an eighth and in each case Lightning Bolt was running well at the finish. He had 124 pounds up when beaten by Spanish Play, Prince d'Amour, Anne Arundel and Michigan Girl in the Louisiana Derby, in one of the most spectacular finishes ever witnesesed. The first four horses were noses apart, running as a cavalcade, and Lightning Bolt, full of run, was right behind them, as completely cut off as though he faced a brick wall. Kurtsinger had won the Florida Derby by rating Lightning Bolt off the pace, running in fifth, fourth and then third positions until the horses reached the stretch when he passed up Spanish Play to win going away. Apparently, Kurtsinger attempted to follow the same battle plan in the Louisiana. Again he restrained his horse, permitting Prince d'Amour to set the pace. He made his move at the three-quarters pole, when he was fourth. However, the leaders held together as though in harness, leaving no opening through which Lightning Bolt might shoot through, and he was a beaten horse.

The time made by Lightning Bolt at Miami was close to the track record and at New Orleans Spanish Play was forced to equal the track mark to win, the fractional time being 1:12 1-5 for three-quarters, 1:38 for the mile and 1:51 1-5 for the mie and an eighth. Lightning Bolt's time in the Florida Derby was 1:51 4-5. He has proved he likes to go the long route.

Mrs. Whitney's horse has started 15 times and has won eight of his races. He has been out of the money only three times and one of these, it appears, was an accident. There is very little data to indicate whether he can go well in the mud, but his breeding would seem to fit him for any sort of track. His best races have been over a fast track. Eddie Haughton is the trainer.

ST. LOUIS "Y" WINS GYMNASTIC MEET

KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 11.—The Downtown Y. M. C. A., of St. Louis tonight won the Western Regional Y. M. C. A. gymnastic meet here, scoring 28 points. Lincoln, Neb., finished two points behind. The North Side Y. M. C. A., of St. Louis scored the only other point. Little Rock, Ark., also competed.

Dave Wells of the Downtown Y. M. C. A., St. Louis, amassed 374 points in the all-around competition to finish two points ahead of Jack Minor, Lincoln.

ROOSEVELT WINS FIFTH STRAIGHT GAME

Roosevelt High Sschool's baseball team scored its fifth straight victory yesterday afternoon, defeating the Western Military Academy team at Alton, 14 to 6, in seven innings. Steiner, McCue and Merril did the pitching for Roosevelt, with Drumm behind the bat. Hampton and Cornell were the Western hurlers and Schneidhorst did the catching.

EQUIPOISE WILL MAKE HIS 1931 DEBUT AT HAVRE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 11.—With $140,000 to be distributed in purses, the spring meeting at Havre de Grace will open Monday afternoon and continue through April 25.

Equipoise, the future book favorite for the Preakness and the Kentucky Derby, will make his 1931 debut at Havre de Grace on the opening card Monday, competing with two other Preakness and Derby eligibles in the running of The Glen Oaks, a six-furlong sprint. Equipoise will carry the top weight, 123 pounds, and his possible Derby opponents, Sunny Lass and Dark Hero, will carry 110 and 108 pounds, respectively.

There are three important stakes on the Havre de Grace program—the Philadelphia Handicap next Saturday, the Aberdeen April 22 and the Chesapeake on April 25, the closing day.

Thirty-one horses are eligible for the $10,000 added Philadelphia Handicap next Saturday. Among the nominations received by Secretary Joseph McLennan of the Hartford Agricultural and Breeding Association, are William Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Beau, the odds-on favorite in the $150,000 Agua Caliente Handicap, which, under the poor ride of F. Coltiletti, was unable to finish in the money in the world's richest race, and William Ziegler Jr Spinach. Walter Jefford's Aegis and Ironclad, both Preakness and Kentucky Derby eligibles, and the Greentree Stable's Anchors Aweigh, another Preakness and Derby eligible, also are entered.

The Philadelphia should be a good test for the Preakness and Derby eligibles, as they will be matching strides with older stake horses.

Cardinals Defeat Browns In First Spring Game, 3-2

which consisted of striking out Levey was pleasing particularly because his principal trouble in the past has been a tendency to lose his poise in tough places. In this crisis, with the bases filled and a meager one-run lead, he showed the calm of an old campaigner.

Each team took the field without its regular left-fielder. Goose Goslin was out with a bruised hand and Frank Waddey, a nervous left-hander, drafted from Memphis, was in left. Chic Hafey, as is known, is a holdout in California and Ernie Orsatti played left for the Cardinals.

A single by Mancuso and a double by Grimes, after Burleigh had tried twice to sacrifice and failed, gave the Cardinals their first run in the third inning. Then, in the fourth, Burns tied the count with his homer which bounced off the roof of the pavilion to Grand boulevard.

The count remained even until the seventh when George Watkins poled a single against the right field wall to send two comrades over the plate. With one out Mancuso had singled, only to be forced by Grabowski. Douthit then singled to left, sending Grabowski to third and Taylor took second on the throw-in. Watkins, a great batter in the pinch, picked on the first pitch and slapped it against the pavilion screen. Two were out in the ninth when the Browns started the drive that fell just one run short of a tied score. Schulte drew a pass and Lin Storti, the versatile young infielder from Wichita Falls, punched a single to right. Ferrell drew a pass, filling the bases.

A Third Pass.

Frank O'Rourke batted for Kimsey and drew the third pass of the inning, forcing Schulte over the plate. Then came Stout and the strike-out of Levey.

The Browns collected only five hits, two of the blows were infield singles and the four-bagger by Burns was the only wallop that had any far-reaching power behind it.

City Series Notes

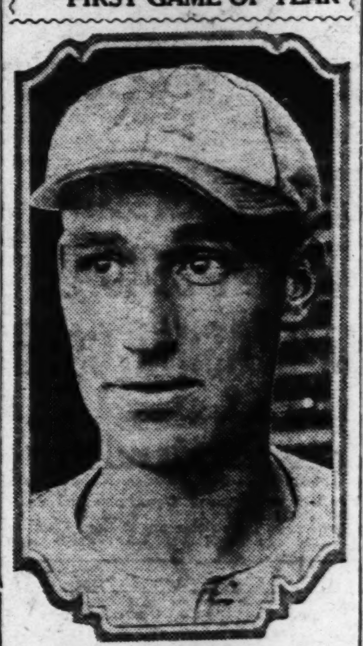
George Blaeholder, the big right-hander from California, will start for the Browns this afternoon in the second and final game of the spring series, with Rolland Stiles due to relieve him at half time.

Dizzy Dean, who was bombarded by his teammates for 20 hits on Wednesday, will be the Cardinal pitcher. Dean hurled a three-hit game against the Pirates last fall, but that didn't mean anything as the season was over and the Pittsburg players had been celebrating that fact and were not bothered about hitting that day.

Business conditions were reflected in the fact that the bleachers were packed for the first spring game. Probably many former grandstand patrons will see their baseball from the sunseats this year. The attendance was announced as 11,585 paid.

BROWNIE RECRUIT HITS HOME RUN IN FIRST GAME OF YEAR



JACK BURNS.

The Browns, following the American League rule, appeared with numbers on their uniforms. Score cards carried two sets of numbers, the batting numbers, flashed on the score board and the uniform numbers, adopted by the league to aid fans in the identification of the players.

Jim Bottomley drew a cordial cheer when he went to bat in the first inning. The customers are as fond as ever of the smiling son of Nokomis.

Red Kress' arm is improving, he says, but he didn't put much on his throws, merely lobbing the ball to first when he didn't have to hurry. Red's lobbing throw enabled Grimes to move from second to third on Douthit's infield out in the third inning.

Goose Goslin's right hand, hit by a pitched ball last Tuesday, is healing rapidly and he expects to play this afternoon.

Bill Killefer wears No. 13 on the back of his uniform. Bill probably figures he can't have any more hard luck.

George Kopshaw, who officiated for the Cardinals in their spring training games, was behind the plate in the first contest of the city title series. Breadon figured if he was good enough to work against the Athletics and Yankees he was good enough for the series here. He looks like a good umpire, and probably will be considered for a big league job in a year or two, if there is an opening.

Red Sox 7, Braves 2.

BOSTON, April 11. — Twelve thousand fans saw the Red Sox defeat the Braves, 7 to 2, in the first of Boston's two-game spring city series at Fenway Park this afternoon. It was the Sox's first game of the spring against a major league opponent. Ed Durham and Wilcy Moore pitched superbly for the American leaguers. Off Durham the Braves made only three hits in six frames and Moore, the former Yankee screw-ball expert, then held the tribesmen hitless for the next three innings.

Bill McAfee and Fred Frankhouse were hit hard in the first two frames. Webb drove in five of the Red Sox runs.

The perennial "Rabbit" Maranville was brilliant at short for the Braves.

Berger singled and Doubled off Durham in his first two times at bat. The only other tribal safety was a double to deep right center by Charley Wilson, whose fielding also was high grade.

Athletics 8, Phillies 1.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—Looking much more like their championship selves, the Philadelphia Athletics who may be world champions in their line but not to the Phillies, avenged the loss of the 1931 city series in the final game at Baker Bowl this afternoon.

The old batting punch suddenly came back, led by the "Big Noise" in that department, Al Simmons, and the Phil's went down, 8 to 1. Fifteen hits were made off Clise Dudley, John Watt and Ben Shields, the Phil's hurling phalanx with Simmons getting three. Jimmy Foxx hit a homer with Simmons on base, and Phil Todt did likewise with Bing Miller aboard.

BASEBALL WILL CONTINUE TO PAY, HEYDLER ASSERTS

May rolls around I am confident that professional, college, semi-pro, twilight, amateur and boys' baseball leagues will be playing in greater number in this country than ever before. They may have less money on which to operate, or to equip playgrounds, and teams, but the lure to play the game for the game's sake will be greater for all that.

NAVIN PREDICTS A CLOSE RACE

By FRANK J. NAVIN,

Acting President American League.

(Written for the Associated Press.)

DETROIT, Mich., April 11. — American League clubs that finished in the second division last year made a great many changes during the past fall and winter, and if the young players that were taken on by these clubs develop as they should it will strengthen these particular teams very materially.

Those clubs that finished in the first division naturally did not make as many changes, figuring that they were pretty well set for the 1931 season. So the American League is looking forward to a closer race than we have had for some time past.

Former business depressions have not hurt baseball, and I do not think the present depression will materially affect attendance this year.

CENTRAL ROUTED 18-12; SOLDAN LOSES NIGHTCAP BY 12-8 SCORE

By Harold Tuthill.

A good old-fashioned game of "rounders" was indulged in by four teams yesterday afternoon at the Public School Stadium, as Cleveland outscored Central, 18 to 12, and Beaumont defeated Soldan, 12 to 8, in the second City High School League baseball doubleheader. About 600 persons witnessed the contests.

The fans got an inkling of what to expect early in the afternoon, because Central lived up to all the nice things said about it by scoring four runs in the first inning. Clif Brengard, who started the throwing for the Mid-Cityans, found the task of stopping the Cleveland sluggers difficult and the score was tied, 4 to 4, at the end of the first inning which took 33 minutes to play.

One inning was all Brengard could stand, so Alex Schnurman relieved him and continued lobbing throws to the plate with the result that Cleveland counted seven times in the second inning, once in the third, four times in the fourth and twice in the fifth, for a grand total of 18 runs. Vince Fore, the third Central pitcher, did fairly well, allowing four hits and no runs in three and two-thirds innings.

When Bob Wilfert was taken out, Cleveland led, 18 to 6. Wilfert's successor, Charley Benecke, was affected by the general massaging and he was found by Central for six hits and the same number of runs in the eighth. Weiss was called to the rescue. In the one and one-third innings he worked, Weiss only permitted one hit and no runs.

The contagion of slap-stick baseball was caught by the Beaumont and Soldan players as they stood about watching the first game. After Soldan scored twice in the first and the second, Beaumont tied it at 4-all in its half of the second frame, and went ahead in the third on two more.

Soldan did manage to bring the score up to 7 to 6 in the seventh, but the North Siders removed any doubt of the game's outcome by solving Bob Lahey for four runs in the sixth. Beaumont's final tally was made in the eighth when Poth doubled to left, continued to third on poor fielding and scored when Sanna threw wildly, attempting to pick him off the far corner.

The total runs of the two games was 50, the hits 66, and the errors 16. Included in this was six doubles, three triples and two home runs.

Schmeling Says National Pride Will Spur Him on in Bout With Stribling

Hopes to Keep Heavyweight Championship for Germany—Has No Preconceived Battle Plan.

By W. J. McGoogan.

Max Schmeling, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, is a nice German boy—even if he would like to hear "Just a Giglio" played when he's dying—who never drinks or smokes and is good to his mother. His only bad habit, aside from being a prize fighter, is playing golf and it must be a bad habit with him as he has a difficult time breaking a hundred.

Max discussed his career and some phases of his profession yesterday following his exhibition at the Coliseum the night before. His exhibition tour will come to an end in a few days, after which he will rest awhile before starting heavy work for his title bout with Young Stribling. He has been on the road for nearly two months and has been very well received—at least most every place but in St. Louis. Here he received a hearty Bronx cheer.

"I don't know why they did that," said Schmeling yesterday. "When I entered the ring they started. If they had waited a while and I didn't like my show then I could understand but maybe it was because I am a German in a strange land."

Ranks Retzlaff Fifth.

Max has seen Stribling in action and thinks him the outstanding challenger among the heavyweights today. Next to him he ranks Sharkey, Carnera, Retzlaff, Loughran and Griffiths. Carnera he regards as just a big, strong fellow, only a fair boxer.

He has given no thought to a plan for defeating Stribling. He will follow the usual course of training for the fight, plenty of boxing and road work, then when he gets into the ring with Stribling will determine how to fight him.

"There is no use laying plans so far ahead," he said. "Maybe I figure out a way to beat Stribling then he change his style. I think it should be a good fight. When a man is boxing for the heavyweight championship he is, of course, boxing for the title, also the money but he feels he is fighting for his country. I would be glad to keep the championship for Germany and I know Stribling would be glad to win it for America."

Born in Luckow, Germany, 25 years ago, Maxie's boyhood was shadowed by the war. He was denied many items of food during those years, but apparently he suffered no ill effects, for he is a fine, strapping fellow, six feet tall and weighs about 187 pounds in his best fighting trim.

Was Advertising Solicitor.

Max started his business life as an advertising solicitor and writer, but office work palled on him and he took up boxing. His close resemblance to Jack Dempsey aided his "build-up" greatly and a few victories in this country put him in line for a title shot with Jack Sharkey for the throne vacated by Gene Tunney.

Schmeling won the championship on a foul when Sharkey hit him low after having the better of the bout for several rounds.

Now the German title holder is on a tour of the American hinterland in preparation for his coming match with Stribling, which is expected to take place in Cleveland July 3 or 4. The present trip is designed as part of his training and also as an aid to the ballyhoo for the championship event.

Has Gathered $100,000.

Schmeling came to this country first in 1928 and at that time was unable to speak any English, for the reason that the language was forbidden in German schools during the war. But now he converses very well, having picked up his knowledge of the language from newspapers, magazines and conversations with his associates here. Schmeling makes his home in Berlin with his widowed mother. His father was in the German navy during the war and died in 1926. He has made a comfortable fortune out of boxing already, being worth more than $100,000, and faces the prospect of more lucrative purses soon.

12-MILE BIKE RACE SCHEDULED TODAY DRAWS 40 ENTRANTS

The Century Road Club of America, Missouri division, will hold its fifth annual 12-mile road bicycle race over the St. Charles Rock road course this morning at 8 o'clock. o'clock.

This will be the season's first bicycle event, the start being at the intersection of Lucas and Hunt roads and the finish about a half mile east of the St. Charles bridge.

Entries have been filed by 40 cyclists and it is anticipated that under favorable weather conditions old records will be shattered.

The present record of 24m, .03 4-5s was established last year by John Griffith, a favorite to repeat this year, but he will meet keen competition in such able peddlers as Eddie Brannaker, Jack Misegades, Roy Ulrich and Don Rehm, this combination competing from scratch.

WRAY'S COLUMN

at previous shows. I really look for a great turnout. It will be a great fight, if Stribling will help make it so."

* * *

Well, that's one view. Another is quite different. It is that there will have to be a great change in public sentiment before anything approaching a million-dollar gate can be harvested.

The park is there, the champion will be there, the international rivalry will be present—but will the public be there?

It's almost a safe bet that fans will not turn out in numbers to equal the golden gates of the Jack Dempsey period. They lack the spending money.

Cochems Forgotten.

READING through life stories about the late Knute Rockne, old timers can hardly fail to note that the historians as a rule seem to date the forward pass from the rise of Notre Dame, in the days of Rockne and Dorais, the famous passing combination.

While it may be true that the Notre Dame coach, Harper and his great pass combination may have first opened the eyes of the East as to the possibilities of the forward pass, the origin of he great overhead game of today as a major offense antedates Harper and his pupil Rockne several years.

The real inventor of the long forward pass was Eddie Cochems, as the Middle West should know; for Cochems used it almost exclusively during the first two years of the new rules, 1906-7.

Cy Sherman, veteran sports commentator for the Lincoln, Neb. "Star" reminds us of this fact. In a recent editorial he says:

"St. Louis University did its forward pass pioneering in 1907, six years before the Notre Dame tornado first swept across the West Point plains. The credit belongs to Eddie Cochems, former Wisconsin player, and head coach at St. Louis University when the mass play brand of football was legislated out of existence.

"Cochems spent the season of 1906 experimenting with the forward pass (it had just become legal) and blossomed out in 1907 with a forward flipping team that never has been surpassed from that day to this."

CY should know. He was here on that memorable Thanksgiving day when the Nebraska University eleven, fresh from a 6-6 tie with the University of Minnesota team, went down in pop-eyed defeat by the overwhelming score of 39 to 0, before Cochems' forward pass. He must recall how that Cornhusker aggregation stood muddled and helpless while Schneider and Brad Robinson, shooting long and short passes, mixed in with end runs, line-plunges and split plays, helped to score touchdown after touchdown.

This writer has seen no finer or more accurate forward passing done by any football star in the 25 years or so that have elapsed since 1906. In that year Lieut. (now Colonel) Hackett, who refereed the Thanksgiving day game here against Iowa, said that he had not before seen anything to compare with Cochems' use of the forward pass either in the East or West.

Today Cochems' name is seldom recalled except by those who actually came in contact with him and his eleven. But if there are any doubters about his right to claim exclusive origination of the long forward pass, he may convince himself by consulting the football guide of 1907-8 in which Cochems, at the request of the publishers, described what he called his "projectile pass" and the ways in which he employed it.

Easier in Cochems' Day.

IT MUST be said, however, that Cochems had a tremendous advantage in his use of the play. Under the first rules governing the forward pass, if it failed of completion, the ball went to the opposing team at the point where it grounded, instead of at the point where it was put in play. Thus, even a missed long forward pass acted in the same manner as a defensive kick. Robinson and Schneider could heave the ball farther than most punters today can kick.

Davis Cup First Aid.

IT APPEARS that a surgeon may yet win back the Davis cup for America. At least, surgeons will cut quite a figure in the competition. They are the scalpel wielders who removed the appendices from the French stars, Jacques Brugnon and Rene Lacoste. The operation on Lacoste was the "most unkind cut of all," for it had been reported previously Lacoste positively would be a member of the famous French team with Cochet, this summer.

It is virtually impossible for either of these Gallic players to get into the competition by next summer, medical advice says. That will leave the French defense of the Davis bowl up to Cochet and Borotra, possibly aided by Boussous, a negligible factor.

While the best American team that can take the field today is still a long way from being as powerful as the great combination of Tilden, Johnston, Richards and Williams, it might give the French monopolists of the famous tennis trophy a severe battle.

At this writing the "big four" of the tennis world for the coming campaign should be John Doeg, Frank Shields, George Lott and Wilmer Allison. Allison has beaten Cochet; Doeg beat Tilden, who beat Borotra; while Allison and Van Ryn have beaten France's best doubles team.

When all the IFS break in favor of the United States youths, it is conceivable that they can defeat the crippled French outfit next summer.

Besides, even great tennis players begin to slip, after three or four years at their peak. Cochet and Borotra have been too long at the summit to remain there much longer.

Hornsby Knows His Stuff.

SOME surprise was expressed when Rogers Hornsby emphatically stated that Lester Bell would be his third baseman and that there would be no need of making a regular of young Jurges. Training camp gossip had placed Jurges at short and English at third, provided Hornsby was able to play second base.

The fact is that Bell has been showing Hornsby something this spring, hitting .452 and leading all the club's regulars for the spring games. His defensive work has been all right, as well. That plants him at third base regularly, for Hornsby always has figured Bell a winning player. No .400 hitters will be on the bench, with Hornsby giving the orders.

English naturally goes back to shortstop and the smart youngster Jurges is just out of luck, unless something happens to Hornsby or the other infielders. Jurges has been groomed to fit in if Hornsby cracks up. Blair also is hanging around in the offing, ready to plug any gap.

With Bell O K, Hornsby has no infield worries—a fact that will not help the Cardinals' chances.

UNIVERSITY CITY TRACK ACES WIN FROM WEBSTER

The University City track team won its duel against Webster at the University City field yesterday because of the strength of its junior team. The Webster Seniors won from the Indians, 66-56, while the University City junior team scored 75½ points to Webster's 37½, giving the Indians the meet, 131½ points to 103½. Many of the times and distances equalled or bettered records.

Robert McClure turned in two of the best performances, running the 100-yard dash in 10.2 seconds, a tenth of a second better than the county record, and the 220 in 23.2 seconds, tieing the record. Warren Kelley of Webster high jumped six feet, several inches better than the county record. Bill Freschi, weight man of Webster, tossed the shot 49 feet 11 inches and the discus 114 feet 1½ inches. Both marks bettered the county record. The relay team of University City ran the 880 relay in 1:35.5, a full second better than the county record.

Freschi was the high point man of the senior division, scoring 16 points.

Four junior records were beaten and one tied. Butler Caskey was the star of the University City team, gaining three firsts, two seconds, a third and tie for third to total 22 1-3 points. J. D. de Buchannane took the three dash events and ran on the relay team to score 16¼ points.

Detroit Releases Catcher.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., April 11.—Gene de Sautel, young catcher with the Detroit American League club last year, has been turned over to the Columbus club of the American Association, L. S. MacPhail, Columbus club president, announced today. De Sautel joined the Tigers late last season after his graduation from Holy Cross College. He caught 43 games for them.

SOUTH SIDERS ROLL 2809 IN STATE TOURNEY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 11.—A score of 2809 by the South Side Chevrolets topped the St. Louis scores in the five-man event in the second annual Missouri State Bowling Tournament at the Palace Alleys here tonight. The St. Louis squads had a hard time of it and their scores were uniformly low.

The Chevrolets were led by Wilson, who had games of 184, 212 and 226. He beat Kaster by two pins for individual high honors. Kaster had 214, 174 and 232. Washington Shirt had a score of 2809 with Holmes the high man on games of 178, 191 and 246.

SANDERS AND SMITH, NEWCOMERS, SIGNED FOR COLISEUM MAT CARD

Two preliminary events announced last night by Promoter Tom Packs to complete his card for Wednesday night's wrestling show at the Coliseum will introduce George Sanders of New Orleans, and Jack Smith of Milwaukee, newcomers to local wrestling, in bouts with grapplers who have shown here before.

Sanders, a former football star on the Loyola University eleven, has been paired with John Maxos, New York Greek heavyweight, in the second event on the Coliseum program, while Smith is slated to match grips with Paul Harper of Fort Worth, Tex., in the curtain-raiser. Both bouts are to be governed by time limitations of 30 minutes.

A return match between Ernie Dusek of Omaha and George Zaharias of Pueblo, Colo., who wrestled 30 minutes to a draw at the Coliseum several weeks ago, shares headline honors on the card with an engagement bringing into action George Manish, Brooklyn Jugo-Slav, and Ray Steele of Glendale, Cal. The two featured attractions are scheduled to go to a finish, one fall to decide.

PRINCIPIA TRACKMEN WIN FROM RITENOUR SQUAD BY 61-52 SCORE

The Principia Academy track team defeated the Ritenour High School track squad 61 to 52 in a dual meet at Taylor Field yesterday afternoon. By winning all three places in both the 100-yard dash and the mile run the Principia team took an early lead and maintained it throughout. Williams was the individual star of the meet winning four firsts for Ritenour. He captured two track events, the 220-yard dash and 220-yard low hurdles.

The summary:

100-YARD HIGH HURDLES—Won by Smith, Principia, Williams, Ritenour, second; Birch, Principia, third. Time 20.5 seconds.

100-YARD DASH—Won by Close, Principia. Boland, Principia, second; Hexter, Principia, third. Time 11.6 seconds.

MILE RUN — Won by Manley, Principia; Boland, Principia, second; Roberts, Principia, third. Time 6 minutes 6 seconds.

220-YARD DASH — Won by Williams, Ritenour. Bamford, Principia, second; Cook, Ritenour, third. Time 24 seconds.

440-YARD DASH—Won by Sunderman, Ritenour, Clark, Principia, second; Schartenberg, Principia, third. Time 59.8 seconds.

Postpones Speed Trial.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 11.—Gar Wood announced late today weather conditions were such that he had decided to postpone his attempt to establish a new world's speedboat record until Monday. Strong east winds throughout the day made the waters in Indian Creek too rough for high speed, he said.

BILLIKEN SPRING WORK PRODUCES KEEN RIVALRY

So far as physical equipment goes, the squad of 50 football players engaging in spring practice under Head Coach Chile Walsh at Walsh Memorial Stadium every afternoon is unquestionably one of the finest that has ever represented St. Louis University. And, most of the boys appear to have more than beef and speed to recommend them. They are a sharp looking crowd.

Their sharpness, perhaps, is one result of the keen competition for places on the regular team. At present there doesn't seem to be any such thing as a "first" team for the reason that Coach Walsh is giving everyone a chance to win a berth. Even the captain, Cecil Muellerleile, who played almost every minute of every game last season, has a serious rival for the center job in a tall, powerfully built young man, John Barbaglia. With a lot of fine looking youngsters up from the Freshman team, Coach Walsh has had to do some switching of men in the backfield and it appears that the only fellow reasonably certain of his post is Carl Pike, the quarterback.

As the squads lined up for "dummy scrimmage" the other day, Manuel Rapp, playing defensive fullback, shouted to Coach Walsh, "Are we allowed to tackle 'em, Coach?" Walsh made a poor effort at suppressing a smile as he answered, "You're allowed to, if you can. But, I don't want anyone injured." Rapp goes after his football as eagerly as a kid goes after ice cream. He's built like Jimmy Londos and weighs about 10 pounds more. But he's as green as grass for he was never in a football game until he came to St. Louis U. from Herculaneum. As Collyer says, "Tab this one."

Walsh indicated yesterday that the duration of the practice depends entirely upon the weather. He has a program mapped out and if the rain stays away he will finish it up quickly but if there is bad weather he will have to stretch out the practice season. As in the past, the spring drill will wind up with a game of regulation conditions.

EVENLY MATCHED TEAMS ASSURE CLOSE NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE

WITH FEW IMPORTANT CHANGES MADE IN AMERICAN, ATHLETICS STAND OUT IN THEIR CIRCUIT

With the major league campaigns opening this week, the Post-Dispatch herewith presents for its readers the rosters of the various teams as they will take the field for the season's campaign and a brief resume of the important changes in the respective teams since last season.

By Herman Wecke.

Manager Gabby Street recently announced that he expected the Pittsburg Pirates to give his club the most trouble in the coming National League pennant races. Exhibition games played by the Corsairs indicate that Jewel Ens will have a veteran club to throw against the other teams. The same holds true of the Cubs and Robins, two other flag contenders. The Giants, the other team figured in the race, will try one of the most interesting experiments in baseball history.

John McGraw has announced that Freddie Lindstrom, just about the best third baseman in the business, will start the campaign in right field, with Johnny Vergez, a young man, who batted .315 for Oakland last season, at the hot corner. This move will be watched with great interest and there are many who think McGraw is breaking up a really fine infield to do his experimenting.

Cincinnati, Boston and Philadelphia, the other three teams in the league, will show quite a few newcomers, but are not expected to get anywhere in the flag race.

Here is how the Cardinals and their rivals will go to the wars:

CARDINALS.

(*Denotes players not with teams last season).

Pitchers: *Dean, *Derringer, Grabowski, Grimes, Haines, Hallahan, Johnson, *Kaufmann, Lindsey, Rhem and *Stout.

Two New Managers Will Strive to Make The Athletics Hustle for A. L. Honors

Two new managers will try to make it "hot" for Connie Mack in the coming American League flag race, Joe McCarthy and "Shano" Collins. McCarthy as head of the Yankees has a chance, but Collins, leading the helpless Boston Red Sox, appears to be entirely out of luck.

Connie Mack will start with a veteran battle front, unless he is forced to make a change in the outfield, with Al Simmons still on the holdout list. Many of the teams in the American have added quite a few veterans in an effort to strengthen for the impending race.

However, unless something goes wrong, Mack's world champions still appear to be the pick of the lot, with the Yankees dangerous as long as Babe Ruth and Lu Gehrig are able to swing their heavy war clubs.

The club rosters follow:

BROWNS.

Pitchers: Stewart, Blacholder, Coffman, Collins, Gray, Kimsey, Stiles and *Stiley.

Catchers: Ferrell, *Young, *Crouch.

Infielders: *Burns, Melillo, Kress, *Levey, *Storti, O'Rourke, *Grimes.

Outfielders: Goslin, Schulte, *Bettencourt, *Jenkins, *Waddey, Gullic and *Bennett (whose case has not yet been decided).

PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS.

Pitchers — Grove, Earnshaw (holdout), Walberg, Shores, *Butcher, *Cain, *McDonald, *Krauss, Mahaffey, Rommel, *Liebhardt.

Catchers — Cochrane, *Heving, *Palmisano.

Outfielders—Simmons (holdout), Haas, Miller, Moore, *Johnson.

Pitchers: *Andrews, *Barnes, *Gomez, Johnson, *McEvoy, Pennock, Pipgras, *Rhodes, Ruffing, Sherid, *Weaver, *Weinert, Wells.

Catchers: Dickey, *Perkins, Jorgens, *Karlon.

HANDICAP GOLF TOURNEY FRIDAY

The first handicap golf tournament of the 1931 season will be held Friday at Normandie Golf Club, the St. Louis District Golf Association has announced. Sidney Saloman Jr., 1506 Ambassador Building, is receiving entries. The registration fee is $2.

Illinois to Give Coaching Course Again This Year

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

URBANA, Ill.

THE University of Illinois will again present its summer course for coaches this year, from June 22 to Aug. 1. The coaches will brush up on football, basketball, track, baseball, wrestling, swimming and the most prominent subjects in physical education.

Upwards of 200 students, coming from most of the states in the Union, it is expected, will occupy the open-air classrooms on Illinois field and listen to the Illinois coaches and other instructors.

14 HIGH SCHOOLS IN MAPLEWOOD RELAY MEET

Track activities in the St. Louis District will be centered at Maplewood High School the coming week end, for the Second Maplewood Relays will be held there. All 14 schools having track teams in the St. Louis District have entered this meet. The schools are: Roosevelt, Central, Soldan, Beaumont, Cleveland of the City League; Maplewood, Kirkwood, Webster, University City, St. Charles, Wellston of the County League; and McBride, C. B. C., and St. Louis U. High of the Preparatory League.

Coach Wahlbrink of Maplewood plans to have the following relays: 880 yards, 1 mile, 2 miles, 440-yards, junior, medley and senior medley. Special events will be: 140-yard low hurdles, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, and all field events. Preliminaries in the special events will be held Thursday afternoon and, if necessary, Friday.

Good Sprinters in Meet.

Cups will be given to the winning team in each relay and a cup to the school winning the meet. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be given to the first three place winners of the special events.

This meet is practically the same as the district meet in number of schools that are entered, the only difference being the events. Some of the best dash men in the State will meet at this time, the leading ones being Robert McClure of U. City, State recordholder of the indoor 60-yard dash; Bill Freschi of Webster; Jimmy Owen of Maplewood; Moore of Soldan, and Shaw of Roosevelt.

Some of the outstanding field event performers are Bill Freschi of Webster, who has thrown the shot over 50 feet and the discus over 114 feet; and who won the shotput in the State indoor meet this year; Paul Berger of Kirkwood who won the State indoor shotput in the "B" class, and who tosses the ball about 47 feet. The high jump has a strong field, consisting of Warren Kelley of Webster, who recently jumped six feet; Short of U. City, Pickering of St. Charles, Blaylock of Cleveland and Parker of Roosevelt, jumpers who are usually consistent at going over 67 inches.

Five Pole Vaulters.

The pole vault also has a strong field with Wallenbrock of St. Charles, Johnson of U. City, Pierce of Kirkwood, Gill of Webster and Parker of Roosevelt. The hurdles will be closely contested, with Harkey of Webster and Miller of U. City resuming their rivalry. Harkey defeated Miller yesterday in a dual meet, but Miller has usually beaten Harkey previous to this meeting. Other good hurdlers are Scholle of St. Charles, Conley of Kirkwood and Fuchs of Webster.

The feature events of the meet will be the medley relays. The junior medley relay will be made up of a 220, 440, 100 and 880; the senior of a 220, 880, 440 and mile. These relays give the best track men of each school a chance to run, and are usually the best events of the meet.

GEORGE DUNLAP WINS NORTH-SOUTH GOLF TOURNAMENT

But because of the wet condition of the sand greens, putting appeared to be largely a matter of guesswork, and Dunlap fared better in this end of the game.

Dunlap succeeds Eugene Homans of Englewood, N. J., who failed in his defense of the title, going out in the quarter finals.

In the morning round, Dunlap went out in 41 against the 40 of the Pittsburgher. They stood all square at the turn. On the in-nine, Parks got into difficulties with traps and the rough. He required a seven on the twelfth, and Dunlap went one up.

The Pittsburg golfer squared the match on the fifteenth with a birdie 2, but Dunlap came back with a birdie 4 on the sixteenth to go into a lead which he held to the end. He was two up at the end of the eighteenth, winning that hole after Parks was forced two over par by shooting into the rough.

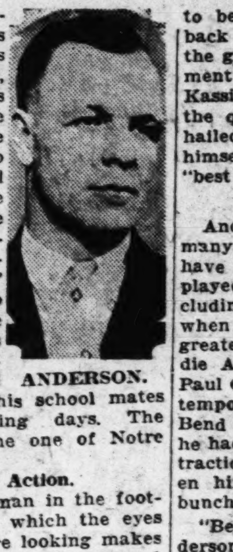
Rain was falling heavily when the afternoon 18 started.

After the nineteenth and twentieth were halved, Dunlap won the next two holes, and the twenty-fourth to stand five up. Parks won his last hole on the twenty-fifth when his opponent was trapped. The match ended on the thirty-first green when Dunlap got a birdie 3.

Hunk Anderson, Rockne's Successor, No Psychologist But Has Drive of Great Coach

By the Associated Press.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 11.—"I'll do the best we can." The unwitting humor of this remark, made by an embarrassed athlete to a student mass meeting on the eve of a big gridiron battle a decade ago, has changed to ponderous significance as Heartly Anderson, who uttered the words, finds himself in charge of Notre Dame's football destinies.



ANDERSON.

Anderson, popularly known as "Hunk," is as rough and ready, if not as glib, as the late Knute Rockne, whom he is to succeed so far as the actual direction of the Notre Dame teams is concerned. Appointed "senior coach" he is ready to carry on with the same willingness that was subconsciously behind that promise to his school mates back in his playing days. The phrase has become one of Notre Dame's traditions.

Plenty of Action.

The new head man in the football camp toward which the eyes of all sportdom are looking makes no pretensions of being a wizard in psychology, much less in oratory, but he is a man of action, a digger and a man whose sheer sincerity could provide plenty of inspiration for his team.

After four seasons as assistant to Rockne, Anderson tried being head coach at St. Louis University fo rtwo seasons, 1928-29, but found he preferred working under "Rock" to being his own boss and came back to Notre Dame to help build the great 1930 team. His development of such stars as Metzger, Kassis, Yarr, Kurth and Culver, the quintet of the 1930 line, was hailed as a master job, and Rockne himself characterized Hunk as the "best assistant any coach ever had."

Watch Charm Guard.

Anderson one of the first of the many "watch charm" guards who have gained fame at Notre Dame, played four years under Rockne including the 1920 and 1921 seasons, when the Irish had two of their greatest teams. George Gipp, Eddie Anderson, Roger Kiley and Paul Castner were some of his contemporaries. He came to South Bend from Calumet, Mich., where he had gained his nickname, a contraction of "Uncle" which was given him by a hero worshipping bunch of younger boys.

"Bend them knees" is one of Anderson's typical tutoring utterances. He always contends that players respond much better to the exhortation in that form than if he used drawing room phrases. He hasn't the Rockne vocabulary but he has a lot of the Rockne drive.

Anderson has a wife and three children, Shirley Jean, 6; Joan Marie, 5, and William, 4 months.

Missouri U. Wins Triangular Meet

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 11. — Scoring first in eight of the 15 events and showing well-balanced power, Coach H. J. Huff's Missouri Tigers this afternoon easily outdistanced the Kirksville Teachers and Westminster College in a triangular track and field meet.

ST. LOUISANS ROLL IN MONEY IN ELKS' MEET

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, Mich., April 11.—St. Louis bowlers, rolling in the annual national Elks' tournament here this afternoon and evening, failed to oust any of the leaders, but several managed to clamber onto the pay wagon, the best figure in this respect being a 600 by O. Rottman.

G. Coibion came through with a 597; W. Hutchinson with 563, and E. C. Schaefer, with the same figure for other prize counts. In the doubles, St. Louis' best effort was the 1124 of C. Streider and V. Volland. An ordinary starting game of 349 held them back.

None of the visitors disturbed any of the leaders during matinee event shooting. Harold Allen and Joe Scribner of Detroit still cling to the doubles lead with their 1311 and Roy Ritter of Lansing, Bill Fenske of Milwaukee, still are tied for the singles lead. High team in the five-men event is the Bickett mats of Watertown.

The St. Louis scores follow:

BECK RECEIVES MEDAL FOR 299-GAME THEN BOWLS SCORE OF 298

Ernie Beck of the Champions rolled a 298 game in the Congress Handicap League at the Congress alleys Friday night just after receiving a medal for having bowled a 299 game in the same league previously this season. Beck also has a 297 game to his credit this year, which gives him a record of three high scores in the same league during the same season. Each of his games was bowled on a different pair of alleys.

LONDOS WILL APPEAR ON ARENA BENEFIT CARD

Jimmy Londos, Greek heavyweight wrestler, who is recognized in New York and Pennsylvania as the champion of his division, will be seen in action in one of the events on the boxing and wrestling program to be presented at The Arena on Monday night, April 27, by the Citizens' Committee for the relief of St. Louis' unemployed.

Tom Packs, who is acting as matchmaker for the benefit show stated last night that while Londos had agreed to appear on the card it had not been decided who will be pitted against the Greek heavyweight, who will show in a finish bout of the one fall variety. His opponent will be chosen at a meeting of the committee, according to Packs.

Plans of the matchmaker to arrange a return match between Londos and Pat O'Shocker of Salt Lake City, drew an unfavorable response yesterday from Ed White, manager of the title claimant.

Packs now plans to bring on Paul Jones, Houston scissors specialist; Indian Jim Clinkstock of Oklahoma; or Rudy Dusek, stormy Omaha heavyweight, against Londos if the committee approves his recommendations.

Packs has also secured the tentative agreement of Jim McMillan, former Illini grid warrior, for a place on The Arena program. McMillan's opponent will, in all probability, be selected from the victors in two finish bouts heading a card at the Coliseum next Wednesday night.

FALL RIVER FAVORED TO BEAT BRICKLAYERS FOR SOCCER TITLE

TEAMS TO PLAY SECOND GAME OF CUP SERIES IN CHICAGO TODAY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Nothing short of a miracle can prevent the Fall River Club from gaining its fifth national soccer championship. The Massachusetts team opposes the Bricklayer Club of Chicago here tomorrow afternoon in the second game of the final series of the National Challenge Cup Competition and in view of the fact that the Brickies were beaten by a 6—2 score in the first game, last Sunday at the Polo Grounds, New York, it is generally conceded the Chicago team will finish second best tomorrow. Should be Brickies win, or tie, a third game will be necessary.

The probable lineups:

| Fall River. | Positions. | Bricklayers. |
|---|---|---|
| Reder | Goal | Neate |
| McGill | R. F. | Gregg |
| Rebello | L. F. | Davidson |
| McPherson | R. H. | Thompson |
| Caldwell | C. H. | Scott |
| Ballantyne | L. H. | Ogilvie |
| McNab | O. R. | Greenlees |
| Nilsen | I. R. | Munro |
| Patenaude | Center | Coutts |
| Gansalvez | I. L. | Cuthbert |
| White | O. L. | McLean |

Referee—C. E. Creighton.

FALL RIVER PLAYS HERE TUESDAY NIGHT.

A picked team of stars of the St. Louis Soccer League will oppose Fall River in an exhibition match under flood lights at Walsh Memorial Stadium Tuesday night. In the event of rain the game will be played the following night.

Fall River has not shown here since 1924, when Sam Mark's boys, with Harold Brittan at center forward, beat Harry McCarthy's Vespers, 4 to 2, for the national championship. In the Fall River game were only two players who will compete Tuesday: Joe McCarthy on the St. Louis side and Bill McPherson for Fall River. McCarthy, incidentally, scored a goal for the Vespers. The attendance that day at the Grand and Laclede park was 13,686 paid.

The St. Louis squad selected for the exhibition match is as follows: Goal, Hamm and Dueker; fullbacks, Erbe and Hand; halfbacks, Egan, Lehman and Tracy; forwards, Pastor, Ahrens, Hennessy, McCarthy, Mulroy, Kickham and Rudge.

Two Boxing Shows Here This Week

An amateur program at Rodenberg's Hall tomorrow night and one of Jack Tippett's minor league shows at Croatian Hall Tuesday night make up the boxing card here for this week.

Ten bouts are scheduled for tomorrow under the sponsorship of Kid Bandy, who has lined up Joey Parks, Mississippi Valley lightweight champion; Danny Durso, featherweight titleholder, and Bill Kardinski, heavyweight, who has put together a string of six successive knockouts.

Tippett will present a seven-bout card including matches between Johnny Tomazzi and "Wop" Figuero, Ray Palmer and Pete White, Allen Mathews and Young Del Pino.

Hurley's Next Show.

Jack Hurley has begun work on his next card which he will present at the Coliseum May 1 with John Schwake in the headline bout. Schwake's opponent hasn't been named as yet but Hurley has several under consideration, including K. O. Christner, Akron, O., and Tom Heeney, New Zealand fighter.

It is not easy to get an opponent for Schwake, since the Webster Groves heavyweight gave Johnny Risko a neat trimming.

Hurley lost about $3000 Friday night but his main regret is the poor reception which his ace boxer, Billy Petrolle, received at the hands of the crowd in his contest with Lope Tenorio, for Jack had expected Petrolle to make a great hit here.

"I'll not give the wolves another chance to boo Petrolle," Hurley declared. "He took the fight at a sacrifice to help me out and that's what he got. We could have signed several easy opponents for him but thought Tenorio would give everybody a run for their money and he did, even if he was suspected of being a setup. Maybe some day people will realize that those who spend their lives in this business of boxing do know something about it."

Anyway, everyone was paid for his services to the show, much to the surprise of some, including the announcer, Biz Kenney, who remarked:

"This is the first promoter who ever paid me before the boxers had their shoes off but I have some I. o. u.'s. which are out of date and I can't remember more than two years."

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA BEATS GOLDEN BEARS ON TRACK, 103 TO 28

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—By winning 12 first places and the relay against two for California, the University of Southern California track and field aggregation, 1930 intercollegiate champions today defeated the Golden Bears from Berkeley 103 to 28, thereby continuing an undefeated record since 1929.

Arlett is described in a Philly paper as a big boy that never grew up. He ought to be a big help to Burt when he arrives at maturity.

Buzz is a product of that sunkist climate where they grow 'em big. And the fans of Philly are looking for him to make good in a big way.

HOMESTEAD GRAYS BEAT ST. LOUIS STARS IN SERIES OPENER, 6-3

The Homestead Grays of Pittsburg, Pa., defeated the St. Louis Stars here yesterday in the opening game of their three-game series at the Stars' Park. The score was 6 to 3.

Gibson, catcher for the Grays, hit two singles and two doubles in five trips to the plate. Britt held the Stars to five scattered safeties.

The second game of the series is scheduled for this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Stars' Park.

KESSLER WINS CITY "Y" HANDBALL TITLE

I. N. Kessler, Western A. A. U. handball champion, added the city Y. M. C. A. title to his collection yesterday afternoon by defeating Simon Wolff, the defending champion, 21—12, 21—11, on the Downtown Y. M. C. A. courts. Kessler lost the championship to Wolff last year.

Kessler and Wolff then paired up and defeated John Flaherty and H. Kring for the city doubles championship.

William Haines annexed the Class B championship by defeating Theodore Bronstein. After losing the first game, 17—21, Haines came back to win the next two sets, 21—20, 21—16.

Card for Arena Tennis Program Now Completed

Robert Seller, Pacific Coast tennis star, will appear at The Arena here April 18 with William T. Tilden II, Karel Kozeluh and Emmet Pare, professional players, according to an announcement made last night. Seller is holder of the Inter-Mountain singles championship which he won from Bruce Barnes, Texas star, in the finals at Denver last summer.

The playing schedule at The Arena next Saturday night will consist of two singles matches and one doubles contest. In the first singles match to start at 8:15 p. m. Robert Seller, will oppose Emmet Pare, former National Clay court champion.

Big Bill Tilden will take on Karel Kozeluh, Czecho-Slovakian, former world champion pro, in the second contest of the evening, which will consistof the best three out of five sets. A doubles match between the four stars will complete the program.

In order to arrange the playing details the promoter has appointed a committee consisting of Dr. Frank E. Kiekneite, chairman; Wray D. Brown and Davison Obear. The committee will confer with Ted Baehr, local district umpire's chairman, relative to selecting officials for the matches.

A portion of the proceeds of the tennis matches will be donted to the Citizens' Relief Committee appointed by Mayor Miller to assist the unemployed in St. Louis. Admission prices range from 50 cents to $2 for reserved seats, while a few box seats at $3 are also available. Tickets may be purchased at The Arena, Coliseum, A. G. Spalding, 409 N. Broadway, Leacock's, 921 Locust and Lowe-Campbell, 1127 Pine street.

The Downtown Y. M. C. A. fencing team will close its season with a three-weapon meet Friday night at the Downtown Y.

Eight Squads in Mat Tournament

Eight organizations thus far entered wrestling teams in the second annual Greater St. Louis wrestling tournament, to be held Thursday and Saturday nights at the North Side Y. M. C. A. Entries are expected from additional groups sponsoring athletics before the tournament opens.

Teams which have entered thus far represent Washington University, Downtown Y. M. C. A., North Side Y. M. C. A., Jewish Community Center, Railroad Y. M. C. A., Alton Y. M. C. A., St. Louis Rowing Club, and Christian Brothers' College.

Preliminary events will be held Thursday night in all divisions ranging from 115 pounds to the heavyweight class, with the finals scheduled Saturday night.

The referees will be Coleman Grossman, James Baird and Nathan Shatz.

"BUNNY" AUSTIN WINS FROM F. J. PERRY IN CUP ELIMINATION PLAY

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 11.—H. W. (Bunny) Austin, England's No. 1 ranking tennis player, today defeated F. J. Perry in the final of the singles for Davis cup competitors, coming from behind to win the five set match, 6—3, 6—4, 8—6, 6—1, 7—5.

Both are virtually certain to be picked to represent England in the first round of the European zone play against Monaco.

Perry paired with G. P. Hughes, was leading Austin and C. Kingsley in the doubles, two sets to one, when darkness halted the play. They won the first two, 6-3, 7-5, and dropped the third 2-6.

Betty Nuthall, British and American women's champion, paired with Mrs. Fearnley Whittingstall, the former Eileen Bennett, to defeat. Mrs. L. R. C. Mitchell and Mrs. J. B. Pittman, 6—2, 7—5, in the women's doubles play.

HORSESHOE LEAGUE MEETING TUESDAY

The Municipal Horseshoe League will hold an organization meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at Sherman Park Community Center, Kingshighway and Easton avenue. It is expected a new code of rules and a schedule for the first series of games will be adopted. Players and sponsors of teams are invited to attend.

An eight-club league is expected to function at Fairground Park each Sunday morning. Teams that have entered are the Sunsets, defending champions; Kuhlmans, Flints, Angelicas, Liberty Bells, Larrs and Pleggen.

IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT LA PALINA

La Palina is America's largest selling high-grade cigar. It is mild, mellow, fragrant. Its imported Java Wrapper brings out the full richness of the choice blended filler tobaccos. Every La Palina is sealed in an individual cellophane humidor which keeps it as fresh as the day it was born. It is the favorite of young men who are just beginning to smoke cigars and veterans who have tried them all.

These are important facts about La Palina. But, after all, no mere words can do justice to this great cigar. Try two or three today and see if you don't get enough inspiration out of the sheer pleasure of smoking a La Palina to write a winning slogan.

Cast Announced For Illinae Play

The cast of characters for "The Torch Bearers" to be given under the auspices of the St. Louis Illinae at 8 o'clock next Saturday evening at the Alhambra Grotto, includes: Miss Anna Margaret Munch, 5946 Horton place, who last year took the principal character in three plays presented by the Morse School of Dramatic Art at the Toy Theater, as Mrs. Paula Ritter, and Miss Bertha Heier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heier, 2223 South Grand boulevard, who was active in dramatic work at Roosevelt High School and the University of Illinois, as "Jenny." Other members of the cast are: Miss Mae Gray, D. Leslie Chaney, Joseph K. Snider, Horace J. Eggmann Jr., Miss Lillian Conrad, Mrs. Vicent Townsend, Miss Helen Ficker, George D. Greene, Albert G. Viola, and Charles I. Waugh.

The proceeds of the play and dance will go toward the St. Louis Illinae student loan fund, administered by Dean Maria Leonard, dean of women at the University of Illinois, in conjunction with three St. Louis trustees. Miss Eloise Koch of Accomac street, Mrs. Richard W. Schmidt of Pernod avenue, and Miss Helen Williams of West Pine boulavard. Last year's benefit made it possible for seven girls to continue their studies at the University of Illinois.

Choral Club Concert.

The Bel Canto Choral Club will give a sacred concert at the Ferguson Presbyterian Church Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. R. Turner is the president of the club and Prof. O. Wade Fallert is the director.

Concert at Alhambra Grotto.

A concert sponsored by the Liederkranz Club will be given at Alhambra Grotto, Grand boulevard and Magnolia avenue, Wednesday evening. Olive Piatt Bischoff, soprano, will be the soloist, with Mrs. Frank A. Habig at the piano.

LAZY GLANDS

Avoid dull, faded hair, or ugly streaks of gray! There is a remedy. No woman under 50 need have a gray hair in her head! Her scalp still has pigment cells. Those cells are still full of color. But that color can't reach the hair if your glands are inactive.

Thousands of women have used Danderine to stimulate the glands of the scalp. The number would be millions if more women only knew the truth—if so many had not been fooled in matters concerning the hair. Gland stimulation is the solution of just about every hair and scalp trouble we have!

If your hair is off-color or under-nourished, or your scalp is full of dry scale and there is dandruff, start gland stimulation tonight. Use the finger-tips, dipped in Danderine, to cut through to the pores, massaging gently, to stimulate the subcutaneous glands. The very first treatment will loosen and dissolve dandruff. The first week will give you a vastly improved scalp. With glands normal, hair has new life and new color.

Remember, though, it's thorough massage that does it, and Danderine that gets through to the gland. Just rubbing anything on the head won't do the work. Get your bottle of Danderine today. It's a medicine for sick scalps. The smallest bottle is enough to show results which will surprise you.

French Discovery..New Lemon-Magnesia Pack

An Utterly New Kind of Beauty Treatment...
Whitens Skin Gently, Safely and Quickly...

How to Give Yourself This Marvelous New Youthifying Facial

The application of Boncilla Lemon-Magnesia Pack is simple as A. B. C. Just smooth the dainty, fragrant creme over the face and neck and let it dry for nine minutes. Then wash it off gently with tepid water and examine the result in your mirror.

Notice how completely fatigue-lines have disappeared — how astonishingly firm and smooth the contour of chin and throat—how fresh and clear the skin! Sallowness and muddiness are conspicuous by their absence—while blemishes are utterly of the past!

Most of the better beauty shops give Boncilla Lemon-Magnesia Pack treatments as do leading barber shops. Men particularly benefit by the cleansing action of this new discovery which leaves their faces fairly radiating cleanliness.

WHEN this new discovery was recently announced in Paris, beauty specialists were astonished!

Within a week after the first treatment had been given by Andrelys in his famous beauty salon at 3 Rue du General-Lanrezac, the "citron-magnesia masque" (as they call it in France) was the talk of the town! Society women and stage stars flocked to it overnight. For they found its effect was nothing short of amazing!

Never has there been anything even remotely like this Lemon-Magnesia Pack—now brought to American women for the first time. Applied as a smooth, white, dainty creme it swiftly forms into a soft, pliable mask that brings instant beauty to your skin.

Immediately you feel a gentle toning and "lifting" effect as sagging contours are corrected. At the same time loose, "crepy" tissue about the eyes is perceptibly tightened and smoothed—crow's feet and surface wrinkles blended away. For by reducing puffiness and stimulating lax muscles, Lemon-Magnesia Pack makes the face appear far slimmer—far fresher—and infinitely more youthful.

Simultaneously, dark skin is gently lightened and whitened—two or three shades at a time. Suntan and sallowness are coaxed away. Discolorations and roughness vanish. Coarse pores are reduced to normal invisibility—while the complexion takes on a natural delicacy of color and velvet-smoothness that no cosmetic has ever been able to imitate!

The magic of this new rejuvenating facial lies in the exclusive French process by which it is made. Lemon and magnesia are blended in such a way that their effectiveness is multiplied many times. Held closely in clinging contact with the skin by the creme-mask method of application, their potency is doubled and tripled through the action of body warmth.

But that is not all. Lemon-Magnesia Pack not only acts as a marvelous corrective, but it is a super-cleanser and freshener as well. One of its rare ingredients stimulates skin metabolism, and blandly dissolves pore impurities. Old dead cuticle is washed away—blackheads are eradicated—while the skin is enlivened and left glowing with youth and radiant color!

Dazzling New Freshness and Color

Your first Lemon-Magnesia Pack treatment will give you a new beauty-thrill. Application is simplicity itself and the whole process takes only nine minutes. But the rewards are really amazing.

Try it tonight. Ask for Boncilla Lemon-Magnesia Pack at any drug or department store. See for yourself its rejuvenating, beautifying action—how it smoothes and refines the skin. Only a dollar for a generous size jar or tube—each treatment costs only a few cents. And your money will be refunded if you are not amazed and delighted with results. Get it today!"

Junior Leaguers In "Land of Oz"

A PERFORMANCE of "The Land of Oz," the children's play to be produced by the Junior League, will be given at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening in the auditorium of the Wednesday Club. Although the performance was originally arranged for members of the league and their families and friends, it has been decided to invite the public and tickets will be sold at the door.

A performance for several hundred children from orphanages and public institutions will be given Saturday morning, at 10:30 o'clock, and the play will be repeated Saturday morning, April 25, when several children's parties will be given.

Miss Carolyn Mosher Parks Weds. Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis Parks of Columbia, Mo., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Carolyn Mosher Parks, to William Abner Oldham Jr. of Kansas City, which took place at Calvary Church, Columbia, yesterday. Mr. Parks is dean of the School of Law, University of Missouri.

Wedding of Jane Rucker And Carleton S. Hadley

AN attractive spring wedding took place last evening when Miss Jane Rucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Rucker, 7352 Pershing avenue, became the bride of Carleton S. Hadley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett A. Hadley, 6061 Pershing avenue, in a ceremony at 7:30 o'clock, at the University City Methodist Church, the Rev. John F. Caskey officiating. A small reception and supper for the bridal party and relatives followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Anne Gruner was maid of honor and Miss Nancy Powell, Miss Estle Rucker, Miss Mary Howard Fentress of St. Louis, and Miss Jean Blanchard of Boston were bridesmaids. Milton Monroe served as best man for Mr. Hadley. The groomsmen were Clark McAdams Clifford, Stewart Fathman, Arthur Harding and Howard Morgens.

The ceremony was performed before a floral background of palms and ferns combined with huckleberry foliage with a great cluster of Easter lilies in the center. Intermingled in the greenery were tall ivory lighted tapers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a Chanel model of tulle of the French nude tint, embroidered in seed pearls and crystal. The gown was fitted to the figure to the hips from where it flared to the floor. Her veil of tulle, a tone lighter than the gown was arranged from a close fitting cap held at the back of the head by a spray of orange blossoms. She wore long gloves and slippers also tinted to match her gown. She carried a boquet of pale pink lilacs and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor wore a gown of shell pink chiffon combined with D'Alencon lace. The yoke was fashioned of the lace and the fullness in the long flared skirt was achieved by godets of lace. She carried pink roses and pink snapdragon.

The bridesmaids wore frocks of embroidered organdie developed in delicate shades of peach, green, yellow and blue. The gowns were made with crushed girdles of taffeta in shades in contrast with the dresses. The girdles marked the normal waistline and ended in a large bow at the back. The skirts fitted at the hips terminated in three split tiers of organdie edged in taffeta the same tone of the girdles. They wore long organdie mitts and carried bouquets of mixed spring flowers.

The bride gave her attendants enameled cigarette lighters and the best man and groomsmen received silver cigarette lighters from Mr. Hadley. Mr. Hadley and his bride will spend the honeymoon in New York and Canada and upon their return will live at 5838 Cabanne avenue.

The bride attended Miss Moxley's School for girls in Rome, Italy and Chateau Mont Choisi at Lausanne, Switzerland. She also attended Washington University and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. Mr. Hadley was graduated from Washington University and is a member of Delta Theta and Phi Beta Kappa fraternities.

Lucelia Taussig And A. C. Daldy Are Engaged

Announcement Made at Tea Given by Parents of Bride-Elect at Their Home, 5038 Washington Boulevard.

THE engagement of Miss Lucelia Wakefield Taussig, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Albert E. Taussig, 5038 Washington boulevard, to A. Cyril Daldy of St. Louis, formerly of London, son of Mrs. Frederick Daldy of Cornwall, England, was announced yesterday at a late afternoon tea given by Dr. and Mrs. Taussig at their home. The betrothal affords one of the most interesting of the spring announcements. The wedding will take place in the fall.

Guests at the tea were limited to relatives of the Taussig family and close friends. The receiving rooms were decorated with spring flowers. The tea table was presided over by Miss Frances McConnell and Miss Shirley Buell.

Miss Taussig is a graduate of Mary Institute and Smith College. She is a sister of Miss Mary Taussig of New York and Miss Lenore and Joseph and Barrett Taussig of St. Louis. She is a niece of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Taussig, and is related to other families of prominence here.

Mr. Daldy is a graduate of Oxford University, and came to St. Louis several years ago. He is associated with the Shell Petroleum Co. at Wood River, Ill.

Mrs. Nancy Garneau Weds T. W. Brander In New York City

OF much interest in St. Louis was the marriage, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in New York, of Mrs. Nancy Johnson Garneau, widow of Henry C. Garneau of St. Louis, to Thomas White Brander, which took place at the residence of Mrs. Neill A. McMillan, formerly of St. Louis, at 1150 Fifth avenue.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. E. Felix Kloman, vicar of Grace Chapel, and was followed by a small reception for members of the two families and the few close friends who attended the marriage.

The bride, a St. Louisan until a year ago, wore a gown of rose beige lace and chiffon made with a short cape in lieu of sleeves. Her hat was of brown straw and she wore a corsage bouquet of orchids. Mr. Brander's daughters were the only attendants. Miss Marie Brander wore flesh tinted lace with a large blue straw hat, and Miss Joan Brander's frock was of blue lace with a large straw hat of pale yellow. Both carried old-fashioned bouquets of spring flowers. Lewis Brander was best man for his brother. There were no ushers. Mrs. McMillan received her guests in a gown of gray lace with a hat to correspond and a corsage of orchids.

The decorations were of calla lilies combined with greenery and dogwood, and the reception table in the dining room had a centerpiece of white orchids.

After a motor trip South, Mr. and Mrs. Brander will reside at 108 East Sixty-sixth street, New York. They will have a summer home on Shelter Island.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson of St. Louis and is prominent socially.

Miss Celeste Hopton Bride of Carlos Betz

THE wedding of Miss Celeste L. Hopton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hopton, 5615 Minerva avenue, to Carlos F. Betz of the Forest Park Hotel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Betz, Christopher drive, Jefferson Barracks, took place at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Marcus' Evangelical Church. A reception for a hundred persons followed at the Forest Park Hotel.

The bride was attended by Miss Evelyn Fisher and Miss Elizabeth Fredericks as bridesmaids. Mr. Betz had as his best man his brother-in-law, Rudolph W. Stuckenberg. John Paul Duncan, Dr. Carl Beisbarth and W. Earl Hopton, a brother of the bride, were groomsmen. The bridal party stood before an altar decorated in clusters of Easter lilies and lighted by ivory candles. At either side of the altar was an arrangement of palms and ferns interspersed with lilies and hundreds of tall cathedral tapers. The ceremony performed by candle light was read by the Rev. Erich E. Leibner.

The bride was gowned in egg shell tinted lace made on long clinging lines and reaching to the floor. The bodice was designed with a cape in lieu of sleeves and she wore long egg shell toned gloves. She wore a large hat of

Weddings and Engagements

ANNOUNCEMENTS have been received from Mr. and Mrs. Louis Winter, 6218 Southwood avenue, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Winter, to James Cooper Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. M. Greene of Hillsboro, Ill., last Tuesday.

The ceremony was performed at St. Luke's Church by Father McMahon. There were no attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Greene left immediately after the wedding for Chicago where they are spending their honeymoon. Mrs. Greene is a graduate of Washington University where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Mr. Greene attended Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburg and is a Beta Theta Pi.

Mr. and Mrs. Greene will make their home at 1330 Hawthorne place, Richmond Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Seslen, 6465 San Bonita avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rose Seslen, to Abe Borman, son of Mrs. Pearl Borman, Belleville, Ill.

Mrs. William V. Wills, 5763 Westminster place, entertained at a bridge luncheon yesterday at the Town Club to announce the engagement of her daughter, Miss Carmen Ercell Wills to Charles Hamblin Mennell of St. Louis. The news was told when the bridge games started. The first card dealt to each guest was decorated with a drawing of Cupid broadcasting the announcement from Station LOVE.

The prospective bride is the daughter of Dr. John David Moulder of Lebanon. Mr. Mennell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O. Mennell of Eldon, Mo. Definite plans for the wedding have not been made, but it is expected to take place early in the fall.

Guests at the announcement party included: Miss Jeanette Brockmeier, Miss Lucille E. Livermore, Miss Marjorie Frances McCasland, Miss Elsie Lovejoy, Miss Maybeth Gerber, Miss Grace Ellen Meunnel, Mrs. Marly P. Hemp, Mrs. Arthur M. Thiel, Mrs. Clarence Lathrop and Mrs. J. Almon Wills.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Maltz, 4527 Lewis place, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Frances Maltz to Herman Lief, 6924 Natural Bridge road.

The wedding of Miss Marcella Hohmann, daughter of Mrs. George Hohmann, 7436 Augusta avenue, Normandy, and John Arthur Willcuts, son of Mrs. Arthur Willcuts, 5424 Cabanne avenue, took place Wednesday night at the Salem Evangelical Church. The Rev. John H. Overbeck performed the ceremony in a setting of palms and ferns, interspersed with candelabra holding tall tapers.

The bride was preceded by Mrs. Richard Dammkoehler, matron of honor, and Miss Vera Sieloff and Miss Charlotte Klockmann. The matron of honor was gowned in aquamarine blue lace and carried pink roses. The bridesmaids wore peach lace, with sleeveless bodices and sashes of deeper peach. Full skirts fell from peplums at the hips.

The bride was gowned in ivory satin designed with a V yoke of lace. There were long close fitting sleeves and the full skirt flared into a long train. Her veil was arranged with a lace coronet trimmed in pearls and she carried lilies of the valley.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

THE executive board of the eighth district of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its final meeting of the season Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Town Club. The meeting will be conducted by Mrs. F. H. Littlefield, president.

Members of the education committee and the executive board have been invited to meet the chairman, Mrs. Arthur J. Krueger, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the Lower School, The Principia, 5501 Page boulevard. The group will then be escorted through the Lower School, the Upper School, Junior College and gymnasium by Mrs. Garner Hubbel. The committee will then be taken to the Museum where it will be received by the "School of Nations" committee and hear a talk by George A. Andrews, dean of the school. This will close the activities of this committee for the season.

Mrs. Emily Grant Hutchins, art critic, will be the guest speaker at a tea to be given by Mrs. Walter Mills, chairman of the art committee, to her committee members and the executive board members, at her home, 6985 Princeton avenue, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Hutchins' talk will be on "The Meaning of Modern Art" and she will use modern paintings to illustrate her ideas. This will be the final meeting of this committee.

The press and publicity committee will hear from Thomas Parry of the St. Louis News Service how news is gathered and distributed by his association. This committee will meet Tuesday morning at 10:30 at the Town Club and this will close the work of this committee, of which Mrs. Evalyn F. Heerich is chairman.

As the club season draws near its close, one meeting of the Wednesday Club on each of the remaining Wednesdays will be the rule. April 15, the poetics section holds its last session, with the chairman, Mrs. Fred C. Lake Jr., presiding at 1:30 p. m., and with Mrs. Charles Noel leading.

The feature of the day will be the verdict of the judges in the poetry contest, the awarding of the $25 prize and the four honorable mentions, and the reading of the winning poems.

The judges—Prof. Richard F. Jones, Mrs. Vachel Lindsay and Dr. Ferdinand Isserman. The latter will announce the awards and Mrs. Archer O'Reilly will read immediately the poems referred to. The winners will be entertained at the club luncheon at 12:30 p. m.

After the awards the regular program, the Study of Post-War Poets, will be taken up, the Rev. M. Ashby Jones speaking of the poetic work of George O'Neil.

The weekly meeting of the College Club will be held Tuesday at 3 p. m. Mrs. Henry A. Fett, chairman of the Hospitality Committee, will serve, assisted by Dr. Kate C. Spain (George Peabody College for Teachers) and Mrs. E. L. Stancliff (Goucher).

The meeting at 3:30 p. m. will be in charge of Mrs. Roland Bauer, chairman of the Program Committee. Cyril Clemens, a direct descendant of Mark Twain and president of the International Mark Twain Society, will speak on "Celebrities I have Met," including Bernard Shaw, John Galsworthy, H. G. Wells, Chesterton, Andre Maurois, Emil Ludwig, Papini Marconi and Mussolini.

The French Study Group will meet Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. to hear M. Gustave V. Grevenig, director of modern languages at St. Louis University, discuss "Utilite de L'Acadamic Francais."

The Art Section of the Monday Club will hold its regular luncheon at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow. The program, which opens at 2 o'clock, will be in charge of Mrs. Jasper Blackburn. "Music and Poetry" is to be the subject.

Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock the History and Literature Section will study "Sonnets" and "Sonneteers in English Literature." The special topic is to be, "Review of Amy Lowel's Life of Keats." Mrs. Richard Kepplin will be the reader.

The Better Homes Section Garden meeting will be held Tuesday, April 14, at 2 p. m.

The general meeting of Scottish Rite Woman's Club will be held on Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the lounge of Scottish Rite Cathedral with the president, Mrs. Stella Woodrow Barnes, presiding. The Social Welfare section, Mrs. Frank Walker, chairman, will be in charge of the program and will present Jack Coleman, singer, with Madame Thoms at the piano, in a group of songs.

The Social Welfare section will hold its monthly meeting at 1 p. m. Tuesday. Mrs. Frank Walker, chairman of the section, will introduce the speaker of the day, Mrs. Charles Ellis, president of the Board of Children's Guardians, who will touch on various phases of child welfare.

The Music Section, Mrs. August Henke, chairman, will meet for choral rehearsal Friday at 10 a. m. under the direction of Prof. O. Wade Fallert. "Sight Singing" will be the subject of Prof. Fallert's lecture for the day.

Uandi Literary Club will meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. T. T. Tyler, 401 Clark avenue, Kirkwood, with Mrs. Fred Maxted assisting. "Our Domestic Dynamo, the Kitchen," will be discussed by Mrs. Forey Stanford and Mrs. A. H. Cleveland. Mrs. R. C. Heath will review the newest books.

Simple New Way
to Banish Blackheads

And to KEEP Skin FREE of Them

A NEW DISCOVERY

That Not Only Makes These Imperfections Go Away But Makes Them Stay Away by Performing a Unique Double Function on the Pores — Simple to Use

Beauty scientists have made important new discoveries that largely solve the blackhead and enlarged pore problems for women.

A new and radically different way has been found. A way that by performing a double-action on the pores brings results that are astonishing.

On the advice of experts, women by the thousands are adopting it. Noted specialists, both in Europe and America, are employing it.

So that any women troubled with these imperfections may try it with the least delay, a special test is offered. Note coupon below.

How It Acts

It is called Lady Esther Cream, and it is different in formula, action and result from any other beauty method known.

Its texture is that of an exquisitely light cold cream.

It does what no other method does today, or what any other method before it has ever done.

It cleanses the pores, frees them of all foreign, blackhead-causing matter—then acts as a gentle astringent and closes them naturally.

That is the secret of its action. Old-time methods, creams and lotions merely open the pores. Then leave them open to accumulate further beauty-destroying accretions. And thus often do more harm than good.

Acting on entirely new principles, this new way thus corrects the grave weakness of most present ways. Blackheads soon go completely. Enlarged pores are contracted—then banished. They leave the skin and STAY away.

Men and women high in skin science say that with this method in general use, the two most common skin disorders of women soon should disappear.

How To Obtain

It is on sale under the name of Lady Esther at all drug and department stores at 50 cents and $1.25 a jar. The $1.25 size contains four times the amount in the 50 cent jar.

Or if you wish to avoid delay you may send the coupon below with 10 cents for a 10-day tube of this unique creation.

MAIL FOR 10-DAY SUPPLY

5720 Armitage Ave., Chicago, Ill.

I enclose 10 cents. Please send me your 10-day tube of Lady Esther 4-Purpose Cream by parcel post prepaid—in plain package.

Don't Injure Skin —Dissolve Blemishes

Don't injure the skin when eliminating ugly pores. The safe and sane way to get rid of these blemishes is to dissolve them. Get a package of Calonite powder from your drug store. Sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub over the blackheads, and after a few applications every one will disappear.

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."

"Come and see for Yourself"

HAVE YOU BEEN IN NUGENTS —Lately?

NUGENTS is different, now! You hear that all over town. People are telling their neighbors. Everybody notices it.

Different, and better. The whole appearance of the store has changed. It looks fresher, more inviting, up-to-date. The many departments have been opened up, re-decorated, improved. And complete new stocks of attractive Spring merchandise are here ready for your selection at money-saving prices.

"Complete Stocks" are unusual in any store at this time. Merchants the country over have been buying little. Most stores are still short of comprehensive showing of styles, patterns, varieties and sizes. Nugents has been first in this vicinity to buy boldly at today's low prices. You can see the result for yourself.

This is St. Louis' Value Store. It always has been. It is far more so, today. For Nugents sells reliable merchandise closer to cost than other retail establishments. That is its policy. And your buying dollars will go farther here and bring you more return, than they will anywhere else.

You will see that when you come in; when you compare qualities and prices. Nugents invites you. Come in and see for yourself!

Mary Hart Branches Out

Takes Over Erlanger Theater in Cleveland After Turning Down Offer to Manage Chain of Houses, and Will Return to the Orpheum Next Fall—Elaborate Production of Lysistrata to Be Her Final Offering Here This Season—Jane Cowl Next at the Shubert.

By H. H. NIEMEYER.

MARY HART'S reputation as a theatrical manager, established firmly by her present very successful season at the Orpheum here, has caused the New York theater owners to sit up and take notice. Last week Miss Hart was called to the Metropolis for a consultation with Judge Erlanger, Flo Ziegfeld and the other managers who are carrying on the Erlanger interests around the country. She was invited by them to take over, for next season, a chain of six or seven houses in the Middle West and conduct them on the same plan as the Orpheum Theater here—with a small resident company, visiting stars and New York plays which would not be sent on road tours in that section of the country. Miss Hart turned down the proposition, which called for her making her headquarters in New York, because she had already contracted for the Orpheum Theater for next season under her personal management. As she has made in the neighborhood of $40,000—which is quite a respectable neighborhood in these times—this season at the Orpheum, she felt that the local operation was too valuable to pass up.

Following the first offer the Erlanger interest tendered her the Ohio Theater, the Erlanger house in Cleveland, on a partnership arrangement for the coming summer and Miss Hart will transfer her activities there in three weeks following the present week of "Strange Interlude" and the coming two weeks of "Lysistrata." She will open the Cleveland house with "Street Scene," which she presented so profitably here a short time ago, and then go into a production of "Lysistrata," keeping together the organization which is now rehearsing that comedy here.

Municipal Opera Directors Arriving to Prepare for Summer Season

ACTUAL work of construction in building scenes and providing costumes for Municipal Opera's 1931 summer cycle of productions in the open-air theater in Forest Park will be begun within a week according to announcement by officials of the Municipal Theater Association. Within the week, several, if not all the executives with whom J. J. Shubert as General Productions Manager, has surrounded himself for the coming season, and all of whom were associated with the opera's brilliant season last year, are expected to be in St. Louis.

Those are: Herbert Moore, scenic designer; Orry Kelly, costume designer; Giuseppe Bamboschek, musical director; Lew Morton, dialogue director, and Edward Scanlan, dance director. Each was at the head of the same division of productions last season, and each in his own department contributed largely to the high artistic standard then established. Throughout the winter they have been associated with the Shubert organization in many productions.

To them, under Shubert, and to him, under the immediate direction of the executive committee of the Municipal Theater Association, has been committed the task of so organizing the coming productions may be created with the least possible expenditure in time, effort, material and money.

Immediately upon their arrival, Moore and Kelly will begin organizing their production personnels, while Bamboschek, Morton and Scanlan will arrange for the usual tests of chorus applicants. Again the organization will present a chorus dominantly of St. Louisans; and boys and girls who aspire to join that corps will find announcement of the time and place of auditions in the newspapers shortly.

A BIG improvement at the Municipal Theater this spring, which takes the River des Peres out of the list of menaces and puts it to work as a part of the theater plant, will be one of the aids in effecting a saving in the cost of productions this coming season. It consists in filling in the bed of the river up to the level of the back-stage lot, of which it will then become a part, affording considerable more room for the scenic workshops.

Between the stage proper and the back-stage lot is a difference of nine feet in elevation. The fill will be carried up to the lot level and across the river bed to the concrete retaining wall which in the past has guarded the stage against the river's sudden floods.

Last season construction work on the productions of the opera overflowed the back-stage lot and it was necessary during a part of the season to use the river bed itself for building purposes. It was an awkward arrangement and an expensive one. The additional space gained by the improvement and the new level both will serve to permit scenic construction with greater facility and at less expense than last summer.

ON either side of the back-stage fill the river channel will be made into lagoons extending up to and under each of the bridge approaches to the auditorium from the main entrance to the Municipal Theater. Beneath the fill will be pipes to equalize the surface drainage into the lagoons.

While production plans are being rapidly and efficiently organized, St. Louis' interest in its opera this season is increasing beyond any point in the experience of the Municipal Theater Association. At the offices of the association, 1882 Arcade Building, where the advance season seat sale is being conducted, it was announced that more than $83,000 in sales have already been made, a new record for a season yet seven weeks away.

Hundreds of regular patrons of Municipal Opera who have not hitherto availed themselves of seat insurance are now buying their seats for the entire season in advance, in order to make sure of the locations they prefer and to guarantee themselves against disappointment in attempting to buy tickets at the last moment.

High School Pupils in Play.

Next Sunday night, and on April 22 the pupils of St. Anthony's High School will present "The Miracle of Roses," a five-act play which centers about St. Elizabeth of Thuringia. The play is being directed by Julia G. Klauber.

The Week's New Films

—:— By NIE —:—

"A CONNECTICUT YANKEE," at the Fox, is Will Rogers at his very best. A lot of things Mark Twain never heard of—radios and cigar lighters and Austin automobiles—are used to bring the story of "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" up to date but the main idea of the man who gets hit on the head and wakes up, or thinks he does, in the days of the merry old jousting Knights of the Round Table has been followed pretty faithfully. Rogers, of course, is the small town boy who makes good in London and he shows King Arthur a thing or two about big business before he wakes up back home again. There is a bit of a romance, too, but Rogers, with his modern wisecracks and his tremendously pleasing personality is the whole show—and it is a dandy show, too.

Big Business Girl.

AND speaking of good-looking gals, Mary Astor is the star of "Behind Office Doors" at the St. Louis this week. Mary is as easy to look at as anybody in Hollywood, and although she hasn't much of a story to work on in this film her face, alone, goes a long way toward putting it over. Mary is one of those efficient private secretaries who run the business world pretty generally. When her old boss has to retire because the noise made by the hardening of his arteries disturbs the rest of the office, Mary picks on a wisecracking salesman in the firm and succeeds in making him president. She is in love with him, too, but she doesn't discover that fact or even know that he is in love with her, himself, until the last reel when he has made a mess of the business and Mary has to step in and save it—and him.

The Truth About Lingle.

HOW and why Jake Lingle got his in Chicago is all set forth in a most exciting picture called "The Finger Points," down at the Ambassador. Jake—only this time he is called Breck Lee and is played by Richard Barthelmess—is a small town reporter who goes to the big city and gets a job on a crusading newspaper. Full of pep and ginger he sets out to expose crime and the gangsters. He soon discovers, however, that the big money is not in reporting crime but in covering it up and before long he has a staggering bank account and is telling the racketeers where to get off. At the height of his glory he is suspected of double crossing the red hots and is taken for a ride. "The Finger Points" is good underworld meller and while Barthelmess is not very convincing, either as a reporter or a smart grafter, Regis Toomey is excellent as a happy go lucky newspaper man and Fay Wray is as pretty a sob sister as ever pounded a typewriter on any scandal sheet. These two, and the thrills of Chicago under the gaslight, make the picture a good one.

The Singing Hobo.

"THE Prodigal," at Loew's, fairly bubbles with stupid conversation, but every once in a while Lawrence Tibbett breaks into a song and then, for the time being, the picture is entertaining. Tibbett is a tramp who wandered away from the old fireside down south and came back home to eat and win, for himself, his brother's wife. As his brother was a rotter and the wife good-looking and hungry for affection, there were no complaints. It's not much of a story, but the screen boasts no finer songster than Mr. Tibbett.

Skippy Moves.

PERCY CROSBY'S delightful cartoon comedy of childhood, "Skippy," which was on view at the Ambassador last week, has been moved out to the Missouri to continue its run as the best kid picture the screen has ever had.

German Light Opera Tonight.

"Wiener Blut," the light opera by Johann Strauss, will be given tonight by the German Theater Stock Company in the auditorium of the German House, 2345 Lafayette avenue.

Little Theater to Give Irish Comedy, "Whiteheaded Boy"

"THE Whiteheaded Boy," a three-act comedy by Lennox Robinson of the modern Irish Theater, will be the fifth and last production of the regular season of the Little Theater of St. Louis, 812 North Union boulevard, opening a week's run Monday night, April 20.

A sixth production is projected by the Little Theater, of an original play to be selected this week from a dozen or more manuscripts of entirely new plays written by the members of the Little Theaters' playwriting group of which Prof. Wm. G. B. Carson of Washington University is head. Mr. and Mrs. George C. Mackay, patron members of the Little Theater, have offered a prize of $100 for the play that is accepted for production by the judges, Prof. George Parks of Washington University, Mrs. George C. Smith and Director Cowley.

Six other original plays have been produced by the Little Theater in the four preceding years of its existence.

"Antigone" in Greek For Dramatic League

As the sixth presentation of the Theater of Nations, Dramatic League of St. Louis, Sophocles' tragedy, "Antigone," will be given in Greek by the Athenian Dramatic Club next Friday evening in the Community Playhouse, Missouri Hotel auditorium. It will be directed by Alexander A. Vappas, with a cast of amateurs made up of Greeks now living in St. Louis.

The leading role will be taken by Tarsie H. Pappas, who was born and educated in Athens, and is a graduate of the Hellenic Odeon where she appeared in a number of Greek productions.

The Theater of Nations' program will close on April 24, with a Polish Festival, featuring the choir of the Polish National Catholic Church of the city.

Fontanne and Lunt Will Make a Movie

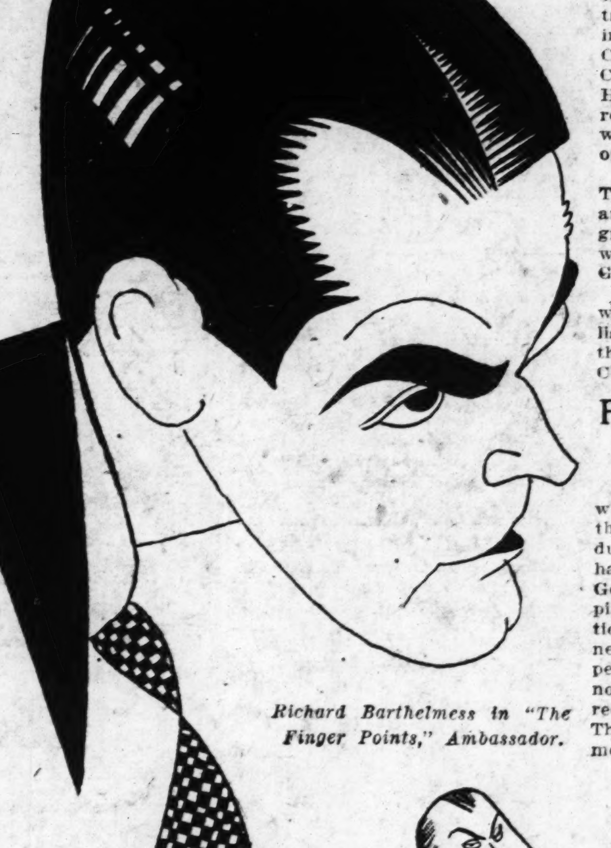
Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, who were seen here last week in the New York Theater Guild production of "Elizabeth the Queen," have signed a contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to make a motion picture this summer, with an option calling for an additional film next year. Their initial screen appearance, it was pointed out, will not conflict with their stage career or with their contract with the Theater Guild, which has several more years to run.



Richard Barthelmess in "The Finger Points," Ambassador.

Duncan Renaldo Is Up for Deportation

It must have been bitter triumph to Duncan Renaldo to receive the plaudits of the audience at the premier showing of "Trader Horn."

For nearly a year he had been away from Hollywood as a member of the cast of this production, sharing hardships and danger under Africa's jungle sun with other members of the troupe. It was his first picture appearance in nearly three years.

"Trader Horn," it appears, will be his last Hollywood picture, for it seems Duncan Renaldo was not born in New Jersey after all, and there's a penalty for illegal entry into these United States.

Kirkwood Studio Guild.

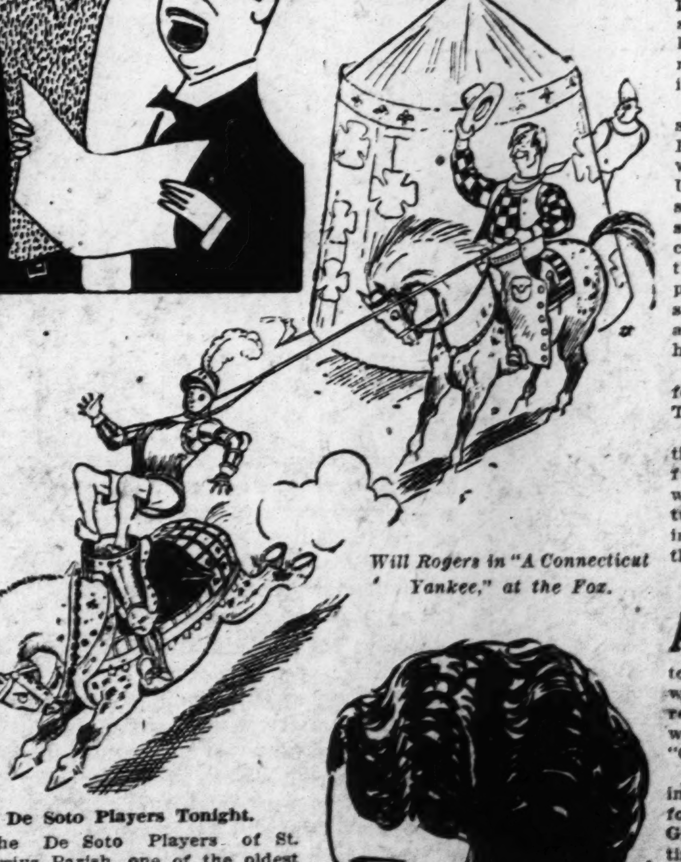
The Kirkwood Studio Guild, recently organized by Mrs. J. H. Herron and Mrs. A. B. Crowe, is sponsoring a players' group, which will foster different phases of the drama, under the directorship of A. L. Bickmore, director of the Webster Groves Theater Guild. The officers are: President, Miss Mary Broderick; vice president, Miss Jacqueline Ambler, and secretary, Miss Julia Winfry. The play readers committee has selected "Tilly of Bloomsbury," a three-act comedy by Ian Hay as the first offering.



Will Rogers in "A Connecticut Yankee," at the Fox.

De Soto Players Tonight.

The De Soto Players of St. Aloysius Parish, one of the oldest dramatic organizations in St. Louis, will present "The Jade God" at the parish hall, January and Magnolia avenues, tonight and also next Sunday night. In the cast will be Miss Helen Van Coutren, Erwin Santen, Miss Maries Sondermann, Elmer Breer, Miss Mary Witte, Miss Bessie Roddy, Ben Cordes, Walter Schroeder, Joseph Hempen and Joseph Altnether.

New Story for Frank Fay.

Frank Fay will appear next in "Hercules, Esquire," from a novel by Gwyn Williams, English author. "Poor Gigolo," previously announced as a vehicle for Fay, has been postponed.

A Fairy Story Comes True

Maureen O'Sullivan Returns From Ireland After Finding Out That There Really Is a Santa Claus — Pola Negri Leading a Flock of Old Timers, Including Mae Marsh, Back to the Screens—Lois Wilson Also in Hollywood Again.

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN, the little Irish girl who came over to this country after she had worked in John McCormack's picture, "Song o' My Heart," dropped into St. Louis last week on her way back to Hollywood after a visit to her home in Ireland. She was here just between trains and regretted that she could not stay over long enough to see herself in the Will Rogers' film, "A Connecticut Yankee," which opened at the Fox last Thursday. Miss O'Sullivan, in pictures just a trifle more than a year, already has played features roles in four pictures for Fox, "Song o' My Heart," with McCormack; "So This Is London," with Will Rogers; "Just Imagine" and "The Princess and the Plumber," with Charles Farrell, when she asked for a short vacation.

"If you will play the role of Alisande in Will Rogers' starring picture, 'A Connecticut Yankee,' you can have two months off, and a trip home to Ireland thrown in," she was told.

Did she agree? She fairly leaped at the chance. She already had played in one Will Rogers picture and had announced afterward that he was her favorite actor.

So the little Irish girl, who a little more than a year ago was just the daughter of a retired Irish army officer, with never a thought of a career other than marriage and a home of her own some day, now has five pictures to her credit, and returned to Dublin a full-fledged movie star.

Maureen has grown up in her year in Hollywood. When she first went to the movie capital she was a timid, shy girl, bewildered by the dazzling lights and the confusion of the studio. She went home to her family, still a girl in years—she's just 19 now—but a girl who has received a marvelous education in a few short months. On the surface, she is no longer the little girl from a far-off country, bewildered by American life. But beneath the surface, she is still the same child who was so excited when she caught the boat to New York that she forgot her trunk and had to borrow clothes from Mrs. Frank Borzage, wife of the Fox director who "discovered" her, until the liner landed in America.

"When I was a little girl, my mother told me the fairy stories for which Ireland is famous," she said. "When I got home, I retold them to my brothers and sisters, but I told them as the truth. I've been living a fairy story of my own for the past year, and so you see I really believe in them."

SINCE producers have decided the star, rather than the play, is the thing, at least eight actresses featured in the silent days are making comebacks in the talkies.

Perhaps the most noted of these is Pola Negri, who recently divorced Prince Serge Mdivani in Paris. She is now on her way back to Hollywood, with a contract for a motion picture speaking part. The Polish actress is said to have eliminated most of her accent.

Lois Wilson, remembered as the heroine of "The Covered Wagon," had not worked for 10 months, and was preparing to appear on the London stage when Universal asked her to take a test for "Speed." Her performance in the film was said to be largely responsible for its being booked for a premiere at one of Los Angeles' higher priced theaters. It won her a contract for other pictures.

Doris Kenyon also was preparing to go to Europe when Warner Brothers offered her a part in "Lou and I." This led to a long-term contract. Dolores Costello is making her first picture since her marriage to John Barrymore. Enid Bennett is playing the "mamma" role in "Skippy," which has moved from the Ambassador to the Missouri this week.

Eleanor Boardman, in private life Mrs. King Vidor and the mother of two daughters, returned to the screen in a talkie, "She Goes to War," which followed by three others, including "The Great Meadow." She is now under contract to Paramount.

Louise Brooks did go to Europe, doing several silent pictures in Berlin and Paris, but now she is back in the talkies. Greta Nissen, who had been in the silents three years, took a part in "Hell's Angels," which was two years in the making. She has a contract with Fox, after several months of stage appearances in Rochester, N. Y.

POLA NEGRI'S return from a three-year absence in France is being awaited with interest because Hollywood finds her, among other things, a stimulating subject for conversation. The talk was not necessarily gossipy; usually it concerned itself with her eccentricities and her unusual ability to outtalk studio executives.

Her path is strewn with officials who thought they could make her play scenes their way and star in stories they liked. The reason she left here was because of an argument over a story; she didn't like it and refused to appear in it.

Pola's strong will made her a star, Emil Jannings a star, and Ernst Lubitsch a star-director. She was appearing in pictures for the UFA company in Germany when she picked Jannings to play opposite her. Lubitsch, now among this country's outstanding directors, then was a stage clown, a funny pantomimist. Pola knew him and saw in him a great artist. She asked that he be allowed to direct her.

"But this is unheard of, a buffoon directing a serious drama. No! Thrice no!" she was told.

"That man has great possibilities," Pola said simply, and she refused to go ahead until Lubitsch was hired. "Passion," the first picture made by the trio to be shown in this country, resulted in all of them being brought to America.

AND still another name, famous in the old days of silent motion pictures, has been added today to the talkie roster. Mae Marsh, who has given the last 11 years to rearing a family, signed a contract with Fox to play the mother in "Over the Hill."

Miss Marsh entered pictures here in 1912 as a $3-a-day extra, and for two years worked for D. W. Griffith making two-reelers. Sometimes she received $5 a day for playing the leading roles in those forgotten productions.

The actress came into prominence in 1914 when she appeared in the lead of "The Birth of a Nation" and added fame came through her characterization in "Intolerance."

After her marriage to Lee Arms, a St. Louis newspaper man, who since has become a short story writer, Miss Marsh retired in 1920. She has three children, Mae, 11; Brewster, 5, and Marguerite, 2.

The picture in which Miss Marsh will attempt her comeback will bring to the talking screen a play popular a quarter of a century ago. Mary Carr played the mother role in it on the stage and later in a silent movie many years ago.

Coming Organ Recital.

Next Sunday afternoon, April 19, Dr. Melchiorre Mauro-Cottone, concert organist of New York City, will be heard in recital on the large organ in the United Hebrew Temple, 225 South Skinker road.

1000 SOCIAL WORKERS TO MEET IN ST. LOUIS

50 Leaders in Welfare Field on Program of 30th Annual Missouri Conference.

Featuring addresses by more than 50 leaders in welfare work of State and national prominence, the thirtieth annual State convention of the Missouri Conference for Social Welfare will begin here Tuesday and close Thursday. More than 1000 persons are expected at the sessions, which will have for the general theme, "Unemployment and Relief."

Robert W. Kelso, director of the Community Fund, will preside. Bishop William Scarlett of St. Louis will give the invocation and Lieut.-Gov. Edward H. Winter of Jefferson City will make the address of welcome. John D. Neal of the Kansas Clay American Red Cross Chapter, president of the conference, will discuss "A Measure of Urban Responsibility to Rural Social Work."

On the opening program also will be Father John Ryan of Washington, D. C., noted Catholic social leader, who will discuss "The Social Challenge of Unemployment," and Peter Kasius of the Missouri Social Hygiene Association who will talk on "Social Legislation."

"Reports on Family Relief Problems and Methods" will be the subject taken by Dr. E. L. Morgan of the University of Missouri Wednesday morning, April 15. That night the annual banquet will be held with addresses by Dr. Malcolm Willey, sociologist, of the University of Minnesota, and Dr. Roland Haynes, secretary of the University of Chicago.

Additional Meetings.

The general sessions will continue until Thursday noon. Six other social welfare organizations will meet in connection with the conference: Missouri Sociological Society, Missouri Social Hygiene Association, Children's home Society of Missouri, Missouri Commission for the Blind, Missouri Society for Mental, Hygiene and American Red Cross.

Five special institutes also will be held during the conference under the chairmanship of Dr. Frank J. Bruno, director of the department of social work, Washington University. The institutes and leaders are as follows:

"Elementary Case Work," Miss Leah Feder, Washington University; "The Dependent Child," Herschel Alt, general secretary of St. Louis Children's Aid Society; "Probation and Delinquency," Charles Chute of New York City, executive secretary of National Probation Association; "Social Hygiene and Social Work," Kasius; and "Psychiatric Social Work," Miss Nancy Johnston, Washington University.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 11.

BLACKMAIL lawyers have had the teeth taken out of one of their most prolific rackets. A bill passed by the New York Legislature makes the filing of breach of promise suits impossible unless there is a written and signed contract of proposed marriage two years before the suit is filed.

Charlie Chaplin engaged in a lively argument with a New York banker about the Soviet. Chaplin is somewhat the parlor radical. He probably does not consider a $25 a week vaudeville comic reaching the heights he did would be impossible in Russia today. The Soviet strangles the individualism of which Chaplin is so pronouncedly illustrative. Modern Russia has produced nothing but pathological dreamers. Russian artists such as Chaliapin, Heifetz and Nijinski are impossible today. Incidentally, Chaplin at this writing is within two sleeper jumps of Russia, but watch him skip back to Hollywood. None of that soft Hollywood success is possible under the Soviet scheme he champions.

On the night of the day the head lines told of learned diagnosticians deliberating over the gravity of Mayor Walker's physical condition, his honor was tripping the light fantastic at the Mayfair Club.

The old saw "His word is as good as his bond" has had more teeth removed. Too many so-called high-class, first-mortgage bonds have defaulted interest payments recently,

• • •

Short shavings: Robert L. Ripley has been made a Fellow of the London Geographical Society. . . . Garbo plays Marlene Deitrich's records. . . . Douglas Fairbanks and his son were not on speaking terms for a long time. . . . "Murder on West Forty-seventh Street" is the latest Crime Club thriller. . . . Lillian Leitzel left a fortune of more than $100,000. . . . Sophie Tucker, well off, is planning to retire and live in the English countryside. . . . Vernon McKenzie, former editor of McLean's Magazine in Canada, is dean of the School of Journalism at the State of Washington University. . . . Havana hotels began the season almost empty and closed with the biggest patronage in their history. . . . Betty Compton is slated for the new "Scandals." . . . And Broadway grins an approval. . . . "Murder in the News Room" will interest newspaper men (Dutton's). . . . The Jolson Theater has become the Central Park. . . . Twelve former stock and bond salesmen were found among the apple sellers. . . . Montague Glass gives the most entertaining poker parties among the literati. . . . Mrs. Enrico Caruso was the frequent companion of Chaplin before he sailed for Europe. . . . Basil Woon is sailing for Paris to gather material for an Apache story for Fox. . . . The Little Theater serves tea between acts. . . . Ruth Etting was born in a Nebraska whistle stop. . . . "Crimes of the Year" is by Joseph Gollomb, who is Zoe Beckley's husband. . . . The calling-up-for-take - pictures-for-the-newspapers-and-magazine racket by photographers is dead. . . . Houston has a New Yorker effort called The Gargoyle.

Author of "Ice" Coming.

D. L. James of Kansas City, author of the $200 prize play, "Ice," in three acts, to be produced in the auditorium of the Wednesday Club on May 4 as one of the four consecutive St. Louis Art League drama competition productions, will be in St. Louis early in the week to atend rehearsals of his play in the Old Courthouse under the direction of Harry R. McClain.

Meeting of Central W. C. T. U.

Central W. C. T. U. will meet at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the library of the Kingshighway Presbyterian Church, 5010 Cabanne avenue. Speakers will be Mrs. Charles King and Miss Marie Ames.

DIES OF INJURIES IN AUTO COLLISION

J. J. Warner, 60, Hurt With Four Others Wednesday, Succumbs.

John J. Warner, 60 years old, 6107 South Grand boulevard, died yesterday at City Hospital of a fractured skull suffered Wednesday when an automobile in which he was a passenger upset after a collision with another machine at Grand boulevard and Delor street. Four other men in the automobile, including John P. Connor, proprietor of a Venice gambling house, were injured.

After striking the automobile in which Warner and his companions were riding, the other machine crashed into a grocery. Two men scrambled out and fled. Police later arrested Willis Maylor, a service car driver, 3882 Delmar boulevard, who is held for the Coroner.

Warner, a salesman, was a brother of Ferd Warner, member of the old House of Delegates, and of State Senator Frank B. Warner. The widow, Mrs. Rose Warner; a daughter, Mrs. Charles Ruegg; another brother, Charles, and two sisters also survive.

Eugene Kennedy, 41, a Negro, 1506 Gratiot street, died Friday night of injuries suffered several hours earlier when he was hit by an automobile driven by Joseph Eickel of 5714 Kansas street. Eickel told police that Kennedy stepped into the path of his automobile in front of 825 South Eighteenth street.

Miss Bert Gordan, a student, 7002 Washington boulevard, University City, suffered a possible fracture of the skull early yesterday when an automobile in which she was riding ran into a ditch at Vivian avenue and Kingshighway Northwest. Joseph Mathews, 730 Belt avenue, the driver, swerved to avoid striking another automobile.

ACTIVITIES OF BOY SCOUTS

SCOTT FIELD AIR SHOW FOR SCOUTS SATURDAY

Members of St. Louis Council to Go to Army Airport on Special Train.

A program of parachute jumping, dirigible and airplane flights and other aerial maneuvers will be given exclusively for Boy Scouts of St. Louis Council at Scott Field, next Saturday. Admission to the army field will be free to any council scout or scout leader, but reservations must be made at local scout headquarters, 505 Chemical building, before Wednesday evening.

The exhibition will last several hours, from the time the scouts arrive in the morning until mid-afternoon. In addition to the flights, which will include a demonstration of a new type two-seater pursuit plane just arrived at the field, the scouts will be taken on a trip through the hangars and shops. A tour also will be made of the barracks.

Arrangements have been made for a special train to take the scouts to and from the field. This train will leave Union Station at 9 o'clock, from a track near the Eighteenth street side of the shed. The Eighteenth street entrance should be used to reach the train. The return will be made in time for the special to reach Union Station about 4:30 p. m. Round-trip tickets may be obtained at scout headquarters for 75 cents.

Every scout and leader attending must bring his own lunch and drinking cup. No other equipment will be necessary. Scouts having uniforms should wear them, but uniforms will not be compulsory.

Troop Notes

South District.

Troop 52 of the Woodward School has been reorganized under the leadership of Scoutmaster William Coquelin. The troop is due to re-register in April, so is making plans to complete this duty by Wednesday.

Troop 129, which recently organized at St. George's Catholic Church, was officially invested and received its charter last Friday evening. The ceremonies were conducted by Troop 198 of St. John's Episcopal Church. All Scouts, the Scoutmaster and the troop committeemen were presented with cards and badges of rank.

More than 250 Scouts, parents and friends of Troop 168 attended the troop's annual entertainment held at St. Pius Church, troop headquarters, last Wednesday evening. A program was given.

Seven Scouts received second-class badges at a Troop Court of Honor conducted by Troop 174 of the Zion Methodist Episcopal Church as part of a party held in celebration of the troop's winning a gold achievement streamer at the Scout circus. The Flaming Arrow patrol received a tent for winning an interpatrol contest.

Troop 244 of the Kennard School held its first Parents' night Friday. C. H. Mills, activities director of the St. Louis Boy Scout Council, and S. C. Reaves, director of Cubbing, spoke. A Cub pack has just been organized at the school.

Scout Robert Burns was awarded a Boy Scout handbook autographed by James E. West, for selling the largest number of circus tickets in Troop 250, of the Shepard school. The Lion patrol received an award for selling the largest number as a patrol. The troop won a red streamer at the Circus.

West District.

A hike to Hog Hollow was taken by Scoutmaster Truex and 16 scouts of Troop 26, of Delmar Baptist Church, a week ago yesterday. The afternoon was spent passing tests and playing capture the flag. Scoutmaster Truex and Scout Lee Beaver told stories around a council fire in the evening and Scout Bill Sewell played the harmonica.

Assistant Scoutmaster Louis Romansky of Troop 30, of the Y. M. H. A., attended the West District Scoutmasters' week-end at the Scoutmasters' lodge on the Meramec River two weeks ago.

Thirteen uniformed scouts of Troop 45 served as ushers at the Easter sunrise services at the Arena last Sunday. The scouts were under charge of Assistant Scoutmaster William Adams. The troop is making plans for the coming Camparall. Troop 45 meets at the First Christian church.

Scout Lawrence Behan was elected a patrol leader of Troop 94, of St. Barbara's Catholic church, last week. The troop is working for the Camparall, and also for a Standard Troop Award. The troop will reregister next month.

North District.

Plans for reorganization of the North District Board of Review were made at a meeting of the board members at the home of District Chairman H. T. Burch last Tuesday evening. The new organization will be carried into effect at the next district review next Tuesday evening.

A tentative program for North District troops will be drawn up at a meeting of the district program committee at the home of Commissioner B. Crusius next Thursday evening. The program will be offered the district leaders for use during the coming year, at the North District Scoutmasters' week-end at the Scoutmasters' lodge on the Meramec River April 25 and 26.

Troop 122 of the Sherman Park Community Center received its second standard troop award at the troop's second annual get-together at Knights of Columbus Hall last Wednesday evening. The presentation was made by Scout Commissioner Col. H. D. McBride, assisted by Educational Director William J. Puffer of the St. Louis council. A minstrel show was given by the older boys' club of the troop, and the Rev. R. A. Gallagher, S. J., spoke. Three hundred adults were present at the meeting.

Central District.

Scout leaders of the Central District will hold their last week-end camp this spring at the scoutmasters' lodge on the Meramec River next Saturday and Sunday. Attendance at the lodge will be limited to the first 50 making reservations. As part of the program, a picnic supper will be served Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock, for all district scoutmasters, deputy commissioners and outdoor troop committeemen. M. D. Shippey, campign director of the St. Louis council, will help the leaders make plans for the coming camping season.

Several tests were passed at the meeting of Troop 106 at the Second United Presbyterian Church last week. A program of practice for the Camparall was also planned.

MAP AND NATURE STUDY COURSES START THIS WEEK

The two training courses in map making and nature study planned by the St. Louis Boy Scout Council will be started this week as scheduled, as advance registration indicates a large enough attendance to make classes worth while. The new courses, which supplement the regular spring training courses now being given by the council, will be open to any scoutmaster, assistant scoutmaster, or troop committeeman.

This map making class, which will deal with methods of teaching this difficult subject to scouts, will meet at the Stix School on Tuesday evening. C. H. Laemmli, field executive of the South District, will direct the course, while Scoutmaster E. B. Langenberg of Troop No. 2, who taught this subject in the army, will serve as instructor.

The nature study class will meet at the Michael School Wednesday evening, under the direction of William Puffer, educational director of the council. Puffer will be assisted by a staff of experts in the different phases of nature study, the meeting next week being taken over by Scoutmaster Dr. Staley, who will present the subject of plants. Dr. Staley will employ games to illustrate the method of teaching this subject to scouts.

A third special course in troop camping was started yesterday at the Scoutmasters' Lodge on the Meramec River. M. D. Shippey, council camping director, is giving this course.

BOARDS OF REVIEW IN 6 DISTRICTS THIS WEEK

District Boards of Review, to examine Boy Scout candidates for second-class and first-class ranks, will be held at six schools in the city and county this week. The reviews will enable successful candidates to receive their badges at a Court of Honor which will be held at the Scottish Rite Temple April 27.

All Scouts attending the reviews must bring their bankbooks or other evidence that the Thrift test has been passed. First-class candidates, in addition, must have their article of handicraft, their hike account, their map and, if possible, the field notes from which the map was drawn.

Reviews will be held as follows; West District, Clark School, tomorrow evening; Suburban District, Webster Groves High School, tomorrow evening; North District, Farragut School, Tuesday; Inter-racial, Banneker School, Tuesday; South District, Fanning School, Wednesday; Central District, Gallaudet School, Wednesday evening.

While a Scout may attend any review, if he desires to appear before one other than his own district, he must notify headquarters in order that they may transfer his review card to the examining district's office.

Here and There on the Air

Fight for 50,000 Watts Permits on Cleared Channels to Begin Before Radio Commission Tuesday—Three Radio Addresses by the President This Week—James J. Corbett in Semi-Weekly Broadcasts—Baseball Stars on Air at 5:45 Tomorrow Evening.

Total assets of nearly a billion dollars are represented by the owners of the 24 broadcasting stations that applied to the Federal Radio Commission for authority to increase their powers to 50,000 watts. With the cost of a station of that power estimated at approximately $250,000, they indicated at recent hearings before Chief Examiner Ellis A. Yost that they were ready to expend an aggregate of $4,415,000 to erect new transmitters or revamp their old ones to use the higher power.

Sitting as a body, the commission on Tuesday, April 14, will hear final arguments on the high power issue. These arguments will grow out of the filing of 13 exceptions to Chief Examiner Yost's second high power report, in which he recommended that eight stations be authorized to increase to 50,000 watts and 11 to 25,000 watts power. After the arguments, which may take most of the week, the commission must rule on the Yost report.

Then the whole high power issue, with all its ramifications, will be thrown into the courts. For whatever selections the commission makes, one or more of the rejected stations will appeal.

The 24 stations applying for the higher power, most of them leaders in American broadcasting, threw some interesting sidelights on the economics of American radio in the course of their original hearings. They revealed that their present investment in transmitters and station equipment is $7,584,390; that their annual operating costs aggregate $11,401,604 and that their total income in their last fiscal year was $10,673,375. Assets of the several individuals of corporations owning these two dozen stations out of the 600 in the United States were said to aggregate well over $1,000,000,000.

The 24 stations said they served a population of 85,445,000.

The figures, of course, are subject to qualifications due to intangible assets and income and overlapping service areas. Though 10 of the applicant stations showed that they operated with losses, there were other sources of revenues or intangible returns for which they needed to make no estimate or accounting. The fact that they are willing to invest nearly $5,000,000 in new station equipment is significant of the growth and development of American broadcasting as a business.

President Hoover is to address the radio audience three times this week—at 9:30 tomorrow morning over KSD when he speaks as titular head of the American Red Cross; at 11:30 Tuesday forenoon when he will speak on Pan-American affairs on both NBC chains, and at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon, when he will speak from the White House in commemoration of the founding of Tuskegee Institute, the Negro university. Dr. R. R. Moton, president of Tuskegee Institute, will speak from the college, at Tuskegee, Ala.

Martin J. Insull, president of the Middle West Utilities Co. and brother of Samuel Insull, the Chicago utilities magnate, will speak on electric light and power holding companies in a broadcast over KSD at 8 o'clock Wednesday night. A previous radio talk by Martin Insull caused much news and editorial comment.

James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion, will be master of ceremonies in semi-weekly broadcasts over KSD and WEAF chain stations at 5 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The series will begin next Tuesday. Corbett will be assisted by Broadway stage and movie stars and an orchestra.

Lowell Thomas will shift his second news talk a night from the CBS chain to the NBC's WJZ chain, starting April 27. He now speaks over the WJZ chain at 5:45 for the East and over the Columbia net at 7 o'clock for the Middle West and West. When the change is made the second WJZ chain broadcast will begin at 9:15 p. m. Originally this program series was broadcast entirely over an NBC chain, but later was divided between the WJZ and Columbia nets.

"Dazzy" Vance, "Lefty" Grove, "Hack" Wilson and "Babe" Ruth are to be featured in a baseball broadcast at 5:45 tomorrow evening over WENR and other NBC stations, probably including KWK.

It is reported in New York that already more than 50,000 persons have enrolled at NBC headquarters, 711 Fifth avenue, to study piano playing by radio. The simple lessons, during which noted persons who are amateurs of the piano, are featured, are broadcast at 2 p. m. Tuesdays over KWK and the WJZ chain and at 10:30 a. m. Saturdays over KSD and the WEAF network.

• • •

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra is to broadcast a concert over WLW at 9 o'clock net Saturday night. Fritz Riner, conductor of the orchestra, will direct the radio concert. The 120-piece orchestra will play the Polka and Fugue from Weinberger's opera, "Schwanda the Bag Piper," and Strauss' tone poem, "Don Juan."

Eva Le Gallienne, noted actress, who will play over KSD at 6:30 tonight in Barrie's "The Five Pound Look."

Wilfred Glenn, the basso of the Revellers Quartet, will be featured in five Monday night sea chanty broadcasts under the title, "Songs of the Sea." The first of these programs is set for 9:30 tomorrow night on WENR and the WJZ chain.

WEAF, New York, is now broadcasting from a new 50,000 watt transmitter that is believed by engineers to be the most efficient in this country. It uses two 100,000 watt tubes, which are five feet high and require 30 gallons of water a minute to cool them.

A broadcast commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the rebirth of San Francisco after the disaster of 1906 is scheduled for 8 p. m. next Saturday over the Columbia chain. William Butterworth, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will be among the speakers. The program will be switched back and forth from Washington, D. C., to San Francisco. Gov. James Rolph Jr. of California also will speak.

The Students' Chorus of Concordia Seminary, which has done much radio singing, is to give its annual concert in the Odeon at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. The chorus was organized by J. D. # What's New in Radio Industry

Philco Brings Out New Small Sets for AC and DC Current — New Machine Tests All Kinds of Tubes on Every Aspect of Operation. Trade Notes.

New Philco AC and DC Small Sets.

New Philco "Baby Grand" receivers are announced by the Artophone Corporation, distributer. The sets, which are of the so-called mantel type, have new cabinets and a new chassis with two 45 type power tubes.

Tone of the "Baby Grand" has been much improved by use of a new type baffle. The cabinet is done in de luxe style with attractive overlay effects. This new model can also be had with a DC chassis, so that it can be used downtown in offices and stores wherever there is DC current instead of AC.

Can Test Any Receiver Tube.

An elaborate tube tester, in which every kind of tube used in broadcast receivers from the old 199 and 201a types to 224 screen grid tubes, 50 type power tubes and 80 and 81 rectifier tubes, is the Acremeter, which has been installed by the Universal Supply Co., 1014 Olive street, and the Brandt Electric Co., 904 Pine street.

With the Acremeter, one can ascertain the condition of a tube's filament, its gas content and its percentage of efficiency. It detects grid or plate shorts, weakness of emission, virtually anything that can affect the performance of a tube in a receiver. It can even be used to test both plates of an 80 type rectifier and the efficiency of the new Pentode tube.

Trade Notes.

E. H. McCarthy has been appointed general sales manager of the Sylvania Products Co., maker of Sylvania tubes.

Cars Worth $119,000 In Cadillac 'V-16' Salon in St. Louis

Exhibit Said to Be the Finest Thus Far Held in This Country.—Special Body Types.

More than $100,000 worth of 16-cylinder Cadillac cars—$119,000 worth, to be exact—are being shown by the Oliver Cadillac Co., in a special salon this week in its display rooms at Sarah street and Laclede avenue. In number of body styles shown, and in finish, equipment and appearance of the models, the salon is possibly the most notable yet held in this country. For the Cadillac Motor Car Co. made a special point of developing upholstery, trim and equipment details for this St. Louis exhibit.

All bodies shown are by Fleetwood. One—a V-16 phaeton with special body retailing at $7825 is done in Fisher red with chromium wire wheels. The rear windshield can be lowered out of sight. A duplicate instrument board in the rear compartment has a speed indicator as well as a stop watch for checking the time per mile.

A town car, listing at $9660, is of the limousine brougham type. It is finished in a beautiful maroon color called "Alemandine." Among its appointments is a sheepskin mat in color harmonizing with that of the upholstery.

A two-passenger coupe, finished in "auto green" in two-tone effect, has six wire wheels painted in "Zanzibar." This model is $7910.

A five-passenger sedan is in Galahad gray, including fenders, but the molding and upper structure are in ebony. Striping and wheels are marigold yellow. The trim is imported English Wiese doeskin cloth. The interior is trimmed with inlaid walnut.

A collapsible sedan has a top of English Burbank material. The body is black all over with silver leaf striping and silver or stainless steel spokes on the wire wheels. Chromium finish on many parts enlivens the color scheme.

A "Madam X" limousine brougham in royal maroon, has black fenders and black wire wheels. The interior is of dovetone with smooth cushions piped with brown leather. The two foot rests are upholstered with springs and cushions just like the rear cushions.

Among other types shown are a five-passenger coupe, a five-passenger limousine with glass partition. A club sedan in two shades of green with checkerboard upholstery, and a convertible coupe in the shades of blue used in Gainsborough's "Blue Boy" painting.

The showroom is elaborately decorated with flowers. The salon is open all day and until 11 o'clock tonight.

Safe Driving League Requires Its Members Only to Sign Pledge

"By observing ordinary rules of the road, and keeping one's car and tires in good condition, many accidents can be averted," says a statement in behalf of the Silvertown Safety League, which is enrolling many members in the St. Louis territory as well as all over the country. Objects of the league are promotion of safer driving and observance of sound driving rules.

There are nine requirements in the Silvertown Safety League pledge, which is being signed by thousands of motorists and drivers of taxicabs and other commercial vehicles.

The rules are based on observations by the Goodrich Silver Fleet, a group of tire testing cars which traveled a million miles throughout this country in the past two years without accidents.

Membership requirements in the league are only that the safe driving pledge be signed and lived up to. A chromium radiator emblem is given to every member.

Nash Shipments Larger in March

Shipments of new Nash cars in March were larger than in any month since April, 1930, except last October, when the four new series of Nash cars were introduced. They exceeded February shipments by 39 per cent.

Orders for April shipments already on file indicate that Nash business this month will far exceed the percentage of March increase, it was said by C. H. Bliss, sales manager of the Nash Motor Co., who sees in the increasing demand definite indication of improved business conditions.

Post-Dispatch Highway Maps

THE Resort and Travel Bureau of the Post-Dispatch has for distribution an excellent 50-page auto trails atlas of the United States and Eastern Canada, showing the condition and numbers of highways and mileage between towns. The price is 50 cents, or 60 cents if mailed.

St. Louis and vicinity maps show all towns, roads, rivers, streams, lakes and other details within a radius of 50 miles of St. Louis. They sell for 20 cents, 24 cents if mailed. Individual state maps are 10 cents and 12 cents mailed.

St. Louis guides, giving the location of streets and street car and bus lines, churches, hospitals, theaters, office buildings and containing a map of the city, sell for 25 and 30 cents.

Map of St. Louis and the suburbs, showing the streets of St. Louis, East St. Louis, Madison, Venice, Clayton, Ferguson, University City, sell for 40 cents, or 45 cents mailed.

Oakland and Pontiac Production Reported As Steadily Increasing

A progressive monthly increase in Oakland-Pontiac production since the turn of the year culminated in a total of 11,291 units built in March, which exceeded not only production in January and February but also was larger than that in March, 1930.

Unexpec[illegible] increases in retail demand h[illegible]ecessitated emergency trainlo[illegible]hipments to various points, especially in the West and Middle West. Both the Chicago and the Minneapolis-St. Paul areas have received large emergency shipments of Oakland-Pontiac cars. The arrival of two trains carrying nearly 400 additional automobiles to Pacific Coast points, was followed shortly by a call for 212 cars in Denver, Salt Lake City and Oakland, Cal. This latest emergency shipment left last week in a train of 53 freight cars.

According to factory executives, these emergency trainload shipments represent the margin by which actual sales have exceeded dealers' forecasts.

Air-Cooled Engine Tests by Army Stir World-Wide Interest

Recent success of Franklin air-cooled engines in army tank tests at Fort Meade, Md., is the basis of an article in a recent issue of the Infantry Journal, in which the assertion is made that the test definitely demonstrated the feasibility of using an air-cooled engine as a tank power plant, as well as its superiority over the engine which it replaced.

"Gas and oil mileage have been increased and this engine has also increased the speed of the tank," the article says. "As a result of the showing, the War Department has directed that six additional light tanks be equipped with Franklin air-cooled engines and turned over to the armored force for field tests."

So impressed were French army officers by the air-cooled performance that they have acquired a Franklin engine for experimental purposes. Representatives of the Japanese Government later visited the Franklin factory because of the world-wide interest aroused by the Franklin performance in a "war machine."

Trico Distributer In St. Louis Named

Appointment of the S. G. Hoffman Magneto Co., 3134 Washington boulevard, as official service distributer for Trico Products Corporation, Buffalo, N. Y., is announced by T. Frank Chambers, Mid-Western district manager of the Trico concern. The service distributorship covers 101 counties in Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois. It is the first plan of service distribution for Trico visionall, Trico claireon, Trico pilot glass and Falberth automatic windshield wipers in the St. Louis territory.

Since every automobile manufactured today is equipped with Trico windshield wipers, a complete stock of equipment and replacement parts will be carried by the S. G. Hoffman Magneto Co., according to J. R. Medart, president.

Tests Auto Radio Set Under KWK Antenna

Freedom from interference by the electrical ignition system of the automobile, and the selectvity, of the new Bosch motor car receiver were demonstrated last week in a test made by J. R. Medart, president of S. G. Hoffman Magneto Co., distributer of Bosch automobile sets.

Medart drove his car to a position directly beneath the broadcasting tower of KWK at Kirkwood, Mo. He said he was able to tune in Chicago stations clearly without any outside interference. This, Medart said, was largely due to the use of the entire automobile as the antenna, no special antenna being used either inside or outside the car.

110 New Dodge Dealers Appointed

One hundred and ten new dealers were appointed by Dodge Brothers between Jan. 1 and March 18, throughout the United States.

Retail deliveries of passenger cars and trucks by Dodge Brothers' dealers in the week ending March 21, increased 23 per cent, as compared to the previous week, according to A. Van Der Zee, general sales manager. Since the first of the year, Dodge retail deliveries showed substantial increases upon nine different occasions when compared with immediate preceding weeks.

Rederer and Rengers To Sell Buick Cars In Webster Groves

Widely Known St. Louisans Organize Firm to Handle Dealership.

Announcement is made by R. N. Soule, St. Louis zone manager for the Buick Motor Co., of the appointment of Rederer-Rengers Buick, Inc., 126 East Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves, as an authorized Buick dealer.

A. H. Rederer, president of the firm, was with the Moon Motor Car Co. for 19 years. Recently he was president of the Moon Motor Sales, distributing Windsor and Ruxton cars in St. Louis.

F. H. Rengers, vice president and general manager of the new firm, has been active in the automobile business since 1911, when he was associated with A. L. Dyke, publisher of the first book on automobiles. In 1914 he joined the Moon Motor Car Co., becoming vice president in 1926 and at the same time president of the Diana Motors Co. In 1928 Rengers was made general sales manager of the Gardner Motor Co., and remained in this capacity until he resigned March 1.

Rederer-Rengers Buick, Inc., will maintain a Buick service station.

Buick Engineers Do in 60 Days What Used to Require Year

Within a period of 60 days the Buick engineering staff can do as much development work as it formerly could in a year, according to F. A. Bower, chief engineer of the company.

"A test car can be put on the General Motors proving ground today and, in a comparatively short time, run 25,000 miles under constant supervision by the Buick engineering staff. If some new experimental device fails to stand up under the strain of high-speed driving, the engineers have little difficulty, under these conditions, in discovering what is wrong," Bower said.

Discussing the engineering resources of the Buick Motor Co., Bower pointed out that the engineering setup of General Motors includes a technical board comprised of the corporation and division engineers, representatives of the great General Motors Research Laboratories and engineers from the proving grounds. These, in addition to Buick's own engineering staff of 476 men, constitute the engineering foundation on which Buick builds automobiles.

Sculptor Hard Driver

Ninety-two thousand miles at an average speed of 45 miles an hour over roads mostly unpaved, is the service which a 1927 La Salle has given to Gutzon Borglum, internationally known sculptor. Borglum, who is at work on the memorial in the Black Hills of South Dakota, reports that the car still is operating satisfactorily.

"Even when I tore through a barbed wire fence, snappel several posts and dragged 700 feet of wire to avoid another car, my La Salle was damaged only slightly, and continued right along," Borglum said.

Borglum has just purchased a Cadillac V-12 in San Antonio, Tex., where his winter home is located.

Speed Limit in Berlin.

A maximum speed limit of 25 miles an hour for commercial vehicles has just been imposed by police for Berlin. The limit is for pneumatic tire vehicles only, older type vehicles on solids must not exceed 18 miles an hour.

Studebaker Models To Remain Unchanged Until Next Winter

Studebaker announces that it will not make any model changes this summer; in fact, that none will be made before next winter.

"Not only Studebaker owners, but all others considering the purchase of a car, should reap the benefit of this decision," says Paul G. Hoffman, vice president of Studebaker Corporation. "Studebaker owners may now feel secure in the knowledge that their cars represent the very latest in automotive progress, while new purchasers are relieved of all doubt concerning the possibility of unexpected announcements of model changes in the near future.

"Thus, owner contentment is created, as well as buying confidence on the part of the public. It is reasonable to expect that this policy, recently indorsed by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, and adopted by the majority of its members, will work as a powerful stimulus to the automobile industry."

Women Careful Motorists.

Women have proved careful motorists in Massachusetts. Official figures show that women operators, representing 20 per cent of the State's total, were involved in 8 per cent of accidents last year.

Tail Lights for Mounted Police.

Mounted police in France will be equipped with reflectors to be worn on their backs, these reflectors will catch the light from automobile headlights and enable the horsemen to be seen at a distance.

Selling of eight new Oldsmobile cars in a week won for Jack A. Reddy a sales contest held by the Lambert-Tigges Motor Co. Harry W. Lohrum, sales manager for the firm, presented to him a special prize and a cash bonus.

Highways in France.

France has 2.08 miles of roadway a square mile of territory, more than any other country in Europe. Less than 10 per cent of the French total is in national highways, but their mileage will be doubled this year, as the Government plans to take over constantly more of the departmental and communal roads. All French national highways are paved and in excellent repair, though 60 per cent of the departmental roads are dirt roads. Paved highways begun in the seventeenth century for political and military reasons, link all the important towns to Paris.

Buick Dealers for Webster Groves and Vicinity

Buick Motor Company takes pleasure in announcing the appointment of Rederer-Rengers Buick, Inc., as authorized Buick Dealers for Webster Groves and vicinity.

Rederer-Rengers Buick, Inc., will operate a complete and up-to-date sales and service establishment at 126 East Lockwood Avenue. Thus, Buick owners will be assured of even finer parts and repair service than they have known in the past.

This new organization is under the able supervision of Mr. A. H. Rederer and Mr. F. H. Rengers, both widely known in automotive circles in this territory. Mr. Rederer has for a number of years successfully retailed several prominent makes of motor cars in this vicinity. Mr. Rengers, for the past thirteen years, has held high executive positions with two large motor car manufacturers.

The appointment of Rederer-Rengers Buick, Inc., is in line with Buick's policy of providing such facilities as will insure complete owner satisfaction throughout the long period of usefulness traditional with Buick cars.

For the further benefit of Buick owners, these extensive facilities will be supplemented by those of the Buick factory zone headquarters in St. Louis, thus making doubly certain of the type of owner satisfaction which has won for Buick more than twice as many buyers as any other car in its price class.

Rederer-Rengers Buick, Inc., cordially invite all Buick owners and their friends to visit them—to inspect their attractive displays of new Buick Valve-in-Head Straight Eights, their exceptional values in reliable used cars and their unusual facilities for Buick service work. Remember, expert service is a part of the value you get when you invest in a Buick. Thousands of authorized service stations—each identified by the familiar blue-and-white sign—hold out their assurance of competent aid, no matter where you go.

Goodyear Executives Address Dealers in St. Louis Convention

Ellis and Miller Attend Meeting—Playlets Teach Methods of Merchandising.

Talking motion pictures were used in a meeting of Goodyear dealers, held at Hotel Jefferson on Tuesday, to illustrate modern merchandising methods and to show how Zeppelin dirigibles are built and flown. The convention was attended by 306 dealers.

Relations between factory and dealer, especially as affecting the distribution and retailing of tires, were discussed by A. W. Ellis, St. Louis branch manager for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., who presided at the meeting. Incidentally, Ellis stated that last year 90 per cent of all Goodyear dealers made a profit averaging 10 per cent on their investment.

W. H. Miller, Southwest division manager for Goodyear, reported on a recent tour of his territory. He said that the trip had convinced him that business would be good for the first six months and better the last six months of the year.

The motion picture, entitled "Every Third Wheel," centered around Perkins, an unsuccessful tire dealer, who scoffs at modern sales methods. One day he calls on Webster, a tire dealer in a neighboring town who has built up a substantial business and has made a place for himself as a leading business man. As Perkins watches, he gets an idea why the other man has succeeded.

A customer comes in, and Webster inquires about his driving needs, road conditions, how long he expects to keep his car. He makes sure that the customer gets the right tire. He gets out a Supertwist demonstration machine and shows the resiliency of the fabric used in quality tires, how they stretch and snap back into place, and, so, stand up through roads. Webster explains the traction and non-skid qualities of a tire tread. He urges regular tire inspection to avoid road trouble. The unsuccessful dealer learns that Webster not only uses newspaper advertising but plans copy and position and scheduling to fit into his selling campaign. Perkins is convinced of the importance of improving his merchandising, and goes back to apply the principles in his own place.

Address Meeting of Dealers

Other features of the picture were a talk by R. S. Wilson, vice president and sales manager of Goodyear, and "shots" showing the construction of the giant Navy airship at Akron. There were also views of Goodyear tire fabric factories and the vast cotton and rubber plantations in Arizona and Sumatra.

A similar meeting was held at Jefferson City, Mo., Wednesday. Conventions also are scheduled for April 22 at Cape Girardeau and April 23 at Paducah, Ky.

National Tire Dealers' Meeting Held Here

Plans for the betterment of the retail tire industry in Greater St. Louis were discussed in a meeting of the reorganized National Tire Dealers' Association attended by 30 leading tire merchants last Monday at Hotel Coronado.

Norval P. Trimborn of Chicago, newly elected General Secretary of the association, made the chief address and presided at the open discussion of retail tire dealer problems.

BOOM!

Not the kind of a "boom" that comes from the mouth of a death-spitting cannon, but a deafening "boom" that means steady work and substantial pay days, a welding "boom" that echoes from all corners of old mother earth, as rivets, bolts and screwed joints give way to a new constructive tool of this modern day.

The acetylene torch and electric arc.

"BOOM!" Right off the press.

"ONE HUNDRED CITIES AND TOWNS HAVE ADOPTED WELDING. The number of cities and towns in the United States which have adopted legal provisions providing for the use of welding in building construction, now totals 100, according to Frank P. McKibben of Black Gap, Pa., consulting engineer for the General Electric Company."

"BOOM, BOOM!" from "Welding" (Pittsburg), March, 1931, issue:

"Welding Practice at San Francisco Plant of the Link-Belt Company. Welding has simplified design and lay-out work and produced conveyor equipment stronger than riveted construction."

"BOOM, BOOM, BOOM!" from "Pipe Line News" (Bayonne, N. J.), February, 1931, issue:

"According to an estimate of G. E. Barrett & Co., Bankers, natural gas pipe lines represent an investment of $2,250,000,000, while in the last seven years the public has invested $450,000,000 in new natural gas securities."

Welding is booming, how about booming yourself?

THINK THIS OVER

On June sixth you can be an expert welder, earning a dollar or more an hour, working, eating and living steady, enjoying life and free of all financial worries. "HOW COME?" you say. Here's how. Come to "American," the largest and finest welding school in the United States, let us train you as you should be trained, then take your place in the "BOOM" INDUSTRY, where men are in demand and dollars are waiting FOR YOU.

"AMERICAN"

is here to serve you. INVESTIGATE—clip the "BOOM" coupon and mail it at once and we will send you our beautifully illustrated "BOOMING" book that points the way to steady jobs and bigger pay. "LET'S GO, FELLOWS."

CLIP—MAIL—LISTEN FOR THE BOOM!

Goodrich-Silvertown Auto Service Station Will Open Next Week

A new auto service station will be opened in St. Louis next week by Goodrich-Silvertown, Inc., the retail division of the B. F. Goodrich Co. It will be one of many such stations operated by the company all over this country.

This station, now being erected at Twenty-third and Olive streets, will be of the most modern construction, offering every service to the automobile owner and driver.

The station will have facilities for tire repair, wheel alignment, battery service and repairs, car washing, lubrication, gasoline and oil, in addition to Goodrich Silvertown tires and the many accessories manufactured by Goodrich and others distributed through the retail division.

Goodrich entered the retail field to strengthen its retail outlets and develop a sound retail program which could be passed on to independent dealers.

In a recent statement, J. D. Tew, president of the B. F. Goodrich Co. and its subsidiaries, including Goodrich-Silvertown, Inc., said: "It is the purpose of Goodrich Silvertown, Inc., to establish diversified service stations in markets where adequate Goodrich tire distribution has not been obtained through independent dealer representation, or where the independent dealer has earned a market deserving of better facilities which he, alone, is unable to provide."

One Order for Reo Chassis Involves More Than $1,000,000

One of the largest orders for automotive equipment placed by one firm since the boom days of the industry has been closed by the Reo Motor Car Co. of Lansing, Mich.

It involves the sale of hundreds of Reo-Royale passenger car chassis to the National Casket Co., which has branch offices and factories in 30 key cities of the United States and will use Reo-built chassis exclusively. The contract just signed involves more than $1,000,000.

Few Standard License Laws.

Only 13 of the 48 states in the Union have standard license laws for the operation of motor vehicles. They are: Arizona, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts, Maryland, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont and West Virginia. Of these, 10 require that all applicants for a license to drive be given an eye-test, and that any defect be corrected to a certain standard before license is issued. Eleven states have no drivers' license laws whatever.

MONO-PIECE STEEL BODIES

ACCEPT NO LESS IN THE CAR YOU BUY

You prefer STEEL bridges, STEEL railroad cars and STEEL beams in skyscrapers. Then why accept less than the safety of steel in your motor car?

For years, Dodge has pioneered the steel body, because steel construction is beyond question the strongest, safest known.

Today, in the Mono-Piece Steel Bodies of the new Dodge Six and Eight, Dodge offers you steel construction in its latest, greatest development.

Mounted without body sills, they share the steadiness of the double-drop frame—and add to the low center of gravity this frame makes possible.

Dodge Mono-Piece Steel Bodies are modern bodies, better bodies, the safest bodies known. With Dodge weatherproof hydraulic brakes and Dodge double-drop box-type frames, they constitute the greatest combination of value features in motor cars today.

Before you buy a car, ride and drive in a new Dodge Six or Eight. Compare them for beauty, for comfort, for performance, for safety and dependability. The more you compare, the more you will realize that you cannot find elsewhere the value Dodge offers.

CALLS CITY'S SAFETY RECORD 'EXCELLENT'

A. T. Morey Comments on Showing Prior to Convention Opening Tomorrow.

St. Louis has an excellent accident prevention record to present to delegates at the fifth annual Central States Safety Congress, which opens tomorrow, Arthur T. Morey, chairman of the Congress Committee, said yesterday. About 1000 visitors from nine states are expected to attend the two-day session.

The meeting marks the fifteenth anniversary of the organized safety movement in St. Louis. "In that short time we have cut down accident hazards and saved many lives," Morsey said. "When the safety movement started here we were killing 110 workers annually in our industrial plants and injuring 10,000 others.

"There were but 48 industrial fatalities in St. Louis last year, and injuries have correspondingly decreased. This in spite of more workers engaged in our factories and in spite of the introduction of high-speed machinery."

Today has been declared "Safety Education Sunday" and the week "Safety Education Week" in a proclamation issued yesterday by Mayor Miller. Nearly 700 ministers in the St. Louis district have

A. T. Morey Comments on Showing Prior to Convention Opening Tomorrow.

St. Louis has an excellent accident prevention record to present to delegates at the fifth annual Central States Safety Congress, which opens tomorrow, Arthur T. Morey, chairman of the Congress Committee, said yesterday. About 1000 visitors from nine states are expected to attend the two-day session.

The meeting marks the fifteenth anniversary of the organized safety movement in St. Louis. "In that short time we have cut down accident hazards and saved many lives," Morsey said. "When the safety movement started here we were killing 110 workers annually in our industrial plants and injuring 10,000 others.

"There were but 48 industrial fatalities in St. Louis last year, and injuries have correspondingly decreased. This in spite of more workers engaged in our factories and in spite of the introduction of high-speed machinery."

Today has been declared "Safety Education Sunday" and the week "Safety Education Week" in a proclamation issued yesterday by Mayor Miller. Nearly 700 ministers in the St. Louis district have been asked to call attention to "Safety Week" from their pulpits today.

A general session will be held at Hotel Statler tomorrow morning, and after luncheon there will be five groups to consider safety problems as they concern public utilities, homes, construction, clay products manufacturers and small industrial plants. F. C. Lynch of Kansas City will preside at an advanced safety engineering meeting Monday night. Speakers will be Harry L. Sain of the Ohio State Industrial Commission and O. H. Day, director of vocational training in Kansas City public schools.

Sessions Monday forenoon will be devoted to petroleum, packing, metal and shoe industries and to street and highway safety. In the afternoon there will be one meeting for those interested in public safety and another for the industrial safety delegates. A banquet Tuesday night will close the congress.

STREET WIDENING MEETINGS

Projects on Gravois and Grand to Be Discussed.

Two meetings to discuss street widening projects, on Gravois avenue and Grand boulevard, will be held this week. The first, a regular meeting of the Gravois District Association, will be held at Gardenville School, Kingshighway boulevard and Gravois avenue, at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

The other, a meeting of the Grand Boulevard Association, will be held at St. Alphonsus' Church, Grand boulevard and Cook avenue, at 8 o'clock Thursday night, to advise taxpayers of details of the widening of Grand boulevard.

400 TO ATTEND MIDYEAR SESSION OF OIL REFINERS

Division of American Petroleum Institute to Meet Wednesday and Thursday.

OUTPUT AND SALE AMONG THE TOPICS

Testing of Anti-Knock Value of Fuels and Other Technical Subjects Will Be Considered.

Technical problems affecting the refining industry in the United States will be discussed at the first midyear meeting of the Division of Refining of the American Petroleum Institute, which will be held at Hotel Statler Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The refiners, engineers, chemists, technicians and others who will be present at the convention represent 400 separate refineries and a $5,000,000,000 section of the petroleum industry.

Included in the major topics for discussion are the determination of methods for testing the anti-knock values of motor fuels, the elimination of "vapor lock" and motor stoppage due to imperfect fuel-line designing, the selection of new materials for the construction of refinery pipes and stills, and the prevention of fire and disposal of waste in the industry.

Gasoline Production.

A feature of current interest will be a joint report of committees repsenting the Federal Oil Conservation Board and the Institute on estimates of production and consumption of crude and refined petroleum products, notably gasoline, for the period of April 1 to Sept. 30 of this year. R. C. Holmes, president of the Texas Co., and chairman of the Division of Refining, is directing the economic report.

As the institute committee represents in its membership many of the large refining companies of the country, it is expected that its report, going into detail on estimated demand, gasoline output, and the market situation, will provide refiners who visit the meeting an index to improvement of trade conditions in the industry.

The first session of the convention Wednesday afternoon will be built around two addresses and the report of a committee on testing methods and specifications for motor fuel, headed by K. G. Mackenzie of the Texas Co. H. C. Dickinson of the U. S. Bureau of Standards, will discuss "Progress Toward a Standard for Determining the Anti-Knock Value of Motor Fuels," and Oscar C. Bridgeman of the same Government division will speak on "Automobile Fuel Line Temperatures and Vapor Lock."

Round Table for Refiners.

A round table discussion among the refiners present will occur at the Wednesday night session, when reports of the Federal and institute committees on refinery economics and statistics will be presented.

Thursday's sessions are intended primarily for refinery engineers. Among the addresses are one on iron, chromium and nickel alloys in cracking coil service by H. D. Newell of Beaver Falls, Pa., and another on corrosion problems by A. E. Pew of Philadelphia.

Supplementing the addresses will be reports by committees which have studied corrosion of refinery equipment, fire prevention in refineries, disposal of waste and accident prevention. Meetings of the committees will be held throughout tomorrow and Tuesday at Hotel Statler in advance of the opening of the convention.

The Division of Refining is one of three sections of the American Petroleum Institute, the other two being devoted to production and marketing. The institute was founded in 1919 as an outgrowth of the National Petroleum War Service Committee, and now numbers more than 4000 members, all of whom are figures of importance in the industry.

The meeting this spring is of special significance in the history of the oil industry in America as it marks the seventieth anniversary of the building of the first oil refinery in the country, by William Barnsdall at Oil Creek, Pa., in 1861.

Price Reductions On Two Models of Federal Trucks

Substantial reductions of the prices of two Federal truck models are announced by the Philip Brockman Motor Co., distributer. The price of the ton and a half four-cylinder chassis is now $795, while that of the ton and a half six-cylinder chassis is $895.

These low prices are made possible by manufacturing economies recently effected, according to Brockman. There are no changes in design.

Federal Truck Co. officials report indications of an increased demand by domestic and foreign commercial car buyers.

General Motors Truck Survey of Laundry Delivering

When the laundryman is late in returning work, it probably is not his fault. In most cases, the blame rightly attaches to some woman down the street, whose bundle wasn't ready when he called for it, forcing him to wait, or to the absence of another from home, which occasioned a second call, or to special work, which had to be called for and delivered at irregular times.

These and other factors of delivery service which are vital problems to seven out of 10 laundries and cleaning and dyeing establishments, and the close relationship between the cost of operating trucks and profits of the business as a whole, are the subject of a national survey report issued by General Motors Truck Co. covering months of close and impartial study of trucking in the laundry and cleaning and dyeing industry.

The report, which is eleventh of a series being published each month by the truck company dealing intimately and expertly with conditions in each of the major truck-using industries, lays bare the facts concerning truck methods and costs in every section of the United States.

All Buick models embody this full range of features—not combined in any other car:

Valve-in-Head Straight Eight Engine

Advanced principles of design make this power plant exceptionally powerful, swift and smooth. Yet the Buick engine retains all the sturdiness and reliability for which Buick has been world-famous throughout 27 years.

Oil Temperature Regulator

Warms engine oil quickly on coldest days and automatically maintains normal operating temperature at rapid speeds, even in hottest weather. Results are better performance, greater stamina, longer engine life.

Air Intake Silencer

Silent-Shift Syncro-Mesh

Makes Buick drivers expert at noiseless, safe, gear-shifting. All gears mesh so smoothly and quickly that you can accelerate with remarkable swiftness. And when the need arises, you can shift instantly between high and second, utilizing the additional braking power of the engine, thus retaining complete control of the car.

Insulated Bodies by Fisher

Not only smartly styled, with spacious interiors richly appointed and upholstered in mohair, whipcord or broadcloth, but also skillfully insulated, like the finest homes, against noise, cold and heat.

Torque Tube Drive

Transmits driving power from the rear wheels to the frame, maintains more accurate alignment of all wheels and assures uniform brake action. The result is extreme steadiness on the road and ease of control at all speeds.

NEW BUILDING PROJECTS MAY TOTAL $2,500,000

Plans Just Disclosed Include New Telephone Exchange on Delmar and Clarendon.

OLIVE-BEAUMONT DEAL A MYSTERY

Alco Investment Co. Announces Proposal for 15 or 20 Houses to Cost From $13,000 to $24,000

By Berry Moore.

Plans were disclosed yesterday for building projects involving approximately $2,500,000, with construction scheduled to begin within the next few weeks. These heretofore unheralded projects, it is believed, point to a resumption of building operations on an appreciable scale.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has acquired a large site at the northeast corner of Delmar boulevard and Clarendon avenue for a dial exchange to replace the Forest exchange at 5144 Delmar boulevard. While nothing is given out to this effect, it is estimated that the building and equipment will approximate $1,500,000, as the initial expenditure. The site has been cleared, and excavation will begin without delay. Adjoining ground on Delmar on the east now occupied by flats, has also been acquired by the Southwestern for the ultimate expansion of the plant.

Incidentally, it was stated that 390 more telephones were installed than disconnected in Greater St. Louis, including St. Louis County, East St. Louis, Belleville and the Tri-Cities, in March, the first increased installations in 11 months, which is significant, taken as a barometer of business.

Purpose of Deal a Mystery.

There is speculation as to plans in connection with the southwest corner of Olive and Beaumont streets, 250 by 91 feet of vacant ground, purchased recently by W. H. Shetlon. A parcel of 44 by 91 feet at 2726-28 Olive street adjoining on the west, was bought yesterday by Richard T. Shelton, represented by the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. It was owned by the Castle Amuesment Co., a client of the C. M. McDonald Real Estate Co. This corner, with the adjoining ground on Olive street, it is said, has been under consideration for various large building enterprises. Its value has been enhanced by the building erected at the northeast corner of Olive and Beaumont by the Bell Telephone Co.

The cornerstone will be laid Sunday, April 26, at 3:45 p. m. for a $430,000 building for the retired sisters of Notre Dame Order, to occupy a 32-acre tract on Riverside drive, one-half mile north of the Chain of Rocks. Plans for the building were drawn by O'Meara & Hills, architects. The building contract has been awarded to the Mississippi Valley Construction Co.

Increase From U. S. Proposed.

As has been told, the new United States Treasury Department will open bids May 10 for clearing th block at the southeast corner o Twelfth and Market streets fo the new Federal Building, to cos $2,500,000. Construction is expected to be under way in June. Treasury officials have taken under consideration an increase in the Federal Building allocation for St Louis from $2,500,000 to $5,000, 000, recommended by the Federa Business Association of St. Loui through Congressman Dyer Treasury and Postoffice officials Dyer stated, were also considerin whether an addition should b made to the St. Louis Postoffic or a new Postoffice erected. # NEW BUILDING PROJECTS MAY TOTAL $2,500,000

Plans Just Disclosed Include New Telephone Exchange on Delmar and Clarendon.

OLIVE-BEAUMONT DEAL A MYSTERY

Alco Investment Co. Announces Proposal for 15 or 20 Houses to Cost From $13,000 to $24,000

By Berry Moore.

Plans were disclosed yesterday for building projects involving approximately $2,500,000, with construction scheduled to begin within the next few weeks. These heretofore unheralded projects, it is believed, point to a resumption of building operations on an appreciable scale.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has acquired a large site at the northeast corner of Delmar boulevard and Clarendon avenue for a dial exchange to replace the Forest exchange at 5144 Delmar boulevard. While nothing is given out to this effect, it is estimated that the building and equipment will approximate $1,500,000, as the initial expenditure. The site has been cleared, and excavation will begin without delay. Adjoining ground on Delmar on the east now occupied by flats, has also been acquired by the Southwestern for the ultimate expansion of the plant.

Incidentally, it was stated that 330 more telephones were installed than disconnected in Greater St. Louis, including St. Louis County, East St. Louis, Belleville and the Tri-Cities, in March, the first increased installations in 11 months, which is significant, taken as a barometer of business.

Purpose of Deal a Mystery.

There is speculation as to plans in connection with the southwest corner of Olive and Beaumont streets, 250 by 91 feet of vacant ground, purchased recently by W. H. Shetlon. A parcel of 44 by 91 feet at 2726-28 Olive street adjoining on the west, was bought yesterday by Richard T. Shelton, represented by the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. It was owned by the Castle Amuesment Co., a client of the C. M. McDonald Real Estate Co. This corner, with the adjoining ground on Olive street, it is said, has been under consideration for various large building enterprises. Its value has been enhanced by the building erected at the northeast corner of Olive and Beaumont by the Bell Telephone Co.

The cornerstone will be laid Sunday, April 26, at 3:45 p. m. for a $430,000 building for the retired sisters of Notre Dame Order, to occupy a 32-acre tract on Riverside drive, one-half mile north of the Chain of Rocks. Plans for the building were drawn by O'Meara & Hills, architects. The building contract has been awarded to the Mississippi Valley Construction Co.

Increase From U. S. Proposed.

As has been told, the new United States Treasury Department will open bids May 10 for clearing the block at the southeast corner of Twelfth and Market streets for the new Federal Building, to cost $2,500,000. Construction is expected to be under way in June. Treasury officials have taken under consideration an increase in the Federal Building allocation for St. Louis from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000, recommended by the Federal Business Association of St. Louis, through Congressman Dyer. Treasury and Postoffice officials, Dyer stated, were also considering whether an addition should be made to the St. Louis Postoffice, or a new Postoffice erected. An addition costing approximately $3,000,000, has been authorized to embrace the block bounded by Market, Seventeenth, Sixteenth and Walnut streets.

Comparatively few major building projects have materialized in St. Louis within the last three years, including notably the 28-story Park-Plaza Hotel at the southeast corner of Kingshighway and Maryland avenue, built by Sam, Harry and Nat Koplar; the St. Louis Mart, under constuction at the southwest corer of Twelfth and Spruce streets, designed by Preston J. Bradshaw, architect; the Continental Life Insurance Building on Olive street, just west of Grand boulevard, and the 14-story addition to the Melbourne Hotel, at Grand and Lindell boulevards, and 625 Skinker boulevard, a 16-story apartment building.

Large Hotel Apartment Plans.

As exhibited in architects' studios, plans have been made for several hotel apartments on a large scale, to be brought forward as soon as capital is available. Plans awaiting a more favorable attitude of banks and trust companies include those for office and commercial building projects, predicted on prevailing costs of construction.

The Alco Investment Co., of which Vincent Chinberg is president, announces plans for construction of 15 or 20 houses in the Moorlands and in other additions adjacent to the city on the west, ranging in cost from $13,000 to $24,000. In addition the company proposes to build a record number of flats.

Arrangements for building loans, involving between $500,000 and $600,000, have been made with the Anderson-Stocke - Buermann Co., which has financed many of the Alco's operations, which formerly were confined to apartment house construction.

Alco Co. Starts Residences.

The Alco already has begun construction of three, six, seven and eight room residences, with built-in garages, on Williams street, east of Glen Ridge in the Moorlands. The new houses will comprise six, seven and eight rooms with two baths and shower. Tile kitchens are mentioned as an attractive feature. Other sites in this and adjacent additions have been acquired with plans under way for buildings. The company has also started construction on houses at 434 Jackson and 7154 Cambridge in University City. Plans also include three houses on Stanford and two on Cornell, of six rooms each.

The Alco company has begun construction on eight single flats on Gannon avenue, west of the North and South road in University City and on two single flats at 7052-

HENRY R. WEISELS CO. OPENS NEW OFFICES

Real Estate Firm Moves to Telephone Building, Tenth and Pine.

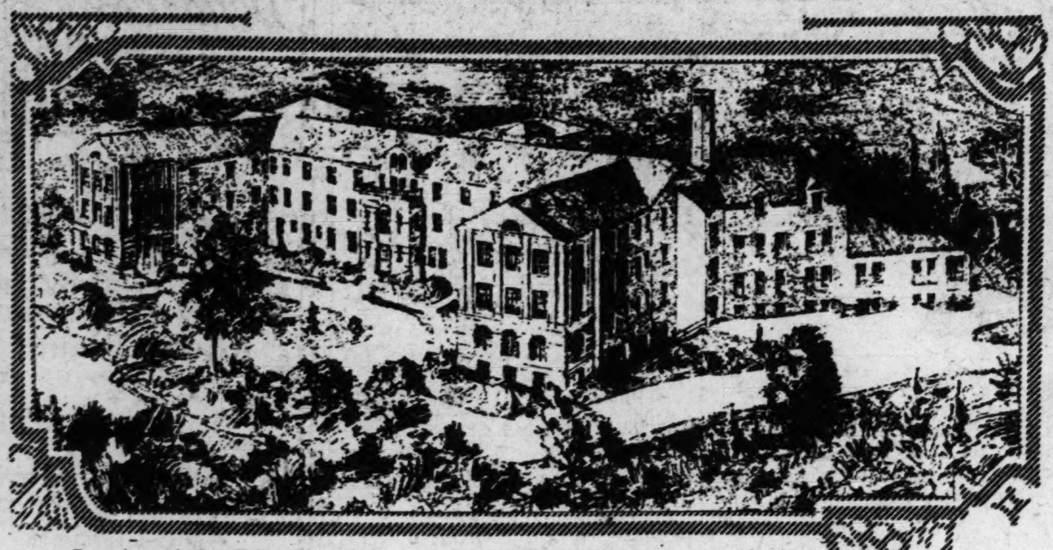
The new office of Henry R. Weisels Co., Inc., real estate dealers, 1000 Pine street, in the first-floor corner of the Bell Telephone Building, was opened yesterday. Weisels and his associates received many visitors. Floral offerings were abundant. Cigars and candy were served to the callers.

The offices are spacious and attractive. The principal desks are those of Weisels, president of the company; Arthur C. Hoehn, vice president; Edward S. Block, second vice president, and Arnold H. Maremont, secretary. The Kopman-Alport Construction Co. has taken space immediately above the Weisels offices.

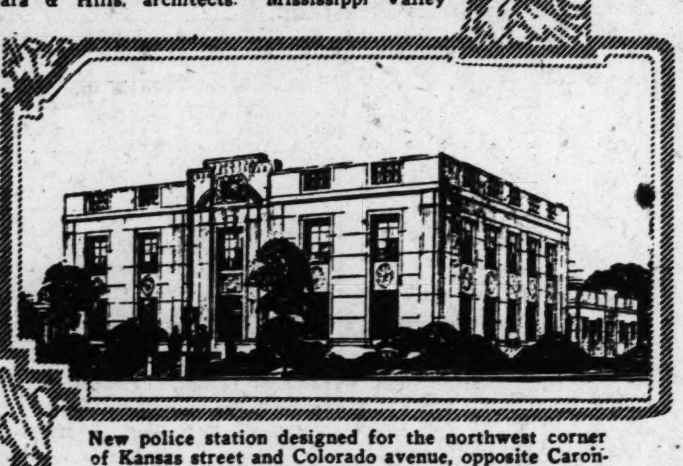
Weisels was formerly associated with Thomas H. Gerhart in the Weisels-Gerhart Realty Co. His offices formerly were at the corner of Eighth and Chestnut streets. There he built up a large business in real estate loans, rentals and promotions. One of his promotions was the Olive-Plaza building on Olive street, west of Twelfth boulevard. He negotiated the deal by which the late Nathan Frank acquired the west side of Twelfth, from Olive to Pine street.

Weisels Co., as told recently, is loan correspondent for the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Philadelphia, which has mortgages in force to the sum of $39,500,000.

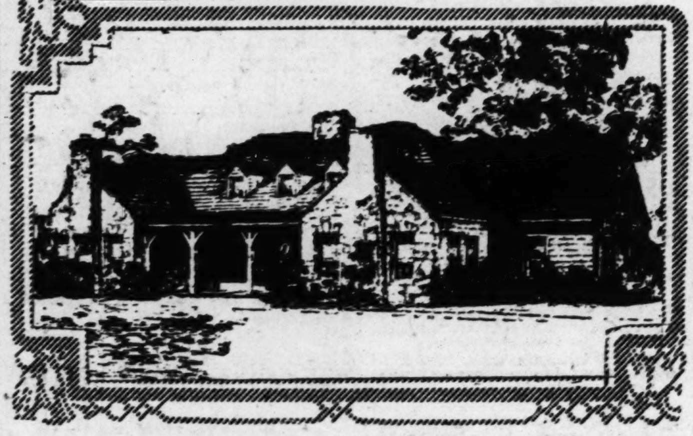
Retreat House Projected; Other Structures Planned



Drawing of the Villa Gesu to be erected on Riverside drive, one-half mile north of the Chain of Rocks, for aged sisters of Notre Dame Order. Estimated cost, $430,000. O'Meara & Hills, architects. Mississippi Valley Construction Co., contractors.



New police station designed for the northwest corner of Kansas street and Colorado avenue, opposite Carondelet Park. Klipstein & Rathmann, architects. Estimated cost, $160,000.



Residence for Mr. and Mrs. Burke Scanlon to be built on the Warson road.—J. Warren Teasdale, architect.

Building With Two Stories and Basement Will Face Carondelet Park—Pistol Range Is Provided

The St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners has authorized the erection of a police station at the northwest corner of Kansas street and Colorado avenue, facing Carondelet Park.

The building will have two stories and basement with a one-story garage at the north. The exterior of the building is to be of buff Bedford limestone; the garage is to be partly of limestone and partly of buff brick.

On the ground floor will be a public lobby, Captain's office, Desk Sergeant's office, receiving room for prisoners and holdover containing six cells.

On the second floor will be a large assembly room and quarters for detectives.

The south part of the basement will be occupied by a pistol range, adjoining this the locker room and shower and wash rooms for the patrolmen, a property room and the boiler room.

The garage will have capacity for 20 automobiles. Prisoners will be received in an inclosure at the west side of the building reached by means of a walled-in driveway from Kansas street. In this inclosure also will be an elevator leading to the property room.

The building will be heated by oil and the cells and pistol range are to be artificially ventilated.

The cost of the building will be $160,000.

BUILDING INDUSTRY SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

St. Louis Territory One of Six Areas Out of 13 Indicating Forward Movement.

A healthy sign in the construction industry is seen by F. W. Dodge Corporation in the expected seasonal but well distributed advance in all the 13 Dodge territories during March over the preceding month, February. A total of $370,406,300 in contracts awarded in the 37 states east of the Rockies, is reported for March, in comparison with $235,405,100 for February. This was divided into $101,337,600 for residential building, $117,346,900 for non-residential, and $151,721,800 for public works and utilities.

Although comparisons with March of last year are less optimistic, they do indicate a forward movement in six of the 13 territories. These were New England, with a $38,899,300 monthly total; Upstate New York, $17,065,300; Central Northwest, $9,765,500; Southern Michigan, $13,317,200, St. Louis, $16,960,300, and New Orleans with $14,496,600. Texas came within $200,000 of matching March of last year.

Results for the first quarter showed gains over the same period of 1930 in the New England, Central Northwest and New Orleans districts. The New England gain was due to public works and utilities. Residential and public works and utilities accounted for the go-ahead in the Central Northwest region. For the New Orleans territory the increase was due to gains in non-residential building and public works and utilities while residential building declined.

Metropolitan New York and Central Northwest registered quarterly gains over 1930 in residential building. Of the three major construction groups, this type building made the best relative showing for the quarter which ended with March, for it recorded only a 4 per cent loss from the first quarter of last year. The month of January accounted for this entire loss, with February showing a gain while March practically reached the total for March, 1930, its $101,337,600 nearly matching the $101,491,600 of March last year.

With the lower construction costs now obtainable, floor space is said to reflect new construction volume with perhaps more accuracy than valuation figures. On a floor space basis, residential contracts exceeded the corresponding quarter of 1930 by more than 2 per cent.

FIRST MORTGAGE FINANCING OF REALTY DROPS 52 PCT.

Figures for First Quarter of 1931 Compared by Nelson, Hunt & Co. to Those for Corresponding Period of 1930.

New first mortgage real estate financing in the United States during the first quarter of 1931 totaled $34,768,850, a decline of 52 per cent from the total for the corresponding period a year ago, according to the monthly investment review of Nelson, Hunt & Co., of Chicago.

Analysis shows that this drastic decline in new realty issues publicly offered by leading investment bankers was largely due to a 76 per cent decrease in the volume of new office and commercial building financing, which comprised about 42 per cent of the total offerings in the first quarter of 1930. Financing of a miscellaneous character also showed a 68 per cent decline from the total of $28,507,500 registered in the corresponding period last year, including several realty stock issues.

"A noteworthy feature of the first quarter of 1931," says the review, "is the fact that residential financing showed a 14 per cent increase over the same period of last year, having had a gradual rise in volume since the first of the year. Institutional financings, such as clubs, churches, colleges and hospitals also showed an increase, being nearly $5,000,000 ahead of last year."

Led by an increased volume of residential financing, new real estate issues publicly offered by leading investment houses in March totaled $15,863,000, an increase of 56 per cent over February. Exclusive of $7,625,000 in stock issues in March a year ago, this volume of financing was about 45 per cent greater this year, due to an increase of nearly $3,500,000 in new offerings on residential properties.

"The continued gain in residential financing in March," says the review, "undoubtedly reflects the gradual increasing demand for new living accommodations. Office building and institutional financing was about the same as last month and in February a year ago. There was, however, no stock financing of any kind this month and the volume of miscellaneous financing of property development was nearly 50 per cent less than in March a year ago.

"New York again led the country in the volume of new financing in March with a total of $9,725,000 as compared with $2,668,700 in February. Louisville, Ky., was second with a total of $1,500,000, and Davenport, Ia., was third with $1,000,000. Chicago reported four issues aggregating $658,000, and Baltimore, which for several months has been in second or third place, dropped to fifth with a total of but $500,000. Other cities reporting new offerings were Detroit, Dallas, Jacksonville, Wichita, New Orleans, Indianapolis and Milwaukee.

In the first quarter of 1931 New York investment houses continued to lead the country in the volume of new issues, reporting a total of $12,393,700. Baltimore was second with a total of $4,650,000, and St. Louis third with $4,575,000.

H. A. O'ROURKE SALES $573,885 FOR 3 MONTHS

H. A. O'Rourke, Inc., reports sales for the first quarter of 1931 of $573,885 and loans negotiated in that period of $85,000. They also report the sale of 23 properties during March, 1931, of which following is a partial list: 6144 Louisiana avenue, bungalow, to a client of Leon Schmoll; 4610 Louisiana, flat, to John A. Miller; 2863-65 South Eighteenth street, to Sterling Stoops; vacant on Meramec street, to a client; 3848-50 Missouri avenue, to Charles Sliter, flat; 7121 Michigan avenue, to Joseph T. Dunlap, flat; 7409 Alaska avenue, to a client, cottage; vacant on Toenges avenue, to Frank Ott; 3735 Evans, flat, to John Monnig; 5410 Finkman, bungalow, to Michael O'Gara; 3124-26 Texas, flat, to Hugh Bolgard; 3222 North Dakota, to John Firns, flat; 54 Arthur avenue, bungalow, to John Firns; 9407-9 Edgar, business property, to Edwin Schroeder; 4136 Minnesota, single, to Nicholas Dolis; 4135 Utah, bungalow, to a client; 1619 Ohio avenue, single, to Fred L. # APPRAISAL SESSION FOR REALTY DEALERS

Two Chicago Experts to Explain Fixing of Value on Property.

An appraisal conference for the members of the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange, sponsored by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, of which the St. Louis Exchange is a charter member, will be conducted next Thursday in the auditorium on the tenth floor of the Union Electric Building, 315 North Twelfth boulevard.

Mark Levy of Chicago, president of the Chicago Real Estate Board, and for the past two years chairman of the Brokers' Division of the national association, and Stanley Roe, of Mark Levy & Brothers of Chicago, will conduct this conference.

A residence, a commercial property and an apartment building in St. Louis have been selected for specific use in the conference. All available information on these properties, including photographs of the buildings and maps of the entire city, showing the location of the respective properties, have been collected and forwarded to the appraisers in Chicago, in order that they may acquaint themselves with the same. After their arrival here they will be taken for an inspection of the buildings and the general neighborhoods in which they are located and then at the conference, these appraisers will give a demonstration of their appraisals.

The conference will be divided into a morning and afternoon session. At the morning session, Levy will demonstrate the appraisal of the commercial property and Roe his appraisal of the residence. In the afternoon session, Levy will give an address on "Appraisal Reports" and Roe on his appraisal on the apartment property.

The members of the St. Louis Exchange have been supplied with a property brief setting forth all available information on each of the three properties and have been asked to make their appraisal of the same and after the demonstration of the appraisals by the conference leaders, round table discussion on each appraisal will be had and a comparison of appraisals by all those present will be made and discussed.

BAKEWELL NAMED AGENT FOR LOTS IN FORDYCE LANE

Edward L. Bakewell has been appointed agent for the owners of the unsold lots in Fordyce lane, located on the north side of the Ladue road, between the Price and Warson roads. There are 16 unsold lots in this exclusive subdivision, ranging in size from two to eight acres. The tract is adjacent to the homes of Joseph L. Werner, A. W. Shapleigh, Archie Lee, J. L. Lane, Dr. Hayward Post, Virgil A. Lewis, Robert Bagnell, J. V. Janes, and Arnold G. Stifel. The Ladue road has been concreted from the Clayton out to the Denny road. Lots in this subdivision are high, commanding extensive views.

NEW BUILDING PROJECTS MAY TOTAL $2,500,000

56 Tulane avenue in University City. These buildings will comprise four and five rooms and will be of attractive design, costing from $18,000 to $20,000. Several of the flats, which will include many attractive features, have already been leased from the plans.

Material for the Alco projects has been contracted for in the main, on the theory that prevailing prices are only temporary.

The Alco company has been an extensive builder of apartments in the West End and led in the upbuilding of Shaw's Lafayette Addition on the south side with building loans through the Anderson-Stocke-Buermann Co. It has withdrawn temporarily from apartment house construction. As a matter of fact there has been comparative little capital available for buildings of this type for a long time, while construction along this line is being discouraged by the banks and trust companies.

PARK DRUG CO. OPENS FIRST STORE HERE AT 711 WASHINGTON

The Park Drug Co., an independent corporation, will open its doors tomorrow in the storeroom formerly occupied by Shoe Mart, at 711 Washington boulevard.

According to D. C. Snyder, the manager, this is the first of a chain of 10 cut-price stores to be opened in Greater St. Louis. All will be of the old-fashioned variety, devoid of soda fountains and tables and adhering strictly to drugs, patent medicines, cosmetics, sick room supplies, cigars and tobacco.

The store was leased from Walter B. Huette by I. T. Krohn, president of the corporation, through the Glick Real Etsate Co. and Martin Breitt.

STOCK TRADE IS DULLEST SINCE EARLY IN FEBRUARY

Security and Commodity Prices Drag Along Wearily During Week—Index Level of 90 Issues Shows Negligible Change.

SELLING YESTERDAY FOLLOWING UPTURN

Advance Dwindles Toward the Close and a Representative Group Finishes With Small Net Losses—Copper Price Is Firmer.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Security and commodity prices dragged wearily this week.

The stock market stalled in dead center during the latter part of the week, finishing with a net loss of about 1¾ points from the preceding Saturday, as measured by the price index of 90 stocks.

The listed bond market was depressed by a break in the Brazilians, and by further selling of the railroad obligations. Furthermore, the listed market had to compete with some $300,000,000 in new security issues, the largest in two years, exclusive of an offering of $275,000,000 in U. S. Treasury certificates.

Commodity markets stiffened somewhat toward the end of the week. Most of the weekly price indices were lower, however, the Annalist Index recording a new bottom since 1914. Groups notably heavy in most tabulations were farm products, hides, textiles and chemicals.

Dullest Week Since August.

The week in the stock market was the dullest since the first week of February. For the last three days of the week, the market drifted without significant trend. The price index of 90 issues showed negligible change.

The market is inclined to break out of a trance like that with a sharp movement in one directio[illegible] or the other. In February, i[illegible] broke out on the upside.

The rails have been conspicuously heavy group, breaking dow[illegible] to the low level of last December or recording a double bottom fo[illegible] the bear market. It was notabl[illegible] that the carrier issues seemed t[illegible] meet support at those levels. How ever, trading was so dull that th[illegible] support was not thoroughly teste[illegible]

Call money on the Stock Ex change shot up to 2½ per cent o[illegible] Monday, the highest since the tur[illegible] of the year. This reflected primar ily Government withdrawals [illegible] bank balances. Money again re newed on Wednesday at 1½ p[illegible] cent.

Saturday's Trade a Stand Off.

Late selling followed early bu[illegible] ing in today's stock market and th[illegible] net result was a stand off.

It was an unimpressive perform ance at best, for the short sessi[illegible] yielded the smallest Saturday tur[illegible] over since Aug. 2, sales being 61[illegible] 740 shares.

Prices rallied a point or t[illegible] during the first hour, desp[illegible] weakness in two or three industri als, but the advance dwindl[illegible] toward the close and a represent[illegible] tive group finished with small [illegible] losses. Johns-Manville, down m[illegible] than 5 points in reflection of t[illegible] first quarter earnings, Westin[illegible] house, off 1 to a new low si[illegible] 1927, and McKeesport Tin Pl[illegible] which lost 4, were the chief [illegible] spots.

It was a dull market for [illegible] rails, although their steadiness [illegible] better than a renewal of selli[illegible] Steels and utilities displayed [illegible] best tone, while the rally last[illegible] yet they gave up most of th[illegible] gains. It was an unimpressive performance at best, for the short session yielded the smallest Saturday turnover since Aug. 2, sales being 615,740 shares.

Prices rallied a point or two during the first hour, despite weakness in two or three industrials, but the advance dwindled toward the close and a representative group finished with small net losses. Johns-Manville, down more than 5 points in reflection of the first quarter earnings, Westinghouse, off 1 to a new low since 1927, and McKeesport Tin Plate, which lost 4, were the chief soft spots.

It was a dull market for the rails, although their steadiness was better than a renewal of selling. Steels and utilities displayed the best tone, while the rally lasted, yet they gave up most of their gains. United States Steel, after rising a point, closed ⅛ higher. There were very nominal net advances in Bethlehem, American Telephone, Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio, Nash and a few others. Equally small losses appeared in Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Can, New York Central, Pennsylvania Union Carbide and North American.

Gillette, Allied Chemical, Du Pont and Lambert closed about a point lower. American Tobacco "B" made a new 1931 high, but lost half its 2-point rise. Prairie Pipe, Libby Owens, National Surety, International Cement and Union Pacific were moderately strong. Auburn bounced up 12½ to the new top of 286½, but reacted 8 points from the high.

LOCAL STOCKS ARE QUIET WITH LOWER DRIFT

Changes Are for Most Part Only Fractional—A Few Securities Close at Better Price Levels.

Trading on the St. Louis Stock Exchange continued of light volume during the past week, but with a lower price tendency. Losses for the period, however, were generally of a fractional character. A few securities moved against the general trend. In the latter group was National Candy with upward range of half a point. First National Bank was higher on a small volume of sales.

SAYS SINCLAIR WILL BE MADE RIO GRANDE OIL CHAIRMAN

Meeting of Board Reported Scheduled for Monday at El Paso.

By the Associated Press.

EL PASO, Tex., April 11.—Lynn Lockhart of Phoenix, Ariz., a director of the Rio Grande Oil Co., said today that Harry F. Sinclair would be elected chairman of the board of Rio Grande Oil Co. at a meeting of the board here Monday.

Sinclair, chairman of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, may be present for the meeting, Lockhart said.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11. — Wall street hears that at a special meeting of directors of Rio Grande Oil Co., to be held Monday at El Paso, Tex., Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the board of Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, will be offered the newly created post of chairman of the board of Rio Grande.

The report said that election of Sinclair to head the board of Rio Grande does not mean that a merger of the two companies has been consummated, or that there has been any purchase of additional shares. On the contrary, it was said, the present time is not held propitious for a merger. For some time Sinclair has been reported negotiating for acquisition of Rio Grande Oil.

Frisco Asks Bonds Authorization.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11. — The St. Louis & San Francisco Railway Co. today applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to issue $1,295,000 worth of prior lien 5 per cent bonds and $2,074,000 of consolidated mortgage 4½ per cent bonds.

$7,781,650 in Gold Arrives.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—A shipment of $7,781,650 in gold has arrived in New York on the steamer Southern Prince from the Banco de la Nacion Argentina, of Buenos Aires.

Of the total $5,000,000 was consigned to the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York and $2,781,650 to the Chase National Bank.

Ask Stock and Bond Issue Authorization.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe Railroad today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to issue 55,000 shares of common stock and one general mortgage bond of $4,000,000 to repay the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe for advances of cash.

STOCK TRADE IS DULLEST SINCE EARLY IN FEBRUARY

and blistered stocks declined in March—tinted the week-end news. Steel operations in the Youngstown zone will be lower next week, according to the estimate made by one source, but the decline will be a matter of 1 point against drops of 3 points in each half of the past fortnight. The market for pipe is heavy, although demand for some other line seems to have improved slightly.

Bonds and commodities firmed. Railroad liens reflected improved demand as a result of the week's declines. Wheat closed unchanged to half a cent higher in response to better export sales. Corn's position was about the same, small country offerings, moderate receipts and firm cash markets figuring in the narrow advance. July cotton, at its best, was $1.50 above Friday's low. Futures ranged 55 to 65 cents net higher. Bar silver rose ⅛ cent.

Foreign exchanges were slightly easy, but changes indicated little more than week-end dullness. The French franc was firm. Dutch guilders, German marks and Swiss francs sagged.

WEEK'S METAL REVIEW

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Absorption of limited offerings of copper at concessions accounted for a steadier tone, and at the close of the week no metal was available under large producers' quotations of 10 cents for electrolytic delivered in the Connecticut Valley. At one time a moderate volume of metal was sold by a custom smelter at 9½ cents, but increased domestic buying interest developed at this and the 9¾-cent level. Foreign consumers also re-entered the market and fair export sales were reported.

Tin reacted further early in the week, reflecting reopening weakness of the London market and indifference of buyers. Consumers re-entered the market at the decline, but were said to have satisfied needs, as buying tapered off late in the week.

Lead remained quiet and steady. Buying was of a hand-to-mouth character, with April business slow in developing.

Zinc sold off to the lowest price in 30 years, under increased selling pressure. Buyers were out of the market, although some interest developed at the decline.

Demand for antimony continued stagnant, with pressure of small lots causing easiness.

Dry Goods Market Review.

NEW YORK, April 11.—An easier tone was noted in print cloths and sheetings today although statistically the markets seem to be in a strong position. Burlaps showed a little firmer tone following the firmness at Calcutta. Raw silk showed little change. Moderate buying of flannels and other reasonable wool goods continued. Rayon manufacturers anticipated a gain in output as the year goes on. Linens for spot delivery for suit and dress purposes were active.

DOMESTIC COPPER PRICE ADVANCED TO 10 CENTS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The price of copper advanced a quarter of a cent to 10 cents a pound, delivered, today in the domestic market, the result of a better demand and an improved statistical situation.

The rise came after more than a week in which custom smelters sold the metal at 9½ and 9¾ cents a pound. Today all of the custom smelters were at 10 cents, delivered, bringing the domestic price back to a parity with the export quotation, which held at 10:30 cents a pound, despite the concessions in the domestic market.

Although foreign sales continued small, they are expected to improve with the appearance of demand in the domestic market.

The improved statistical situation was disclosed in the March figures issued by the American Bureau of Metal Statistics, which showed a continuation of the decrease in stocks which has been evident since the first of the year.

Stocks of refined and blister copper in the United States and South America declined to 553,016 short tons at the end of March, from 556,853 tons in February and 574,464 tons in January.

Refined copper stocks declined during March to 354,205 tons as of March 31, from 363,629 tons at the end of February.

Production of refined copper last month, however, showed an increase to 102,058 tons, compared with 99,853 tons in February, but was still appreciably below production of 127,064 tons in March of 1930.

March shipments increased to 111,482 tons, from 100,051 tons in February. They also showed a considerable gain over shipments of 104,167 tons for March last year.

New York Bank Statement.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The weekly statement of the New York Clearing House shows: Total surplus and undivided profits $3,870,000, increase; total net demand deposits ,average( $100,907,000, decrease; time deposits (average) $6,129,000, decrease; clearings, week ending today, $5,798,985,151; clearings week ending April 4, $6,823,830,673.

RAILROAD BONDS RISE IN WEEK-END TRADE

Activity Is Restricted—German Bonds Are a Feature of Session.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11. — The bond market advanced today, particularly railroad obligations, which have been weak recently, and foreign issues.

Trading was restricted even for a short session. Sales totaled $4,00,000 compared with $12,600,000 on Friday and $5,200,000 a week ago.

Marked activity in German bonds featured the foreign group. Several issues of the German Agricultural Bank benefited most from this movement. Argentine and Brazilian bonds were active also but their trend was irregular. With very few exceptions trading in most other foreign issues was dull and no sales at all were reported for a large number of them.

The latter statement applies also to the issues of the United States Government, which closed with slight gains.

The upturn in railroad obligations was general and might have been expected after the successive declines which this group has experienced recently.

Most industrial and public utility issues were quiet but firm. Pacific Gas & Electric jumped 2 points to close at 104¾ on a few sales. Most other gains in these groups were narrow fractions.

FINANCIAL NOTES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Forty-six of the major airplane manufacturers report a total production of 172 commercial and military airplanes valued at $1,864,115, according to the February copyright report of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce. Sales of commercial and military airplanes during February totaled 163 units, valued at $1,923,474. Production of commercial airplanes increased from 59 units, valued at $248,435 in January, to 88 units, with a value of $562,480, in February, the report shows. Sales of commercial airplanes kept pace with production as a majority of the manufacturers maintained their policy of producing to order rather than increasing their inventory.

Effective May 1, the National Transit Co. will reduce its pipe-line carrying charges 2 cents to 5 cents a barrel on crude oil.

Contracts for electrical equipment have rebounded to full strength in the eastern district, recording the best week's business so far this year, Electrical World reports. Middle West and Coast orders show some improvement, but not to so marked a degree. Trading in other markets is fair.

The Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad has ordered 100 flat cars from the General American Car Co., Railway Age reports. Sheffield Farms Co. has ordered 12 milk tank cars from General American-Pfaundler Corporation. The Minneapolis & St. Louis has ordered four gas-electric rail motor cars from the St. Louis Car Co.

Silver—Additional strength was displayed by bar silver. In New York the metal rose a quarter of a cent to 28⅜ cents an ounce. An advance of 1-16 of a penny, to 13 pence, was recorded in the London market.

Trading on the New York Stock Exchange today was the dullest for any Saturday in eight months. Sales, including inactives, totaled only 615,740, the lightest Saturday since Aug. 2, 1930, when the total was 366,000.

The Chicago & Alton Railroad, one of the first of the carriers to report March results, reported net operating income of $31,867, compared with $91,149 in March of 1930.

Enlargement of trading facilities to provide for trading in a new prime summer yellow contract in cottonseed oil was announced by W. C. Rossman, secretary of the New York Produce Exchange. The new arrangement will give the trade two contracts in which to operate.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Raw sugar was quiet today. Some Philippines due next week were said to be available at concessions from last paid prices of at 3.33 delivered, with buyers showing no interest, and the only sale reported was 900 bags of Philippines for June-July shipment to an operator at 3.48c.

Futures opened 1 point lower to higher with the near months lower under liquidation, while the later deliveries were steadier on covering and some Cuban support. The demand was not aggressive, however, and toward the close offerings increased a little and prices reacted with the market closing net unchanged to 1 point lower. Trading on the whole was of small proportions, and mostly in the way of evening up for over the week-end adjournment with approximate sales only 7450 tons. May closed 1.29c, July 1.38c, September, 1.46c, December 1.55c, January 1.57c, March, 1.63

Refined was unchanged at 4.50c for fine granulated with good withdrawals but no new business.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET TRANSACTIONS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Bond sales on the New York Stock Exchange today were $5,400,000, compared with $12,600,000 yesterday, $5,200,000 a week ago and $6403,000 a year ago. Total sales from Jan. 1 to date were $798,290,000, compared with $896,698,000 a week ago and $740,905,000 a year ago.

Quotations on all Liberty bonds are in dollars and thirty-seconds of a dollar. That is, for instance, a sale printed 99—24 means $99 and 24 thirty-seconds of a dollar, and not $99.24.

Following is a complete list of bonds traded in on the New York Stock Exchange today, giving sales, highest, lowest and closing prices. In sales, 000 omitted:

EXTREME DULLNESS FEATURE OF CURB

Smallest Two-Hour Session Since Last August—Gains Predominate.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The Curb Market had one outstanding characteristic today—extreme dullness.

Sales aggregated 179,200 shares, the smallest total for a two-hour session since Aug. 23, 1930, when the turnover amounted to 122,300 shares. Total sales in numerous stocks consisted of single small transactions and no sales at all were reported in many others. A mere glance at the complete list of sales was sufficient to suggest the character of the trading.

Closing quotations revealed more gains than declines among the net changes, but the volume was so small in many cases that it would be unfair to say that the market had a definite trend.

Agfa Ansco, Aluminum Co. of America preferred, Community Water Service, Electric Bond & Share, Pilot Radio Tube and Saxet appreciated in vary degrees.

WHEAT FUTURES SCORE GAINS IN WEEK-END TRADE

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, April 11.—Wheat futures closed the final session of the week with a small advance, corn also being higher.

The news in the wheat market included report of 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat being taken for export, bringing week's total up to 5,000,000, report of decreasing supplies at Liverpool, comment on moisture situation in spring wheat belt and report of 3⅜ to 4¾c advance in European continental markets for the week. On other hand Canadian wheat stocks were reported at largest total ever attained at this season of year.

Liverpool closed ⅜d to ½d higher.

The Winnipeg market closed 1⅛c to 1½c higher.

The news in market included a comment that European breadstocks were decreasing and report of absence of rain in spring wheat country.

July wheat opened at 60, Sept. wheat 58½, May corn 60⅝, July corn 62½ and Sept. corn 60½.

In the cash grain market Saturday, soft wheat was firm. Prices were steady. There was a good demand generally with shipping outlet improved. Sales were mainly at yesterday's top levels. Offerings were light and cleared readily to local mills, elevators and shippers. Sales of No. 1 were on a basis 1½c to 2c below the Chicago old May figure and No. 2 at 2½c below. Hard wheat was steady. There were only a few cars on sale, and except for a car of No. 1 which sold at 81c, all were firmly held at 81½c and carried over. The sale of No. 1 was on a basis 2c below the Chicago old May figure. Mills and elevators generally bid 81c for No. 1. Corn was ½c to 2c higher. Discounts, however, were ½c and 1c longer. The available supply was in pretty good volume and cleared closely, the bulk going to elevators. Oats were steady to ½c higher. Offerings cleared closely. There was a good local demand.

Local wheat receipts, which were 49,000 bu., compared with 127,400 last week and 99,400 last year, included 21 cars local and 14 through. Corn receipts, which were 78,400 bu., compared with 114,800 last week and 137,200 last year, included 47 cars local and 9 through. Oats receipts, which were 94,600 bu., compared with 184,400 last week and 50,600 last year, included 31 cars local and 12 through. Hay receipts were 21 cars local and 6 through.

BROADER EXPORT DEMAND IS HELP TO WHEAT PRICE

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Broadening export demand for North American wheat and decreasing supplies overseas tilted grain prices upward most of the time today. Dry weather comment from spring wheat areas of this country and Canada lent a further advantage to bulls. However, buying ardor was curbed by an estimate that Canadian stocks of wheat were 275,000,000 bushels, the largest total ever attained at this time of the season, exceeding by 40,000,000 bushels the record a year ago.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to ⅛c higher, corn ⅛c off to ⅛c up, oats at ⅛c decline to ⅛c advance and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

Wheat owed much of its strength to estimates that 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat had been taken for trans-Atlantic shipment in addition to previous purchases, making the aggregate for this week 5,000,000 bushels. In connection with advices that European supplies of wheat and flour were showing a notable decrease, Liverpool said stocks in British ports now totaled 12,560,000 bushels, a falling off of 7,160,000 since Jan. 1. Moreover, European continental markets were 3⅜-4¾c a bushel higher for the week and Antwerp reported that United States No. 1 hard winter wheat just arrived from the Gulf of Mexico had been bought at 77¼ cents.

Crop alarm possibilities, unless the spring wheat region both south and north of the Canadian boundary received moisture soon, were emphasized by overnight absence of rain. Reports said some rain and snow had fallen during the week, but that the dampening was meager compared to a normal supply. In contrast, advices regarding domestic winter wheat growth were extremely favorable as a rule, but traders kept alert for the crop mishaps that usually influence prices during April and May.

Corn and oats averaged higher, responsive to the action of wheat, but as a result of profit taking the best prices for feed grains were not maintained.

Provisions reflected the upward trend of grains.

HOG MARKET SHOWS DECLINE FOR WEEK

Top Price of $8.25 for Period Is Recorded Early — Saturday's Session Is Uneven.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., April 11 (U. S. Department of Agriculture).—Cattle receipts here the past week aggregated approximately 12,500 head as compared with an official count of 11,825 for the previous week and 12,355 for the corresponding week a year ago. Uneven trends were again in evidence, advancing prices featuring the week's early trade with a subsequent reaction that wiped out early gains and put some classes on a basis below that of the week previous. Compared with closing deals the preceding week steers, mixed yearlings, heifers and bulls sold steady to 25c lower; all cow stuff steady; vealers $1.25 lower and stocker and feeder cattle unchanged. Tops for the week were: 572 and 662 lb. heifers, $9.15; 880-lb. yearling steers and 739-lb. mixed yearlings, $9.00; 1105-lb. matured steers, $8.90; cows, $6.50; medium bulls, $4.75; vealers, $9.75; stocker steers, $8.00.

No weighty steers were included in the week's supply, medium weights falling in the weight spread of 1201 to 1282 lbs. establishing a range of $6.75 to $8.85 and bulking at $7.75 to $8.75, while other medium weights from 1104 to 1190 lbs. bulked at $7.00 to $8.25 within a range of $6.25 to $8.90. Light weight and yearling types showed a spread of $6.00 to $9.00 with bulk selling from $6.60 to $8.25 and inside bulk $7.00 to $8.00. Bulk of all steers cashed at $6.60 to $8.50. Most fat steers sold from $7.75 to $8.75; fat mixed yearlings and heifers $7.25 to $8.25; medium fleshed mixed yearlings and heifers, $6.00 to $7.00; cows $4.75 to $5.50; low cutters, $2.75 to $3.00; stocker and feeder steers, $6.50 to $7.60. Closing vealer top, $8.25; medium bulls $4.75. Bulk and top prices the corresponding week last year were as follows: Steers, $9.50 to $12.60, top $12.75; fat mixed yearlings and heifers, $11.00 to $12.00, top $12.75; medium fleshed mixed yearlings and heifers $10.00 to $10.75; cows, $7.50 to $8.75, top $9.75; low cutters, $4.50 to $5.50; top sausage bulls, $8.00; top vealers, $12.75; bulk of stocker and feeder steers, $8.35 to $10.50, top $11.35.

Most Hogs Lower for Week.

Marketings of swine totaled around 59,500 this week compared with actual arrivals of 55,586 last week and 80,003 corresponding week last year. The market continued to fluctuate during the period, top price reaching $8.25 early in the week and settling at $7.90 at the close. Compared with the average trade of last Saturday, most hogs finished 15c to 25c lower; pigs and sows 10c to 15c lower. The Saturday session was rather uneven. Lighter weights sold steady to 10c lower than the average of Friday while weighty butchers ruled steady to 10c higher and pigs and sows remained unchangd. Bulk of all 140 to 225 pound averages realized $7.75 to $7.90, latter price top and paid quite freely. Some 230-lb. butchers also sold within the above spread. Most 235 to 260-lb. butchers went at $7.50 to $7.65 and one load of choice 283-pound averages also commanded the $7.50 terms. A bunch of 315-pound descriptions scored $7.25. Betetr 100 to 140 pound pigs and light lights cleared at $7.50 to $7.90 and packing sows bulked at $6.35 and $6.40 within a practical range of $6.25 to $6.50.

Sheep Strong to Higher.

Marketings of sheep and lambs figured around 9900 head this week, compared with actual receipts of 9143 last week and 10,245 similar week last year. Fat lambs advanced about 50 cents early in the week but most of the gain was erased, leaving values strong to 25c higher for the week. Spring lambs declined substantially in the supplies and sales were hardly sufficient to fix quotations. Fat ewes were scarce and held about steady, while wethers encountered pressure and declined 25c. While a small lot of choice wooled lambs realized $9.50, practical top for the week was $9.25 and several loads earned $9 to $9.25. Less desirable woolskins sold at $8.50 and below, throwouts down to $7. One prime load of 80-lb. clipped lambs topped for this class at $9.50, a somewhat outside figure, practical top on this class being $9. Bulk of clipped lambs cleared at $7.50 to $8.50, throwouts $6.50 to $7. A few sales of spring lambs were recorded at $12 to $13.50. Several loads of two-year-old clipped Texas wethers earned $5.50 and $5.75 with aged Texas wethers at $4.50 to $4.75. Fat ewes were salable from $3.50 to $4.50.

Horses and Mules.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, April 11.—Fair activity was noted in horses and mules the past week. Demand favored horses and sales were firm in practically all kinds. Approximately 300 head sold at auction. The mule trade was steady in the cheaper grades but some lower in the others. About 350 mules cleared at auction.

NATIVE HORSE QUOTATIONS.

BUSINESS NOTES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Introduction of a complete line of electrical household items into furniture stores throughout the metropolitan area of New York was undertaken this week by a manufacturer. The plan, regarded as a means of developing new outlets, will be introduced in other parts of the country if it proves successful in New York.

Manufacturing conditions in the flat-glass trade are holding along substantially unchanged lines, with no new developments of note during the week, the American Glass Review says. Distribution is being maintained at about the same levels.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES NEAR BEST LEVEL OF THE DAY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Cotton was higher tdoay on trade buying and week-end covering which sent the price of July contracts up to 10.58c or 15 points above yesterday's closing quotations and 36 points above the low level of Friday. This bulge met considerable realizing or renewed liquidation but offerings were absorbed on slight setbacks. July closed at 10.55c with the general market closing steady at net advances of 11 to 13 points. Spot steady, middling 10.30c.

The opening was steady 1 to 12 points higher. There was some selling of near months in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables, but later deliveries were influenced by covering and trade buying. Near months firmed up right after the opening and the general market advanced on fairly active buying which was supposed to reflect an improvement in the technical position after the declines earlier in the week. May contracts sold up to 10.36c and October to 10.90c, making net advances of 14 to 16 points, and the market closed within a few points of the best.

While Liverpool did not fully meet the local rallies of yesterday afternoon, houses with continental and Liverpool connections were among the buyers here during the early trading. This helped to absorb the early offerings, and selling later was in comparatively small volume, while considerable covering developed on the advance.

No special news factor was generally mentioned in connection with the buying, but there was some comment on recent reductions in estimates of foreign crops and a report stating that the world's cotton crop for 1930-31 now promised to be about 25,500,000 bales compared with 26,300,000 last season. Reports of showers and rather low temperature in some sections of the South may have contributed to the disposition to cover short contracts for over the week-end but the steadiness of the market in the face of disappointing Liverpool cables was most generally attributed to the technical position.

Liverpool cables said that continental buying and trade calling had been supplied by liquidation in that market. The amount of cotton on shipboard at U. S. ports awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 93,161 bales against 117,216 last year.

INDICATES CANADA WILL OK ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Indications that Canada would act favorably on the St. Lawrence waterway project—were given Secretary Stimson today by R. J. Manion, Canadian Minister of Railways and Canals.

During a conference at the State Department, the Minister told the Secretary he thought the Washington Government could expect a favorable reply soon from Canada. An American note last September asked the attitude of the Government of Premier R. B. Bennett toward the project.

Hanford MacNider, American Minister to Canada, who flew here yesterday with Manion on a private visit, was among those who attended the conference.

The Canadian cabinet member recalled to the Secretary, that Bennett, since his first speech in the campaign which elected him, had advocated the waterway.

The conference was the first on the proposed waterway to take place in Washington since the recent visit of Bennett to the Capital. At that time, it was understood the Premier discussed the question informally with President Hoover after a dinner at the White House.

IN MEMORIAM

BREDENKOETTER—In memory of Mrs. Annie Bredenkoetter, who passed away April 12, 1925.
What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see, her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again,
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each others hand once again,
In Heaven, that happy life.
Sadly missed by her HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

CALLAHAN—In loving memory of our darling son, (Buddy) Joseph F. Callahan Jr., age 12 years, who departed this life suddenly one year ago, April 12, 1930.
You were a flower too sweet for us,
Sent here but for a while,
God marked you when he gave you life,
And took you with a smile.
The shock was short, the pain severe,
To part from our darling we loved so dear.
Sadly missed by
MOTHER, DADDY, AUNT RUTH AND ALL WHO LOVED HIM.

CHESNIK-BACKMAN—In blessed memory of dear Lillian, died April 15, 1929.
Oh, how heavy and sad our hearts were
When the death dew fell on her brow so fair.
The day she left us will never be forgotten,
No more on earth will we see her smiling face.
Though the snow and rain will drift on her lonely bed,
No breath of sorrow can touch her brow,
The dear one that we loved so much.
Yet why do we weep, she is not dead;
She is now sitting close to the Savior's feet.
If she could speak to her loved ones today, she would say:
"Don't cry, for I was prepared and not afraid to die."
Remembered forever.
MOTHER, FATHER, and all those who loved her.

EIFER, ADOLPH—Who passed away April 12, 1929.
Two years have passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away.
God took him home; it was His will.
Within our hearts he liveth still.
Sadly missed by WIFE.

FORNUFF, PHILIP—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Philip Fornuff, who departed this life, Jan. 14, 1930:
One year has passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away;
God took him home, it was His will;
Within our heart he liveth still.
Sadly missed by
WIFE and CHILDREN and GRANDCHILDREN.

FARMER, JAMES A.—In loving memory, who passed away April 13, 1930.
One year has passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away;
God took him home, it was His will;
Within our hearts he liveth still.
Sadly missed by
WIFE AND CHILDREN.

HUBER—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Frank J. Huber, who departed this life April 11, 1930.
Just one year ago we parted,
In a way that God thought best;
But our love still lingers
And will until we are laid to rest.
Sadly missed by
WIFE AND CHILDREN.

LEIGHTON—In loving memory of my dear husband and father, Charles B. Leighton, who passed away April 8, 1920, gone but not forgotten.
Sadly missed by wife and children and all who loved him.
ANNA LEIGHTON AND CHILDREN. (c)

MERKEL—In loving memory of my dear sister and aunt, Mathilda Merkel, who passed away one year ago, April 14, 1930:
More and more each day we miss her,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within our hearts concealed.
Sadly missed by
BROTHER AND FAMILY.

MOORE, RALPH A.—In loving memory, who died suddenly April 9, 1927.
Sadly missed by
PARENTS AND BROTHER. (c)

BICKERT, FRANK—Who departed this life on April 11, 1930:
More and more each day we miss him,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
Sadly missed by CHILDREN.

RIPPLE—In loving memory of my dear husband, August Ripple, who departed this life April 13, 1930.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days,
Sincere and true in his heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.
Sadly missed by Wife and All Who Loved Him.

SHULTZ—In memory of John V. Shultz, died April 14, 1928.
Missed by WIFE AND SON.

SPRINGMEYER—Died April 16, 1927. In loving memory of our dear father, Frank H. Springmeyer.
You are not forgotten, father, dear;
Never shall you be,
As long as life and memory last,
We shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by his SON, HERMAN; DAUGHTER-IN-LAW, KATHERINE; GRANDCHILDREN, MILTON AND EMILY, AND BABY MILTON JR. (c)

WEBER—In loving memory of Philip Weber, who departed this life one year ago, April 14, 1930.
Sadly missed by
BROTHER, HENRY WEBER, AND MRS. E. POLENZ, MRS. G. FINK AND MRS. J. MIER. (c)

WEIMANN-KREBS — In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Bertha Weiman-Krebs, who departed this life March 18, 1930. Gone, but not forgotten.
MOTHER AND CHILDREN. (c)

WESTFALL—In loving memory of John C. Westfall, who died April 12, 1929.
In our home he is fondly remembered;
Sweet memories cling to his name;
Those who loved him in life sincerely
Still love him in death just the same.
Sadly missed by WIFE AND SON.

SALESMEN WANTED

Specialty Salesmen

Boys, when salesmen make two to four hundred dollars a week with a specialty there must be something to it. There is! First: Four $15 sales daily pay you $280 weekly. Second: World's largest firms—Sears Roebuck, McCaskey Register, National Radio, National Brake Service—and scores of others nationally known are among our customers. The smallest business can use it! Two sizes. One costs $2.50—sells $7.50; your profit $5 and more, as your sales increase. Other size costs $5—sells $15; your profit $10 and more; no salesman working regularly makes less than $11.67 per sale on this size! Think of that! Guaranteed to bring customer ten times its cost in actual cash. Customer gets signed certificate of guarantee protecting him, backed by a national organization. Very few business men are so foolish as to turn down a proposition guaranteed to pay ten for one, with proof from leading concerns of the world that it does pay.

An enormous repeat business. Tremendous profits from sub-agents—your subagents have more margin than total profit on 99 out of 100 other specialties. You get profit on all mail order business from exclusive territory. Every customer is a prospect for two or three times the initial amount on your second call. Every customer recommends others to you. If you get ready to quit you have an established route that can be sold like any other business.

Here's what our men make: $165 first day made by E. H. Walker, Georgia; $4920 in 3 months cleared by E. Foyer, California; $1500 a month for M. L. Tardy; $400 weekly made by E. D. Ferrell; $2500 in 42 days by H. D. Hughes; and so on. More men like these—one better than the other. Write for full details and see for yourself. Just a limited number of openings. Hurry, boys, they won't be left long now. Tell all about yourself in first letter. If you're the right man we'll make it interesting enough for you. Write

F. E. ARMSTRONG, President.
Dept. A-22, Mobile, Ala.

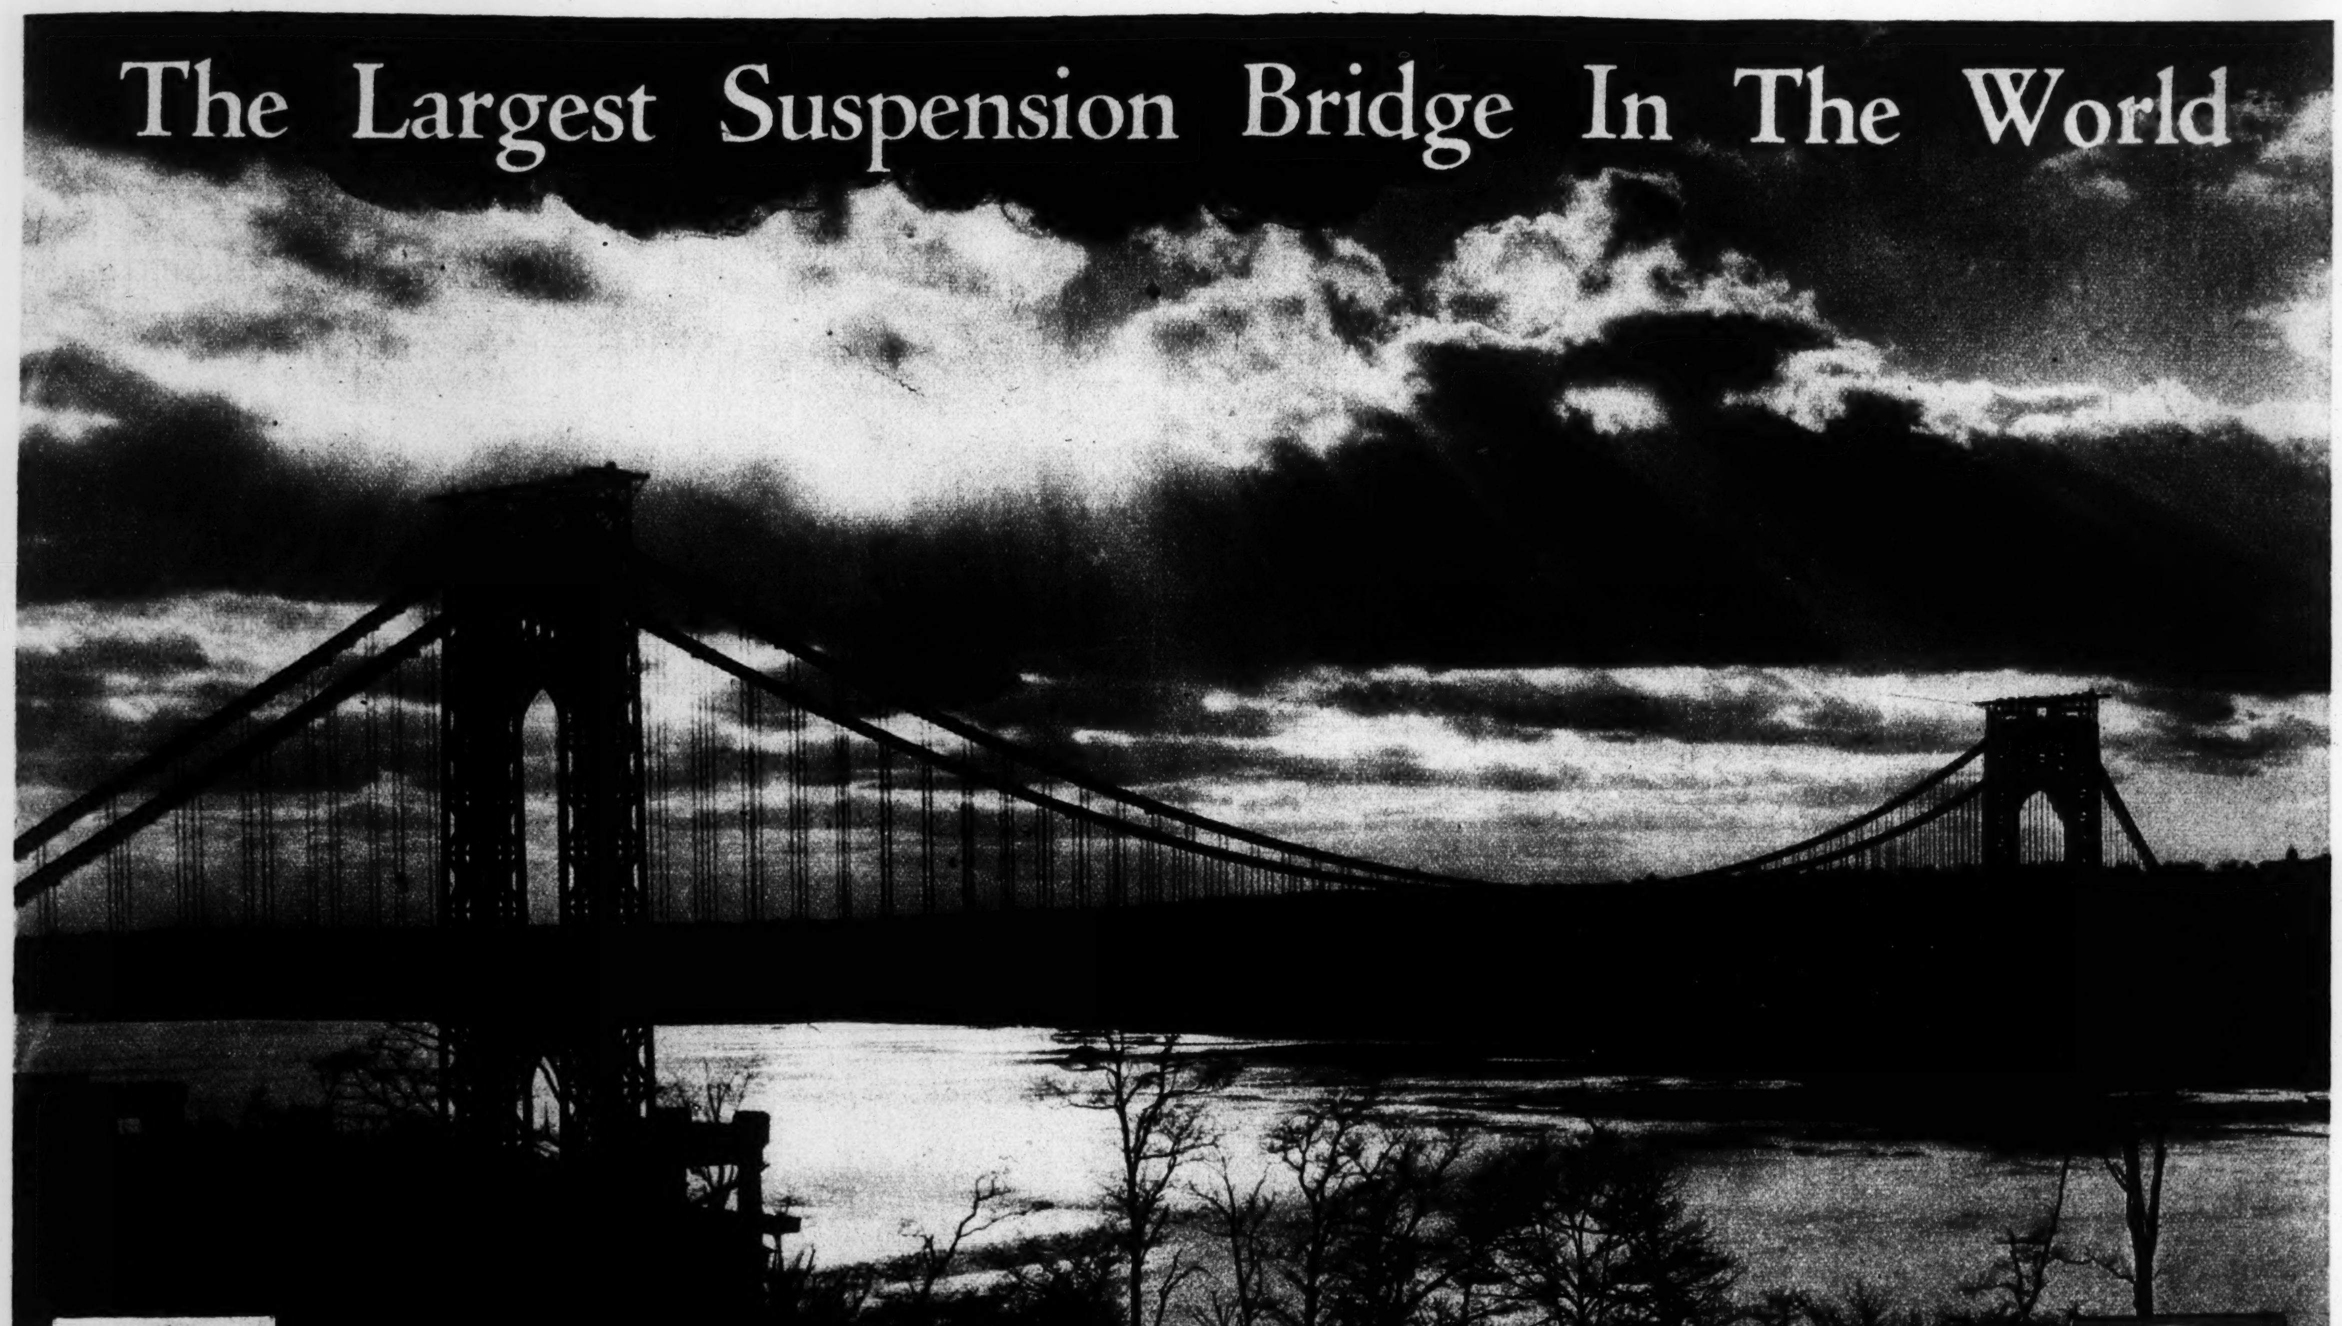
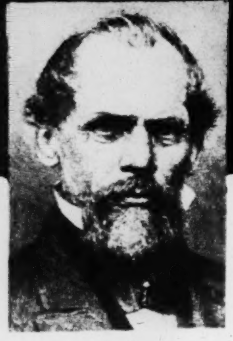
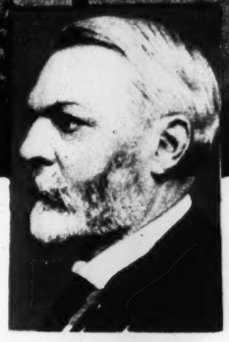
The Largest Suspension Bridge In The World



Hudson River Bridge.



John A. Roebling.



Washington A. Roebling.

Hudson River Span, Connecting Manhattan Island With New Jersey, Which Nears Completion, Will Be 3500 Feet Long, Not Counting Approaches.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

NEW YORK.

ANOTHER great triumph of modern engineering is being achieved with the rapidly approaching completion of the new Hudson River Bridge, which will not only be the first bridge over the Hudson connecting Manhattan Island with New Jersey and the West, but also the largest suspension bridge in the world.

To appreciate the mere physical bulk of this monster $60,000,000 aerial highway one has only to compare it with other bridges of the same type. The main river span is 3500 feet in length, exactly twice the length of the longest suspension span in existence, that of the Ambassador Bridge in Detroit.

The elevation of the bridge floor is approximately 200 feet above water level, allowing a clearance of 25 feet more than that under the next highest bridge over any waterway admitting passage of large ocean going vessels.

The four wire cables from which the roadway is suspended represent a strength of 230,000 pounds per square inch, or four times the strength of steel ordinarily used in building construction.

To build these four cables 28,450 tons of wire were required, or more than the total amount of wire used in the next seven largest suspension bridges together! If stretched out in one length the wire of the Hudson River Bridge would reach a distance of 107,000 miles, equal to more than four times the distance around the earth at the equator, or nearly half the distance to the moon.

From these four cables, each three feet in diameter, will be suspended the 90,000 tons dead weight of the bridge, which will have two levels, the upper with eight lanes for vehicular traffic and two sidewalks for pedestrians, and the lower with room for four pairs of tracks for street cars or rapid transit trains.

Another indication of the enormity of the structure may be made: on the New Jersey side of the Hudson the hard trap rock of the Palisades has been hollowed out 250 feet deep to receive the ends of the cables and to hold them against the terrific pull, while on the New York side an almost solid block of masonry 290 feet by 200 feet and 130 feet (10 stories high) has been piled up on bed rock to anchor the cables.

The bridge is being built by the Port of New York Authority, a New York-New Jersey body whose chief engineer is O. H. Ammann. The contracts for its actual construction have been divided among 10 companies, each specialists in some phase of the work. Cass Gilbert, who designed the Woolworth Building, is the architect.

On each of the two steel towers of the bridge that stand on either side of the river there is visible at night a huge electric sign with the words, "Roebling Cables." Most persons might regard that sign as a mere advertisement for one of the contracting companies, although it might strike them as odd that such a preference is shown over the other nine companies sharing the contract.

But the truth of the matter is that the words "Roebling Cables" are really but a short-hand way of telling the history of the modern suspension bridge. For it was John A. Roebling and his son, Washington, who proved to a skeptical world the practicability of large suspension bridges by erecting the Brooklyn Bridge, and at the same time proving that the steel cables which they perfected were strong enough to support the huge structure. That was more than 50 years ago. Yet today the cables which are the most essential and vital feature of a suspension bridge have been manufactured for the new bridge by the same Roebling family, only now it is Ferdinand Roebling, nephew of Washington Roebling, who heads the clan. In other words, the Roebling family, which with its courage and cables inaugurated a new epoch in bridge building with the Brooklyn Bridge, is carrying on the tradition it established by supplying the most important feature of the newest and largest suspension bridge in the world. Few American families can equal the proud record of the Roeblings, who have contributed so much to a profession that is both a science and an industry and who have dominated that profession for so many years.

THE man who established the family in America and started it on its epic career of bridge building was John A. Roebling, who immigrated from Germany to Pennsylvania in 1831. An exceptionally talented man—as a student at the Royal University in Berlin he had been the favorite pupil of the great philosopher Hegel—he was an architect, an engineer, a skillful musician and a philosopher. He took up farming in Pennsylvania, but he gave that up shortly for engineering work on various local canals then being built.

One of the problems in those days was to find a rope strong enough to pull the boats and cargoes over the mountain ridges which sometimes interrupted the canal routes. Roebling remembered something about a wire rope he had read of in a German publication and he began experimenting to make such a rope for himself. Later, as an engineer, he had to lift a canal over a river. He suspended the aqueduct from a network of his wire ropes, and it worked. It was then that Roebling saw the possibility of bridge building with wire rope, and he immediately established a factory at Trenton, New Jersey, to manufacture the wire.

Ferdinand Roebling.

Roebling was not the first person to build a suspension bridge. For instance, a very small one was put across the Merrimac River at Newburyport, Massachusetts, in 1810, and a larger one across the Menai Straits in Wales 16 years later. But it wasn't until steel-wire cable was devised that the modern suspension bridge became possible, and it wasn't until the Brooklyn Bridge was built that its fullest possibilities began to be realized.

The first suspension bridge that John Roebling put up with his wire cables was over the Monongahela River, and there was much wagging of tongues when the structure stayed put. Then he built another, for trains, over the chasm of Niagara Falls. By that time John Roebling had established the soundness of his methods, and he was awarded the contract for building the Brooklyn Bridge, although even then there were many engineers and laymen alike who felt certain that the Brooklyn Bridge, with its great weight, would prove to be a failure. Roebling drew up the plans for the structure, but while he was making a preliminary survey, hurt his foot and two weeks later died of tetanus. That was in 1869.

His death, however, didn't interrupt the work, for his son, Washington A., was also a talented engineer, was thoroughly familiar with the plans and proved himself entirely worthy of carrying on his father's work. He had been a Colonel in the Civil War and had built many suspension bridges for the Union forces. With great fervor he gave himself over to the task of completing the project, and when the foundation caissons were sunk under the East River he even went down below and worked month after month with the "sand hogs." Misfortune overtook him, and one day in 1872 he was taken out of a caisson, paralyzed by the "bends"—the nemesis of all who work in deep waters.

He remained partially paralyzed, lost the use of his voice and constantly suffered great physical pain, but he kept the work going.

From a window in a house in Brooklyn Heights he watched the work on the bridge with the aid of a telescope, and he wrote out his instructions to the builders in detail, for he was no longer able to talk. And in 1883, from the same Brooklyn window, he watched the President of the United States open the bridge to traffic and occasionally, when the breeze was favorable, heard the music of the band celebrating the event. He lived until 1926, occupying his enforced idleness by assembling and classifying a rare collection of minerals, which he gave to the Smithsonian Institution. When he died, at the age of 84, he left a fortune of more than $20,000,000, a flourishing business—and the Brooklyn Bridge.

When Washington Roebling resigned from his office as president of the company at Trenton in order to devote all his time to the bridge, his two brothers, Ferdinand and Charles, took charge of the cable plant. Both died shortly after America's entrance into the World War—for which the Roeblings supplied considerable war material—and Ferdinand's son, Karl, took charge of the business. On Karl's death in 1921 his brother, also named Ferdinand, a nephew of the builder of Brooklyn Bridge, ascended to the company's presidency, and occupies that post today.

It must not be thought, however, that with the passing of the heroic Washington the Roeblings had made their last important contribution to the art and science of bridge building. Through the company's research laboratories that first wire cable has been vastly improved. Methods have been perfected for greatly increasing the speed with which the wires are spun across the river and then pressed together to form a cable—for each cable in the Hudson River Bridge contains 26,474 separate wires the thickness of a lead pencil, and the wires are strung together and bound into cables at the very spot where the bridge ultimately is hung to them.

That the Roeblings have steadily improved the quality of their cable is shown by the fact that the present cable has a strength of 70,000 pounds per square inch greater than the cable of the Brooklyn Bridge, an increase directly responsible for the increase in size of suspension bridges it is possible to build today.

AND the improvements they have perfected in the complicated technique of spinning the wires into cables is shown by the fact that the present job of spinning was completed in less than 10 months, which is one of the reasons why the Hudson River Bridge is expected to be completed by the end of this year, requiring less than five years for its construction, whereas Brooklyn Bridge was under construction from 1870 to 1883. One can see it is not for nothing that "Roebling Cables" flash in bright electric lights from the dark towers of this greatest of suspension bridges.

The evolution of the suspension type bridge, for which the Roeblings are in a great measure responsible, may be judged by the following figures comparing the Brooklyn Bridge, the first modern bridge of this type, with the new Hudson River Bridge, the latest:

| | Hudson River Bridge. | Brooklyn Bridge. |
|---|---|---|

HOW "TRADER HORN" WAS MADE

Hollywood Sent an Entire Company, Technicians and All, to the African Jungles So the Film Might Be Authentically Screened.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

LOS ANGELES.

OVERHEAD a blazing sun that brought steam from the jungle. In the air swarms of insects that bit and stung until bodies burned as with a rash. In stagnant waters the partly submerged bodies of crocodiles, motionless, but with eyes staring. In the trees chattering monkeys and strange, bright-winged birds—occasionally a huge snake wrapped about branches. At sundown away off on the veldt the roaring of lions and the trumpeting of elephants. Roundabout, at intervals, hippopotami, hyenas, baboons, wild dogs, waterbucks, zebras, wart hogs and all manner of wild things that infest the wastes of Africa.

"Too polished!" others have cried.

This actress is Edwina Booth, who played the female lead in "Trader Horn." Miss Booth seems not yet to have fully recovered from her experiences in the African jungles. Although the scenes there were made in 1929, she has appeared in no picture since.

"TRADER HORN" is not a faked picture. But it employs every artifice, every trick, every illusion known to professional cameramen. It was filmed principally in the African jungle. It does portray wild animals on their native heaths. It does show them in truthful attacks upon prey. It does ring true as a story of the Dark Continent. Nevertheless, the company which produced it, remade and refinished parts of the film in Southern California and in Mexico and provided many of the sound effects in the studio. The completed product possibly is the greatest achievement of technicians sent out from Hollywood.

The "Trader Horn" company left Los Angeles on March 10, 1929. In it were Harry Carey, who was to play the title role; Miss Booth, who was to be the "white goddess"; Duncan Renaldo, "Little Peru"; Olive Golden and 35 cameramen, electricians, sound recorders and other technicians. The unit went to New York by rail and to Genoa on an ocean liner, thence through Port Said to Mombasa in British East Africa.

At Mombasa, a motor caravan conveyed it to Nairobi and eventually to Masdini, Butabia, Panyamur, Uganda, Murchison Falls, Lake Albert and on into the Belgian Congo. A side trip was taken to the Upper White Nile.

Most of the African journey was through "no man's land," except that at Nairobi there is "Stanley's Bar," where, it is said, "most of the big game in Africa is killed." Or, at least, it is reported killed by individuals. From there on the road led into the jungles. The "Trader Horn" company was in Africa from March, 1929, until fall. It arrived home the middle of December, 1929. Miss Booth was immediately placed in the care of physicians.

The film, when shown in the studio projection room, brought exclamations of delight. The company had "bottled" Africa, or, at least, its wild life. However, there were gaps to be filled. The sound-recording in some places was excellent; in others, inutterably poor. Scenes which were expected to be "high lights" screened indifferently. It was apparent that there still was much to do before the picture could be called a finished product.

For one solid year the company worked upon it in secret. For one year it remade scenes in artificial settings "as good as" the originals. For one year it supplied synthetic synchronizations in sound which turned out something like they were intended to be. Not all sounds, of course, were remade—many were.

THE making of animal scenes offered the biggest task. There are, either in or near Los Angeles, a lion farm with several hundred lions; an alligator farm with more than a thousand alligators of all ages; several zoos, and winter quarters for a circus or two. And there is a district from which any number of Negroes may be recruited, many of them experienced in picture work. With these at hand the polishing of "Trader Horn" began.

Studio employes are reluctant to tell exactly what was done, but some of the things leaked out through fairly authentic sources. There is, for example, the spectacle of an infuriated rhinoceros charging a native and goring, trampling and tossing the body of the poor fellow until lifeless. This probably is the most thrilling episode in the picture. But there wasn't any "poor fellow" gored and trampled. The savage old rhino is the only thing real about it. The figure of the native was inserted after the charge. There is scarcely more than a glimpse of the goring. The spectacle of a man actually being killed never is thrown upon the screen. Just how film technicians draw or superimpose added characters to a film is one of their closely guarded secrets. But this is what was done in the case of the rhinoceros and the Negro.

Edwina Booth.

One of the most dramatic moments in "Trader Horn" shows Edwina Booth about to be mangled by a lion which has sprung upon her. She has fainted.

There is a "cut" and the next scene shows Leo gingerly raking Edwina's hair with his paw.

That "savage" old lion has appeared in more pictures in Hollywood than he has claws on his feet. He never hurt anything. Some will tell you that he erred slightly by partly dislodging "Miss Booth's wig" as he towered above her.

But Miss Booth wasn't there at all. When the "cut" from the long-shot to the close-up was made, a double was substituted and it's a man that savage beast is raking over—possibly an assistant trainer who is on intimate terms with the jungle cat. No studio would permit one of its actresses to be placed in a position where she might be clawed by a lion.

The utter realism of "Trader Horn" causes most persons to forget that its players were carefully protected in whatever they did. Not a principal was hurt in its filming. Not an accident of importance occurred. The greatest discomfort was experienced from a cloudburst in Africa which swept most of the camp away. The most outstanding menace was the presence of the tsze-tsze fly, which induces sleeping sickness.

A scene which brings tense moments is the one in which lions attack a zebra and it appears that they will make their kill right before your eyes. The zebra ducks, sidesteps, squeezes out of holes and puts in a very, very busy few minutes. He wants to get away from there on his own running gear and is anxious to put it to work. Presently he finds his principal attacker immediately behind him and lets fly with both feet. The lion "takes it on the chin," two solid, clean-cut "socks," and that is enough. He goes groggily away.

"That was a real scene in Africa," a studio employe said. "One of the lucky breaks for the cameraman. It was not 'ribbed up' for the picture."

BUT much of the other fighting among animals was carefully planned in Hollywood. Take the case of the buck which fell prey to the lions and eventually became food for "Trader Horn," the "white goddess" and Renaldo. They drove off the beasts and saved what was left of the buck to appease their own appetites.

This scene was made in an inclosure below the Mexican border and was real, in so far as the kill was concerned. The immediate action was "cut in" with the African film showing hyenas and other such animals scurrying about. The whole resulted in an episode which seemed to portray a time of excitement in the jungle. It went over big and was one of the high lights in the whole production. And yet it was a combination of Africa and Mexico and studio work. The sounds of the combat were studio made.

There was so little of "Trader Horn" not produced in Africa that it would be unfair to class it as an American-made picture. Its natives chanting their tribal songs and playing their crude instruments were real. The jungles were African jungles. The Pygmies—little men scarcely four feet tall—were real.

While the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer company made arrangements with the various governments, protectorates and colonies through which the "Trader Horn" company would pass, it gives credit to four big game hunters who make their homes in Africa for the safe conduct of the players and the dealings with the tribes. These were Major W. V. D. Dickinson, A. S. Waller, J. H. Barnes, and H. R. Stanton. Without them, according to W. S. Van Dyke, who directed the production, the unit would have felt unsafe and the lives of the players in jeopardy. The rifles of these hunters helped make the picture.

"We made one scene, for instance," Mr. Van Dyke said, "in which a rhinoceros charged directly into a camera. We had found the huge beast snoozing in the shade. It was too good an opportunity to miss. So we set our machines and got them in focus. Clyde

GERMANY'S "DREYFUS CASE"

The Controversy Over the Conviction of Walter Bullerjahn, Who Is Now Serving a Prison Sentence on a Charge of Having Betrayed to the Allies the Presence of Hidden Arms, Is Intensified by His Mother's Dramatic Gesture

BERLIN.

A DRAMATIC incident has intensified public interest in the fate of Walter Bullerjahn, who has been called "the German Dreyfus." Bullerjahn was convicted five years ago for treason—of having berayed to the Allies the presence of hidden arms in a German factory—and was sent to prison for 15 years. Many of his countrymen, however, believed he was innocent, and strong attacks have been made on the evidence on which he was found guilty, particularly the evidence given by a man who did not appear in court and whose identity was concealed. Ever since his imprisonment, supporters of Bullerjahn have been laboring to gain another court hearing for him, and the recent re-kindling of sentiment in his favor has given them fresh hope.

Not long ago a fashionable wedding was held at the Church of St. Matthias here, the favorite church for such functions. It was the marriage of Lilly Claire von Gontard, daughter of Baron Paul von Gontard, a prominent industrialist, to Herr Schleber, a wealthy young business man. Society had turned out for the affair. The church was filled with men in formal attire and richly gowned and be-jewelled women, while along the curb outside was a long line of sleek motor cars, attended by liveried chauffeurs and footmen.

As the bridal party came out of the church, an old woman suddenly detached herself from the street crowd that such brilliant events always attract and rushed up to Baron von Gontard. Flinging out her arms in supplication she cried:

"Give me back my son, Baron von Gontard! You have had him put in penal servitude for fifteen years, although he is innocent. You have taken away my support. Give honor to God and speak the truth at last."

The Baron hurriedly pushed his daughter into a limousine decorated with orange blossoms. Wedding guests ran from the church, tramping on one another, tearing dresses, in their haste to see what had disturbed the smartest wedding of the Berlin winter season. And Walter Bullerjahn's mother was hustled away by policemen.

As a result of this scene there has sprung up anew, and with greater intensity than ever before, a controversy that threatens to divide German opinion as France was split into two factions thirty years ago by the Alfred Dreyfus case.

On December 23, 1924, a group of French officers belonging to the Inter-Allied Military Control Commission suddenly appeared at a former German machine gun factory, the Berlin-Carlsruher Industrie Werke, at Wittenau, near Berlin, and started to make a search. At that time the Allies were conducting a sort of witch hunt throughout Germany for hidden arms and munitions, in excess of the small quantity permitted the Reichswehr and the police under the Versailles treaty. The military and nationalist factions were not only concealing supplies left over from the war, but apparently manufacturing new ones. Communists and socialists, violently opposed to any development of militarism, were secretly informing the Allies about hidden stocks. German "traitors" were also selling the Allies information for small amounts of money. Germans with grievances added their bit.

THERE resulted a remarkable web of intrigue on the part of the Allied police, and of counter-intrigue by the German secret police, that has never been fully revealed.

The German secret agents tried to place their spies in the Allied Commission to discover the identity of the informers. They intercepted in the mail letters addressed to the Commission, and either photographed them or simply kept them. It was a daily game with the Allied officers, when receiving letters, to look for the pin points or clip marks made by the Germans in hanging up the letters to be photographed. And when the German police got on the trail of one of their "traitors," he was in an unenviable position. A German found tipping off the allies got short shrift in those days. In Teutonic eyes it was the supreme treason.

Arriving at the big Berlin-Carlsruher Industrie Werke, which had ostensibly been transformed for doing metallic construction, the French officers went unhesitatingly to a particular warehouse, asked that some steel girders be pulled aside and then made a sensational discovery: 120,000 rifles, which were exactly double the number the Reichswehr was allowed to possess under the peace treaty, and 17,000 new barrels for machine guns, or more than three times the quantity officially allowed the German army.

This find caused a tremendous sensation, not only in the Allied capitals but also throughout Germany. The Allies realized that if there was such a huge quantity of arms in one single cache, then the former enemy country might be secretly armed to the teeth, not only with wartime material but also with newly developed models. Besides, France was scheduled to evacuate Cologne several weeks later, and this discovery might disarrange these plans. The patriotic Germans worked themselves into a fury because it was obvious that someone had tipped off the French. The German secret service worked feverishly to reveal the source of the information. For the factory, it meant an immense loss unless it could be shown that the discovery was due to treason, in which case the company would have a claim against the Government. The secret service investigated the life, character, affiliations, and political views of every single man employed at the Industrie Werke. A closer watch than ever was put on the homes and offices of the Allied officers.

"Give me back, my son," she cried.

Almost at once, suspicion fell on Walter Bullerjahn, foreman of the warehouse in which the arms were found.

Fate had apparently done its utmost to throw a cloud over him. A few weeks before Bullerjahn had been accused by one of the plant managers of complicity in a small theft of material, and though he proved his innocence in the affair, the manager refused to give him a written statement he demanded. At this the foreman became angry and threatened to expose some alleged tax frauds of the company unless he received the statement. Furthermore, he was accused of being a fervent supporter of the Republic, and opposed to any nationalist military schemes. He also had been seen twice in the street in which Lieutenant Jost, one of the French officers, lived, as though he had been there to visit him.

Frau Bullerjahn.

Bullerjahn was 35 years old and had a brilliant war record. Reared in a military orphanage, he had joined the army at 18, become a non-commissioned officer, and been decorated on the field for exceptional bravery.

Bullerjahn was arrested by the secret police on a charge of treason several weeks after the discovery of the arms. According to official reports of the German League for the Rights of Man, a number of Bullerjahn's subordinates were questioned by the authorities and given to understand that unless they testified against him they would lose their jobs. The foreman defended himself energetically. He proved that he had gone along the street where Lieutenant Jost lived to visit some friends so that he could invite them to dinner. The police failed to find that either Bullerjahn or his family had made any unusual expenditures, it being assumed that if he was guilty he had received a reward from the French. It was seen that the case against the foreman was one of circumstantial evidence. Then a mysterious man, whom the German newspapers have described as "The Man With the Mask," appeared before the magistrate investigating the case and made an important deposition that changed the entire atmosphere.

Walter Bullerjahn.

"I have received important information about this affair and I am willing to give it provided that my name and position are never mentioned," "The Man With the Mask" declared.

The investigating magistrate, whose function is to draw up an indictment or quash a case against a prisoner, agreed to this proposal because of the witness' standing.

"I have just learned from friends in the Anglo-American colony in Berlin, who are in social contract with the Allied officers," the witness declared in his deposition, "that Bullerjahn went to see an English officer attached to the commission on December 23 to report the hidden arms, and when the Englishman seemed indifferent he went to see Lieutenant Jost, the Frenchman, and gave him a piece of tracing paper, showing where the arms were in the warehouse. He received a reward of 1400 marks for this treason."

The magistrate urged the witness to try to get further details through these social relationships, and the mysterious man made two subsequent depositions but without adding any important facts.

BULLERJAHN'S trial took place before the Supreme Court at Leipsic in December, 1925. A number of his former subordinates testified as to remarks the prisoner had made at various times about the plant managers, and a police official and two magistrates stood up to vouch for the testimony of "The Man With the Mask." This witness did not appear, but his depositions were read, and the three officials testified he belonged to the highest rank of society, that his depositions merited complete confidence, that he had no interest in the case in any way. The man's name was given to the judges in confidence, but was never mentioned publicly. Bullerjahn's counsel was disarmed by this procedure. He could not question the witness nor even learn his identity.

The judges were deeply impressed by the testimony of this secret witness and sentenced the foreman to fifteen years at hard labor on a charge of treason, the maximum permitted under the circumstances.

Bullerjahn's brothers worked incessantly to try to establish his innocence in the months that followed but without any success until the Conseiller Hufner, one of the Government prosecutors in the case, indiscretely mentioned that some extraordinary violations of the law had been committed during the trial, referring principally to the testimony of the secret witness. A wave of public indignation arose because of the strange method used to convict the alleged traitor, and the German League for the Rights of Man started a campaign to have him given another trial. A speech by Deputy Paul Levi in the Reichstag in 1926, branding the case as a scandal to German justice, added more fuel to the flames of indignation, but the public prosecutor refused all demands for a retrial.

Berthold Jacob, one of Bullerjahn's counsel, went to Nancy, France, two years ago and asked Lieutenant Jost, now a civilian employed by the French army, if he would not make a public statement lifting suspicion from Bullerjahn.

At the time of the trial at Leipsic the German Government had asked that the French officer be called as a witness, but the French authorities refused on the ground that attempts might be made to question him about all their secret agents. At the time of the Dreyfus case, France had asked that Von Schwartzkoppen, the former German military attache in Paris, be allowed to testify, and Germany refused, although the Kaiser solemnly assured the French Government that Dreyfus was completely unknown at the German War Ministry.

Lieutenant Jost talked frankly with Herr Jacob at Nancy, however, and declared on his honor that he had never heard of Bullerjahn while a member of the Allied Commission, had never spoken to him, and had never had any relations with him.

A short time after this conversation at Nancy, Bullerjahn's counsel, after much effort, discovered the identity of "The Man With the Mask." He was Baron von Gontard, powerful and wealthy industrial magnate and general manager and chairman of the board of directors of the Berlin-Carlsruher Industrie Werke plant, where the arms were found—and Bullerjahn's employer.

The revelation that Baron von Gontard was the mysterious witness against Bullerjahn immediately gave the latter affair added importance in the public mind.

The Baron declared he had never pretended to the investigating magistrate that he had any personal knowledge of Bullerjahn's alleged guilt, but had only repeated confidential information that had come to him from members of the Allied Commission through social channels. He had only learned recently that his deposition had been given such weight at the trial. So far as his own knowledge of the case went, he knew of no facts sufficient to convict his ex-foreman, he said. At the time of the investigation he simply thought it was his duty to report any gossip he heard about the case. He had always supposed that the Supreme Court had heard some substantial evidence against Bullerjahn.

A FURTHER spectacular development came recently when Bullerjahn's counsel got a sworn deposition from a professional Swiss spy named Bienz that he was the person who reported the arms to the commission. Bienz had been convicted in the German courts several years before of spying for the Allies and sentenced to prison. In return for giving the German authorities some facts about other Allied spies, he was pardoned and released. He has now returned to Switzerland, but it is hardly likely that he would return to Germany to testify that he was the informer. In his absence his deposition would be of questionable value.

Having been left in the air by the new light on the case, it is probable the German prosecutor and Supreme Court are baffled as to what to do.

The German Government has asked France to allow Lieutenant Jost to come to testify at a new trial. If he comes and testifies that he never heard of Bullerjahn, then the German judicial authorities can say, "Well, if the French had let him come at the original trial, this mistake would never have occurred." If France refuses to let him come, they can say, "Well, Bullerjahn must be guilty then, and so we didn't make a mistake at all."

It is doubtful that France will allow Jost to go to Germany, for fear he will be questioned about spying in general. But supporters of Bullerjahn are hoping that even if this witness cannot be used the stigma of treason eventually will be removed from the former soldier even as Dreyfus, the Frenchman, was finally exonerated.

How "Trader Horn" Was Made

De Vinna and 'Bob' Roberts, the cameramen, consented to stand by their guns. Thirty feet to the fore a mark was made where the rhino was to be dropped. These veteran big game hunters took position at close range, out of sight in the tall grass. Then Harry Carey crept close to the sleeping rhino and hit it squarely between the eyes with a hurled stone.

Up it came, bellowing. Straight ahead it saw one of the cameramen turning his crank, and after him he started. Through the tall grass, eyes glaring, mouth open, horn menacing, he plunged. Three seconds more and he would have tossed camera, cameraman and plate box into the air or have trampled all into eternity.

"But the cool, trained eyes of the hunters were upon him from the moment he arose, looked around and started. They held bead upon him as he came snorting forward. Just as his forefeet crossed the mark their rifles cracked, and down he went as though hit with an ax.

"We wouldn't have dared that scene without these men. During all our filming on the African continent they stood by, dealt with the tribes, guided our way and made our accomplishment possible. I don't know what we would have done without them. Major Dickinson is in charge of elephant extermination in certain provinces."

For scenic effects Africa has no equal, Van Dyke says.

"Prettiest clouds in the world—those African clouds. Great billowy masses—and, all of a sudden, 'wham'! A streak of lightning, a crash, and you'd think the skies had just burst a hydrant. You never saw such lightning or heard such thunder. Then it clears up just as suddenly. The moon comes out and there is that sweet-scented odor of trees and flowers and grasses. And silence.

"There were crocodiles in the streams. We had a pool fixed up and enticed a lot of them into it with hippo meat.

"Whenever they tried to get out we rammed them back with sticks. They're not actually vicious but always hungry, and if you keep away from the snap of a crocodile's jaw or the slap of his tail you're in no danger.

"We covered Uganda, the Kenya Province, British East Africa and the Belgian Congo. Nairobi, the home of the British Governor, was an odd mixture. We played golf there—and three miles away saw the wild elephant herds. We saw houses that looked like Hollywood bungalows and native traffic policemen who went barefooted. And, by the way, these so-called cannibal tribes are very nice people. They are gentle and child-like except when they run amuck.

"The climate was tough in the daytime—terribly hot. But we had to sleep under blankets at night. Food was good throughout the trip. We carried a canned supply in our 80 tons of equipment, but we got fresh eggs and meat all along the trek."

"Trader Horn" is Africa. It is the dramatization of the story of that old trader who wrote a book of his experiences in the wilds. The picture story is just a dramatization of that epoch. The producing company does not offer it as a travelogue nor say that it is a reproduction of life as lived in that faraway land. It only says it is good entertainment, based on Trader Horn's life. And if it embellishes and polishes and stresses the most dramatic episodes, it is only making a movie.

Of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine Staff

THE past winter has seen the rise of a brand new social phenomenon. It is the woman tramp. There have long been a few professional female hoboes, often in men's clothes, but they were hardened wanderers who came to that way of life more or less from choice. The women tramps of the past winter were for the most part victims of circumstances, desperate bits of humanity in the helpless drift of forces over which they had no control.

There is no roof that will shelter them. Or they are too proud to appeal to charity. There is a vague rumor of work in another city, another county, another state, and they take to the road. They hitch-hike, sleeping in vacant houses, barns, under culverts and in ditches, afraid always of the night because they have a timidity which cannot be overcome and a respectability to which they cling.

Women of every age have taken to the road, sometimes in battered flivvers, begging gasoline, more often on foot. Most of them, however, are at that perilous age, between 40 and 60, when society appears to shut all its doors against them. Younger women have taken their place in industry and even in housework jobs. Most infirmaries and homes for the aged are closed to them—they are too young. Relatives, if they have any, were too poor this past winter to give aid or shelter.

The person in St. Louis who knows more about this new class of vagrant than probably anyone else is Mrs. Mary E. Ryder, president of the Joint Council of Women's Auxiliaries of the St. Louis trade unions. The women's auxiliaries organized last fall, under Mrs. Ryder's direction, a relief station for unemployed women at 3517 Pine boulevard. It was intended primarily to shelter the homeless and jobless in St. Louis until they could find work, but it has been of necessity, too, a way station for countless women tramping the countryside in the chimerical hope of work around the next turn in the road.

Sergeant Barney Verheyen, in charge of police women, is another who has observed the phenomenon of the woman vagrant at close range. They have come to his office towards evening to beg a night's lodging. Or, more rarely, they are picked up by police women, huddled in a doorway for warmth. Sergeant Verheyen has had the choice of sending them to the women's holdover in the city jail or to the matron's room. It is the latter he offers them if they do not appear too begrimed and verminous from their travels. Most of them he has sent to the relief station.

Although the matrons in charge—all volunteer workers—have taken only the briefest case records, the histories of many of these women have come out. Sometimes they have stayed only the one night; occasionally illness has kept them longer, and once in a while they have stayed on, despite all attempts to discourage them, in the vain hope of getting work here.

Miss E. is a good example of the new type of hobo. She had hitch-hiked here from Newark, New Jersey, spending 14 days on the way. When police found her in St. Louis she had had neither food nor a place to sleep for four days. She spent nearly a week in bed at the relief station before she had regained sufficient strength to be about again. For 12 years she had been a factory worker in Newark, with fairly steady employment. She is 28 years old.

SEVERAL months without work and her slight savings melted entirely away. She told Mrs. Ryder she had heard there was work in, of all places, Arkansas. Dissuaded from going there, she left finally for the Southwest, with Texas or Oklahoma as an objective. An effort was made to get the Travelers' Aid Society to help her on her way, but that was unavailing, since there is a law which makes it an offense to pay the railroad fare of a person without funds from one state to another unless there is someone at the destination to assume responsibility. But this law could not apply to the open road, and when she had regained her strength, she started out.

People were good, she said. On the way from the East a man and his wife in a small car carried her for nearly 500 miles. But there were long stretches without lifts. Four nights out of 14 she slept out. The other 10 she spent in jails, Salvation Army shelters and twice in poor homes.

In a number of instances during the past winter these homeless women have had their children with them. One was Mrs. J., 40 years old, traveling with her 14-year-old son in a dilapidated Ford that threatened periodically to gasp out its last wheezing revolution. Their home was originally in New York City. The mother, carrying credentials to show that she was a graduate nurse, had heard that possibly there would be work for her in Texas. They had started with a small sum of money, which was soon exhausted. Texas had yielded nothing but disappointment. Mother and son were on their way—somewhere. They weren't quite sure; possibly back to New York.

At the relief station they were given lodging for the night in the matron's room. It was, the mother said, the best they had had in more than two weeks. Gas station attendants and farmers had been kind, she explained, giving a gallon of gasoline, a little food, a little money. They stayed for only one night in St. Louis and then went on their way.

Mary D. is a typical vagrant of a rather different type. She is 51. For 19 years she was a worker in a Massachusetts mill town. With changing conditions in the textile industry and advancing age she lost her work. Her life since then has been a series of unremitting hardships. It is obvious that she was once an exceptional person, sensitive, with some culture, self-acquired. Privation and the strain of uncertainty have affected her mind. She keeps up a constant stream of talk, in a low, even voice, like a chant, sometimes speaking with lucidity and again breaking into an incoherent series of reminiscences and philosophic commentary. Snatches of her life come out. Housework in New Orleans for $1 a week. A scrubbing job in Chicago. Tramping from town to town, with always the same refrain—no work.

Coming to St. Louis last April, she appealed to the relief station soon after it was opened in November. For a time she lived there, cleaned up, got an outfit of respectable looking clothes, second hand things that had been renovated.

BUT she remained there only a few weeks, insisting that someone probably needed a bed more than she did. Now she comes only to meals, and investigators have discovered that she walks 17 blocks each way three times a day, going and coming from the room which is paid for by a charitable organization. In her eagerness to work she voluntarily washed all the walls of the downstairs rooms at the relief station, polished the large mirror over the fireplace that is a relic of the former grandeur of the house, constantly found small tasks to do.

The economic emergency threw many women on society without any means whatsoever of meeting the situation. Often they were unhappy by-products of that army of workers that moves from job to job, known technically as a mobile labor supply, gravitating in normal times between the great industrial centers. An instance is Mrs. L., 22 years old. She was sent to the relief station with her two small children by a charitable association when it was discovered that she had not lived in St. Louis sufficiently long to become a resident.

Both children, one nine months, one just under two years, were ill. The youngest baby was taken at once to a hospital where it died four days later of lobar pneumonia. The older child was adopted by a responsible family, as the condition of the mother made it impossible for her to keep it. She was suffering from tuberculosis, and it was necessary to cut a great deal of red tape before it was possible to secure temporary hospital treatment for her, pending the time that she will be returned to her home state.

Just which is her home state will be a matter for a Solomon to determine. She was born in Ohio, but has not lived there in many years. After her marriage at 16 she went to live in Detroit. Next to Gary, Indiana, for a time, then a town in the Pittsburg industrial district, and after that a small Missouri town.

Husband and wife had come to St. Louis on foot, more than 150 miles, carrying the children in their arms. Once here the father could find no work. He grew desperate, forged a check and is serving a term in the workhouse. It was as though a bomb had fallen into the midst of this family. When the mother is able to be on her way again she will be alone, another of the homeless wanderers.

"Of course, it wasn't for these people that we opened the relief station," says Mrs. Ryder, "but I don't see how we could very well have turned them away. And we didn't see any place for them to go if they were turned away, since they were non-residents. And even if they had been residents most of them were of an age that has no place in our scheme of charity.

"Our problem has been difficult enough with the numbers of St. Louis women that have come to us. We felt that no provision had been made for the woman between 40 and 60. The Y. W. C. A. and the Big Sisters' organization give assistance to girls and younger women. Infirmaries and similar institutions are open to women over 65. But for the great middle group, many of them wage earners of years standing, thrown out of work by the depression, there was nothing."

Since the opening the station has given 10,861 meals and 1510 lodgings and has placed 559 women in jobs from a total registration of 1424. In response to numerous appeals the council of the trade union auxiliaries opened a similar station for Negro women at 3533 Lawton avenue in January. The demands here were even heavier. The position of the Negro women workers is especially difficult, according to Mrs. Ryder, because they have been replaced in many instances by white workers, driven into the labor market by the force of circumstances. During the first 41 days of operation 4290 meals and 586 lodgings were given at the station.

Often when the women come to register for possible employment it is apparent to the matron that they are suffering from hunger and privation. But in many instances pride will not permit them to accept the gift of food and lodging. It is only after they have waited in vain for several days or weeks for work, and at the urgent insistence of Mrs. Rose Dorsey, matron at the West Pine station, that finally they go into the dining room.

Only the bitter stress of circumstances brings most of these women to ask for aid. One woman took her meals at the station for a week and then asked for lodging as well. She explained that she had been sleeping on the floor in the kitchen of a friend. But the friend's husband went to work at 5 o'clock in the morning and she had to be dressed and out of the way before he arose at 4:30. She said she spent half the night in fear that she might oversleep, and when this did happen the husband made a scene and forbade her to stay there.

Others confessed that they slept in basements, vacant houses and even in areaways. Mrs. Ryder says that there is always a marked rise in morale when these women have had an opportunity to take a bath and change clothing. They lose some of their apathy.

THEY are not all apathetic, however. Sometimes the attitude is one of bitter resentment against society. Most of them have done housework for a lifetime. But there are clerks, stenographers, and even women trained to highly specialized positions who have found themselves walking the streets. Some were sheltered for a time by brothers or brothers-in-law until the specter of unemployment descended on these homes and it became a question of whether the home itself would survive—with one extra person the deciding factor. Some of the women give evidence of having made a swift descent in the social scale.

All the work of the two relief stations is on a voluntary basis. The day matron, Mrs. Dorsey, gives her services, as does the night matron, Miss Catherine Mannion, who works during the day. Representatives from different auxiliaries come in each day to do the cooking. One day it is the wives of the milk wagon drivers, the next the wives of members of another union, and so on in rotation.

Most of the money for essential expenses, such as rent, light, etc., has been raised by the auxiliaries, although there have been many contributions. Unfortunately, some housewives have shown a tendency to take advantage of the situation. They have offered full-time jobs at low wages, which, when daily car fare is deducted, leave a margin scarcely large enough for the meanest kind of lodging.

"We regard the relief station for white women as a temporary measure," says Mrs. Ryder. "We hope that we shall be able to close it down by May 1, although calls have continued to come as frequently as during the winter. We hope the station for Negro women can be made permanent, as we feel it is filling a definite need.

"I don't think that we've been taken advantage of to any but a very slight degree, a negligible number of cases. I believe that women are too proud to appeal to charity unless actually in the direst straits. Perhaps this is why there has been only the slightest provision for a woman down on her luck

The Last Days of the Money Baron

Art, Travel and Religion the Anodynes of His Declining Years.

This is the sixth and concluding installment of the series of articles on the life of the late J. Pierpont Morgan. The series is taken from John K. Winkler's recent biography, "Morgan the Magnificent."

By JOHN K. WINKLER

PANICS are like great battles. When they are over the wounded must be succored, the dead buried and new lines formed.

The panic of 1907 marked the end of an era. The masters of capital realized that they must radically reconstruct their methods, if not their morals. The great banking groups must smooth out rivalries and knit into closer communion control of money and credit. "Safe" men must forever rule the kingdom of gold.

The single formidable obstreperous element was E. H. Harriman. Undaunted by assaults of the Government, shocked into only momentary sobriety by the panic, Harriman planned an individual banking power greater than that of either Morgan or the National City Bank. The indomitable little man dreamed of a world railroad empire. His restless eyes had turned to the Orient. He would build a railroad system in Asia, connect with the Siberian Railway in Russia, and eventually work through to the capitals of Europe. Lines of steamships, in the Pacific and the Atlantic would enable him to span the earth.

Harriman most likely would have written railroad and financial history in the next five years had his colossal scheme not been halted by a greater power. His frail body could not stand the strain. He fell ill and died in the fall of 1909. His race was far from run. He was the only man in Wall street big enough, bold enough, brave enough to stand up against Morgan.

Within three months Morgan, George F. Baker and their associates had purchased Harriman's controlling interest in the great Guaranty Trust Company, with its $100,000,000 assets, and Harriman's holdings in the huge Mutual Life Insurance Company. Morgan also bought from Thomas F. Ryan control of the Equitable Life, with its tainted history and assets now grown to more than $500,000,000. The Mutual, the Equitable and the New York Life—the Big Three—were now in the hands of the Morgan group. The Morton and the Fifth Avenue Trust companies were merged into the Guaranty. Morgan now dominated the trust company field. He had taken over the Bankers' Trust Company several years before. The financier's insurance holdings gave him, in addition, a substantial interest in the National Bank of Commerce.

JAMES STILLMAN, president of the National City Bank, entered the Morgan group, as an individual associate, shortly after the panic. This tended to soften and finally eradicate rivalry between Morgan and the Standard Oil.

Gradually Morgan & Company began to abandon its activities as a huge promotion house and take on more essentially the character of a great bank. New men were coming to the front. Times were changing. The younger Morgan partners — Henry P. Davison, a former school teacher, Thomas W. Lamont, once a newspaper reporter, and others—were men of different stripe from the rough-and-tumble financiers of the old school. The brilliant Davison soon became Morgan's chief reliance, quickly pushing into the background George W. Perkins and hastening the latter's retirement. . . .

The wave of adulation heaped upon Morgan for saving the country in 1907 quickly subsided. The public mind veered sharply. Big Business was held responsible for the disaster. Demands for further regulation multiplied. Every conceivable panacea was proposed. Criticism thickened about the leaders of industry. The American people, to paraphrase Matthew Arnold, fell into one of their "periodical fits of morality."

The popular magazines, then at the height of their courage, renewed attacks. Congress echoed the public aversion to the methods of high finance. Roosevelt swung his Big Stick even more vigorously. Standard Oil, Tobacco and many other trusts were practically under indictment when Roosevelt turned the reins over to his successor, William Howard Taft, in 1909.

Thus far the greatest combination of all, Morgan's U. S. Steel Corporation, had escaped prosecution. This was due primarily to the suave diplomacy of Elbert H. Gary. Often, in those trying times, Morgan had reason to bless his choice of Gary as chairman of the Steel Corporation. "I don't know what I'd do without Gary," Morgan told a friend feelingly. "The Judge can have anything within my power to give." . . .

In May of 1911, the United States Supreme Court ordered the dissolution of the Standard Oil and the Tobacco Trust. This crystallized charges that the administration was favoring the Steel Corporation. One evening in early summer Gary and Attorney-General Wickersham chanced to be seated next to each other at a public dinner. The Attorney-General said: "I have something on my mind which I think I ought to tell you. There is such excitement over the Stanley investigation, such hostility to the Steel Corporation, so many charges that the administration is favoring it, that we believe that we must proceed to a searching examination."

"Do you mean a suit?" asked Gary.

"Yes," replied Wickersham.

"I am overwhelmed," said Gary. "This is so different from what I have believed to be your view of our corporation. But you must make your own decision."

Morgan purpled with rage when he learned that his pet combination was to be sued. He pressed buttons and summoned his lawyers. At least one eminent attorney suggested that efforts be made to settle the case without a trial. Morgan spurned the suggestion. "No, let them go ahead," he grated. The Government filed its petition October 26, 1911, praying that eight of the subsidiaries as well as the Steel Corporation itself be held "unlawful monopolies" and dissolved. The case was tried in New Jersey before four Federal Circuit Judges.

Beginning in May, 1912, testimony was taken at intervals over two years. The record filled 30 volumes and there were 4000 pages of Government and corporation exhibits. Gary spent a week on the stand. Four hundred and two witnesses were called, including Theodore Roosevelt and characters in the Tennessee Coal & Iron drama.

INTERRUPTED by the war, the case dragged until 1919, when the Supreme Court decided against the Government by a vote of six to three. Morgan did not live to witness the triumph. Friends bantered Gary, asking when they encountered him: "How is the good trust this morning?" When Mark Twain first met Gary he remarked: "I know you. You are the good corporation." "Mr. Clemens," retorted Gary, "the time will come when you and everyone else will see there is a difference in corporations."

Among the old guard of finance Morgan, alone almost, retained active control of his great affairs. . . .

Morgan himself was beginning to feel the inexorable inroads of age. Those in daily contact with him—his family; Charles King, his secretary; Phillips, his valet—noticed a gradual lessening of that tremendous vitality, a perceptible slowing up of the financier's inner "spring." Morgan began to place greater responsibility upon his younger partners. More and more he turned for his anodynes to religion and art and travel. His nature responded to the greater freedom and stateliness of life abroad. As he aged he mellowed somewhat.

Each year now Morgan included Egypt in his travels. The mystic silence of the Pyramids appealed to him subtly. He made his first trip across the desert to visit a Metropolitan Museum archeological expedition in the Great Oasis of the Sahara. With his widowed sister, Mrs. Burns, and his daughter, Mrs. Hamilton, he journeyed from Cairo up the Nile in the beautiful dahabiyeh Arabia. . . .

Everywhere he went Morgan added to his collections. A work of art, a piece of exquisite music kindled in him extraordinary emotion. The man of steel and iron became putty before the brush of Raphael, the melody of Mozart. In collecting, as in business, Morgan got what he went after. He vexed the souls of amateurs whose purses were more slender, and excited the envy of museum directors whose government grants were insufficient to compete with his large resources. His interests as a collector were wide and he ransacked the world through agents everywhere. Some focused their attention upon ancient art, medieval art, watches, snuff boxes, miniatures; others upon paintings, drawings, tapestries, furniture, Chinese porcelains, armor, manuscripts and association books. Excavators dug into the ruins of ancient lands for him. Scholars pored over his Coptic writings. Others searched the earth for rare Bibles.

The building Morgan loved best was his white marble library in New York. Here the light fell softly through a central double skylight of glass so transparent the blue of the sky was seen as through the empty air. Around the octagon of the skylight were painted the Muses of Art, Science, Literature and Philosophy.

He gave away enormous sums to charity, yet without set plan, and generally specified that his name should not be attached to the benefaction in any public way. Often his manner in making gifts was so repellant as to chill the recipients. While an officer of the New York Life—long before he became a Morgan partner—George Perkins asked Morgan to subscribe toward a fund for saving the Palisades. Morgan listened a moment impatiently, then asked brusquely: "How much do you need?"

"One hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars," replied Perkins.

"Well, you go and see Rockefeller and Stillman and some others. See what they'll give. Then you can come to me and I'll see what I can do."

"But, Mr. Morgan," Perkins ventured, "I had hoped you would lead the subscription list. Then it would be easy for me to get the rest.

"Oh, well," said Morgan indifferently, "put me down for the whole amount."

And he turned to his desk as though the incident were closed, as indeed it was.

He also had a long list of private pensioners on both sides of the water. No one knew the names, or the circumstances, except himself.

In the public imagination Morgan had now become almost a legendary figure—a vast, overshadowing Octopus whose colossal power, sensed if not seen or directly felt, reached everywhere.

It remained for a committee of Congress—the Pujo Committee to Investigate the Concentration of Control of Money and Credit—to translate the story into cold figures. Incidentally, it is worthy of note that the resolution creating the committee was introduced in Congress by the father of Charles A. Lindbergh, who was later to marry the daughter of a Morgan partner! The Pujo committee had the aid of an experienced staff of attorneys and accountants, headed by Samuel Untermyer of New York. Untermyer was a wily lawyer, schooled in both criminal and civil practice, whose inordinate vanity and fondness for exhibitional tactics marred, but could not conceal, striking ability. Morgan had no love for Untermyer. The latter, also, was a fancier of collies and had once aroused Morgan's choler by outbidding him for some prize dogs. Such things weighed with Morgan.

Under the direction of Untermyer the Pujo committee showed that a defuinite community of interest had been established between Morgan & Company, the First National and the National City Bank.

FIGURES made plain the enormous power of these groups in banking resources, transportation systems, producing and trading corporations, great public utilities. Firm members or directors of the three institutions, it was disclosed, together held 341 directorships in 112 corporations having aggregate resources or capitalization of no less than $22,245,000,000. The committee asserted that competition had practically been blotted out in underwriting securities; also that, as a matter of "banking ethics," the large banking houses did not seek to take customers away from each other.

The tumbling cascade of facts stirred people tremendously. Overwhelming demand arose for the masters of the Money Trust to make some defense. Untermyer sent subpena servers into Wall street in squads. Followed an astonishing spectacle. The committee's agents found themselves blocked at every turn. Some of the masters of capital discovered suddenly that business called them to Europe; others, of whom William Rockefeller was one, went actually into hiding, dodging the chase. The newspapers joined gleefully in the hunt. The public enjoyed the sport. However, one by one the great capitalists were cornered and placed on the witness stand. Reluctantly joining the parade, George F. Baker testified that in his opinion concentrated control of banking resources and credit had gone far enough; that the peril would be great if ambitious and not over-scrupulous

Found Tied, Gagged and Lifeless—But a Jury Called It an "Accident"

Why All Official Explanations of the Tragic and Mysterious Case of Francis Ellis, the Cambridge University Student, Have Not Yet Satisfied Public Opinion.

Francis Ellis.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine
CAMBRIDGE, England.

THE mysterious death of Francis Ellis, 19-year-old student who was found tied and gagged and lifeless in his room at Sidney Sussex College here on the morning of February 23, has gone down in the records as an accident. A Coroner's jury has given this as its conclusion after hearing the evidence presented by Scotland Yard detectives, and the case, therefore, is closed so far as the authorities are concerned.

Where public opinion is concerned, however, the case is far from closed. The verdict of accident, based on the supposition that young Ellis bound and gagged himself and then, somehow, fell and was suffocated, fails to carry conviction. Police have pointed out that he and several other students of his group had often indulged in this strange practice of self-binding in imitation of "escape artists" of the stage, but the theory leaves too much unexplained. Evidence is heavier still against the theory of suicide which the police first advanced. Among Ellis' fellow students, among faculty members and the townspeople, there persists a strong conviction that the youth was murdered.

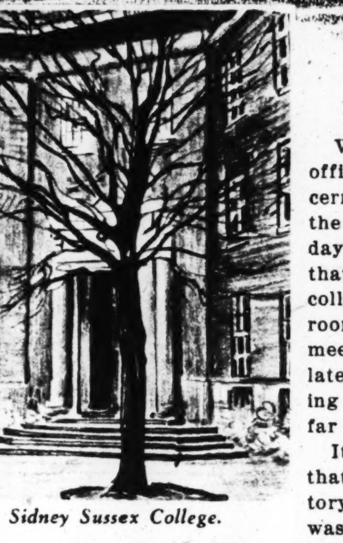
"OF COURSE he was murdered," 60 per cent of the populace will tell you "No man could have tied himself up as Ellis was tied. Besides, there is the mystery of the light. Who turned it out? It is highly improbable Ellis would or could have bound himself in the dark, if, indeed, he bound himself at all. And he couldn't possibly have turned out the light after doing so. No, the accident and suicide theories are both too thin. The boy must have been murdered."

There has been a great deal of dissatisfaction with the way the police have handled the case and much criticism has been directed at the Scotland Yard officers, Chief Detective Inspector Helby and Sergeant Bell, for packing up and returning to London when so many mysterious angles remained to be solved. They hurried down from London immediately after the body was found and spent just two days on the case.

Whether it was suicide, as the police suggested, or an accident, as the Coroner's jury decided, or murder, as so many unofficial observers declare, the death of Francis Charles John Ellis occurred under the most extraordinary circumstances. When found, the youth's body, already rigid, was lying face down on the floor of his room in Garden Court Dormitory. Except for shoes and coat, it was fully clothed. His face was buried in a cushion and there were no fewer than eight handkerchiefs tied around his face, over his mouth, nose and eyes and knotted firmly behind his head. A sponge wrapped in a handkerchief had been stuffed into his mouth. His arms were bound behind him at the wrists, at the elbows and also just below the shoulder blades. His legs were bound at the ankles with puttees, and again at the knees, and were drawn back behind his body with a piece of insulated wire, which connected the bindings of the lower legs to those of the arms. Apparently he had died of suffocation, and an autopsy later confirmed this fact.

The discovery of the body was made by a college servant who entered the unlocked room in the course of his duties and stumbled over the youth's lifeless form, which lay across the door. The servant gave the alarm and the police and a physician were called in. After the Chief Constable of Cambridge had made a cursory examination, the room was sealed and placed under guard until the arrival of the Scotland Yard men. Then the officers attempted to reconstruct the scene.

It seemed logical under the circumstances to proceed on a theory that the youth had been murdered, but there was evidence both for and against this. The binding was of such a complicated nature that Detective Inspector Helby was at first of the opinion it must have been done by more than one assailant; certainly so if Ellis had put up a fight. But there was no evidence of a struggle and no signs of any forced entry. Two windows of the second-floor room were open and either of them could have been entered by a skillful climber using the outside water pipe, which passes between the windows. There were no marks on this pipe, however, and everything seemed to indicate the visitor—if any, had come in through the door, probably at the occupant's invitation. But how he could have departed through the door after the murder was another mystery, for the body lay so close to it that it would have been difficult, if not impossible, to open it without pushing the body away. All the materials used in the binding had been procured in the room. Two drawers of a desk were open, and it appeared that the handkerchiefs and other things had been taken from this. The condition of the body indicated the youth had died not later than midnight, for rigor mortis was far advanced.



Sidney Sussex College.

With these facts in hand, the officers cast about for facts concerning the youth's activities on the day before his death. That day was Sunday. It was learned that he visited a friend in another college for tea, came back to his room, attended chapel and a hall meeting in his own college and later in the evening was seen talking to two men in the street not far from his dormitory.

It was definitely established that he came back to his dormitory just before 10 p. m., when he was seen by a fellow student, who bade him good night as he went upstairs.

The student who lives in the next room was reading late that night and heard Ellis close his door about 10 o'clock. After that, he said, he heard no sound of any disturbance. Another student said he had knocked at Ellis' door about 11, but upon finding it locked and hearing the sound of heavy breathing inside, had concluded Ellis was asleep, and had gone back to his own room. This testimony that the door was locked left another unknown quantity to be solved, for the servant found it unlocked the next morning. The college porter at the gates said he did not remember seeing anybody leave the college after 11 o'clock, but admitted that it would have been possible for an intruder to slip out without his notice.

The next development of consequence was the discovery by police that Ellis had taken great interest in the exploits of "escape artists," such as the late Harry Houdini, and had frequently undertaken some of these "escape" feats himself. Both at Cambridge and at a preparatory school where he was formerly a student, it was disclosed, he and other boys had amused themselves by tying one another to chairs and seeing who could wriggle free first. Ellis, it was said, had become quite expert both at binding and freeing himself.

On the strength of this disclosure, the Scotland Yard men immediately said "suicide" and declared the mystery solved. Ellis had tied and gagged himself, they argued, and had then ended his life by suffocation, burying his face in the cushion on the floor when he found he could still breathe through the bandages over his nose.

The suicide "explanation" at once caused a storm of protest. Everybody who knew him well said it was out of the question. "What reason," they asked, "could Francis Ellis have had for ending his life?" He was never morose or melancholy or given to worry. Indeed, he was of an unusually happy turn of mind and hadn't a care in the world. Not even a financial worry, as many other students had. His mother, widow of a Rhodesian Government official, had sent him plenty of money. Neither had he any love affairs. He had never even been intimately acquainted with a girl.

So indignant were three of his professors at the claim of suicide that they issued a statement telling of their acquaintance with the youth and explaining why the suicide theory was untenable.

"ELLIS was a student in our faculty of archeology and anthropology and we therefore saw much of him," the statement said in part. "He was looking forward to excavation in Mesopotamia as his life's work and was learning Arabic for this purpose. To us the idea that he killed himself because he was worried or unhappy is simply inadmissible."

With suicide thus ruled out, the authorities turned to the accident theory and to this they have held, the supposition being that Ellis bound himself with the object of seeing whether he could gain release in the manner of a stage performer; that he went too far with the gagging and possibly fainted, falling on the floor and rolling over with his face on the cushion. A variation of this explanation is that he may have been tripped by his self-adjusted hobbles and fell with enough force to stun him, the cushion suffocating him before he could recover consciousness. Whatever the cause, he did fall, physicians who examined the body declare, for there were small bruises on both elbows. As his arms were tied behind him, it is obvious, then, that he must have fallen backwards and would have had to roll over in order to lie with his face in the cushion.

Since the inquest there is frequently heard the suggestion that some other student knows how Ellis died and is keeping back the information because of fear. It is suggested a student may have innocently helped Ellis gag and bind himself for some kind of "handcuff king" experiment, and then went away, leaving Ellis to extricate himself. This would account for the unlocked door and the light being turned out.

Though nobody has been able to suggest a plausible motive for murder, the townspeople cling to their belief that Ellis met with foul play and an independent investigation is being carried on by the boy's mother and the college authorities.

"Morgan the Magnificent"

The Last Days of the Money Baron

men should get into places of power; and that the safety of the existing system lay in the personnel of the men in control.

"Do you think that is a comfortable situation for a great country to be in?" Baker was asked.

"Not entirely," he replied, slowly and after a period of thought.

But the committee, and the country, were gunning for one other, the most powerful of the money lords—Pierpont Morgan.

Word had gone forth that Untermyer intended to drag from Morgan his innermost "trade secrets." Morgan held the impression that Untermyer was prejudiced and had a deep personal feeling against him. The matter preyed upon his mind until he was in an extremely nervous condition. "I'll go to jail rather than discuss my private affairs," the financier told friends. Morgan detested Untermyer's methods. He hated being "placed on exhibition." He was in his seventy-sixth year, and the iron constitution that had carried him so far was beginning to break. Now and then a spasm of "jumpiness" seized him that resulted in sleepless nights and attacks of indigestion.

However, the great centralizer felt that he had his life's work to uphold, his whole social and economic philosophy to defend. And so, flanked by a battery of lawyers and friends, he went to Washington.

Once on the stand, his fears proved groundless. The fire-eating Untermyer treated him tenderly. Morgan testified briefly on December 18, 1912, and at length the following day. He declared bluntly that "all the banks in Christendom" could not form a Money Trust; and that no man nor group of men could ever obtain a monopoly of credit or coin. He defended his conduct of great corporations through voting trusts. Everything he had ever done had been for the protection of property. When a man abuses his power, he loses it. The ability to obtain credit is "largely a matter of personality."

HIS numerous amalgamations, he asserted, came about because they were necessary. He dealt with "things as they existed," adding: "If it is good business for the interests of the country to do it, I do it."

"But, Mr. Morgan," purred Untermyer, "is not a man likely quite subconsciously to imagine that things are for the interest of the country when they are good business?"

"No, sir."

"You think that you are able to judge and impartially differentiate, where your own interests are concerned, just as clearly as though you had no interest at stake, do you?"

"Exactly, sir."

Counsel went at length into Morgan's purchase of the Equitable Life from Ryan and the Harriman estate. The par value of the stock that Morgan bought was $51,000, the total capital of the company being $100,000. The dividends on the stock were limited to seven per cent, or a total of $3570 a year.

Q. And you paid how much for that stock?

A. Somewhere in the neighborhood of $2,500,000 or $3,000,000; I do not know the amount.

Q. It yields a return of about one-eighth or one-ninth of one per cent a year?

A. I believe so.

Q. You may explain, if you care to, Mr. Morgan, why you bought stock that could yield you only one-eighth or one-ninth of one per cent?

A. Because I thought it was a desirable thing for the situation to do that.

Questioning could elicit no more illuminating response. The witness would not admit that control of the Equitable's vast assets had anything to do with the matter.

Another exchange revealed the personal, almost naive, Morgan code. The financier bluntly declared that a man he did not trust could not get money from him on "all the bonds in Christendom." On the contrary, "I have known a man come into my office and I have given him a check for a million dollars and I knew that he had not a cent in the world."

Q. There were not many of them?

A. Yes, a good many.

Q. Commercial credits are based upon the possession of money or property?

A. No, sir; the first thing is character.

Q. Before money or property?

A. Before money or anything else. Money cannot buy it.

Q. So that a man with character, without anything at all behind it, can get all the credit he wants and a man with the property cannot get it?

A. That is very often the case.

Q. But that is the rule of business?

A. That is the rule of business, sir.

During the entire examination the financier was in the best of humor and on several occasions gave evidence of deriving considerable amusement out of his experience.

At the conclusion of the examination he shook hands with all the members of the committee and several of the corps of assistants and secretaries, including one of the doorkeepers and a Capitol policeman.

Despite the unexpected ease of his ordeal, Morgan left Washington a weary man—how weary none but he knew.

FAILING to rebound from the strain of the Pujo inquiry, Morgan prepared to sail for the Mediterranean and Egypt on the orders of his physicians. He seemed to sense the fact that he would not return. He felt the approach of a magnificent darkness soon to close upon him; and calmly he set about preparing for the end.

The Sunday before he sailed he drove as usual to St. George's Church. He greeted everyone and stood out, almost in the aisle, beating time with his book, singing with strong voice and moist eyes his favorite hymn: "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

Only three days before starting on the ocean journey . . . he executed his will. . . .

At the same time he prepared a memorandum for his funeral service. He placed this in a sealed envelope addressed to the Rev. Dr. Karl Reiland, rector of St. George's. Morgan prescribed a service of extreme simplicity, identical with the rites observed for his father. There was to be no eulogy, no address of any kind. Three hymns were to be sung with the regular service of the Episcopal church. The financier asked that the Bishops of New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts officiate at his funeral; also that Henry Burleigh, Negro baritone at St. George's, sing "Calvary" as a solo. Burleigh's voice was one of Morgan's delights.

When he sailed from New York for Egypt on January 7 Morgan was a sick man. No physician was with him, but he was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, and by the Count and Countess Jean La Greze — the latter a daughter of Charles Steele, a Morgan partner. . . .

Morgan reached Monte Carlo on January 22. After touching at Naples he visited the ruins of Pompeii. Then he went to Alexandria, reaching Cairo on February 7. Shortly afterwards he started up the Nile. Rumors that his health was greatly impaired were sent out from Cairo. It was said that he suffered from indigestion and that the trip had failed to benefit him.

The party returned to Cairo in 10 days. It was apparent at once that Morgan was in a very serious condition.

A few days later Morgan expressed a desire to see the ruins of the Temple of Karnak at Luxor. He wanted to drive around the ruins. A guard refused permission. There were protests, but the guard said that none could be wheeled around unless he went in an invalid's chair. This Morgan declined to do and returned to Cairo. His pride would not permit him to use a wheel chair. Besides, news that he was unable to walk would have been cabled to America, with possible bad effect upon the stock market.

MORGAN was obliged, also, to forego contemplated visits to the Khedive of Egypt and to Lord Kitchener. . . . Looking out over the domes and minarets of the mosques, amid the mementoes of the ages, Morgan longed for Rome. He wanted his expiring knell to sound, if sound it must, in the Eternal City, not in a stronghold of the Moslem.

And so Morgan turned his weary eyes toward Italy. He arrived in Naples on March 13 and went immediately to Rome, where his old suite in the Grand Hotel had been made ready for him. There he received no visitors. He put in much of his time reading or playing solitaire.

An acute change came on Easter Sunday. Morgan drove to the American Protestant Episcopal Church and walked with difficulty to the pew reserved for him. In the middle of the service he became ill and was assisted from the church.

He did not leave his room again.

On Thursday, March 27, he sank into a comatose state from which he did not arouse, except for fleeting periods. On Sunday night the doctors discovered that he was not assimilating his food. Then they knew that death was only a few days off. The sick man suffered no pain but simply wasted away; he literally starved to death. During Sunday night heart stimulants were administered without effect, and salt-water injections were tried.

Mr. Murgatroyd Endeavors to Be Unpleasant

And Succeeds Beautifully With Hardly Any Effort.

"YOU do as Cousin Simcox says," orders the missus.

"But I don't want to play golf," I comes back. "I promised Henry Clay on one of his earlier death beds never to"——

"You've got to learn golf," snaps Minnie. "What do you think we joined a country club for?"

"I don't know," I returns. "I sort of had the idea it was to make the high-hats here forget I had the garbage concession in Passaic"——

"Don't be silly," horns in Cousin Simcox. "I thought you wanted some exercise."

"I suppose," sneers the wife, "you'd rather keep me ragged hounding a pair of dice around a crap table."

"Be sensible," advises Cousin Simcox. "Everybody who can spell anybody plays golf. You meet more prominent people in a sand trap nowadays than you do in a bank."

"Maybe," I admits, "but if anybody thinks I'm going to wrap my stems in a pair of knickers"——

"What do you expect to play the game in?" cuts in Minnie. "A suit of mail or a Pierrot costume?"

"I don't expect to play at all," I declares determinedly—and just to prove I mean it—I'm out on the first tee of the Hit and Hunt Golf Club a half-hour later, in knickers, calliope socks and all. Cousin Simcox accompanies me, but at the links we meets up with Uncle Ibex and a jane I'd never seen before. We're supposed to hook up in a boresome or a foursome."

"Meet Mrs. Golightly," says Uncle Ibex.

"Don't care if I do," I returns, and gives the old gal the up and down. She's a well upholstered frill who must've liked the chin nature gave her so well that she's been giving it encores ever since. "Haven't I seen you before?" I asks.

"The face sounds familiar," she tells me. "Where did we meet?"

"I'M NOT sure me met," says I, "but I'm pretty sure I saw you at Castle Garden the night Jenny Lind sang. You were in a box with your granddaughter, I think."

Simcox slips me a kick and I pipes a scared look in Uncle Ibex's lamps, but I'm worried none. I don't want to be a member of the Hit and Hunt, and the sooner I get in bad with the dames around the place the sooner I'm likely to get an out. However, I have no luck. Instead of slipping me the snow and ice the aged ewe gives me a merry smile.

"I heard you were funny," she giggles, "and I just love men with a censor's humor. I really got to see a lot of you."

"Well," says I, pointing to the demitasse pants I'm wearing, "you're seeing a great deal more of me now than I shows admirers regularly and"——

"How excruciating!" screams Mrs. Golightly, and figuring maybe she's going to roll a fit Uncle Ibex leads her away.

"Know who that is?" asks Cousin Simcox.

"That's Abijah Golightly's widow," explains Simcox, "and she's got millions. She about owns this place, and whatever she says goes."

"I hope she says 'whatever' to me soon," says I.

"She maybe will," comes back Simcox, "but let's play. You just stand there and watch me drive."

He takes a whiff at the pill and misses it from Portland, Maine, to the Portland on the other side of the country.

"Strike one," says I. "High and wide."

"I don't need any umpire," yelps Simcox. "Watch my stance and see how I swing and follow through."

"You've been through a long time," I tells him, "but I've no sympathy for you. I left it in my long pants."

Cousin Simcox grunts and takes another wallop. This time he just grazes the top of the ball and it barely rolls off the tee.

"Foul," I announces. "Strike two. Why don't you take another stance, boy? Here, try this one. It looks pretty good." And I hands him a stick I pulls out of the bag.

I hears steps behind me and there's Uncle Ibex and Mrs. Golightly. She slips me a warm grin.

"Do you play good?" she asks.

"Show her," sneers Cousin Simcox, and he hands me his club. Before I knows it, I'm winding up. I've never played the game before, but I used to be a shark at shinny down by the gas house, and the idea seems to be about the same.

"Is that where I'm supposed to hit it?" I asks pointing to a flag a couple of hundred yards away.

"Yeh," jeers Simcox. "You ought to be able to do it in two."

I lifts the stick over my shoulders, lets go, zowie! I've got the ball pickled. It sails on a bee line about 20 feet over the ground, hits the top of one of the bunker affairs that are scattered all over the pasture, and disappears.

"Nice shot," applauds Uncle Ibex. "Nice shot."

"You must be on the green," titters Mrs. Golightly. "Let's go see."

Cousin Simcox hasn't a word to say, but he follows along. We get close to the flag, but the ball's not on the green. Suddenly Uncle Ibex reaches down into the hole and fishes out the pill.

"Wow!" exclaims Uncle Ibex. "It's 220 yards, and you've done it in one."

"Oh, yes?" says I, nonchalantly. "I thought for a moment that I'd miss the hole by an inch or two on account of that little bunch of thick grass on top of the bunker thing that sort of stopped the ball for a second. I aimed to hit a bit on the other side of it, but you perhaps noticed the sudden squall of air that sprung up at that time."

"I did," says Mrs. Golightly.

"To play the game properly," I goes on, "you have to watch out for those things."

"Let's you and me play a round," Uncle Simcox scowls.

"Sorry," I comes back, "but I make it a rule never to play on a course on which I makes the first hole in one. That's the tip-off to me that it's too easy, and playing over these billiard table courses hurts one's game. The tendency would be to get careless, and I couldn't afford to do that. Golf expects too much of me."

"Wouldn't you play here with me?" gushes Mrs. Golightly.

"I could easily die for you," says I, gallantly, "but please, oh please, don't ask me to jeopardize my golf form."

The Banana Split's Wicked Influence

TWO HEARTS THAT BEAT AS ONE SPECIAL
TRY OUR — 20¢
SPEC
G. CONREY

THE art of making ice cream sundaes, in the last few years, has been revolutionized. In the old days the sundae was a simple 10-cent affair—a scoop of ice cream served with some kind of fruit syrup. Now they go in for all kinds of grandiose concoctions with fanciful names.

What brought this change about? In my opinion it was the banana split. From the moment it was introduced the banana split swept the whole country like wildfire. Caterers figured that the great success of this delicacy warranted the introduction of other elaborate creations. What a host of them there are today! Pick up the menu of a snappy sweete shoppe and you will find a list something like this:

Alpine Divine. One giant scoop of Delmonico ice cream, tapering to a peak whereon is lodged a pitted prune, the sides being dotted with pecan halves, and the whole doused with Swiss chocolate and grenadine syrup.

MOONLIGHT on the Ganges. Chocolate and strawberry ice-cream connected by a bridge of pineapple and banana strips, smothered in crushed strawberries and whipped cream.

Then there will be various special sundaes created in honor of visiting celebrities. For instance: "Jimmy Londos Headlock Surprise," "Red Grange End Run Delight," "Shipwreck Kelly Flagpole Royal" and "Admiral Byrd Antarctic Melba."

Of course, even an adult will succumb occasionally to these vividly worded descriptions. But he doesn't like the idea of repeating the name of the sundae to the waitress. It makes him feel undignified. Generally, he tries to get around the difficulty by pointing to the item desired and saying: "I'll take one of these."

The waitress, however, never fails to bend over, scrutinize the card and call out the indicated sundae in a loud, matter-of-fact voice. For instance: "Two Hearts That Beat As One Special"! The customer blushes furiously and tries to hide his confusion by burying his face in his water glass. It's too late, though. Everybody within earshot has turned around to see what manner of man has ordered a "Two Hearts That Beat As One Special."

Caterers would get much more business out of these fancy sundaes if they would quit giving them names like those of prize-winning cattle. Why not take a tip from the three-deck sandwiches and call them by such names as "Bozo," "Wham" and "Zowie?" We've learned to roll those off like nothing.

Supremacy in High Grade Men's Store Advertising

Those familiar with Men's Stores in St. Louis will see from the above list that the Post-Dispatch has a substantial lead in advertising from the high grade as well as the popular price stores.

St. Louis Men's Stores are intimately acquainted with the selling influence of St. Louis newspapers. For years these stores have checked Sales Results from newspaper advertising. The experimentation stage for them, has passed. Their advertising is placed with a definite, bought-and-paid-for knowledge.

WE INTRODUCE THE FIVE-STAR RUG AT

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

$49.50

(9' x 12' size)

Think of being able to buy for only $49.50 a rug that has every one of the five features listed below. This is what the leading stores of St. Louis and nearby cities offer you tomorrow in Alexander Smith's new Shoreham—crowning achievement of over 70 years' rug-weaving experience.

Here are the five stars that make the Shoreham such an exceptional rug value. Read them and see if they are not the things you would look for in a rug, no matter how much you pay:

★ RICH COLORINGS. The pure, long staple wool from which the grounds of Shoreham rugs are woven is dyed before it is spun. This imparts a superior finish to the fabric which greatly enriches the color effect.

★ DEEP, LUXURIOUS PILE. Made by the finest method of Axminster construction, the Shoreham has a deep, closely-woven pile, soft to the tread and sound-absorbing.

★ PRE-TESTED WEARING QUALITY. Scuffing, pounding and abrasion tests show that the Shoreham fabric will withstand a generation of household wear.

★ GUARANTEED SATISFACTION. The Alexander Smith trade-mark on the Shoreham rug appeared on rugs your grandmother—or great-grandmother bought. Now, as then, it is a guarantee of satisfaction and honest value to every purchaser.

When you see the Shoreham—especially when you compare it, point for point, with more expensive rugs—you will wonder how we have been able to make such a fine rug for only $49.50. The answer is simple. We are the world's largest manufacturers of Axminster, Velvet and Tapestry rugs. Consequently, we are able to effect huge savings in our purchases of raw materials and economies in production.

that's what Calumet's Double-Action can do for you!

Imagine the convenience! The time-saving! In one mixing job, you can prepare batter for as much as four days' baking. Each day you bake a different dessert and know that last or first—every one will be a masterpiece!

Why can you do this with Calumet Baking Powder and get such unfailing perfection? Such delicious, fine results—even after batter has stood four days?

Because Calumet acts twice. It acts first in the mixing bowl. But the second action waits—it stays in reserve until you put the batter into the oven. Then the second action begins and continues the leavening. Up! . . . up! . . . it keeps raising the batter and holds it high and light until your cake is beautifully baked.

At the right are four fascinating desserts that use this new baking idea. Mix the basic recipe—Miracle Cake. Then follow the easy directions. Divide the batter equally into four pans—bake the first at once—cover each of the other three with damp cloths and waxed paper—store in the refrigerator—bake them as described—one triumph a day!

All baking powders are required by law to be made of pure, wholesome ingredients. But not all are alike in their action nor in the amount that should be used. And not all will give you equally fine results in your baking. Calumet is scientifically made of exactly the right ingredients, in exactly the right proportions to produce perfect leavening action—Double-Action!

To-day, get a can of Calumet. Try it. Discover for yourself why Calumet is the largest-selling baking powder in the world. Remember, use no more than one level teaspoon of Calumet to each cup of sifted flour. This is the usual Calumet proportion and should be followed for best results—a splendid economy! Calumet is a product of General Foods Corporation.

Bake this one MONDAY

Apricot Upside Down Cake

¾ tablespoon butter
⅓ cup sugar
18 apricot halves, canned or fresh

Melt butter in loaf pan (9 x 5 inches) or in an 8-inch iron skillet. Add sugar. Stir until melted. On this arrange apricot halves. Pour cake batter over contents of pan. Bake in moderate oven (325°F.) 20 minutes, then increase heat slightly (375°F.) and bake 25 minutes more. Cool 5 minutes; loosen from sides of pan. Turn upside down on dish with apricots on top. Add whipped cream, if desired, and serve at once.

Bake this one TUESDAY

Pineapple Torte

¼ recipe Miracle Cake (See basic recipe below)
⅓ cup sugar
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
4 slices pineapple, diced, or 1½ cups grated

Turn batter at once into greased 9-inch layer pan. Store in refrigerator, keeping pan closely covered with damp cloth and waxed paper. When cake is to be baked, beat sugar thoroughly into egg whites, pile lightly on cake batter, and bake in moderate oven (325° F.) 45 minutes. Just before serving, cover with diced or grated pineapple, and with whipped cream, if desired.

Bake this one WEDNESDAY

Hot Spiced Cottage Pudding

2½ tablespoons molasses
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Add molasses and spices to cake batter and beat well. Turn at once into greased loaf pan (9 x 5 inches), and store in refrigerator, keeping pan closely covered with damp cloth and waxed paper until pudding is to be baked. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 45 minutes. Serve at once with raisin sauce.

Bake this one THURSDAY

Mocha Cake

Mocha frosting

Turn batter at once into greased 9-inch layer pan. Store in refrigerator, keeping pan closely covered with damp cloth and waxed paper until cake is to be baked. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) for 20 minutes, or until done. When cold, cut cake into halves and put together with Mocha frosting.

HERE'S THE BASIC RECIPE!

Miracle Cake

4½ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
4½ teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or other shortening
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups milk
2 teaspoons vanilla
(All measurements are level)

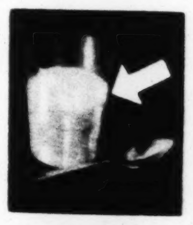
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and mix well. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. The batter is now ready to divide into four equal parts. With one fourth, make the Apricot Upside Down Cake to be served that day. Then turn the remaining batter into three pans as directed in each of the above recipes. Cover each pan closely with a damp cloth and waxed paper and store in refrigerator until ready to bake.



1st ACTION

2nd ACTION

SEE CALUMET'S DOUBLE-ACTION

Make this test—See for yourself how Calumet Baking Powder acts twice to make your baking better. Put two level teaspoons of Calumet into a glass, add two teaspoons of water, stir rapidly five times and remove the spoon. The tiny, fine bubbles will rise slowly, half filling the glass. This is Calumet's first action—the action that Calumet specially provides to take place in the mixing bowl.

After the mixture has entirely stopped rising, stand the glass in a pan of hot water on the stove. In a moment, a second rising will start and continue until the mixture reaches the top of the glass. This is Calumet's second action—the action that Calumet holds in reserve to take place in the heat of your oven. Make this test. See Calumet's Double-Action which protects your baking from failure.

Because it uniquely fills the important place in fashion's demands for a slender diet. Popular old H & K is roasted by a process named *vi-raying which aids in the neutralization of the bitter oils found in all coffees before roasting. Thus H & K coffee is sweet enough in itself for many and the addition of much less than the usual sweetening, well stirred, pleases most anyone. Now drink coffee suiting style's demands for a slender figure. It is made for fashionable women.

Husbands like this Coffee « Better »

It reaches them with the full flavor of choice blending, packed warm into key-opening airless vacuum tins that hold in the coffee's mountain-top freshness. No loose-cover can packing for H & K, for the full flavor, as proven by the seven to ten cups more per pound, is too valuable to risk losing.

★ Vi-raying is the exclusive name for our roasting process (developed through fifty years of experience, research and improvement in coffee roasting) which aids in the neutralization of the bitter oils found in all coffees. Everyone knows that it takes more sweetening to overcome a bitter substance than one which is not bitter. Thus, you can readily see why H & K Coffee takes the minimum amount of sweetening

ATTA' BOY, POP – A KEEN IDEA
I JUST CAN'T WAIT UNTIL I GET OUT INTO GOD'S COUNTRY.. OUT WHERE EVERYTHING HAS ROOM TO BREATHE
ISN'T THE COUNTRY BEAUTIFUL? – SO QUIET AND RESTFUL – THE CITY IS ARTIFICIAL – THE COUNTRY JUST HAPPENED
ISN'T THIS A BEAUTIFUL SPOT? – COME, RUDY, EVERY-THING IS READY
OH – CHOCOLATE CAKE! – THAT'S KEEN
I BELIEVE ITS GOING TO RAIN. THERE'S A FEW DROPS COMING DOWN NOW
HURRY UP! EVERYTHING WILL BE SOAKED!
THIS CAN'T LAST LONG – THERE WON'T BE ANY RAIN LEFT FOR LATER IN THE SEASON
WELL, THIS LOOKS LIKE IT'S GOING TO BE AN ALL DAY AFFAIR – WE MAY JUST AS WELL WEND OUR WAY HOMEWARD
I KNOW RAIN IS NECESSARY AND WITHOUT IT WE COULDN'T RAISE A THING BUT WHY SHOULD IT RAIN ON JUST THE DAY WE GO OUT?
NOW LOOK AT THAT! JUST AS SOON AS WE GET BACK THE OLD SUN COMES OUT AND THE RAIN IS OVER
WELL, I'M GOING TO EAT OUT IN THE OPEN TODAY IF I HAVE TO DO IT IN MY BACK YARD UNDER AN UMBRELLA

A-CHOO
IT'S HILDEGARDE SHE WENT BACK TO HER AUNT'S WHEN SHE MISSED YOU AT THE STREET CAR LINE, BUT YOU JUST GOT AWAY BEFORE SHE ARRIVED -- SHE'S DRIVING IN NOW
HERE, SAD EYES, TAKE THIS -- YOU'RE A LOT SICKER THAN YOU THINK YOU ARE KAC
REMEMBER THE OLD SAYING -- STUFF A COLD -- WELL, I'VE GOT A WONDERFUL HOT LUNCH ALL READY FOR YOU -- YOU CAN EAT IT WHILE WE'RE WAITING FOR HILDEGARDE
I'M REAL HUNGRY
THE SAYING IS, STUFF A COLD AND STARVE A FEVER -- IT WOULD BE CRIMINAL TO FEED HIM NOW -- I WON'T ALLOW IT -- HE'S GOING RIGHT HOME
I GUESS HIHO IS RIGHT -- WE WANT TO DO WHAT IS BEST FOR YOU -- NOW KEEP BUNDLED UP -- HONESTLY, I FEEL TERRIBLE ABOUT IT

GEE! THIS THING OF PRETENDING TO BE SICK IS MAKING ME REALLY ILL-I CAN'T STAND IT ANY LONGER-
I'M GOING BACK TO WORK-I'LL TELL THE BOSS I CAN'T GO TO CHINA AND IF I GET FIRED I CAN'T HELP IT-I'LL NOT LEAVE ROSIE-
OH! YOU ARE BACK-I THOUGHT YOU WERE VERY SICK?
YES-I'M BACK TO WORK-THE BOSS WANTS ME TO GO TO CHINA AND—
THIS IS TOUGH LUCK FOR ME-THE BOSS SAID IF YOU DIDN'T GET BACK TO WORK IN TIME-HE WOULD SEND ME AND I HAD MY MIND SET ON THE TRIP-HUH?
I'LL GIVE YOU FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IF YOU'LL GO BACK HOME AND JUST LET ME GET THAT JOB TO GO TO CHINA-
WHY-! WELL-! YES!
WELL-THIS IS THE BEST BIT OF LUCK I EVER HAD IN ALL MY LIFE-FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS AND I DON'T HAVE TO GO TO CHINA-YEA, BO!

NOW-LISTEN TO ME! BARON DECLINE IS HERE-HE CALLED JUST TO SEE YOU-GO RIGHT IN THE PARLOR AND PUT YOUR BEST FOOT FORWARD-HE WOULD BE THE CATCH OF THE SEASON-
HE'D BE A GOOD CATCH FOR THE POLICE-IF YOU ASK ME-I THINK HE IS HORRID-
DEAR ME! HOW I LONG TO SEE MY CASTLE IN EUROPE-I MISS THE SPLENDOR OF THE REGAL COURT OF ROYALTY AND ALL THE SOCIAL EVENTS-
WELL-THE BOATS ARE STILL RUNNING-AREN'T THEY?
THERE GOES THAT BARON-IT'S ABOUT TIME-ME DAUGHTER DON'T HATE HIM ANY MORE THAN I DO-
LISTEN-DAUGHTER-DARLIN'-I'M GONNA FIND OUT WHERE THAT GUY LIVES AN' WHAT HE DOES-
I'M SO UNHAPPY-HE ASKED ME TO GO TO THE OPERA WITH HIM TO-MORROW NIGHT AND MOTHER MADE ME ACCEPT-
MAGGIE AN' HER SOCIAL AMBITIONS MAKE ME SICK-MY DAUGHTER'S HAPPINESS IS THE MOST IMPORTANT THING IN LIFE TO ME-
THERE HE GOES IN THAT DRUG-STORE-I'LL WAIT UNTIL HE COMES OUT-THE ONLY THING HE COULD BUY WOULD BE A STAMP-
BY GOLLY-HE'S BEEN IN THERE A LONG TIME-HE DON'T KNOW ME-SO I'LL GO IN AN' GIT A LINE ON HIM-
-DO YOU KEEP LATHER AN' RUBB'S SHAVIN' SOAP?
NO-SIR! WE SELL IT-
A BARON-EH? THIS IS GONNA BE A BLOW TO MAGGIE-I'LL PHONE HER TO COME TO THIS DRUG-STORE-SHE'LL SEE FOR HERSELF-
NOW I'LL SNEAK HOME, AN' LET HER GO IN THE DRUG-STORE AN GIT THE SURPRISE OF HER LIFE-
I WONDER WHAT HE WANTS WITH ME AT THE DRUG-STORE?
DADDY! WHAT HAS HAPPENED? MOTHER JUST 'PHONED FOR THE CAR-SHE WAS CRYING AND HYSTERICAL-
IT'S ABOUT THE BARON-YOU'LL NOT BE BOTHERED WITH HIM ANY MORE-
I FOUND OUT ALL ABOUT THE BARON-HE'S A COOK IN A DRUG-STORE-
A FAKER!
HAW-HAW!

ARE YOU SURE YOU'RE GOING TO THE COMMITTEE MEETING AT YOUR GOLF CLUB TONIGHT?
ABSOLUTELY---- YOU KNOW IT WON'T BE LONG NOW UNTIL THE SEASON OPENS AND WE'VE GOT TO MAKE ARRANGEMENTS TO GET THE COURSE IN SHAPE
I DON'T KNOW WHY SHE'S SUSPICIOUS OF ME -- I WOULDN'T KNOW WHERE TO GO IF I DID TRY TO STEP OUT ONE NIGHT
AFTER SOME OF THESE MOVIES I'VE SEEN IT MIGHT BE A GOOD IDEA TO CHECK UP ON HIM
I'LL CALL UP THE CLUB AND SEE IF HE'S REALLY THERE OR IF HE'S PULLING THE WOOL OVER MY EYES
THERE'S THE 'PHONE RINGING DOWN IN THE OFFICE
LET IT RING -- WE HAVEN'T TIME TO BE INTERRUPTED - ALL THIS WORK WILL KEEP US HERE LONG ENOUGH AS IT IS WHY, DEAR, WHAT'S THE MATTER? WHY THE FUNNY LOOK ON YOUR FACE?

NOW CHEER UP, SAD EYES, WE'RE GOING TO SHOW YOU A REAL GOOD TIME -- I'VE GOT A WONDERFUL GIRL FOR YOU -- YOU'LL LOVE HER
I'M TELLING YOU, SAD EYES, HILDEGARDE IS A WOW
YOU'RE SO KIND TO ME
REALLY, NOBODY'S EVER TAKEN ANY INTEREST IN ME BEFORE --- I'VE NEVER HAD A GOOD TIME IN MY LIFE -- NEVER HAD A GIRL, BUT, GULP, GEE, YOU'RE SO KIND TO ME, I FEEL LIKE CRYING
HILDEGARDE WILL BE HERE ANY MINUTE NOW -- SHE'S DRIVING IN FROM HER AUNT'S IN THE SUBURBS
IT'S HILDEGARDE - STILL AT HER AUNT'S -- SHE CAN'T GET HER CAR STARTED AND WANTS SAD EYES TO COME OUT THERE AND BRING HER IN ON THE STREET CAR
IT'S EARLY -- JUST RIDE TO THE END OF THE TOWER GROVE STREET CAR LINE, THEN ASK SOMEONE DIRECTIONS FROM THERE
SURE, I'LL DO THAT
OH. I'D SAY IT'S ABOUT A MIRL FROM HERE -- YOU CAN TAKE A SHORT CUT THRU THE CEMETARY AND OVER THE HIRL

WHERE DO YOU THINK YOU'RE GOING?
I'M GOING WITH YOU, MUTT, JUST LIKE I ALWAYS DO!
LISTEN TO ME! WHEN PEOPLE SEE ME WITH YOU THEY THINK I'M SLUMMING! YOU'RE A HINDRANCE TO MY SOCIAL AMBITIONS!
BUT- MUTT-
YOU'RE NOBODY! WHEN DARWIN SAID MAN DESCENDED FROM A MONKEY HE WAS THINKING OF YOU!
HOW ABOUT THE MUTTS?
THE MUTTS HAVE BEEN ARISTOCRATS EVER SINCE NOAH SCAMPERED INTO THE ARK!
SIR SID, WHAT BOOK DO I ASK FOR IF I WANT TO LOOK UP A MAN'S ANCESTORS? YOU KNOW- HIS FAMILY TREE!
GENEALOGY, OLD DEAR!
GENEALOGY BOOKS. LEARN ABOUT YOUR ANCESTORS.
THE MAN SAID THIS BOOK TRACED MUTT'S ANCESTORS BACK FOR A THOUSAND YEARS!
I'VE HAD A PERFECT NIGHT- SOCIALLY- THANKS TO THE FACT THAT JEFF WASN'T ALONG! GEE! IT'S 3 O'CLOCK!
WHY AIN'T YOU IN BED- IT'S AFTER THREE!
I'M READING AN INTERESTING BOOK! LISTEN TO THIS:- IT SAYS YOUR FATHER SERVED TEN YEARS IN THE HOOSE GOW FOR FORGERY-
AND YOUR GRANDFATHER ABE MUTT WAS HANGED IN CALIFORNIA IN 1851 FOR STEALING A HOSS!! AND YOUR GREAT-GRANDFATHER--
THERE'S THE BOOK! READ IT YOURSELF! I HAVE WORK TO DO!
M-M!
MUTT, I'M LEAVING! I CAN'T AFFORD TO ASSOCIATE WITH A MAN LIKE YOU! YOUR ANCESTORS WERE CROOKS! GOOD BYE!

OH, MOTHER --- YOU'RE NOT GOING TO LEAVE ME ALL ALONE IN THIS BIG HOUSE?
YOU'LL BE ALL RIGHT, DEAR---- JUST DON'T ANSWER THE DOOR = I'LL BE RIGHT BACK
WHAT WAS THAT NOISE? OH, I'M SO NERVOUS .... OH, WHY DOESN'T MOTHER COME BACK?
OH, MOTHER, DEAR.. I NEVER WAS SO FRIGHTENED IN ALL MY LIFE! WHAT TOOK YOU SO LONG?
BUT DAUGHTER—OH!
...AND NOW, RADIO FRIENDS, BEFORE WE BEGIN OUR MYSTERY THRILLER--- "THE BREATH OF THE BEAST,"... TO GET THE PROPER ATMOSPHERE WE SUGGEST TURNING OUT THE LIGHTS:...
THROUGH THE GRUESOME LIGHT SHE COULD FEEL THE INHUMAN CREATURE SLINKING, CRAWLING TOWARD HER:... SHE COULD FEEL THE "THING'S" COLD BREATH.... COULD SEE THE GLARING GREEN EYES = AT THAT MOMENT... A SCREAM...!!
